

Y.M.C.A. Lists Many Features For This Year's Attractions

Dr. Seerley, Mr. Barnett, Mr. Gray, and Other Noted Men To Appear Here.

A very interesting program has been planned by the Y for the coming year which will include some of the best speakers ever to be heard on a college campus.

This program will begin October 8 when the campus will have the pleasure of hearing Dr. F. N. Seerley of Springfield, Mass., who will give several talks on the subject of "Rational Sex Life." Mr. Seerley will begin his program with a short talk in chapel and will end with a mass meeting that night at Memorial hall at 7:30. He has also promised to meet all students desiring personal or group interviews at any time during the afternoon.

The second speaker on the program will be Eugene E. Barnett of Shanghai, China, who will be here on October 13 and 14 and will speak on "The Foreign Situation in China." He will begin his program with a sermon in one of the local churches at 11 o'clock Sunday morning to all students. He will speak again Monday morning in chapel and will close his program with an address to a joint session of the three Y cabinets on Monday night. Throughout his stay here, Mr. Barnett will be available for interviews to all students desiring to talk with him.

Mr. Barnett, who is an alumnus of the University, has for the past 20 years been in charge of the Y work in China among the universities and colleges, and during the late Chinese revolutions he remained at his post and counseled daily with government officials, besides attending to his duties with the college life of China.

The Y office is at present making a special effort to bring to the campus one of the most outstanding cotton-mill men in the south who will address the student body on "The Present Industrial Situation in North Carolina." The name and the date of this speaker will be announced later.

On November 6, 7 and 8 the students will hear Mr. A. Her-

SOPHOMORES TO SMOKE TONIGHT

Y Quartet Will Perform at First Class Smoker.

President Ben Aycock of the sophomore class announces that the annual sophomore smoker will be held tonight at 9:00 o'clock in Swain hall. The occasion will be used for the election of a class treasurer to fill the vacancy caused by the failure of John Green, who was elected last spring, to return to the University this year.

The Y quartet, composed of Steve Lynch, Jr., J. E. Miller, J. C. Connolly, and Wofford Humphreys, will render a number of vocal selections during the program. The principal speaker of the occasion will be Mr. R. B. House, executive secretary of the university. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program. President Aycock urges that all members of the class be present.

Rushing Limited To Frat House Friday

The Inter-Fraternity Council wishes to call the attention of all fraternity men and freshmen to section 3 of the by-laws which state that all rushing for the first two days, Friday and Saturday, is strictly limited to the fraternity houses.

TICKETS ON SALE FOR PLAYMAKERS

Seven Productions to Be Given This Year; Possibly Eighth By Advanced Members.

Season tickets for the Carolina Playmakers' productions will go on sale today, according to an announcement by Hubert Heffner, associate director of the organization. The price of the season ticket will be $1.50, and the sale will be limited to nine hundred tickets. The price of individual performances will be $1.

The season's program calls for seven productions, with the probability of the addition of an eighth attraction in the form of a studio presentation by advanced members of the Playmakers. This performance will be open only to holders of season tickets. Tickets will be on sale at the Book Exchange, the Student Supply Store, or they may be procured from special representatives on the campus.

The season's program follows: October 24, 25, 26: Original Folk Plays.

November 2: Henry L. Southwick, Shakespearan Actor.

November 7, 8, 9: "Job's Kinfolks" (3 acts) by Loretto Carroll Bailey.

January 30, 31, February 1: A Modern American Comedy.

March 6, 7, 8: Original Folk Plays.

April 4, 5: Performance by a Visiting Company.

May 16, 17: Forest Theatre Production.

Debate Squad to Meet

The first meeting of the debate squad will take place tonight at 7:30 in 201 Murphey. All men who are interested in any phase of forensic activity are requested to be present.

As was the case last year, all intercollegiate debaters will be chosen from the squad.

At the same time the debate class will also be formed. One-half course academic credit will be given for fulfilling the requirements of the class.

Negro Bootlegger Caught

Earl Oldham, negro, was arrested Tuesday afternoon for the illegal possession of liquor by Deputy Sheriff G. A. Hearn in the negro section of Chapel Hill. Oldham had been under suspect by the police for some time, and was chased Saturday night by Sheriff Hearn but eluded capture. He was placed in the local jail in default of $100 bond.

