

Watermelon Festival Set For Tonight

Jimmy Wallace Chosen To Head Student Union; Begins July 1

Jimmy Wallace, graduate history student from Jamesville and a campus leader during his undergraduate days, is the new director of Graham Memorial Student Union. He will take over July 1.

Wallace was named to the job this week by the union's Board of Directors. He replaces Bill Roth who resigned in May to enter professional Boy Scouting. During the interim Jon Ammons has been acting director.

The board picked Wallace from among five candidates. Others applying were Jane Dicks, Pebley Barrow, Bill Amis and Bill Brown. Selection of a new director has been underway since Roth left in early May.

The new director received his BS in physics from the University in 1944. He took his law degree in June 1947 and in August of the same year was awarded an AB in mathematics. From 1947 to 1950 he taught school at Robersonville.

Wallace returned to the University in 1950 as a part-time instructor in social science and to do work on his MA and PhD degrees in history. He expects to complete the MA this Summer. In August he will marry Nina Gray of Robersonville, a graduate student in English at the University and associate editor of The Daily Tar Heel.

During his undergraduate years Wallace was on The Daily Tar Heel in every capacity except editor, president of the InterDormitory Council, chairman of the Carolina Political Union, in the Student Legislature and a member of the Golden Fleece. He was on the committee in 1945 which drew up Carolina's student constitution. Wallace currently is advisor for Mangum Dormitory and Scoutmaster for Troop 9 of Chapel Hill.

McCorkle Place At 8 P.M.

Another Sing Set Sunday

The second community sing will be held Sunday night at 8 o'clock in front of Graham Memorial on McCorkle Place. Joel Savell of the Wesley Foundation will be song leader.

Mrs. James D. White of Chapel Hill, formerly Mary Neil Ward, will be piano accompanist for the sing. Mrs. White, before moving here, for four years was on the staff of Vassar Studios in Greensboro and had her own television and radio shows. She is a graduate of Greensboro College and studied at Julliard in New York City.

She will play several solos, Sunday.

Another feature of the program, according to Chairman Norm Bowles, is a song by the campus "Andrew Sisters." Bowles said other numbers would include songs from "Oklahoma!" and a

'Lost Colony' Trip Offered Next Weekend

In response to student requests, a two-day trip to Manteo, N. C. and "The Lost Colony" is being planned by the Summer Activities Council.

Registration for the trip, which will be by chartered bus, will be held Monday at 10 a. m. in the Y lobby. Cost for the trip is $19, not including meals. The fee covers transportation, rooms, a reserved ticket to a presentation of "The Lost Colony" and incidental sight seeing.

The trip is planned for next weekend. The bus will leave Chapel Hill at 7 a. m. on Saturday, July 4 and return to the campus Sunday night. The tour is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Bullock of Kinston. Mr. Bullock is superintendent of Kinston schools.

The schedule calls for a route through Wake Forest, Rocky Mount, Edenton, Elizabeth City.

Saturday night the group will see Paul Green's Indian drama in its amphitheater of natural setting. The night will be spent in either Manteo or Nags Head. Sunday the same route will be used for the return trip with a stop to visit backstage at the amphitheater and time for a swim in the Atlantic at Nags Head.

Piano Tutors Coming Here For Four Days

The third annual Clinic for Piano Teachers, under the direction of Dr. William S. Newman, associate professor of music and chairman of piano instruction in the University will be conducted here Monday through Thursday.

The clinic, to be held in Hill Music Hall under the sponsorship of the Extension Division in cooperation with the Music Department, is designed as a refresher course for teachers "seeking to keep up to date in the piano world."

There will be illustrated lectures, guest speakers, panel discussions, student auditions, demonstration lessons, recitals by Dr. Newman and other faculty members, recordings slides, movies of pianists, displays of materials, and a new type of listing of teaching pieces.

Advance registrations indicate that teachers representing many sections of the state will again be enrolled for the clinic which is operated on a non-profit basis. Registration also will take place before the 9 a. m. meeting each day.

