

Wilmington And Charlotte Lead Class A Title Race

Championship Contest Will Be Played Here November 30; Conference Races About Over.

With Wilmington's smashing victory over Goldsboro high and Raleigh's loss to Durham, the class A football race in the east narrowed to Wilmington and Goldsboro. Both stand at the top with one loss each. However, Goldsboro is yet to play at Raleigh before the eastern title is decided. In the circuit Charlotte is out in front with no defeats and is expected to take the title.

Wilmington, winner of the state title in 1927 and 1928, lost its first conference start to Raleigh 7-6. It then turned about and defeated Fayetteville, Goldsboro and Durham to give it a lead over the other teams in the class. Raleigh dropped a game to Fayetteville and Friday lost to Durham 6-0.

Should Goldsboro defeat Raleigh another game would be necessary between Wilmington and Goldsboro for the title.

The standings of member schools in the class A conferences are as follows:

Class A western conference:
	W	L	T	Pct.
Charlotte	3	0	0	1.000
High Point	3	1	0	.750
Salisbury	2	2	0	.500
Greensboro	1	2	1	.333
Gastonia	3	1	2	.333
Winston-Salem	0	3	1	.000

Class A eastern conference:
	W	L	T	Pct.
Wilmington	3	1	0	.750
Goldsboro	2	1	0	.666
Durham	1	2	0	.333
Fayetteville	1	2	0	.333
Raleigh	1	2	0	.333

Conference games scheduled for the week in the eastern class A conference are: Fayetteville vs. Durham at Durham, November 22, and Raleigh vs. Goldsboro at Goldsboro, November 22.

Conference games scheduled for the week in the western class A conference are: Gastonia vs. Greensboro at Greensboro, November 22; High point vs. Charlotte at Charlotte, November 23, and Salisbury vs. Winston-Salem at Winston-Salem, November 23.

It is expected that the final game for the state football title of the class A high school conferences for this season will be played by the eastern and the western conference champions at Chapel Hill on Saturday, November 30.

Women's Athletic Program Outlined

The women's athletic association will definitely start on its year's program of activities when regular basketball practice begins on Monday night.

A large number of girls came out to the initial meeting on Thursday afternoon. Plans were made for the basketball and tennis seasons. Louise Weaver was elected president of the association and Penelope Alexander, manager.

Basketball practices will be held five nights a week. Games with other schools have not been arranged yet, but a number of neighboring high schools and colleges will be played. All girls interested in playing should come to the gym on Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Carl Farris will coach the team.

Sophomore Notice

Attention of the Sophomores is called to the fact that rows R S and T of the chapel seats are in the balcony of Gerrard hall.

CAROLINA HAS 5 WINS SINCE WAR

Virginia Holds Big Edge In Annual Thanksgiving Classic; Tar Heels Better Since 1919.

It's powerfully difficult to prognosticate about who's going to win when the football teams representing the universities of North Carolina and Virginia renew their 36-year rivalry in Kenan stadium here Thanksgiving day.

And no small wonder! For, believe it or not, neither team, save one time, was won a victory since the world war by a margin of more than 3 to 7 points. That exception was in 1920 when Virginia won 14 to 0.

Carolina holds the edge on the series since the war. The Tar Heels have won five times as compared to three for Virginia, and two games have been ties. Virginia, however, holds the edge on the victories for the 36-year series.

Five of the ten games played since the war have been on Cavalier territory, and Virginia has won three of the five. The Tar Heel victories on the road came when the undefeated South Atlantic champions of 1922 won by a 10 to 7 count and when the 1928 Tar Heels staged their thrilling last-minute finish for a 24-20 victory. Other games at Charlottesville have yielded victories for Virginia of 14 to 0 in 1920, 7 to 0 in 1924, and 3 to 0 in 1926.

It is another tale when you glance at the scores of games in North Carolina, for the Tar Heels have won three and tied two out of five starts.

