

WARNING AGAINST ABSENCES ISSUED

Registrar Says That Usual Rule Of Class Attendance Will Apply To Thanksgiving Holidays.

The registrar's office desires to call the attention of the undergraduate student body to the long-standing regulation of the University with regard to absences incurred immediately before and after holiday periods.

Regulations require class attendance on the day before and the day after all holidays. Violation of this regulation is punishable by strict probation for the remainder of the quarter. Authorized leaves of absence are not and can not be granted covering such a period, regardless of the apparent urgency of the case. Those students living at a distance from Chapel Hill are in no wise exceptions to this rule.

Juniors and seniors taking freshman and sophomore classes are required to attend such courses; but attendance on junior and senior courses by juniors and seniors is optional for such periods just as at other times.

Y CABINETS HOLD WEEKLY MEETINGS

The three Y cabinets met last Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.

The freshman council opened its program with devotional exercises led by Archie Davis, after which H. F. Comer, general secretary of the Y, gave a talk on the Bible. Mr. Comer gave as the reason for the Bible's popularity that it was based on actual experience which had taken place during the life and growth of the world. He continued by saying that the sum of all the copies of the Bible sold would exceed the total number of sold copies of 500 of the best known books. After answering a few of the questions asked by the cabinet, Mr. Comer closed his program with a few reasons why the Bible was such a great book.

After the roll call it was announced that a scientist would be the speaker at the next meeting. Mr. Comer closed the program with a word of prayer.

Professor W. F. Feger, of the economics department, talked to the sophomore cabinet on the "State Labor Situation." Professor Feger stated that he was very much in favor of the present trade unions and collective bargaining. He admitted that the unions did not stand by their rules and regulations; "but," he continued, "the union organization is a step in the right direction. The merchants' and the manufacturers' associations can stick together, so why can't the labor unions?" In reference to the Gastonia disturbances he closed by stating that no man should be permitted to come in to the unions and demand higher wages and then stand back and let the laborers suffer from the strike. Professor Feger seemed to be very optimistic as to the future labor conditions.

The program for the junior-senior cabinet was a general discussion.

Overman, Chapel Hill; Paul R. Patton, New Bern, N. C.; T. W. Bremer, Wilmington, N. C.; Wofford Humphries, Asheville, N. C.; A. H. Fleming, Jr., Louisville, N. C.; and C. I. Trull, Elizabeth, N. J.: as first basses; J. P. Scurlock, Greensboro, N. C.; J. E. Miller, Winston-Salem, N. C.; F. M. Prouty, Chapel Hill, N. C.; W. G. Brown, Flushing, N. Y.; P. S. Carter, Long Island, N. Y.; and A. J. Stahr, W. Orange, N. J., as second bass.

Bason To Speak To Freshmen Engineers

Professor George F. Bason, head of the department of electrical engineering, will speak to all freshman engineers this noon on the general topic of electrical engineering.

Professor Bason spoke before the same group last Wednesday, and today's talk will be a continuation of the topic begun last week.

This will be the sixth of a series of orientation and motivation talks that are being given to the freshman engineers by members of the school of engineering faculty.

Gros Marionettes Noted For Their Realism; Have Played Before Many Large Audiences

Community Club Meets Wednesday

The music department of the Chapel Hill community club will hold its regular semi-monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon at 3:30 in room 9 of the music building. Mrs. T. S. McCorkle, chairman of this department, invites all who are interested to be present for this program.

Mrs. G. A. Harrer is program chairman for this meeting. The subject for study is French music since 1850. This music properly begins with the famous songs of the old French Troubadours which constitutes the field of real French folk music. Such composers as Cambert, Lully, Rameau, Couperin, Delibes and Berlioz will be studied—the last named really, being well over the dividing line into modern music.

In addition to various recordings for illustrative purposes, the following program will be given:

French Folk Song—Charming Marguerite; Aria (Mrs. George Lawrence)—Rameau; Aria from "Faust"—Gounod; Aria from "Romeo and Juliet" (Mrs. G. R. Trot)—Gounod; Gavotte—Couperin; Gavotte (Mrs. A. S. Wheeler)—Gluck-Brahms.

The Show Off To Be Produced Soon By The Playmakers

"The Show Off" by George Kelly will be substituted for "The Trial of Mary Dugan" as the winter production of the Playmakers because rights for the play originally chosen could not be secured.

Copies of the new choice have been placed on reserve at the library for reference of those who wish to try out for a place in the cast. Final tryouts will be held in the Playmaker theatre on the afternoon of Monday, December 9.

