

Class Day Begins in Prayer At Gerrard Hall and Ends With Banquet at Carolina Inn

Class Day Exercises Will Be Held under Davie Poplar This Morning.

To-day is Class Day and will be devoted entirely to the final class festivities of the seniors.

Exercises begin this morning at 9:30 with senior prayers in Gerrard Hall, conducted by Rev. A. S. Lawrence.

At ten o'clock a. m. the Senior Class will gather under Davie Poplar for Class Day Exercises, which will consist of the reading of the class poem by W. D. Perry, the will and last testament by G. Vernon Cowper, the class history by H. J. Fox, class statistics by Harry Weatherly, and the prophecy by Lincoln Kesler.

At 2 p. m. members of the graduation class will meet at Memorial Hall for rehearsal. All members of the class are urged to be present, since this is the only chance for them to become acquainted with the procedure at commencement Monday.

President Chase will give a reception for the seniors and their guests at his home between 5:30 and 6:30 in the afternoon. This will be followed by the Senior Banquet at 7:00 o'clock at the Carolina Inn. An attractive feature of this banquet will be a talk by Francis D. Winston.

The final event of the day will be the Bingham Debate in Gerrard Hall at 8:30 p. m.

Officers of the Senior Class are: Charles A. Carr, president; John M. Henderson, vice-president; McLean B. Leath, secretary; J. C. Price, treasurer; and H. E. Cox, student councilman.

BINGHAM DEBATE TO BE TONIGHT

Medal to Be Awarded to Best Speaker on Both Di and Phi Teams.

A traditional rivalry will be continued tonight when representatives of the Di Senate and the Phi Assembly meet in Gerrard Hall at 8:30 to debate the query—"Resolved, That the United States should join the World Court."

J. C. Williams and Garland McPherson, of the Di, will uphold the affirmative end of the question while E. H. Whitley and G. P. Carr, of the Phi, will present the case of the negative.

The Bingham Memorial Debate is the annual commencement debate between the two campus literary societies. Until his recent death the debate was sponsored by Colonel Bingham, a noted Tar Heel. Now the contest is sponsored by relatives of his in his honor.

The Bingham medals are given for excellence in debate. Two will be awarded tonight: one to the best speaker of the winning team and the other to the best speaker of the losing team. Both medals are of equal value. Competition for the awards is always keen, and the debate tonight is not expected to prove exception to the rule.

The entire debate will last approximately an hour and one half. Each of the four speakers will be allowed twenty minutes, not more than sixteen of which shall be taken up in his constructive speech and not more than six of which shall be taken up in his rebuttal.

BLAKE RECOVERS CAR AND GETS $50 REWARD

John D. Blake, University policeman, has been presented a Carolina Motor Club reward of $50 for the recovery of William Way's car and the apprehension of the thief. He is the first officer in this section to win one of these rewards.

Senior Rehearsal

Commencement rehearsal will be held this afternoon at two o'clock at Memorial Hall. All seniors are expected to be present.

The deans of the various schools and Dr. C. S. Mangum, chief faculty marshal, as well as the student marshals will attend the rehearsal.

Senior President

C. A. Carr, Jr., of Norfolk, Virginia, as president of the class of 1929, will preside at the Class Day exercises this morning under Davie Poplar and at the senior banquet tonight at the Carolina Inn.

ALUMNI TO ROOM IN CAMPUS DORMS

All Members of Each Reunioning Class Will Be Grouped Together.

The University has set aside four dormitories on the campus to accommodate the alumni who are returning to the Hill for Commencement.

Alumni will be placed in these dormitories so that the members of each class will be together and will also be near members of other reunioning classes with whom they were in college.

In the first section of Old West will be the Classes of '79, '80, '81, '82, and '83. In the middle section will be members of '99 and '00. The Classes of '02 and '04 will occupy the last section of the building.

The first section of Old East has been set aside for alumni from mixed classes. The Classes of '18 and '19 will occupy the middle section of this building and '20 and '21 the last section.

Steele dormitory is for mixed alumni and Grimes for the members of the Baby Class, '28.

Assignments to rooms will be made at Alumni Information Headquarters in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. The University supplies bed linen, towels, and porter and maid service for all alumni.

