

Officials Expect Larger Registration For Winter

Enrollment for Winter Quarter Is Expected to Exceed Number Last Fall; Registration Closes Wednesday.

While no official figures have been announced by the registrar's office, indications are that the enrollment for the winter quarter will equal if not exceed that of last fall.

The registration of freshmen shows an unusually large number of new students, who together with the normal registration of first year men returning for the second quarter, are expected to swell the freshman class total to around 800.

With late arrivals still coming in, it is possible that when registration for the winter quarter closes tomorrow, a record enrollment for that quarter may be set.

Due to finances, failures, and transfers, the enrollment of upperclassmen, most of whom registered before the holidays, appears to be slightly less than that of the fall quarter. This loss will be offset to an extent, however, by the return of many old students and teachers who work half the year in order to attend school the winter and spring quarters.

A conservative estimate would place the total registration for the winter quarter at around 2600.

The smallest man at the University is Billy Arthur of Charlotte, who is known to radio and vaudeville audiences as "One Yard of Fun," because of the fact that he is only three feet tall. Billy comes to Carolina as a freshman from Charlotte Central High, where he graduated in 1928. Last year he spent in vaudeville work, touring the south with the Keith circuit and the north with Loew's circuit. He is registered for an A. B. degree in the school of journalism.

Lang To Address Assembly Tonight

The Phi assembly will open its winter quarter's program with a meeting tonight in New East building. Speaker John Lang will open the meeting with his inaugural address. He will appoint the standing committees for the quarter and will name a number of special officers. The regular business will be transacted.

The resolution to be discussed is "Resolved, that the executive committee of the Democratic party in North Carolina would be justified in reading Senator Simmons out of the Democratic party."

Speaker Lang requests that all members of the assembly be present. He states that several important announcements will be made. The meeting convenes at 7:15 o'clock.

The Editor.

UNIVERSITY TOUR TO FRANCE AGAIN

J. C. Lyons To Manage Trip for Third Successive Year.

Final arrangements for the third University residential tour to France have been completed, and the membership of the group is beginning to be made up. The itinerary includes France, Italy, Switzerland, Germany, Belgium and England, with the longest stops in Paris, Rome and London.

For those who are interested in the study of French, a month's residence is provided in the university city of Grenoble in the French Alps. An ideal summer climate is thus combined with an opportunity for study at one of France's leading universities. Those who are interested in taking courses for college credit in this country will find two courses offered by the director of the group.

For those who would like to accompany this group, but are not interested in study, a special program has been provided during the time that the study group is in residence at Grenoble. This program includes additional trips through southern France and over the French Riviera.

The great feature of next summer in Europe is that spectacle which is to be seen but once every ten years, the Passion Play at Oberammergau. The U. N. C. group will see a performance as one of the high spots of the sojourn in Germany. In short, almost nothing of major interest in western Europe is omitted from the program.

Any students at the University who are considering a trip to Europe next summer may arrange to do so by applying to Professor J. C. Lyons of the romance language department. Many variations and combinations on the itinerary are possible for those who want to do some things that are not included in the group's program.

Esperanto Club Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Esperanto club today at 5 o'clock in Murphey hall. At that time Esperanto grammars, which were received by Dr. Metzenhain, will be issued to those people who ordered them.

Sophomore Chapel

Definite arrangements concerning attendance at sophomore chapel were announced yesterday in chapel by Dean F. F. Bradshaw. The sophomores will meet on Monday as usual, thus allowing a total of ten meetings this quarter. Of this number only three cuts will be allowed, since three amounts to about the same percentage as granted when sophomores attended twice a week.

ODUM SELECTED AS PRESIDENT OF NATIONAL GROUP

University Professor Chosen To Head American Sociological Society.

Dr. Howard W. Odum, director of the University school of public welfare and one of the country's foremost sociologists, was elected president of the American Sociological Society at the closing session of the annual meeting of the association in Washington on December 30.

The election of Dr. Odum, who succeeds Dr. W. F. Ogburn of the University of Chicago, brings the presidency to the south for the first time.

Dr. Odum is a native of Georgia. He was educated at Emory University, University of Mississippi, Clark University and Columbia University. Before coming to North Carolina almost ten years ago he was dean of the college of liberal arts at Emory. In addition to his work in the school of public welfare, Dr. Odum heads the University institute for research in social science and the department of sociology. He is also managing editor of Social Forces, a sociological magazine of national circulation, and the author of a number of books and brochures dealing with sociological subjects.

Dr. Odum is a member of the committee of five noted sociologists recently appointed by President Hoover to make a study of significant social changes in American life.

Following his election by the body, Dr. Odum has announced that the general subject of the 1930 meeting of the society will deal with the conflict of cultures. The plans will provide for a joint meeting with the American Statistical Society, the American Economic Association,

Famous News Man Scheduled To Address Institute Here

STUDENTS ASSUME MANAGEMENT DRY CLEANING PLANT

Two students, Royal Brown and William Carbine, have recently undertaken the management of the Carolina Dry Cleaning establishment and announce complete renovation of the plant.

Brown and Carbine assumed control of the establishment the first of the year. However, extensive plans had been made for enlarging the plant and improving the service. A new pressing machine was installed and a dry cleaner from Charlotte with 18 years' experience engaged. According to the management the fastest dry cleaning service in town is available at the Carolina Dry Cleaners. A five-hour service is guaranteed.

Besides the new dry cleaner another experienced presser has been engaged. The plant now has five men working. Jobs are called for and delivered all hours of the day until 7 o'clock in the evening.

Directory Notice

All new students and students who have changed their addresses within the past month or more are especially requested to call by the Y office and leave a note of their change.

