

Sophomores and Freshmen Have Verbal Warfare in Quadrangle

Frosh Starts Rumpus When They Give Class Yell; Sophs Take It up.

"Thirty-three," some lusty-voiced freshman in a rather brave moment yelled. "Thirty-two," retorted an idle sophomore. Then the fun began. The battle cry was voiced far and near. The sophomores got out on the campus and gave an organized yell for their class. The freshmen "razzberried." Paper was thrown. The studious fellows clamoured for silence. The unthoughtful "frosh" continued to yell. Words, unmentionable and otherwise, were hurled with equal force and vigor. In fact, the land, supposedly adjoining the river Styx, was raised and torn asunder.

All this took place on the university campus Thursday night between the hours of 11 and 12.

Whether Dean Bradshaw had the foregoing incident in mind when he talked to the freshmen in chapel Friday morning is not known; but he did voice the following opinions which seem to supplement the thoughtless procedure:

"The sophomores have been very considerate this fall and it might be ventured that very few men have been hazed in any manner.

"It appears that freshmen should realize just how fortunate they are by being treated with such unusual courtesy.

"They owe respect to men who have so leniently disregarded a time-honored institution and allowed them to go unmolested."

HUNTER TO MAKE PARACHUTE JUMP

Bad Weather Causes Postponement of Program; Free Bus to Airport; Special Rates for Air Passengers.

On account of bad weather last Sunday, September 22, an "Air Show," which should have been held that day, will be held tomorrow, Sunday, September 29. Free busses will leave the Carolina Smoke Shop every hour for the airport. The feature attractions will consist of a parachute jump, which will be made by Dick Hunter of Greensboro, and probably several other airplane stunts. There will be two airplanes taking passengers. The price has been set at one cent per pound.

This entertainment is being put on by the Chapel Hill flying school, and will be held at their airport. The airport is one of the best in this section of the state, and is situated about two miles northwest of Chapel Hill.

Since coming to the south he has been in great demand as a preacher and lecturer. This is the second of the Epworth league meetings with outstanding psychologists as speakers.

Sophomores Elect Brown Treasurer

Y Quartet Performs at Smoker; House Delivers Speech.

Practically the whole sophomore class turned out Thursday night for their first smoker of the year. It was the largest class gathering since the freshman smokers of the past year.

Ben Aycock, president of the class, presided. During the course of the evening, refreshments were served and the Y. M. C. A. quartet entertained with a number of popular songs, followed by a speech by R. B. House.

Due to the failure of Johnny Green to return to the university this year, an election for treasurer of the class was held to fill his vacant position. Royall Brown was elected to this office by an overwhelming vote over his two opponents.

Fraternity Real Estate Is Valued at $500,000

Real estate owned by fraternities here at the University is down on the town tax books at $308,000. Since assessed valuation is about 60 per cent of real value, the houses and lands owned by fraternities are worth about $500,000.

Old-timers coming back to the village observe with amazement the growth in fraternity property.

"Thirty-five years ago, when I was a student," one of them said the other day, "there were only about a dozen fraternities. They did not have fine chapter houses costing $40,000 or more, as they do today. The members would rent a room somewhere which would serve for meetings. Sometimes they would rent a little house in a yard, one of the buildings that used to be called 'offices'—like the Klutz cottage, for instance."

There are today thirty-one national and four local social fraternities, thirteen professional fraternities, and two sororities. A membership of over 900, including faculty members and students who are in college here now, is embraced in the men's fraternities, while the two women's sororities have a membership of nineteen.

The chapter houses serve to ease the University's housing problem. Many of them provide sleeping quarters for their members, and in some of them dining rooms are operated. Several hundred students, who would otherwise have to seek dormitory rooms on the campus, are thus cared for.

P. D. CARTER SAYS GREAT INTEREST IN SOUTH AMERICA

Representative of International Telephone and Telegraph Company Talks to Engineers.

That the college graduate who is looking to South America as a land of opportunity should make a careful survey of the advantages offered by a position with a corporation doing business there was the keynote of a talk by P. D. Carter of the International Telephone and Telegraph company before the William Cain student branch of the A. S. C. E. Thursday evening.

Mr. Carter, who is a graduate of the school of engineering of the university, has been with the I. T. & T. for three years and has worked in Cuba, Venezuela and Chile. In the course of his talk he presented the advantages of work with a corporation in South America and then what he chose to call the disadvantages.

Among the advantages he mentioned were rapid promotion and rapidly increasing responsibility, the respect of the people of South America for the American engineer, and the privileges of living in a metropolitan city.