Bullock Explains Rules to Freshmen

In the form of an announcement Wednesday morning Dean Bradshaw urged all men interested in Y. M. C. A. work to buy their tickets for the forthcoming banquet to be held in the Methodist Church Friday night.

Bullock took a few minutes to the interfraternity council, was then introduced by Dean Bradshaw.

Bullock took a few minutes to explain in detail the rules of the rushing seasons this year. He especially emphasized the desirability of each man doing all that he could to help enforce the rules. He continued by telling that rushing is being done this year according to a new plan, and will naturally require the earnest cooperation of each individual in insuring the success of the plans. He also asked that each man upon receiving an invitation to visit a particular fraternity house regard that as a duty and make a special effort to comply with the offer of the invitation. The failure to do so automatically bars the offender from ever becoming a member of any fraternity while at the University.

He completed his talk by warning those persons in the process of being rushed to disregard fraternity propaganda and to discriminate between two or more bids with equal unprejudiced and reasonable procedure.

Dean Bradshaw followed Mr. Bullock's instructive talk by advising that no man feel hurt or left out because he does not receive a fraternity bid. All men cannot be fraternity leaders, and all campus leaders are not fraternity men. It is very essential that this be kept in mind at all times.

Judge Winston Says Mass Production Is Motto of Moderns

Decrying the passing of the days of individuality, Judge Robert W. Winston urged the senior class at its first smoker in Swain hall Tuesday night to cooperate in all their ventures. "We are living in an age of mass production, and we must keep abreast of the times," the Judge said.

Following the talk by Judge Winston, officers of the class outlined the program for the coming year. An orchestra and refreshments enlivened the evening.

Bob Graham was elected student councilman for the senior class to succeed Bill Chandler who failed to return to school. Graham defeated J. C. Williams by a few votes. Harry Galland was eliminated on the first ballot.

Carter to Speak To Engineer Students

Mr. R. D. Carter, toll engineer of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in Venezuela, will speak to the students in the engineering school tonight at 7:30 in room 319, Phillips hall. Mr. Carter will discuss the subject of "Foreign Service."

Police Warning Against Drinking

Chief Lloyd of the Chapel Hill police force, in a statement to the press yesterday, issued a warning to the students of the University relative to the football game Saturday afternoon.

"Drinking and ungentlemanly conduct has been at a minimum so far this quarter," Chief Lloyd stated in an interview with a representative of the Tar Heel, "and it is to the advantage of the students that such a condition remain. The Chapel Hill police force wishes to cooperate in every way to aid the students of the University; but drinking and unruly conduct on the streets of the town will not be tolerated."

"Realizing that college students are naturally possessed with a great amount of boisterousness, we try to give the benefit of the doubt to the student in every instance. But youthful good spirits are naturally different from intoxication. The town will be filled with several thousand out of town people, and the police of Chapel Hill will have their hands full restraining these people."

Chief Lloyd also said that the police department only wanted the cooperation of the students during the football game, and the police would do the rest.

Research Institute Collects Material Of Social Sciences

Municipal Government, Crime, and Human Geography Figure Prominently in Study.

In view of the fact that information from the University institute for research in social science will figure prominently in future issues of the new Daily Tar Heel, Dr. Katharine Jocher, assistant director of the department, has prepared the following information for publication in this paper:

In July, 1924, the institute for research in social science was organized at the University of North Carolina for the purpose of making detailed studies in the social sciences arising chiefly out of state and regional conditions. A long term research program was worked out based upon certain major fields with a number of concrete, detailed studies in each field. These major fields of investigation include county and municipal government, social institutions, crime and criminal justice, taxation, social-industrial relations, collection of historical source materials, social history, the Negro, folk backgrounds, the southern co-operatives, and human geography.

The board of governors of the institute consists of President H. W. Chase as chairman and the following representatives of the several social sciences: Professor E. C. Branson, Dean D. D. Carroll, Professor R. D. W. Connor, Professor Frank P. Graham, Dr. J. G. deR. Hamilton, Dr. A. M. Jordan, Dr. Howard W. Odum, Dr. J. F. Royster, Dr. M. R. Trabue, Dr. L. R. Wilson.

