

Fraternities Send Invitations To Frosh Through Deans Office

Fraternities Must Send Cards To Dean of Students' Office Today Inviting Frosh to Visit On Friday and Saturday.

The first steps toward rushing season, somewhat altered in form from those of previous years, will be taken today by the various Greek orders now existing on the Hill when lists of desired freshmen are sent in by the fraternities to the dean of students. The dean will then send cards to the men invited by the fraternities. The freshmen must visit the houses to which they are invited sometime between the hours of 2 and 12 p. m. Friday or between 7 and 12 p. m. Saturday. Failure to appear at those houses to which he is invited will bar the offender from joining any fraternity during the time that he is a student at the University of North Carolina.

Because of the fact that the rushing period this year is shorter than those of previous years the rushing will naturally be more intensive. A freshman can easily make his dates for the entire season with the first two fraternities that he visits and such is heartily discouraged by the inter-fraternity council. Freshmen are urged to go slowly in making their decisions—in other words "keep your heads up."

Both freshmen and members of fraternities have been warned of the period of silence that now exists. Breaking of this rule is likely to bar any freshman from fraternities and subject the fraternity to a fine of a hundred dollars. Rushing is defined as entertaining, engaging in social conversation, or in any kind of communication whatsoever with the exception of formal salutations.

Church Conference Commences Today

More than ninety clergy and laymen of the state will convene Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Chapel of the Cross for the annual fall conference of the Diocese of North Carolina. The clergy and laymen will meet in separate conventions but will participate in the same programs.

Approximately 35 clergy are expected for the opening session Wednesday night. Following a continuous meeting Thursday the clergy will leave to make way for the laymen. About 50 laymen have signified their intentions of attending the sessions of the Diocese.

Addresses by Bishops Edwin A. Penick, Charlotte, and Joseph Blount Cheshire, Raleigh, will feature the program. Other speakers are Dr. Lewis B. Franklin, New York; Rev. W. Brooke Stabler, Worcester, Mass.; and Rev. L. F. Kent, formerly archdeacon of the Yukon.

The purpose of the convention is to study the mission work of the Episcopal Church in the United States and in foreign countries. Reports on the various phases of this work will be made by committee chairmen.

Services in the church Thursday night will be held in connection with the conference. Rev. W. H. Milton, Wilmington, who will conduct the services, will speak on "The World Mission of Christianity."

JUNIOR SMOKER TO BE HELD AT SWAIN TONIGHT

First Smoker for Class of 1931 Will Be Held Tonight at 9 O'clock; Carolina Tar Heels to Play.

President Hudson of the Junior class announces that the first class smoker of the year will be held tonight at nine o'clock in Swain Hall. All juniors are urged to attend.

Dean Hibbard and Ray Farris, captain of the varsity football team and president of the student body, will be the speakers of the occasion while Alex Mendenhall and his Tar Heel Boys have been engaged to provide the music. Refreshments will be served during the course of the evening.

The feminine element of the class are especially invited to this event and it is hoped that many will attend.

Y CABINETS HOLD FIRST MEETINGS

Talks by Officials Feature Opening.

A very important meeting of the three Y. M. C. A. cabinets was held Monday night in the parlor of the Y at 7:15 for the purpose of talking over the work to be done during the coming year.

Vice-President J. A. Lang, presiding in the absence of Jimmie Williams who was in bed with a chest cold, gave a very boosting talk on "The Weak Spots in the Cabinet Organization That Should Be Strengthened." His talk, being a general boost to the cabinet members for the new year, gave the members a general idea of what was to be expected of them during the year 1929-30.

The other speakers included Aubrey Perkins, who gave a very interesting talk on the freshman (cabinet) council, outlining very nicely the work planned for the new men this year, and Ed Hamer who gave a short talk, giving the treasurer's report of the cabinet. Mr. Comer, general secretary of the Y, explained fully some of the organization problems and also announced some of the big speakers and some of the other features on the program for the coming year.

This meeting helped to get the cabinets off to a good start and will probably be the beginning of a very successful year for the Y.

Norman Foerster Publishes New Book

In yesterday's list of forthcoming books of the University Press, The American Scholar by Norman Foerster was omitted through error. The first copies of this book will be here in about a week.

