

Crayton Rowe Has Good Crowd At First Meeting of Heel Boxers

Seven Letter Men Are Back From Championship 1928 Team; Allen Captain.

Two new coaches and 45 students answered the initial call for candidates for another prospective Southern championship boxing team at Gerrard hall Tuesday night. With two out of the three championships resting securely in her possession Carolina is preparing to make a strong bid for the title again this year.

The return of Crayton Rowe as boxing coach after a year's absence will be welcomed by all those who remember him as the diminutive coach who put Carolina's boxing teams on the map. It was under his able tutorage that such stars as Warren, Shuford, Terris, Wright, Brown and this season's captain and southern lightweight champion, Archie Allen, were developed.

Odell Sapp, two years varsity light-heavyweight, is to coach the freshmen this year. The 25 who reported for practice gave the impression of containing good material. Four meets already on the schedule and the promise of probably two more is sure to result in keen competition for positions. A trip to V. M. I., one to Virginia, and Duke, and V. P. I. here, are the meets already on the schedule for the freshmen.

From last year's southern championship team seven letter men are back. Captain Allen, Vaughan, Sheffield, Goodrich, Webb, Davis and John Warren make about as formidable an array as any coach might ask for at the beginning of the season. Add to this three men from last year's freshman team such as Ed Gray, Jimmy Gattlin, and Tom Parsons and one can go places and do things.

And this is just what Coach Rowe is doing. Starting the season off here with V. P. I. on January 25, varsity and frosh get a stiff workout. Both tackle V. M. I. a week later at Lexington. On the eighth the two teams go to Virginia, the only other school that has won the southern title since the installation of the tournament four years ago. February 15 the varsity take their big trip down to Florida in quest of the 'Gators' scalp, seeking revenge for their only defeat last year. Two days later on the trip home there will be a brief stop for hostilities at South Carolina's camp. Then to complete the hardest week in the history of Carolina boxing, and to mark its entrance in inter-sectional competition, on February 22, Archie Allen's followers take on the national collegiate champions, Penn State, at Chapel Hill. Tentative meets with Duke and Washington and Lee are on the schedule but the dates have not yet been fixed.

Coach Crayton Rowe states that while there appears to be a complete varsity team out he wants all men interested in the sport to report to him for practice and instruction. A number of vacancies are in the varsity squad due to the fact that there are several men in the same weight. Of course the freshman team is yet to be picked and all those out will be given ample opportunity to display their wares.

Although Coach Rowe will devote the majority of his time in developing his teams, time will be given in teaching the art of self-defense to all those interested. Classes will be conducted every afternoon and the coaches will work with the beginner as well as the experienced boxer. Boxing is a sport that develops the individual rapidly and symmetrically, gives him self-as-

BASEBALL NOTICE

Coach Ashmore has called a meeting of the varsity baseball squad for 4 o'clock today. Equipment will be issued from 10:30 to 12 and 2:30 to 4 o'clock.

Golf Team To Play Tournament Matches

Old Members Back This Year; Strong Team Expected.

June Adams, Charlie Chat-ham, Meade Willis, and Luther Steward, who composed last year's golf team, are all back and eligible to play again this season. This should prove to be a strong team this year.

Neither a captain nor a manager has yet been elected. A meeting for the purpose of choosing these men will be held in the near future.

The schedule has not yet been completed, but it is to include matches with Duke and Georgia Tech and the Southern tournament to be held this year in Birmingham, Ala.

Fetzer Is Honored

Coach Bob Fetzer, director of athletics at the University of North Carolina, was honored at a banquet in High Point held by the University alumni Monday night. It was a testimonial dinner at which signal tribute was paid to "the greatest coach in North Carolina."

After the banquet Coach Fetzer delivered a speech on the occasion of the awarding of silver loving cups to five amateur championship teams. A large crowd of sportsmen gathered in the local Y. M. C. A. to hear the veteran coach discuss athletics in its broader significance.