He urged that one considering a position in the foreign field take the disadvantages into consideration before signing a contract. His group of disadvantages included the distance from home and relatives, the additional expense of living in a foreign country at a standard to which one is accustomed, the lack of sanitation in some places, and the many minor things such as the practical impossibility of obtaining a decent haircut or shave.

In concluding his talk, Mr. Carter told many of his experiences during his three years' service and also of the activities of the I. T. & T. in the various fields in which it has established operations.

Country Club Parties

Supper Tonight, Dance October 4, and Afternoon Gathering Oct. 11

The bad turn in the weather forced the entertainment committee of the Country Club to give up the plan for an outdoor picnic supper yesterday evening and to substitute an informal supper inside the house. The appointed hour was 6 o'clock.

On account of this change, the space inside being limited, the non-members attending were limited to members' house guests. But at two other events, soon to come, newcomers in the village will be welcomed.

The opening dance of the season will be held at 9 o'clock next Friday evening, October 4; and there will be an afternoon party for women at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon, October 11. Invitations to both these affairs will be sent to newcomers in the village.

The arrangements committee, of which Mrs. C. T. Murchison is chairman, has made a schedule of 12 events in the period from now to February 1—about two a month.

DEBATERS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Debates with N. C. C. W. and State Planned; Two Co-eds Report.

Plans for a successful season of intercollegiate debating definitely got under way Thursday night with the formation of the 1929-30 debate squad in 201 Murphey Hall. Fifty-nine, including two co-eds, reported for membership in the squad.

The Debate Council plans to have the first intercollegiate debate of the season occur about the middle of November or the first of December. Efforts are being made to arrange a triangular contest with N. C. C. W. and North Carolina State.

Other than the triangular debate mentioned above, contests with the University of the South at Chapel Hill, the University of Texas at Austin, the University of West Virginia at Charleston, and the University of Virginia at Charlotte are very probable.

The council is also corresponding with Emory, the University of Alabama, Louisiana State, and the University of Kentucky.

The squad will meet next Thursday night in the same place at the same time (201 Murphey at 7:30). Dr. Horace Williams, eminent teacher of Philosophy and founder of intercollegiate debating at Carolina, will speak.

Phillips Russell Visits Chapel Hill

Biographer of Franklin and John Paul Jones Renews old Acquaintances.

Phillips Russell, graduate of the University in the class of 1904, biographer of Benjamin Franklin and John Paul Jones, is in Chapel Hill this week. He came from Rockingham, where he had been visiting his mother, and he will go on from here to his home in New York.

Mr. Russell has been going about the village and the campus, observing the various changes and ruminating upon the new ways and the new tone of life in Chapel Hill. He has renewed his acquaintance with many of his old friends among the faculty and the merchants. And of course he has seen the football team in action.

A year or so ago he made a journey to the ancient ruined cities of the Mayas in Yucatan. His book about this tour was published by Brentano. Since it came out he has completed a biographical and critical study of Ralph Waldo Emerson, and it is to appear this fall.

State College Opens

The members of the freshman class at North Carolina State College, the largest first-year class in the history of that institution, invaded the State campus last Friday and have since been enjoying college life unmolested; but yesterday the freshmen moved from the spotlight and humbled themselves into a mere existence when the upperclassmen returned for registration.

Approximately 1,100 students who were in college last year returned this year, college officials announced. This number was increased by the addition of nearly 150 students who entered from other colleges.

1929 Book to Contain Student Roll, Faculty and Administrative List, City and Business Directory.

One of the most complete directories ever printed for the university has just gone to press, and will be out sometime in the near future. The directory this year, unlike those in the past, will be printed in book form. A copy of this directory is delivered, free of charge, to each fraternity house, business house, office, resident, dormitory room, and all public places. Individual copies will also be given on request. This directory, having a most interesting table of contents of organized information, is the product of quite a bit of hard work on the part of the Y.

It will include: 1. A complete roll of the student body, giving each student's home town, county, local address, class, and religious preference.

2. A roll of the faculty and administration officers, giving their home and office addresses and phone numbers, and the subjects which they teach.

3. The names of all managers and other officers and all deans and directors of schools and colleges.

4. A list of the heads of the departments.

5. The personnel of the institute for research in social science.

6. A roll of all secretarial and clerical staffs of the university.

7. A personnel of the university extension division.

8. A personnel of the physical education and athletic departments.

9. Organization of the university press.

10. An outline of the fire zones in Chapel Hill and the key to all fire alarms.

11. Directory of business houses in Chapel Hill.

12. A complete city directory of Chapel Hill.