Dr. Otto Stuhlman Says German Students Work More Than Heels

Football Tickets

The ticket exchange office will be open in the lobby of the Y.M.C.A. building today and tomorrow for the purpose of exchanging student ticket coupons for tickets for the Wake Forest game Saturday. All students must make the exchange during these days as no exchanges will be made after Friday. The office will be open from 10 A. M. to 5 P. M. on both days.

TAYLOR SOCIETY GETS UNDER WAY

Burnett, Manbeck, Whitton, and Nash Officers of Commerce Group.

First steps toward the beginning of activities by the University of North Carolina student branch of the Taylor society, international organization for the promotion of the science of business management, were taken at a meeting of the officers and the advisor of the branch held Tuesday evening.

At this meeting it was decided that during this year the society would meet once a month, and that after the organization meeting to be held about October 15, the meetings would be given over to addresses by men prominent in the field of business management and administration.

The University of North Carolina branch of the Taylor society was organized during the first part of the spring quarter last year and held a series of meetings which culminated in a final meeting at which Harlow S. Person, managing director of the society, delivered an address on "The Origin, Development, and Influence of Scientific Management."

Officers of the society as elected last spring are W. C. Burnett, president; Bill Manbeck, vice-president; Beaumert Whitton, secretary; and Strudwick Nash, treasurer. Professor G. T. Schwenning of the school of commerce is the advisor of the local society.

Law School Opens

Official opening of the law school will be held at 10:30 o'clock this morning in the law building. Although new students have attended classes for the past three days, all members of the faculty will be introduced to them for the first time. R. B. House, secretary to the president, will welcome the students to the University. Following the welcoming address Waddell Gholson, president of the law school association, will introduce the faculty. The program will be short and visitors are invited.

Frosh To Visit Frats

Mr. Francis Bradshaw, dean of students, announces that fraternity invitations will be delivered to the freshmen this afternoon and tonight, asking the freshmen to call at the fraternity houses during the prescribed hours on Friday and Saturday. The invitations were delayed because of the difficulty in securing the local addresses of the freshmen.

Gives Information about German Conditions in Germany During Conversation Tuesday; Air Traveling Popular On Continent.

Students at the University of North Carolina who think they are overburdened with work and whose professors require much more scholastic activity than is necessary should certainly thank their lucky stars that they are not attending a German university.

Such was the impression given by Dr. Otto Stuhlman, Jr., in the course of a rambling conversation Tuesday in which he made many interesting remarks about conditions in Germany, France, Belgium and England, as he observed them during the past summer.

Probably one of the most curious things that Dr. Stuhlman described was his asking for Dutch cheese while in Holland. He called for the cheese by name, and when the waiter shook his head and said that he had never heard of it, the professor from North Carolina showed the shape of the article to be round by a movement of his hands and then told the waiter that the article he wanted was red. The waiter suddenly caught the meaning. The most astounding part came when the waiter replied that the common red spherical cheese which comes from Holland is made only for export and it not used at all in the country where it is made.

"Flying is quite common," said Dr. Stuhlman. "The price of a fare by air is roughly twice that of a first-class ticket by rail and water. At one of the largest airports, airplanes were arriving and departing with the regularity of railroad trains, and the funny part of it was that there was apparently no interest in these many comings and

Playmakers Select Comedies for Tour

"Magnolia's Man," a mountain comedy by Gertrude Wilson Coffin, and an unnamed domestic comedy of young married people, by Catherine Nolan, were the plays selected at the author's reading Tuesday night at the Playmakers Theatre to be produced for the Playmakers' northern tour, November 15 to 30. To these two new plays will be added "The No 'Count Boy," a negro comedy by Paul Green, written some years ago but never produced by the Playmakers.

"The Devil's Doll," a witch play by Mary Margaret Russell, and "Pegleg Scuttergold or the Pirate's Thirteenth Bride," a burlesque of North Carolina pirate days by Frank S. Howell, were chosen to be reserved for later production. "The Devil's Doll" received high praise from the audience, who were asked to vote on the readings. The play committee making the selections for the tour consisted of Professors Gregory Paine, J. C. Lyons, Russel Potter, Rev. A. S. Lawrence, and Miss Margaret Vale.

Tryouts for these plays will be held in the Playmakers Theatre on Monday, September 30, at 4:30. Copies of the plays can be obtained at the main desk of the library after September 27. The tryouts are open to all, including freshmen.
