

University Delegates To Press Meeting

Pictured above are the University's delegates to the recent meeting of the North Carolina Collegiate Press Association held in Hickory.

Reading left to right: Cy Edson, editor Buccaneer; Mary Price, Tar Heel reporter; John Mebane, editor Magazine; Holder's Ford; Glenn Holder, editor Daily Tar Heel; Mary Marshall Dunlap, Tar Heel reporter; and Garland McPherson, treasurer of the association.

RED CROSS DRIVE TO BE CONTINUED

Many of the dormitory organizations failed to cover their buildings during the recent Red Cross drive. For this reason the local Red Cross chapter wishes to state that the drive will continue until these dormitories are canvassed. Now that the "first-of-the-month" checks and allowances are coming in, the chapter asks that the dormitories that were not covered be canvassed as soon as possible so as to get as many contributions and memberships as possible.

Russell's Life Of Emerson Receives Favorable Comment

Phillips Russell, University of North Carolina alumnus and prominent biographer of Benjamin Franklin and John Paul Jones, has just published his latest work, Emerson, The Wisest American.

According to the New York Times, "It is a better book than his lives of Benjamin Franklin or John Paul Jones for two reasons: the temptation toward a superficial popularization were not too much for him here and the larger part of his function of biographer, a function that he recognized and pursued, was to restate an attitude toward life which had been made wholly clear in Emerson's own works. . . . The reader may turn to Mr. Russell's book with confidence."

Baity To Address Engineering Frosh

Professor H. G. Baity, head of the department of civil engineering, will speak before the freshman engineering class today at noon, on the development of the profession of civil engineering in America.

The talk by Professor Baity today is the first of two which he will give. The second, to be given next Wednesday, will take up the different branches of this profession.

Bull's Head Auction

Professor Howard Mumford Jones will conduct an auction for the Bull's Head book shop today at 2:30 p. m. in room 215 Murphey hall. This room will seat 60 people and there will be room for more if they are present.

Y Cabinet Members To Attend Raleigh Discussion Meeting

Dr. John R. Mott, former statesman and a great Y. M. C. A. exponent, will conduct a special forum in Raleigh December 11 on the subject of "The Religious Outlook of the World from the Standpoint of the Students." Dr. Mott will discuss this question in a round-table fashion with a specially selected group of from 75 to 100 campus Y leaders from the leading colleges in North Carolina.

The colleges to be represented will be the University, N. C. State, Duke and several of the women's colleges. Since the University is the largest, it will have the largest number of delegates. This delegation was elected last Monday night at the meeting of the three Y cabinets. The following students were selected as delegates to this discussion:

Junior-senior cabinet: Jimmie Williams, Ed Hamer, John Lang, Joe Eagles, Beverly Moore, George Metz.

Sophomore cabinet: J. Elwin Dungan, F. M. James, John Park, John Miller, Grady Leonard.

Freshman council: Alex Webb, Schuyler Schenck, Charlie Brawley, Robert Barnett, Charlie Rose, Bill McKee, Aubrey Perkins.

At The Carolina

"Once when I was a vaudeville producer, I stopped over one night in a very small town, and, to pass time, took in a crude little show there—the best they had in small towns in those days. And I remarked to myself what a pity it was that the really great shows could not reach these little towns, and these people who never, save by traveling to a big city, could see what they would appreciate, perhaps, more than the sophisticated urbanite. That's why producing the 'Hollywood Revue' gives me my greatest thrill—for we have brought Broadway and all it means to the small town."

So says Harry Rapf, vaudeville veteran, former stage producer, and the man who envisioned and brought into being Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's great singing and musical show, "The Hollywood Revue," which will open at the Carolina theatre today. The new singing, talking spectacle—a Ziegfeld Revue, a revue of famous film personalities, and a spectacle far beyond anything the limitations the stage is fettered with, is, in talking film, natural photography, and in point of famous names, far beyond anything the stage has ever achieved.

"I am certain," says Rapf, a veteran motion picture producer in the silent film days as well as the first revue creator of the new talking picture, "that we have paved the way to what will be a film institution. There will be other revues—perhaps many of them, for the talking picture lends itself better to this type of entertainment than almost any other in some respects—and because this is the form of entertainment the public likes. Famous stars that never leave Broadway can be brought to film audiences—music, dance, comedy—everything that goes into one of these lavish entertainments. It is certain that the demand will be great, and it will cause the creation of many more. So I feel that we have founded a new institution in a new art—perhaps one of its most important."

Y CABINETS HOLD WEEKLY MEETINGS

The freshman, sophomore, and junior-senior cabinets held their regular weekly meetings last Monday night at the Y at 7:15.

The program of the freshman council opened with devotional exercises led by H. N. Parsley and a prayer by Tom Worth. After the roll was called and the minutes were read, the president announced that there would be a delegation to go to Raleigh December 11 to be with Dr. Mott. Aubrey Perkins then led in one of the most interesting discussions that has been held this year. Mr. Perkins started his discussion on the program of the Y. After a short discussion of this topic, he asked a few questions which were fully commented on by the members. It was decided to carry this discussion over to next meeting.

A general discussion of the subjects and points brought up by the speakers of the past month was the main feature on the program for the sophomore cabinet. All the points that had been stressed by the speakers of the past few meetings were commented on. The subject of the speakers for the past month had been "The Present Labor Situation." It was announced that a banquet would be given some time before the close of the fall quarter; plans and arrangements for this banquet will be announced later.

The program for the junior-senior cabinet opened with devotional exercises led by Euber Taylor, after which Mr. Comer announced the discussion to be led by Dr. Mott. Delegates for this discussion were chosen. Plans were then made for student discussion groups in the dormitories, and also plans were made for the next meeting. The program was closed with a prayer by Mr. Comer.

WANTED TO RENT

Wanted: To rent a fraternity house. Desire one with 6 to 12 rooms. Correspond with T. N. Northrop at 213 Ruffin or Med. building.

Where? — In Tar Heel Ads.

- Holiday
- Goods
- Arriving
- Daily
- Make
- Your
- Gift
- Selections
- Today

SUTTON'S DRUG STORE

Start The New Month Right, Then Keep Right!

If you haven't found how already, here you are:

Buy a meal ticket at the University Cafeteria. You'll find the best eats in town and the best crowd. You'll get 6 tickets for $27.50 and you'll stick on and on. It will make a difference!

The

UNIVERSITY CAFETERIA

Six $5.50 Tickets for $27.50

Wintry Winds---

Make no difference if you wear a Stetson "D" Topcoat

Neither do the most exacting style standards

Fine new materials, service, style and quality Always

$29.50 and more

Genuine Camel Hair Coats Featured

Stetson

Have Your Yackety Yack Picture Made Now

Appointments Made 1:00 to 3:00, and 5:30 to 7:30

AND AVOID THE RUSH

Appointments at Students' Supply Store and Patterson's

All Junnior and Senior Pictures Must Be Made By Dec. 10!