The Tar Heels came back from the three year argument with the Germans and slipped a 6 to 0 licking over on Tony Campbell's Virginians here in 1919, and "Red" Johnson and Runt Lowe repeated the stunt 7 to 3 on Emerson field here in 1921. The 1923 and 1925 games were tied 0 to 0 and 3 to 3, but the Tar Heels decided their new Kenan Memorial stadium here in 1927 with a 14 to 13 victory.

The Cavaliers have scored 70 points in the ten games, the Tar Heels 64, and the average difference between the scores has been just 4 points.

Chapel Hill High Romps Henderson

Chapel Hill high school swamped Henderson high 39 to 0 on Emerson field Friday.

Lawrence, local end, featured with four touchdowns after receiving passes. Upchurch and Council delivered one each.

The playing of Deshields, Mc. Knight and Captain King was of stellar quality. Barber, sub for Council at quarter, looked good while Teague, Bob Ray and Pendergraph starred in the line. Henderson showed signs of good football but never threatened to score on the Hillians. Chapel Hill's next game is with Hillsboro at the county seat.

DUKE'S DEVILS BEAT WOLFPACK

Durham Team Keeps Pace With Tar Heels By Downing State In Sloppy Game 19 - 12.

Durham, Nov. 16.—(Special)—Duke beat N. C. State today, but that was about all. The final score was 19-12.

And the boys from West Durham didn't show any too much of their devilish and fiendish ferocity.

The Wolfpack backfield opened with an exhibition of "what the well coached football player doesn't do," just as "what the well dressed man doesn't wear."

Duke got the breaks—and two fumbles—and made two touchdowns.

Robeson, the incomparable, made a nifty catch of Sam Buie's 20-yard heave and added a 10-yard run for the first. Buie skirted and on a nice run for the second.

That was the first quarter. Neither team could make concerted gains at the line—and right here is due a word of praise for the Duke line—it was on the whole mighty strong.

Half of Buie's heaves wound up in the arms of surprised Wolfies. Russ came in, and Russ can pass, but the Duke catchers were undetectable.

State got down the field once in the second half but Duke held. They exchanged fumbles and State got the better of the bargain, because Robeson's fumble was on Duke's 15-yard line. Duke and State were both surprised when "Flip" Edmondson, the big pass and run man, breezed through a wagon-hole at right tackle on the first play thereafter for a touchdown.

Beaver had replaced Dobeson, needless to say, when the Henderson boy broke the rules and fumbled on the 15-yard line.

Beaver got knocked looping on the kickoff, and P. O. Brewer came into the Duke backfield. This Winston-Salem lad packed the big punch of the day, and he is the principal man Carolina is going to have to watch. His driving was the principal reason Duke got the ball down to State's 13-yard line. Buie essayed to help him out here, and the ball went over.

Stout, State's center, spiraled the ball into the backfield and the Wolfies couldn't decide whose it was. Melton won the toss and recovered at the last minute—within inches of the goal. A poor kick and Duke had the ball on the 35-yard line and was tearing back again.

They weren't to be denied this time. Brewer assaulted the line a couple of times. The shifty Murray, who had just gotten going, made a nice spear of Buie's pass and it was first and ten on the five-yard line. Buie hit the line and Beaver plunged it over. Buie got the point.

Behind, 19 to 6, State pulled a fighting finish that the authors of "Sport Story" would find it hard to equal.

Buie had a bad kickoff, and State returned to her own 46-yard line. Johnny Johnson retrieved his first-half errors with a beautiful catch of Edmondson's pass to move it to Duke's 30-yard line. Melton made six on another pass. Johnson leaped out of a mass of Devils to take another of Edmondson's heaves, and on a cutback and some nifty hip-moving got down to the 10-yard line.

Duke's line crumbled at this point. Johnson got nine yards on a first assault at left tackle, and crashed center for the touchdown.

UNIVERSITY TEAM PLAYS ONE MORE GAME IN STADIUM

Tar Heels Have Lost Only One To Georgia; Virginia and Duke Left.

With eight games behind it the University's football team is beginning its final drive for contests with Virginia and Duke. The climax of the season is usually the Virginia game, but with Duke showing a great deal of power now the game in Durham December 7 is expected to assume championship proportions and will share with the Cavalier contest the interest of football followers in the state.