DOWNTOWN STORES DISPLAY ANCIENT ATHLETIC PRIZES

Historic Footballs and Team Pictures of Former Days Adorn Windows.

The original football used back in 1892 when Carolina beat Trinity to the tune of 40 to 0, pictures of varsity track, football, and baseball teams of 25 years ago, and scores of athletic trophies and historic balls are on display this week in the windows of Chapel Hill stores.

These displays were arranged for the special interest of returning alumni that they may see themselves as they once were seen. Already crowds have gathered before the windows and curiously examined the records of an athletic past.

The Student Supply Store, formerly known as Foister's, has a good collection of original footballs used in momentous games of many years ago. The oldest one bears the date of 1892 and the inscription N.C. 40—Trinity 0. A 1900 ball says N.C. 55—Ga. 0; and coming up to date is one with N.C. 6—Va. 0 and the year 1919. In this display there are also the pictures of the 1903 football team and the 1900 and 1901 baseball teams.

In Jack Lipman's window are mounted individual pictures of the 1925 state football champions, 1926 Southern Conference Basketball champs, 1927 state baseball champs, 1928 state football champs, and the 1929 state basketball titleholders.

NEW BUILDINGS ON CAMPUS SURPRISE RETURNED ALUMNI

Transformation of South Campus and Erection of New Library Most Striking Changes.

Returning alumni each year find changes about the campus which strike the note of incongruity and give them a feeling of strangeness. This year there are fully as many changes since last commencement as usual.

The so-called "triangle" of dormitories has been made into a second quadrangle with the completion of I or Everett dormitory, and the other three dormitories of that group have been given the names of Lewis, Graham, and Aycock.

By far the most spectacular addition to the campus is the new Library, finished this spring, which faces South Building and closes one end of a new court. Down in the same section of the campus is the new commerce building, Bingham Hall, facing Venable Hall of Chemistry. The railroad track, which last year extended through the campus to the quadrangle, has been removed as far back as Memorial Hall; and the unsightly space between South and the Library is fast being made presentable by the work of the Grounds department under the supervision of Dr. Coker.

The new road to Raleigh, running through the South campus between the new Library and the Stadium, has been completed and reduces the distance from Chapel Hill to Raleigh to thirty miles.

Graham Memorial still stands unfinished as it did at last commencement, although the main downstairs room has been completed and is to be used for meetings during this week.

REPLICA OF FIRST STEAM ENGINE IN AMERICA VISITS CHAPEL HILL

"Best Friend of Charleston" Is Reborn One Hundred Years after Famous First Run and Now Travels About as an Advertisement.

By W. H. YARBOROUGH

Pictures of the early days of train travel in North Carolina became a reality Wednesday morning when "Best Friend," replica of the first steam locomotive built in America for actual use, visited Chapel Hill. Bringing with it memories of the days when railroad travel was a novelty and when the entire populace of a community turned out to see a train, the reproduction brought here consisted of the locomotive, the service car, and two coaches.

FACULTY MAKEUP SUFFERS CHANGE FOR COMING YEAR

Weaver, Daggett, McPheeters and Others Resign Positions at University.

Resignations of faculty members for next year have been made, but new appointments and promotions will not be announced until after the meeting of the Board of Trustees.

Paul John Weaver, head of the University Music department, has resigned his position here to become head of the Music department at Cornell, where he will also be professor of the theory and history of music.

Parker H. Daggett, who has been head of the Electrical Engineering department of the University since 1913, is leaving Chapel Hill to accept the deanship of the college of engineering at Rutgers University. Professor Daggett was well known on the campus for his connection with the Wigwag and Masque musical comedies, having written the music for several revues.

Robert A. McPheeters, assistant professor of Business law and one of the ten men selected by the senior class as the most popular professors, has resigned his position here to join the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company in Winston-Salem.

Other professors and instructors who will not be back next year are: H. G. Duncan, sociology; H. F. Hunt, pathology; A. T. Cutler, economics; James Webb, education; T. B. Smiley, English; C. C. Crittendon, H. T. Shanks, J. W. Patton, and W. D. Brandon, history; R. C. Blackwell and A. T. Curlee, mathematics; Mrs. Catherine Gilbert, philosophy; M. W. Trawick, physics; M. L. Radoff, French; J. A. Bender, pharmacology; C. D. Burt, anatomy; W. M. Mebane, chemistry; Alfred G. White, economics; C. E. Cauthen, history; and M. G. Little, extension teaching.