Mr. Foerster is one of Carolina's best known men in a national field; for many years he has devoted his life to scholarship and criticism. The forthcoming book is an address he delivered here to the graduate students. Already the book has elicited some comment, and its publication is anticipated with keen pleasure.

PROFESSIONAL SCHOOLS HAVE MORE THAN 400

Medical School Has Capacity Registration; Lawyers Lead.

The enrollment in the professional schools of the University is well over 400.

That means that one out of every seven students is registered in either the school of law, medicine, pharmacy or applied science.

The school of medicine has a full house. There are 40 enrolled as first-year students, 40 as second-year, two as special, and one as a graduate, making a total of 83. This number included four women—two in the first-year class and two in the second-year class.

The school of pharmacy shows 63 registered for the Ph. G. degree, which is a three-year course. All applicants for the B. S. degree in pharmacy register in the school of applied science. The total number is more than eighty.

In the law school there are 42 registered in the first-year class. This includes Miss Cornelia E. Frizzell of Snow Hill, who is the only co-ed in the law school. The second year class shows 37 and the third 33, making a total of 112.

The freshman class in the school of engineering has 110 enrolled, showing a 30 percent increase over last year. There are enough upperclassmen in the engineering school to raise the total number of professional students well over the 400 mark.

Dr. Howard W. Odum Goes To Washington

Dr. Howard W. Odum, director of the University's institute for research in the social sciences, will spend this coming week-end in Washington to confer with a group of social scientists with reference to some country-wide research projects, whose subjects will shortly be announced at Washington.

P. U. Board Holds First Session Monday Night; Fills Vacancies

The Publications Union board, the business organization behind all of Carolina's editors and business managers, rolled up its sleeves at its first session this year and got down to some real work.

Clyde Dunn of Kinston and J. E. Dungan of Chapel Hill were unanimously chosen president and secretary of the board. The group moved to notify Ray Farris, president of the student body, that due to a vacancy caused by the resignation of B. Moore Parker of Raleigh it would be necessary for a third student member to be appointed or elected to membership on the board by the student body.

Will Yarborough of Louisburg was appointed by the board to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of George Ehrhart of Jackson who served the board last year as managing editor of the Tar Heel.

Arrangements have been completed to permit C. H. Herring of Raleigh to distribute the entire circulation of the campus publications.

The editor and business manager of the Buccaneer, the col-

Dr. Chase Announces Gift of Organ To University by Unnamed Donor

Member Hoover's Law Enforcement Group Visits University

Administration for Carolina's institute for research in the social sciences was expressed to Dr. Harry W. Chase last Saturday by a member of President Hoover's commission on law enforcement and observance, Col. Henry W. Anderson, who is chairman of the sub-committee on causes of crime. Col. Anderson, who spent Friday and Saturday at the University, also conferred with Dr. Howard W. Odum, director, and other members of the institute, in Alumni hall, Friday night, with reference to the institute's studies in crime in North Carolina and neighboring states. The institute, at Col. Anderson's suggestion, will be ready to assist President Hoover's commission in the future.

Among the members of the institute who attended the conference were Dr. Roy M. Brown, Dr. T. J. Woolfer, Jr., Dr. Rupert B. Vance, Dr. Lee M. Brooks, Dr. Katharine Jocher, Miss Gertrude Vaile, Marry L. Herring, Dr. Guy B. Johnson, H. P. Brinton and J. P. McConnell.

Mrs. Mosher to Visit University Women's Clubs

Mrs. E. R. Mosher, state president of the North Carolina division of the American Association of University Women, will speak at the opening meeting of the branches in High Point, Winston-Salem, Charlotte, and Statesville.

Mrs. Mosher will discuss the national conference on adult education. She was a delegate from the University at the last meeting of the conference.

The speaking engagements are scheduled as follows: High Point, September 26; Winston-Salem, September 27; Charlotte, October 2; and Statesville, October 3.

BUCCANEER HOLDS INITIAL MEETING

Thirty Freshmen and Upper-Classmen Attend First Assemblage Since Edson Became Editor.

