

BASKETBALL TO HOLD SPOTLIGHT IN A FEW WEEKS

Ashmore Has Three Veterans For Nucleus of 1930 Team; Needs Two New Forwards.

Some three or four weeks from now and basketball will step to the forefront as the major sport of interest upon the campus and with its approach will arise the speculation as to whether the team can retain its place among the leaders of the Southern Conference. In viewing the losses from last year's team due to graduation, it may be safely said that Coach Jim Ashmore has work on his hands.

Rufus Hackney, Henry Satterfield, George Cathey, and Red Price are all missing this year, and as these men formed the nucleus of the 1929 team, it may be easily understood why Coach Ashmore is not promising the 1930 Southern Conference crown to Tar Heel followers. However, in the face of such facts, things might look worse; and even though the team this year may not gain the premier position in the south, it will undoubtedly forge to a place among the Conference leaders.

Three letter men return to form the defensive foundation for the team this year, Harper, Marpet and Brown. Harper is a center, while the other two men held down the guard positions last winter. Ashmore's main task is going to be that of finding some one capable of stepping into the berths left bare by Satterfield and Hackney. To do that he will have the following material to work on; some of these men worked out as guards last year but may be changed into forward material in the face of this necessity: Neiman, Race Farleigh, Cleland, Slater, Craig, Wily, Choate, Gordan Gray, Fenner, Williams and Fysal. Damerson showed up pretty well in his first appearance last year and may develop into a strong pivot man. From the freshman team have come up such men as Harper, Reid and Alexander; what these men hold of worth to the team only big time action will show.

A new system will be inaugurated this year in selecting captains. The old method of electing a full season captain will not be employed; instead, before each game, the coach will appoint a captain for that particular game. This experiment will be witnessed with interest since so much discussion has been going on recently in regard to captain control over coach control.

Intramural Games

Delta Kappa Epsilon won over Zeta Psi 12 to 0. Alpha Tau Omega won over Sigma Chi 6 to 0. Theta Chi won over Chi Phi 12 to 6. Phi Sigma Kappa won over Kappa Psi 1 to 0. Pi Kappa Phi won over Sigma Alpha Epsilon 13 to 12. The passing of Jimmie Williams featured the day's play. This boy made the All-University tag football team last year, and should have little trouble retaining his position. He is about the best passer in either league.

New Dorms won over "F" 13 to 0. Beta Theta Pi won over Pi Kappa Alpha 12 to 0.

Friday, Nov. 15:

- 3:30 1. Carr vs. Ruffin.
- 2. Grimes vs. Graham (G)
- 3. Manly vs. Old West.
- 4:30 1. Phi Sigma Kappa vs. Sigma Chi.
- 2. Chi Psi vs. Phi Delta Theta.
- 3. Mangum vs. Lewis (J).

TENNIS MATCH TO BE PLAYED TODAY

Ed Yoemans Will Meet Bryan Grant Of Atlanta On Varsity Courts At 3 O'clock.

Interest in tennis is rapidly gaining momentum upon the Carolina campus. Even at this early date the teams that will represent North Carolina next spring on the courts are beginning to take form; new men are being uncovered, and old men are being further developed; all in favor of preventing the Tar Heel racquetees from falling from their present position among the leaders of the Southern tennis teams.

This afternoon almost unheralded will be played off what may be one of the keenest matches that will be seen in this state this year. This match will be in the form of the semi-finals of the University tournament which is played off this month. Yoemans, rated No. 1 man on the team this year, has reached this stage in the tournament undefeated and will meet Byran Grant of Atlanta, Southern Amateur Champion. The match will be played on the varsity courts at three o'clock. The winner of this contest will engage Wilmer Hines, Southern Junior Champion, next Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in the finals.

The team this year will suffer greatly from losses due to graduation. At this date only three men have definitely sewed up places on the team; their tentative rating is as follows: Yoemans, No. 1, Graham, No. 2, and manager, Merritt, No. 3, captain. The following men are out for berths on the teams and have as yet been more or less impressive: Palmore, Bryan, Baggs, Kendall, Rhett, Dig Wardlaw, Fred Wardlaw, Winecoff, Waterhouse, Dressler, Draper. After Christmas it is possible that Phil Liskan, rated No. 2 on the yearling team last year, may return; also it is possible that Shapiro, No. 1 on last year's varsity may be back. The return of these two men would greatly strengthen the 1930 sextette.

HILLIANS BATTLE HENDERSON TODAY

The Chapel Hill football team, after four games away from the home field, play Henderson high school on Emerson field this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Henderson team averages around 160 pounds, and this extra weight promises the Hillians a hard fight.

Chapel Hill, after their defeat in the hands of Roxboro last week, are determined to chalk the Henderson game on the credit side of the ledger.