Dr. Newman is widely known as teacher, author and performer.

Bill Lange, Former Coach Here, Dies In Ohio

William F. (Bill) Lange, former head basketball coach at the University, died at the home of his father in Columbus, O. Wednesday after an illness of several years. He was 56.

Mr. Lange was a native of Huron, O. and a graduate of Wittenberg College. He came here in 1936 as assistant in basketball and football and later moved up to head cage coach, a job he held until 1944 when succeeded by Ben Carnevale.

Final Vote On Queen Entries Is Today; Program Starts At 7

Watermelons, all you can eat; beautiful coeds, as many as you want to look at, and dancing, as long as you can last, are all offered free tonight at the fifth annual Watermelon Festival.

Starting time is 7 o'clock underneath Davie Poplar in front of Alumni Building. Students, faculty and their families are invited to the festival, which is the highlight of Summer Session activities.

Folk music picker Bob Cole and his Orange County Countryboys will entertain the crowd until about 8 o'clock when the program begins. Roy Armstrong, University director of admissions, will emcee to-

The top five of nine watermelon queen candidates go into a run-off today. To be voted on are Perky Putzki, Mase Chapin, Janet Harris, Betty Parsons and Sylvia Eaton. Voting will be by presentation of ID card at a ballot booth in the Y.

night's festivities. First on the program will be Chancellor Robert House who will play the harmonica.

Ruth Sutherland, a Woman's College student in Summer School here, will tap dance and will be accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Peggy Riebel. Lanier Davis, now with the Admissions Office and a former student and campus singing star, will sing tonight. He will be accompanied by his wife.

The evening's two top events will be the student-faculty melon eating contest and the crowning of the festival's king and queen.

The chancellor's wife, Mayor Ed Lanier and Daily Tar Heel Editor Rolfe Neill will judge the eating contest. Taking part for the faculty and administration will be Fred H. Harris, R. J. M. Hobbs, J. M. Parrish, James E. Wadsworth, A. F. Jenzano, Irene McDonald, Alberta Snyder, G. E. Shepard O. K. Cornwell and Jimmy Wallace.

Elaborate contest rules have been readied including the installation of scales for "before" and "after" weighing of the rines. The contest will be held on a stage.

Ten points will be awarded one team in each of three categories: for the team finishing first, for the team eating the most and for the team entertaining the crowd most while eating. A mystery prize will go to the winning team.

The festival's king will be one of the men from the faculty eating team and he will be voted on today along with the queen contestants. The king and queen will be crowned by Chancellor House.

After the festival a square dance will be held in the Y Court. It will be called by Max Ballinger. At the same time, a ball room dance will be held at Graham Memorial. This affair will be under the direction of Nancy Murray.

Festival officials yesterday said there would be no more melon eating after the program gets underway, about 8 p.m. Sixteen cutters and 20 hostesses will dispense some 400 melons.

Korea: Time For Peace?

The Di Senate will meet Tuesday to debate the question of a Korean peace.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. in the Di Hall, third floor of New East. Visitors as well as Senate members are invited.

The Topic:
WHEREAS: Enough blood has been shed by United Nations troops in Korea, and,

WHEREAS: The aggressors have been repulsed, and there is no foreseeable benefit in the continuation of hostilities, and,

WHEREAS: The United Nations has no authority to interfere with the internal affairs of North Korea.

Be it therefore resolved that: The United Nations immediately effect an honorable peace without regard to the objections of the Republic of South Korea.

2 Graduate Examinations To Be Given By Carolina

Registration dates for two graduate student comprehensive examinations were announced yesterday by W. D. Perry, chairman of the committee.

The two exams will be held on July 11 and August 8. Registration deadline for the former is July 4 and for the latter, August 1.

Queen Without Honor

Lucia Hutchinson of New Bern entered the Watermelon Festival several years ago and was named runnerup.

Last month, as a student at Wesleyan College in Macon, Ga., she entered the Miss Georgia contest and won first place.