Elmer Hall, technical director of the Playmakers, will have charge of the production.

Infirmity List

H. E. Smith, sophomore, of Jackson Springs is laid up with a bad right knee.

R. D. Marshall, senior, of Granite Falls is in McPherson hospital, Durham, with a severe cold.

William J. Stone, senior, of Thomasville is confined with a case of tonsillitis.

Sigma Delta announces the pledging of John Croom of Fayetteville.

Performers Will Appear Here In Two Shows at Tin Can; "Uncle Wiggly" and "Skippy" To Be Shown.

(By Edward French)

Marionettes are almost as old as the world. The puppet of yesteryear and the modern marionette differ simply in the many refinements of mechanism and ideas of presentation. In early ages people employed them to depict certain phases of their beliefs; now they have found a welcome place in the entertainment needs of all classes of people.

In the Jean Gros' French Marionettes, which will give two performances in the Tin Can tomorrow as a feature of the student entertainment program, is to be found every refinement of the puppet art. The marionettes appear on their own quaintly devised stage, before scenery made in proportion to their size, seating themselves on chairs by tables, drinking, smoking, talking, laughing, doing everything that a human being can do, and then performing a wealth of extra tricks that no human being can accomplish.

All this is made possible by a company of trained actors, musicians and puppeteers who have been associated with the art for countless seasons rehearsing week in and week out to attain the fine points of the manipulation. The art of working marionettes is perhaps the most difficult task in the theatre. Great skill is required to operate a puppet, sometimes necessitating as much as six months practice before a public performance can be given. Perfect balance must be obtained before the puppet can be made to walk and make gestures that are in rhythm with the spoken line. Mr. Gros' marionettes are noted for their realism, and the performances as a whole have been acclaimed in every section of the country.

During the past season the marionettes played to over six hundred and fifty thousand children and almost that many adults. Due to the influence of the French marionettes, schools have opened courses covering this art of the theatre. Educators have been quick to see that the puppet theatre gives unlimited scope to the imagination, also that it requires the use of every art: music, the drama, painting, sculpture, costuming, mechanics, etc. Gordon Craig, Maurice Maeterlinck, and other high luminaries of the literary field have always believed that marionettes had a very definite niche in the value of the drama, and consequently have spent years in studying the possibilities of the figures, and have contributed pieces of literature for their use.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL TO BE MADE ON CAMPUS SOON

Annual Drive To Be Made During Week; Great Benefits Received From Organization.

The annual Red Cross drive for the student body will start some time this week. One night this week each dormitory will be canvassed for contributions. The nation-wide Red Cross drive closed sometime last week, but as yet no drive has been made on the campus alone. Every student on the campus is eligible to the benefits of the national Red Cross. Each student has as much right to the help of the Red Cross as any citizen in the state.

For the past three years the state of North Carolina has raised, through collections, contributions and other ways, $45,000 for the Red Cross, but during these three years the state had drawn from the national Red Cross, funds amounting to $190,000 to meet all the emergency calls that arose. By this it may be easily seen that the state is still indebted to the Red Cross for $145,000.

During the late New Bern fire the Red Cross rendered various sorts of aid, such as getting food, clothing, homes, and other necessities for those people who were hurt by the fire. Then also during the Sanford coal mine disaster the Red Cross carried food and other necessities of life to all the injured. These are just two major deeds done by the Red Cross, not to speak of the thousands of daily services rendered.

To bring the work nearer home, last year a student of the University broke his arm. He was laid up in bed for quite a while without being able to get about and earn his board. Being a self-help student he was unable to pay his hospital bill. To help the student out the Red Cross paid all of his hospital bills and other expenses and helped him to get back on his feet again.

DIALECTIC SENATE CHOOSES DEBATERS

The debate tryout held Monday night in the Di hall resulted in the selection of J. C. Williams and C. A. Shreve, with Alexander Webb as alternate. Williams and Shreve will represent the Dialectic senate in the annual Mary D. Wright debate which will be held in Gerrard hall on the night of December 10. As yet the representatives of the Philanthropic assembly have not been selected.

The query which will be debated in the final contest is "Resolved, That the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill now pending before the special session of the seventy-first congress should be passed as introduced." The Dialectic senate and the Philanthropic assembly will attend the debate in a group.

Frank E. Wright, who gives the medal annually in honor of his illustrious ancestors, is expected to attend.

Dormitory Club To Meet Tonight

The Carolina dormitory club will hold a meeting tonight at 9:15 in the social room of F (Aycock) dormitory. All dormitory presidents and athletic managers are urged to come to the meeting.