The team's record to-date shows seven wins against one loss. Opening against Wake Forest the Tar Heels showed great strength in winning 48-0. Every available man was used in this contest. Continuing its great scoring power the team defeated Maryland at College Park 43-0. Picked to win over Georgia Tech, Carolina downed the Atlanta team 18-7. The Tar Heels returned from Atlanta and faced the University of Georgia on the following Saturday. Georgia was fresh from a 15-0 victory over Yale and rallied in the closing minutes of play to beat Carolina 19-12. Following the loss to Georgia the team began its scoring again and trampled V. P. I. 38-12 in Kenan Stadium. State College was next and fell 32-0. Yesterday the Tar Heels won from Davidson 26-7, the same score as last year. However, last year the team waited until the last part of the game to begin scoring. Yesterday it loosed its big guns in the first half of the contest.

Before the University of South Carolina's homecoming crowd the North Carolina team maintained its average of 32 points per game by trampling the Gamecocks 40-0.

The Cavaliers have played up and down football this season, but history shows that since the war all the Thanksgiving games have been close. Duke seems to have recovered from early season losses to eastern elevens and showed considerable scoring power against Louisiana State Saturday. The game December 7 between the neighboring institutions will close the season for both teams.

Wet Field and Davidson Fail To Halt Tar Heels; Ward Features 26-7 Win

 Brock kicked to Branch on Carolina's 20 yard line. He returned to his own 35 yard line. Nash made one yard over left tackle. He lost a yard on the other side of the line. Ward added another yard through guard. Branch punted out of bounds on Davidson's 47 yard line. After a pass and two tries through the line, Brock was forced to kick. Branch received the ball on his own 20 yard line and brought it back 11 yards. Milton intercepted a Carolina pass on the third down. The ball lay on the Carolina 45 yard line.

Ward knocked down a Davidson pass. Spaulding accidentally tripped Parrish as he was running to catch another pass far out of his reach and the officials gave the ball to Davidson on Carolina's 28 yard line. Spaulding made good his error by intercepting Fraley's pass on his own 21 yard line.

Two consecutive five yard penalties advanced the ball to the 31 yard line for a first down after the Wildcat line had stiffened for three downs. Three first downs, aided by a 20 yard gain off tackle by Ward placed the ball on Davidson's three yard line. Nash carried the ball across for a touchdown. Carolina 26, Davidson 7. The third quarter ended with the ball in Davidson's possession in mid-field. On every few plays, Coach Collins ran in substitutes. The crowd gave Lipscomb a hearty hand when he was removed to make way for Gilbreath. He had played an unbeatable game at center. The rain let up for a few moments and both teams exchanged the ball several times when they failed to gain. Davidson's fighting spirit was coming to the fore to stave off a rout. The line charged through the muck with undeniable pluck. Carolina plays were stopped before they reached the line of scrimmage.

Intramural Games

- MONDAY
 3:30—1. Ruffin vs. "G."
 2. Kappa Sigma vs. Phi Delta Theta.
 3. A. T. O. vs. Kappa Alpha.
 4:30—1. Sigma Nu vs. Phi Sigma Kappa.
 2. New Dorms vs. Old West.
 3. Beta Theta Pi vs. Chi Psi.

The usual hopeless barrage was eliminated by the unwieldy ball which necessitated a cleaning every few minutes by the referee. The Tar Heels held on to the pigskin for most of the final period, relinquishing it only after the fourth down. A penalty for slugging was meted out to Fysal and Davidson was given the ball on Carolina's 20 yard line near the end of the contest. On the second down, Parrish skidded through right tackle for eight yards. It was Davidson's last and only chance to score.

The Carolina line stiffened. King lost two yards at left tackle. A pass Brohardt to Proctor was incomplete. Branch punted far down the field to Davidson's 40 yard line to ward off the last Wildcat threat. The game ended with the ball in Davidson's possession on their own 21 yard line.