He stressed the physical and character-building sides of athletic development. He also urged the encouragement of mass athletics, the purpose of which is to get as many people as possible to try out for teams. Coach Fetzer concluded his speech with a discussion of football prospects at the University this fall. J. J. McMurray, a former star end at the University, introduced the speaker.

Tech Has Line Gauge

A bucking frame connected with a scale to register the charging power in pounds, of a football line, has been devised by Bill Fincher, line coach at Georgia Tech.

The device will be in use next week in practice on the new Rose Bowl field. Coach Fincher figured with an engineer of a scales manufacturing company, and has his apparatus so arranged that the total charging power of a line, or individual pressures, can be measured.

Coach Fincher says the device not only will give for the first time an accurate idea of how much power is exerted by seven linemen on their charge, but will tell him instantly when his forwards are slowing up in their work.

Gamecocks Miss Wolfe

Harry Wolfe, southern inter-collegiate heavyweight champion while at the University of South Carolina will not return to the University this fall. At present, he is working with the Pennsylvania Railroad.

urance that no other sport does, and teaches him self-defense that will always be valuable. A regular system of exercising will be followed each afternoon and these classes will begin around four. Practice will be held every day from four to six in the Tin Can.

SPECIAL TRAIN TO LEAVE HERE FOR TECH GAME

Carolina Football Fans Get Reduced Rates for the Occasion; Georgia-Yale Game Included in Trip.

The Southern Railway has announced the schedule and rates to be effective for the special train to Atlanta and Athens, Ga., for the Tech-Carolina and the Georgia-Yale game.

The train will be parked for occupancy in Athens and Atlanta the days of the games. It will leave Chapel Hill at nine o'clock Thursday night, October 10 and arrive in Atlanta Friday morning at eight. It leaves for Athens Saturday morning at four o'clock, and leaves there at eight o'clock that night for the return to Chapel Hill.

The round-trip rate is $15.03. Rates for berths, compartments, and drawing rooms are available at the local ticket office. Proportional rates may be secured at any station in North Carolina. Where two people occupy one berth there will be no additional charge.

There will be special car parties composed of the University faculty members, team, band, students, Mr. J. W. Hanes of Winston-Salem, New York members of the Alumni Association and friends. Special cars will be run from Goldsboro, Raleigh, Durham, Chapel Hill, and any other point where there is sufficient business to justify.

Further information may be obtained at local ticket office.

Mercer All Set

Having completed their third week of training with a short workout on Alumni field here Saturday morning, the Mercer Bears are now in fine fettle for their first game of the season with the Duke University Blue Devils to be played on Saturday, September 28, in the Mercer stadium.

Coaches Lake Russell and Harrold McNabb, Mercer's new mentors, have developed their squad, 30 candidates into a likely looking football eleven. When Russell took charge of Mercer's athletics, the prospects for a good football team were the gloomiest in years, but the young coach and his still younger assistant have worked hard morning and afternoon during the last three weeks and now have the small group of Bear gridiron warriors in tip-top shape and ready to play a game at any time.

Sherwood May Become Back

Bill Sherwood, captain of the Lafayette team, and star end for the last two years, may be converted into a backfield man.

Fighting Preachers

Ministers fought against boxing in North Carolina colleges. On last year's Duke team were two boys studying for the ministry and a third boy was the son of a minister.

Rhame to Help S. C.

Crip Rhame, a freshman football star at South Carolina in 1927, is expected to win a half-back berth on the varsity this year. Rhame is a triple threat back.

S. C. Coaching Staff

Coaches Billy Laval, Whitley Rawl, Kenneth Thrash, A. W. Norman, and Burnet Stoney form South Carolina's coaching staff this fall. Coaches Rooster McFadden and Harry Lightsey did not return.

SEND THE TAR HEEL HOME

(By Crawford McKethan)

THE old order changes; the Hall of Football Fame has received its prizes, and now a new influx of aspiring grid stars are preparing to present their goods to the scrutiny of a critical North Carolina public opinion. The first shock brought on by the thought that such men as Dick Grey, Jack McDowell, Harry Schwartz and finally that great combination Rackley and Riley, will never again bring to their feet the cheering masses of North Carolina football fans has passed away, and in its place has come comfort in the thought that 1929 contains a collection of candidates such as never before has offered itself upon the N. C. gridiron.

