

TAR HEELS WIN OVER DURHAM Y IN HARD GAME

Contest Closes With Score 28-27; Former Carolina Stars On Durham Team.

Carolina defeated the Durham Y. M. C. A. here last night in a fast, hard-fought game. The final score was 28-27, Devin missing a free throw that would have tied the score on the last play of the game.

Both teams started slowly. After four minutes of play Harper got a crisp. Carolina was never headed after that, although the Y twice pulled into a tie in the early minutes of the game. Near the end of the half Carolina had an eight-point lead, but Durham rallied and reduced it to two. Hutchison shot a goal as the half ended, making the score 14-10.

Carolina opened the half with a rush that threatened to turn the game into a walkaway, Brown getting three goals and Cleland two, while Hackney was getting Durham's lone point on a foul. With the score 24-11 Durham staged a rally that put them one point behind the Tar Heels. Hutchison got a two-pointer, but O'Neal threw another to make it 26-25. Hutchison scored again and Devin followed with a goal to bring the score to 28-27. The game ended as a foul was called on Harper. Devin missed the throw that would have tied the score.

Rufus Hackney, former Carolina star, shared honors with O'Neal for the visitors. Hackney was the high point man for the game with 11 points. He was followed by O'Neal with ten. The team was captained by Billy Devin, another former Carolina star. Cleland led the Carolina scoring with seven points.

One Year Ago Today University Was Closed Due To Flu Scare

(By Browning Roach)
"Hello, this the infirmary? Well, listen, we have five cases of flu here at C dormitory. Can you take care of them?"

"We have only two or three cots left, but bring them around and we'll make arrangements somehow."

The time was a year ago yesterday, December 13. The characters were: first, and most important, three undergraduates, a junior, a senior and a freshman; and second, an attendant at the infirmary. Another telephone call at the infirmary. The attendant picked up the receiver. "Hello," came the words over the line, "this is so-and-so speaking at J dorm. We have four or five cases of flu here and want you to prepare to receive them in a few minutes."

"I don't know how we'll take care of them, but bring them around anyway. We'll do the best we can."

In a few moments another phone call, and still another. This must be a serious epidemic,

Extensive Improvements Will Be Made On Peabody Building; To Remodel Interior Of Hall

Classes Next Quarter

Classes of the winter quarter will begin on Friday, January 3rd. There will be 30 days of probation for each day of classes that any student fails to attend. A late registration fee of $5 will also be charged to those who register after the regular days assigned for that purpose.

Folklore Course Here Next Quarter

A general course in folklore will be established in the University next quarter in the comparative literature department. Dr. R. S. Boggs will be instructor and the course will be listed as comparative literature 85. The hour has not been given, but, according to Dr. Boggs, it may be in the afternoon.

The course will define the various types of folk literature—the folk tale, ballad, legend, myth, riddle, etc. Theories of origins will be discussed and individual studies of a comparative nature made, following the different themes in their vagaries through different countries.

CHAPEL HILL SCHOOL TO ENTERTAIN WITH CIRCUS

A school circus is being given at the high school building at 7:30 this evening. The main event will take place in the auditorium, after which there will be a series of side shows in the rooms above.

As a preliminary to the circus, a parade, starting from the school building at 4:30, will pass down Franklin street and through the campus.

Admission to the main show will be 15 cents, and to the side shows 5 cents. Sandwiches, cakes, lemonade and candy will be sold. Proceeds will go to the high school annual.

Gerrard Hall Closed

Gerrard hall was closed yesterday until after the Christmas holidays, so that repairs may be made to its roof.

School of Education To Have New Auditorium, More Classrooms and Improved Offices.

Plans which have been announced concerning the remodeling of Peabody building provide for a large auditorium, more classroom space and a much improved arrangement of offices for the administrative force and the professors in the school of education.

The legislature made appropriations last year for a new wing to be added to Peabody, but owing to lack of available funds, the trustees' building committee decided instead to enlarge the basement and to make an entirely new layout for the first and second floors. The University is following the same policy with Peabody that it followed in reconstructing the interior of South building, New West, Old West, Old East and New East. The alterations will take place only on the interior. The inside will be remodeled entirely, while the outside will remain unchanged.

While the work is going on in Peabody, the University school of education will be quartered temporarily in the old library building, which is in the process of being converted into a home for the music department. The construction of the auditorium at the rear of the library, where the pipe organ is to be installed, will be able to proceed without interfering with the activities of the school of education in the main building. The reconstruction of Peabody is expected to be completed soon after the Christmas holidays, or during the winter quarter at the latest.

Abernethy Will Return To Chapel Hill Today

Dr. Eric A. Abernethy, university physician, who is undergoing treatment at McPherson hospital, Durham, for sinus trouble, is expected to be back in his office today. Dr. Abernethy was taken to the hospital Thursday and was under the care of Mr. McPherson.

Community Xmas Tree

Chapel Hill is to have a community Christmas tree again this year. A holly tree, illuminated with vari-colored electric lights, will be placed on the campus lawn not far from Franklin street near the new dorms. Santa Claus, in his traditional costume, will distribute gifts to the boys and girls.

At 4:30 on the afternoon of Monday, December 23, a brief program will be conducted at the Presbyterian church. Rev. A. S. Lawrence, rector of the Chapel of the Cross, will read the story of the first Christmas tree, and George H. Lawrence will lead in the singing of Christmas carols.

Every child is asked to bring toys and clothing for the poor. The county welfare officer reports that this year there is more poverty than usual in and around Chapel Hill.

Quarter's Chapel Over

There will be no further chapel exercises this quarter. Gerrard hall has been closed for certain repairs to the interior which will not be completed before the close of the Christmas holidays.

A Correction

In the news story appearing in yesterday's Tar Heel the following statement appeared under the heading, "Tuberculosis Seal Sale Conducted By Community Club": "The patients who are the greatest menace to the students in the community are among the servants attached to various food dispensing units here." This statement is misleading. Mrs. Otto Stuhlman, chairman of the local committee, states that there are no tubercular patients connected with the various food dispensing units here.

Baptist Church Will Give Pageant Sunday

Sunday night, December 15, the Baptist church will present a Christmas pageant entitled "Bethlehem." Oriental costumes will be worn by the cast, and the scenery and stage effects are to be very picturesque according to the committee in charge. Some forty persons will take part in the pageant. It will be held in the main auditorium of the Baptist church Sunday night at 8:30 P. M.

Home Gets Trees

W. B. Sanders of the University department of sociology has announced the gift of 75 fruit trees and 25 grapevines as a Thanksgiving gift from Paul C. Lindley, president of the Lindley nurseries of Greensboro, to the state home and industrial school for delinquent Negro girls.

The school, located near Efland in Orange county, was founded by the state federation of Negro Women's Clubs. For the past few years this organization has made numerous efforts to have the institution taken over by the state, but so far they have succeeded only in getting a small annual appropriation for this purpose. Consequently the equipment of the school is inadequate.

Much Comment Caused Here By News Of Collins' Offer From Georgetown University

(By Browning Roach)

With the publication of articles in the Washington Times and the News and Observer concerning Coach Chuck Collins' offer from Georgetown, rumors have arisen and discussions have sprung up as to the possibility or probability of any immediate action being taken by the Carolina coach. His contract here at the University still has a year to run.

Coming to Carolina after one year's coaching experience and building up the football team to its present standard, Coach Collins has earned the confidence and esteem of everyone connected with Carolina.

It is possible that the salary question will come to bear on the situation. It would take a considerably larger sum than he is now receiving to lure Collins away from the Hill. The coaching situation here, as things now stand would present a more attractive proposition than that at Georgetown. The eastern university will be handicapped next season by a noticeable lack of material, while very few men will be lost from the varsity squad for Carolina.

Bradshaw Urges Use Of Loan Fund By Students

Sociology 11 Will Be Offered Winter And Spring Terms

Dr. E. R. Groves, professor of sociology, will offer his course Sociology 11, "Marriage and the Family," in both the winter and the spring quarters this year. The course has heretofore been offered only in the final quarter of the year.

Sociology 11, which is open only to male senior students, will take up a study of the family, parent-child relationships, wife - husband relationships, problems of the home and the like. This is the third year which the course has been given. A number of colleges and universities over the country have realized the need for courses dealing with the family and marriage problems and have recently instituted them.

Dr. Groves is an authority on the subject and has written a number of books dealing with marriage and the family. The course is offered next quarter at the 12 o'clock hour.

Upperclassmen To Register Next Week

The Registrar's offices announce that all upperclassmen, (juniors and seniors), and students in the professional schools will register during the examination period, December 18-21.

Students in the college of liberal arts will register in the offices of the department in which they are majoring; all others will register with their deans.

No registration will be accepted by the Registrar's office unless all courses needing assignments to classes are properly validated and all outstanding fees at the business office and library have been paid.

First and second year students will register January 2.

Dean of Students Says No One Should Give Up School Because of Monetary Reasons.

Dean Francis F. Bradshaw issued an invitation yesterday afternoon to those students who feel doubtful about returning to school next quarter because of financial difficulties to make use of the student loan fund.

Although the fund is not suffering from an over abundance of wealth, there is enough money at its disposal to enable every student who needs the money for his continuation at school to obtain it.

The dean of students, who had originally intended to bring this before the students in chapel exercises Monday and Tuesday, but who is prevented from so doing by the repair work on Gerrard hall, stressed the fact that no student need give up his education because of lack of funds.

Anyone who has been considering giving up school for monetary reasons should make an appointment with the student loan fund officials before the Christmas holidays. Room 205 South building is the office of the dean of students and loans will be granted through that office.

Engineers Complete Culvert Pipe Test

The school of engineering in cooperation with the state highway commission has recently completed a study of the behavior of a new type of culvert pipe under an earth fill 44 feet high. The fill is one being made during the construction of the re-located route of highway No. 60 between North Wilkesboro and Boone.

During the field tests of this pipe, which is made of cast iron with spiral corrugations, observations were made and accurate deflections were taken at a point inside the 30-inch barrel vertically under the center of the roadway.

The re-location of highway No. 60 is considered little short the masterpiece of highway construction in this state. Many extremely heavy cuts and fills have been made and at one point, to avoid a very heavy and expensive fill, a concrete bridge 105 feet above the stream bed will be built.

H. A. Schmitt made the field observations as the representative of the school of engineering and was on the work during the entire time of construction.

This new type of pipe is the same as that on which laboratory tests were made at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which were observed by Dean Braune of the school of engineering.

FOUNDATION DIRECTOR VISITS UNIVERSITY

A. J. Warren, who is in charge of the fellows of the Rockefeller Foundation, was recently in Chapel Hill for the purpose of visiting the school of engineering and seeing Dr. J. R. Martinez-Ponte, a holder of a Rockefeller fellowship from Venezuela, who is taking graduate work here.

While in Chapel Hill, Mr. Warren, who is a brother of J. A. Warren, treasurer of the University, was entertained by Professor Thorndike Saville of the school of engineering.