FORMER GOVERNOR OF COLORADO TO SPEAK HERE SOON

Ex-Governor Sweet To Speak Under Auspices of the Y.; Rabbi Wise Here in February.

Ex-Governor W. E. Sweet of Colorado will speak here January 19 under the auspices of the local Y. He will speak on the morning of Sunday, January 19 in the Methodist church on the subject of "New Patriotism." He will speak again that night at the same place on "A Valid Christianity for Today."

For the past 25 years Mr. Sweet has been president of the Denver Y. M. C. A. and has taken an active part in all kinds of student and religious work. Besides being a banker, business man, politician and statesman, Mr. Sweet has presided over the annual Y conference of the middle west for the last 12 years.

Ex-Governor Sweet, a graduate of Swarthmore College, is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity and also a member of Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity.

During the years 1924-25 Mr. Sweet was governor of Colorado, and then in 1926 he was second highest in the race for senate from his state. He is a trustee of the University of Denver as well as being a retired president of one of the large banking concerns in Colorado — Sweet, Causey, Foster & Co.

Another big speaker who is being brought here under the auspices of the local Y is Rabbi Wise, who will be here February 4-5. Rabbi Wise, head of the Free Synagogue of New York, will speak on "Jew and Gentile—Agreements and Disagreements." He will also speak on "My Vision of America."

Besides being a noted literary critic, Rabbi Wise is also a famous author, minister and a man very interested in social affairs.

Ben Greet And Troupe Will Not Appear Here

Student Coupon Books

The Athletic Association coupon books for the winter quarter may be had upon presentation of the receipted tuition bill to the Business Office on Wednesday morning.

STATE REALTORS WILL MEET HERE

First Convention of This Kind To Assemble February 12.

Realtors from all sections of the state will gather here February 12 and 13 for a real estate institute to be held under the auspices of the North Carolina association of real estate boards and the extension division of the University of North Carolina.

It will be the first such institute to be held in this state. The institute will take the form of a sales conference. John Berge, sales counselor of the national association of real estate boards, will be in charge. The conference will be a school for those engaged in the real estate business.

Arrangements have been made for visiting realtors to spend the night in Chapel Hill during the progress of the conference.

"The program provides for two days of intensive study of our work," one member of the committee on arrangements said yesterday. "No man in the real estate business in North Carolina can afford to miss it."

Intensive educational work of this type has been performed at similar conferences in a number of other states, notably at Rutgers University, where the fourth has just been held, and the attendance at each has steadily increased.

Although this will be the first conference of the kind in North Carolina, it is regarded as highly probable that it will become an annual event.

As part of the conference realtors in attendance will be permitted to ask questions concerning problems in which they are particularly interested. In fact, questions and answers are expected to constitute one of the most important phases of the program.

President Montana College Visits Here

Dr. S. E. Davis, president of the Montana State Normal College, was a visitor at the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Mosher last Saturday and Sunday, Jan. 4-5. Dr. Davis is the author of several well known books on education.

Grail Dance Saturday

There will be a Grail Dance in Bynum Gymnasium Saturday, January 11. Music will be furnished by The Carolina Buccaneers. This orchestra has established a good reputation and the dance is expected to be an exceptionally good one on account of the large crowd of girls expected down for the week end. Tickets will go on sale at the rear of the gymnasium at exactly 8:30 P. M. Only a limited number will be sold.

Lack of Adequate Hall for Performances Causes Cancellation Of Scheduled Appearance Here.

Sir Ben Greet and his company of actors, who are making a nation-wide tour, enacting many of Shakespeare's plays, will be unable to appear at the University tonight because of the lack of a proper stage and auditorium, it was announced yesterday by the Student Entertainment Committee, of which Dean Addison Hibbard is chairman.

The Tin Can has proved to be too cold for entertainments of this nature and Swain hall, the only other large building that could possibly house the large audience, has not sufficient stage accommodations for a stage performance of Shakespeare's plays.

Although definite arrangements about the contract have not, as yet, been made, the Ben Greet players will give the performance scheduled for the University of North Carolina at Hollins College in Virginia.

Ben Greet, who recently celebrated his fiftieth year on the English stage, and who has been knighted by King George, brought his troupe over from England for the first time and at the performance he gave in New York, was greeted enthusiastically by the press.

In the eventuality that Memorial hall will be fit for occupancy or that other means will be found so that the celebrated English group of actors may produce their work under suitable conditions, they will be seen here during the Spring quarter. The Student Entertainment Committee may secure prominent lecturers to speak here during February as a feature that will compensate for the loss of the Ben Greet players.

High School Debate Query Announced By Executive Committee

According to an announcement made recently by E. R. Rankin, secretary of the high school debating union, the annual high school debate tournament this spring will have the following query: "Resolved, that North Carolina should adopt the proposed constitutional amendment authorizing the classification of property for taxation."

The question as to whether North Carolina should adopt the proposed amendment authorizing the classification of property for taxation is a matter of public importance in the state at present. Under the present constitutional requirements property in North Carolina is taxed by uniform rules whether it be tangible or intangible.

The following students and faculty members compose the executive committee which has been selected to conduct the preliminary debates between those teams which will come to Chapel Hill in April to compete for the Aycock medal by virtue of having won on both sides of the question in previous preliminaries: N. W. Walker, chairman; E. R. Rankin, secretary; L. R. Wilson, D. D. Carroll, George McKie, E. R. Hamer, J. C. Williams, H. H. Hobgood, R. M. Albright, H. B. Parker, Garland McPherson, J. E. Dungan and J. H. Anderson.