Some thirty freshmen and upperclassmen attended the initial meeting of the art and editorial staff of the Buccaneer. More than half of the men competing for positions on the staff were artists. As has been the policy in previous years no regular method or procedure is used to try out men for the staffs. Any student in the University is permitted and urged to make contributions, either of an art or literary nature, to the Buccaneer and those that do exceptional work will be awarded places on the staff.

The Buccaneer is the college humorous publication. It is issued eight times a year. The first issue which will appear on or around October the 15th will be the "Pigskin" Number and will be devoted exclusively to football. The deadline for all copy and drawings for the first number is October the 3rd. The second number which will appear in November will be the "Aviation Number" and the last number of the Fall Quarter will be the "Christmas Number."

The type of material used by the Buccaneer is one and two line jokes; humorous poems, stories and short sketches; captions for drawings; and cartoons and art sketches. Any student interested in working on the Buccaneer staff should get in touch with Cy Edson, editor, either at the Buccaneer office or at the Chi Phi House.

Southern To Operate Trains to Tech Game

The Southern Railway company has recently announced that it will operate special sleeping cars from Greensboro and other points in North Carolina to Atlanta, Ga., to accommodate the football fans who are planning to attend the Carolina-Georgia Tech game October 11 and the Georgia-Yale game at Athens, Ga., October 12.

The special sleepers will leave Greensboro Thursday night, October 10, and will arrive in Atlanta some time during the following morning. The train will leave Atlanta Friday night and will arrive in Athens the next morning, then it will leave Athens Saturday night and will arrive in Greensboro some time Sunday morning.

Three special cars have already been booked for Greensboro, and indications from Raleigh and Charlotte are that four or five special cars will leave North Carolina.

Notice To Graduate Students

Graduate students are requested to note the fact that Tuesday, October 1, has been set as the last day for the approval of applications for the Ph. D. degree at the 1930 commencement. The date is given in the Graduate School catalogue as September 27, but the time has been extended to the first of October.

$40,000 Is Available for Organ and Addition to old Library for Auditorium.

TRUSTEES MEET

Local Architects Working on Plans for Remodelling Library.

The executive committee of trustees of the University of North Carolina met in Raleigh yesterday with Governor O. Max Gardner and approved the appointment of two new professors, heard an optimistic report by Harry W. Chase, and was notified of another gift of $40,000 by an unnamed alumnus.

The $40,000 gift was made available by the same party who some time ago offered the University $30,000 with which to purchase an organ. No suitable place for the organ has been found and the donor offered the additional sum for the purpose of erecting an auditorium addition to the old Carnegie library, which is now being refitted for a music hall. The organ would be placed in the addition, which would seat 800 people. The executive committee approved the plan and architects will see if the addition can be made.

The University architects, Atwood & Nash, Inc., in consultation with Dr. H. S. Dyer, Professor T. S. McCorkle and Professor N. O. Kennedy, of the music department, have made tentative plans for the auditorium addition to the old library building, which is now being converted to the uses of the school of music. These plans show an addition 101 feet long and 61 feet wide to the rear, or west, of the building, the architecture of which is in keeping with the design of the old part.

As is well known, the stack room of the old library building was thoroughly fireproof. This stack room, 28 by 57 feet, is incorporated as a part of the auditorium, giving a hall 82 feet by 58 feet by 32 feet high, with seating accommodations for about 800 people. The stage occupies a space 47 feet by 58 feet, of which 32 feet by 49 feet is visible to the audience, the remainder, at the rear, being used, on the main floor, for dressing and toilet rooms, above which are four large chambers for the accommodation of the organ. The rear partition of the stage is composed in a large part of grills, through which the sound of the organ will be heard.

The blower room for the organ wind is located in the basement, and special precautions are being taken to prevent the sound of the blower being heard about the building.

The stage floor is level, for use for recital purposes, and is to have removable seats rising in tiers at the back, for use by the glee club, the A Capella choir, the University band, concert band and the University orchestra.

The best advice obtainable is being utilized to make the auditorium acoustically correct, and the entire building is being designed around the requirements of a first-class organ installation.

Natural ventilation, only, with windows and ventilators in the ceiling, is being considered for