Nationally Known Speakers And Largest Senior Class on Record Feature Commencement

U. N. C. President

President Harry W. Chase will hold his annual reception for all members of the senior class and their guests at the president's home on Franklin Street this afternoon.

SENIORS TO BE CHASES' GUESTS

President Gives Reception for Graduating Class at His Home This Afternoon.

This afternoon from 5:30 to 6:30 President and Mrs. Harry W. Chase will entertain for the seniors at an informal reception at the president's home on Franklin Street.

The president's reception has for some years been a traditional part of the regular commencement program. One afternoon during commencement week is set aside during which time President Chase is at home to all members of the senior class and to their families or other guests who are present for the graduation exercises.

In the receiving line this afternoon besides President and Mrs. Chase will be Mr. and Mrs. R. B. House, Dean and Mrs. Addison Hibbard, Dean and Mrs. Francis Bradshaw, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Wilson, Jr., and Mrs. Marvin H. Stacy.

FIRST ISSUE OF DAILY TAR HEEL MAKES ITS BOW

Change Having Been Approved By Students, Daily Paper Appears.

The most significant change in publications at the University in many years was the decision to convert the tri-weekly Tar Heel into a daily paper, the first issue of which appears today.

Proposals for this plan were submitted to the Student Activities Committee early in the winter with several methods to choose from. After thorough consideration by a committee appointed by Ed Hudgins, president of the student body, it was decided to submit the four proposed plans of financing the paper to a preferential vote of the student body.

The committee which worked out the detailed plan was made up of Glenn Holder, chairman, Walter Spearman, John Marshall, Jerry Slade, Joe Mitchell, George Ehrhart, Marion Alexander, John Mebane, J. M. Lear and O. J. Coffin.

Four different ways of obtaining a daily Tar Heel were submitted to the student body on February 7. The first provided for the simplification of the Yackety Yack, the second for abolition of the Carolina Buccaneer, the third for combining the Magazine with the Tar Heel and issuing a literary supplement every two weeks, and the fourth for a reapportionment of all student publication fees by the Publications Union Board.

Results of the balloting showed the students heartily in favor of a daily paper; 666 votes were cast for the daily and only 148 against it. The plan for combining the Magazine proved to be the favorite method, and will be followed next year.

Fourteen Classes Return to Hill for Reunion; Saturday Set Aside for Alumni Day.

The program for the University's one hundred and thirty-fourth commencement is being centered about the week-end of June 7-10. Activities begin today with Class Day Exercises and last through Monday, when the diplomas will be handed to approximately three hundred and thirty-four seniors.

Great interest has been aroused in the 1929 commencement program due to the fact that the University has secured two speakers of national reputation and wide experience to deliver the principal addresses. The baccalaureate sermon on Sunday will be preached by the Reverend Dr. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, noted Episcopal clergyman. On Monday the commencement address will be delivered in Memorial Hall by Sir Esme Howard, British ambassador to the United States, a veteran diplomat who has been in the service for fifty years.

Alumni have already begun to arrive in Chapel Hill. Three generations of graduates—from the old-timers of '79 down to the members of the Baby Class, '28—are reunioning this year. Fourteen classes in all are scheduled to come back for commencement. They are the classes of '79, '80, '81, '82, '83, '99, '00, '02, '04, '18, '19, '20, '21' and '28. It is interesting to note that this reunion will bring together again classes which have been away from the Hill one, ten, twenty-five, and fifty years.

Tomorrow is Alumni Day. Examinations are over and the seniors rule the campus. Festivities begin with the President's reception for the seniors and their guests.

Tomorrow is Alumni Day. The hundreds of alumni expected to return to the Hill with the fourteen reunioning classes will find the day set aside in their honor replete with entertainment. Beginning Friday the alumni register will be kept open at the Y. M. C. A. throughout the week-end, and alumni will sign it as they come in. In order that everyone may know who is here for commencement and where to find friends a large directory will be erected on the front of Gerrard Hall, and names will be posted as fast as they can be obtained.

The main features of tomorrow will be a general alumni meeting in the (Continued on page two)
