The Tar Heels erratic batting order erupted for 12 hits here Tuesday night as Carolina clubbed Campbell 12-3 in summer league action.

The big bats of Steve Rackley, Jimmy Baldwin and Lindsay Ethridge accounted for nine runs, Rackley hit a home run and two singles (4 rbi's), Baldwin a two-run homer and two singles (3 rbi's), and Ethridge a solo home run, a single (2 rbi's).

Carolina wasted no time in jumping on Campbell starter Mark Percefield for four runs in the first inning. Early Jones doubled to open the game for the Tar Heels, Rackley's single drove him in, Baldwin lofted a home run over the 362-foot sign in left, Ronnie Merritt walked and came home on a double by Dave Gursoy.

Rackley hit a shot over the right field fence to make it 5-0 in the second. A walk to Stuart Watlington, Bill Lee's single, a passed ball and another single by Rackley scored two runs for 7-0 in the fourth. The Tar Heels had a man in scoring position every inning except the third.

The 12-hit outburst (six for extra bases) took the pressure off Bob Thompson, a rising sophomore, who went the distance for the first time this summer.

Thompson limited the Camels to only five hits walking eight and striking out eight. The 6-5 right hander did not allow a ball out of the infield the first three innings, striking out four of the nine men he faced, and did not allow a hit until the fifth inning.

"I have only pitched around 20 innings this summer," said Thompson who played on the junior varsity team during the year. "I had some control problems, I was pretty wild but I thought I threw the ball real well. When I came out this spring I did a lot more conditioning than I ever have in my life, it made me a lot stronger."

Previously, Thompson began to fade in the late innings. The last time he faced Campbell he pitched well for six innings then tired and gave up five runs, eventually, Carolina lost 8-7 after jumping out to an early, big lead.

All of Campbell's hits and runs came in the fifth and eighth innings Tuesday. Back to back triples by Carlton Hairr and Mark Little to open the fifth inning scored one run, and jogged memories of the above game. John Lippert singled with two out to drive in a second, Frank Floyd walked and Lippert stole third. Thompson had shown a tendency to collapse with runners on base in previous games. "I started thinking 'I don't want him on base, I better be careful,'" but got Jay Cline to bounce to second to end the rally.

Thompson was in trouble again in the eighth, Jay Cline bunted for a single, Pat Havers walked, DH Dave Johnson lined sharply to left to load the bases with only one out. Thompson walked Hairr to force in a run but came back to get the next two on pop ups.

"Thompson pitched a fine game," said regular season coach Walter Rabb, "it is a matter of retaining his good stuff. After the fifth inning he started to get behind the hitters, before he walked only two. He has to get more refined on his control. Both Thompson and Tim Collins show potential to be a good college pitcher. Thompson has a good enough fast ball and curve ball but has to work on his off speed pitches. They have got to develop what they have got and not get into a position where they have to throw strikes down the middle of the plate."

The Tar Heels scored their other runs in the final two innings. Ethridge gleefully greeted reliever Lane Woods with a home run in the seventh, then two walks, a wild pitch and a bunt single by Lee scored two more runs.

A walk, a double by Baldwin, Ethridge's single and two more wild pitches by Woods accounted for the Tar Heels' final two runs.

Carolina's record is now 9-12. The Tar Heels host Wilmington tonight at 7:30 in Boshamer Stadium. On Saturday many former UNC baseball stars will come back to Chapel Hill for an Old Leaguer's Game and picnic. The game will start at 4:40 p.m. at Boshamer and the picnic will follow at 6:30 at the Rams' Club patio in Kenan Stadium. Carolina's current summer team will play the Charlotte All-Stars at 8 p.m. to cap the days activities.

Waldrop; Top Five

University of North Carolina track sensation Tony Waldrop and six other outstanding student-athletes across the country have been selected as finalists for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Top Five Awards.

Each year, the NCAA honors five seniors who are judged by a committee to be the most outstanding in athletics, scholarship and general campus conduct. The NCAA also picks five former athletes on their 25th anniversary Top Five.

Joining Waldrop on the list of finalists are four star basketball players, Tom McMillen of Maryland, Keith Wilkes of UCLA, Lonnie Krugar of Kansas State and Tom Kivisto of Kansas. Others in the finals are Michigan wrestler Jarrett Hubbard and Johns Hopkins swimmer Bill Milne.

The seven finalists from winter sports will be joined by another group of finalists to be selected at the end of the coming fall sports season in December. The Top Five then will be selected from both groups of finalists.

The winners will be presented at the NCAA's annual convention January 6-8 in Washington, D.C. during the prestigious Honors Luncheon.

Clemson report denied

Atlantic Coast Conference Commissioner Bob James Wednesday denied reports that Clemson University is about to be expelled from the league.

In its Wednesday editions the Washington Post quote an unnamed ACC spokesman as saying Clemson might be eliminated if certain allegations are found true.

The school has been accused of offering money to the uncle of high school basketball superstar Moses Malone to persuade the youth to attend Clemson. Malone signed with Maryland and Clemson head coach Tates Locke has vehemently denied any wrongdoing.

Also The Post said it had learned that Clemson was already on probation for having admitted 11 football players last year who did not meet the minimum 2.0 academic average.

The Post quoted an ACC source as saying "The NCAA is checking Clemson for a million things." James said all the schools who recruited Malone are under scrutiny. But only recruiting violations in basketball are being investigated.

Clemson athletic director Bill McLellan was shocked at the report his school may be expelled. The subject did not come up in the last ACC meeting. McLellan did admit that Clemson had been reprimanded by the ACC for admitting six football players who met the NCAA academic requirement but not the ACC's. The school was penalized six scholarships between 1973-75 and banned from sharing in football television revenue or bowl receipts.