It has often been said this early fall that Duke's possibilities were stronger this season than ever before; just how much truth there is in this statement we may all see when the Blue Devils take the field Saturday against Mercer away down in Macon. A world of strength has come up this year from the frosh team of last year, in fact nine of these sophomores are now standing on an even par with many of the lettermen and reserves of last year. Six of these sophs are slated to see action in the backfield at some time during this season; the aforementioned backfield candidates are Robeson, Brewer, Coleman, Rochelle, Beaver, and Russ; Hyatt, Bryan and Friedman are pushing their seniors for a berth in the line. Rasky, Buie and Jankoski are all back this year to add their strength to the backfield. Peeler, Carpenter, Thorne, Warren, Taylor and Adkins will form the bulwark of the forward wall. This leaves unmentioned Captain Kistler who claims undisputed ownership of one of the tackle positions. Duke's hopes for a strong defense lie in the fact that around Kistler as a nucleus, a potent line may be moulded.

State has three sophs back who are showing up unusually well and are making it pretty hot for the three letter ball-toters who have turned up this fall. Wright, Dellinger, and Devant all showed up well on last year's freshman team and are continuing this performance in the scrimmages this year. Melton, Johnson and Jeffrey are the Davidson, although recent Around the following men the 1929 State line will undoubtedly be built: Jackie Jordan, Morgan, Crousen, Vann, Smathers, Stout, Chaplin and Gardner. Captain Lepo will hold down one of the tackle positions and will have on his shoulders the same responsibility that his rival from Duke must run up against.

Davidson will center its hopes this year around five men who return as the only surviving veterans and reserves of real strength from last year's squad. Coaches Younger and Tilson have more than a hard job on their hands, and one that when viewing the prospects that some of the other Big Five elevens seem to have, appears to be a bit overwhelming. Captain Brook on the flank is the one man of real strength on the Wildcat team; in the backfield the 'Cats will have McCall, Fralley, Brohart, and Parrish. In spite of its crippled condition Davidson will be forced to meet one of the stiffest schedules in its history.

Pat Miller has just about as tough an assignment over at Wake Forest as Younger has at Davidson, although receipt reports seem to place the Deacons in a far more optimistic light. Among the men who will be called upon to meet the Heels on Saturday will be Williams, Webb, Zimmerman, Mills and Cox. Just what surprises Pat has hidden up his sleeve will be forced out in rapid style this week-end; his team may then be a wonder team but it will no longer be a mystery team.

Student Musicians at Duke Are Now Getting Organized

Durham, Sept. 25. — Student musicians at Duke University are getting their year's musical activities well under way. The first organization to get away with a flying start is the band. In past years the university band has been an outstanding organization on the campus, and its leaders believe that this year will be an even greater one for it. Its first appearance will be on October 5 at the opening of the new stadium.

New equipment has been bought for the band, and with a high-stepping drum major leading a company of brilliantly uniformed players their initial appearance should attract attention.

Nearly 100 men turned out for the first band practice of the fall, and out of these Director George E. Leftwich will select the most capable 50. According to Director Leftwich the band will accompany the football team to a number of away from home games this fall.

Other musical organizations on the campus are likewise getting busy, and with ample talent the symphony orchestra, the jazz orchestra, and the glee clubs are looking to crack organizations.

Grail Dance Saturday

The Grail announces that its first dance of the season will take place Saturday night at 9 o'clock in the gymnasium. Jack Wardlaw will play.

Track Notice

Coach Ranson wishes all varsity candidates for track to be present for practice starting today at 4 o'clock. Equipment will be issued today between the hours of 10:30 and 12 and 2:30 and 4.

Kerr Needs a Punter

Andy Kerr must develop a punter and a running guard because of the graduation of Bruce du Mont.

John H. Anderson, Jr., third-year law student, has been very ill in McPherson hospital, Durham, due to a glandular abscess. He hopes to return to his home in Chapel Hill Sunday.