Players In Good Shape As They Work For Last Time Before Cat Game

Coaches Give Team Plenty To Do But Holds Off Scrimmage; Three-day Rest for Varsity.

PLENTY OF PEP

Jam full of pep after a three-day holiday, the Tar Heel veterans joined with the reserves in a real afternoon's work yesterday in preparation for the Davidson invasion on Saturday.

It was another scrimmage-less afternoon, but far from a workless one. Four full elevens got a look-in on Davidson plays run in dummy scrimmage.

The backs brushed up on their passing in a long drill.

The linemen drove the bucking machines all around the lot developing push and drive.

The backs drilled on sidesteps, hopping, dodging, bucking and other calisthenics designed to render flying bodies more elusive.

The squad was in good shape and full of pep after the unprecedented layoff.

Jim Wagner was about the only veteran not participating. It is doubtful whether Wagner will be in shape Saturday.

Phil Jackson ran in his place at left half. Pete Wyrick called signals to this backfield with Rip Slusser at right half and Henry House at fullback.

The starting backfield of Johnny Branch, quarter; Jimmy Ward and Strud Nash, halves, and Spaulding, fullback, was intact.

A third backfield showed Jackson, quarter; Jimmy Maus and Chuck Erickson, halfbacks, and Pap Harden, fullback.

The first string line is in good shape all around and looks good to start Saturday, with Holt and Fenner, ends; Koenig and Adkins, tackles; Captain Farris and Fysal, guards, and Lipscomb, center.

The second string line has been showing well also. If it got the call, it would mean Nelson, Parsley and Brown, ends; Dortch and Harper, tackles; McIver, Crew and Hudson, guards, and Gilbreath, center.

The squad will take a light workout this afternoon at 1:30, and will leave by train for Charlotte at 4 o'clock. The team will stay at the Hotel Charlotte Friday night and get to Davidson early Saturday morning.

Golf Notice

All students—both freshmen and varsity men—who are interested in trying out for the golf team are requested to meet at the Emerson stadium today during chapel period. Plans for a match with the Virginia team Thanksgiving day are to be discussed.

STARTING TEAM IS UNCERTAIN

With only a last light workout to go, the whole squad in fairly good shape, and the transportation reservations calling for places for a squad of 50, Tar Heel followers were busy speculating yesterday on the probable lineup Coach Collins will hurl against Davidson on Richardson field Saturday.

The second-string line showed almost as well against South Carolina as the veterans.

Nelson and Parsley, ends, showed up especially well. Dortch and Thompson, tackles, looked good; and the center trio of Crew and Hudson, guards, and Gilbreath, center, proved as impenetrable for the Gamecock backs as the veteran center trio.

It's a known fact that Coach Collins is trying to get his men in tip-top shape, to fill the hard engagements, not only with Davidson, but also with Virginia and Duke. He gave them three days of rest this week for that purpose.

But will he risk starting his second string line against the Cats when state title hopes are hanging in the balance?

That's the question. The first team line is in good shape after a week of rest and comparatively light work, and, despite prevalent gossip, seems more likely to get the call.

That would mean Holt and Fenner, ends; Koenig and Adkins, tackles; Captain Farris and Fysal, guards, and Lipscomb center.

Wyrick and Wagner, veteran quarter and left half, are in shape to be used if necessary, but Coach Collins will probably save these boys unless things come to the worst.

It seems likely that the sophomore Johnny Branch will start at quarter, calling signals to a veteran trio of Ward and Nash, halves, and Spaulding, full.

MANY REGISTER FOR CAKE RACE

Enrollment For Annual Event Closed Yesterday; Unusual Interest Shown.

After a year's lapse, the old custom of "run and get a cake" is to be revived.

The sixth annual cake race is carded for Friday afternoon, November 22, and from all indications a great throng will race over the two-mile course for the treasured prizes at journey's end.

Ninety-seven men are already registered and going through the formalities of training required for participation by the University track coaches, who are assisting the intramural athletics department in staging the event.

The prize list reads like a mail order house catalog. Three big cakes are to go to the organizations qualifying the most men, and 10 more to the organizations finishing the most men.

There will be medals for the first ten men, and after that a heterogeneous assortment of from 50 to 75 individual prizes that is hoped to include articles of clothing, athletic equipment, merchandise, food, or what have you.

The cake race, held every year but last year since 1923, is an ancient classic and has developed fine varsity runners.

Harry Thach, 1925 winner, became a 4:30 miler. Galen Elliott, who won in 1925, later captained the Tar Heel harriers and lowered the Southern Conference mile mark to 4:21.2.

Minor Barkley, winner in 1926, is the present Tar Heel cross-country captain and a fine miler. Red Fisher, who won in 1927, placed third in the Southern Conference cross country championship run the same year, his first year to go out for varsity competition.
