Charlotte, Nov. 16.—Rain and passes fell here today while the University of North Carolina regulars swept through Davidson and a steady downpour to cross the Wildcat goal line four times for a 26-7 victory. It was the 26th renewal of rivalry between the two Carolina institutions.

Scoring early in the first quarter when Parrish filtered through left tackle for 37 yards and a touchdown, Davidson never threatened throughout the remainder of the contest. Her best efforts brought the ball no nearer than the 20 yard line at any other time during the struggle.

The Carolina shock troops found the Davidson eleven too formidable and Coach Chuck Collins substituted his first string men after the first touchdown. On the second play Jimmy Ward side-stepped the entire Davidson team to score the first Carolina marker from his own 38 yard line. The run was good for 62 yards.

With the score even at 7-7 at the end of the first quarter, the Tar Heels proceeded to march down the field two times for touchdowns in the second session. Receiving Brock's punt on Davidson's 40 yard line, Johnny Branch returned the ball to the 22 yard line. Before the Wildcat line had lined up, Branch threw the ball far to the side into the waiting arms of Ward for the second Carolina score.

A punt straight into the air good for 15 yards led to the Tar Heels' second score of the quarter. Brock punted high into the air from his own 40 yard line out of bounds. A series of line plays advanced the ball to the 13 yard line from which point Slusser circled right end for a touchdown. Score: Carolina 20, Davidson 7. It was the half.

Mindful of the Davidson march for a touchdown in the initial quarter, Collins started the entire first eleven in the second half. Spaulding kicked to King on his 15 yard line. He returned to his own 34 yard line. King went through left tackle for four yards. Brohardt hit left tackle for one yard. Parrish tried right tackle and advanced another yard. Fourth down.

MARYLAND FROSH BEAT TAR BABIES

The Tar Babies and the Old Liner frosh evened up their four year series yesterday afternoon when the Maryland yearlings defeated the Carolina frosh 18 to 12 in a bitterly fought game.

Both teams were fighting throughout the entire game and the final score by no means indicates the hard fight put up by either team.

When the Tar Heel went to press the full particulars of the game were not available but another account of the game will be published in Tuesday's issue of the paper.

This is the fourth game between the Old Liners and U. N. C. frosh and both teams have two wins to their credit. The first game of the series was won by the Maryland frosh in a bitterly fought game by the score of 6 to 0. Both the second and third games were won by the Tar Babies by impressive scores.

The Maryland freshmen played Cavalier freshmen last week and defeated them 13-6. The game with the Virginia frosh showed the Maryland outfit to have an unusually strong freshman team.

This is the second defeat of the season for the Tar Babies. The first loss was to the Duke freshmen, 8 to 7. In the first game of the season the freshmen won over the Roanoke freshmen.

The meager reports that have been received about the game show that a large number of the men making the trip were used by the coaches.

Long Distance Teaching

Big Expansion in Absent Treatment by University's Extension Division

A bulletin issued by the extension division tells of the growth of correspondence instruction given by the University.

There were 1,695 persons registered for correspondence courses last year. Many of these took more than one course, so that the total enrollment stood at about 2,500. More than 75 per cent. of all who have begun courses have completed them. It is now possible to study any one of 150 subjects by correspondence. Nearly all of these lead either to the B.A. or B.S. degree.

More than 42,000 lesson assignments were examined in the school year 1928-1929.

"Correspondence is no longer an experiment—it is an assured success," says the bulletin. "This fact is testified to by University instructors and by earnest and enthusiastic students."

For its degrees the University makes no distinction between credit obtained in extension and that obtained in residence, except that there is a limit to the amount of extension work that can count towards a degree.

SOPHOMORES TO HEAR WILLIAMS

Class Executive Committee Will Select Programs For Chapel Exercises.

Professor Horace Williams, Kenan professor and head of the philosophy department and one of the most stimulating teachers in the University, will address the sophomore class in Gerrard hall at 10:30 Monday morning, November 18. The move from Memorial hall has necessitated separating the sophomore and freshman classes for chapel exercises. The exercises Monday morning constitute the first formal assembly of the sophomore class apart from the other University groups in many years. The president of the class, Ben Aycock, will preside. He and his class executive committee have been asked to assist the committee responsible for chapel programs in planning the sophomore class programs for the rest of the quarter, in order that these may meet the needs and interests of the class.

Survey Of Development Of State Universities Made By President H. W. Chase

Retiring Head of American Association of State Universities Says Institutions Were Children of Growing Impulse Toward Democracy of Early Days.

President Harry W. Chase of the University of North Carolina, who is the retiring president of the National Association of State Universities, addressed the annual meeting of the association early last week, speaking on the development of American state universities.

Dr. Chase said:

We are attempting at this meeting to define certain of the functions and relationships of the state university of today, at the end of the second decade of the twentieth century. As a setting and background for that interpretation, it has occurred to me that this paper might well bring together certain silent facts regarding the origin and development of the state university movement in America. The task is, I am aware, somewhat different from that usually essayed in a presidential address; my apology must be that I have been unable to find anywhere that a survey of the development of state universities has been brought up to date, and it has seemed to me worth the doing.

"The American state university is a child of the growing im-

FEMALE STUDENTS BETTER MALES IN EDUCATION SCHOOL

According to an announcement by C. E. McIntosh, executive secretary of the school of education, the work of the women students in that school has thus far averaged much higher than that of the men students. The mid-term reports show that out of twelve women in the senior class only one failed to check all her work, and that out of eighteen women in the junior class only three failed to do so. Of these three, each received only one "W." As only girls who have already passed half of their college courses are admitted to the school of education, there are no women students in the freshman or sophomore classes.

This excellence on the part of the women students, according to Mr. McIntosh, may be in part due to the fact that only very few of their numbers are self-help students, partly, also, to the fact that, until the present at least, none of them have engaged in athletics. Furthermore, as only women students who have successfully completed two years of college work are received into the school of education, the scholastic ability of the women students in this particular school would naturally excel that of the male students, for whose enrollment in the school there are no such requirements.

Graduate Club Gives Annual Entertainment

The Shirley Graves graduate club held its third annual open house on last Friday evening at 8:30 p. m. at the Mary Ann Smith building. The building was fittingly decorated for the occasion, both on the outside and in the inside.

This is the first time that the undergraduates have been invited to attend a reception given by the graduate club. Immediately following the reception a dance was given for the graduate students and faculty members. The dance lasted until 1 o'clock. Music was furnished by Archie Stringfellow and his band.

Automobile Mishaps

Mrs. Harlan Slightly Hurt in Wreck; McCorkles Upset by Hit-and-Runner

There have been several automobile wrecks in and around the University lately. On Saturday morning Mrs. J. Penrose Harland was driving toward town in her Chevrolet coupe past the Inn, when the car in front of her stopped suddenly. She applied her brakes, but a truck owned by a tobacco company hit her car in the rear, throwing it with considerable force into the one in front. Mrs. Harland, slightly injured, went to the University infirmary, but it is reported that she is all right now.

The coupe was damaged a little. According to several witnesses, the truck was traveling at a high rate of speed.

Sunday afternoon T. S. and Mrs. McCorkle were traveling toward Durham in a Ford coupe, when their car was sideswiped by another. Neither Mr. McCorkle nor his wife was seriously injured, though it is said that their coupe turned over three times. Strange to say, none of the glass in the car was broken. It has been reported that the driver of the car which struck the McCorkles was drunk at the time of the accident, and that he was taken to jail and locked up for the night.

In recorder's court Monday morning G. R. Carlisle, white, was fined $36.35 for damaging an automobile belonging to Dr. B. B. Lloyd. Carlisle was charged with driving in a reckless and careless manner.

Pittsburgh Man Selected To Succeed Daniel Grant Who Goes To New York; Is An Alumnus of University.

Felix A. Grizette, of Pittsburgh, Pa., has been appointed director of the Alumni Loyalty Fund of the University to succeed Daniel L. Grant who is leaving North Carolina to take up educational administrative work in New York, according to an announcement made today by President Harry W. Chase. The change becomes effective immediately.

Mr. Grizette, although he has resided in Pittsburgh for approximately six years, is a native North Carolinian, having been born and reared in Burke County, where his family still lives. He was graduated from the University with high honors in the class of 1922.

The new director assumes charge of the loyalty fund with an experience which is particularly fitting for the type of work to be done, according to University officials. For the last three years he has been a member of the publicity and organization staff of Ketchum, Inc., one of the largest financial campaign firms in the United States. During this time he has successfully directed many large financial campaigns.

Prior to his entry into campaign work, Mr. Grizette was a member of the editorial staff of the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times. For a brief time, several years ago, he was acting chief editorial writer on the Charlotte Observer. He has also been a member of the faculty and has done post-graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh.

In leaving the University, Mr. Grant terminates a very efficient service which dates from the time of his graduation in 1921, with the exception of one year spent in educational research work for the Carnegie Corporation. Much of his time at the University has been spent in building up an effective alumni organization, which is now handled by J. M. Saunders.

The Alumni Loyalty Fund was begun on a full-time basis a year ago, with Mr. Grant in charge. It was the outgrowth of a plan conceived in the mind of the late President Edward K. Graham which was to eventually persuade every University alumnus to place the University in his budget for a small amount of money each year, the funds so derived to be used by the institution as a supplement to money now received from the State.

Such a campaign was inaugurated last October 12, the birthday of the University, and is still in progress. The change in the directing heads of the work will in no way affect the campaign now being engineered very efficiently as a result of the efforts of Mr. Grant, who, according to his own statement leaves it reluctantly and only because he is confident it will grow in strength under the direction of his successor.
