

Team To Open 1930 Season With Greensboro Y Tonight

Another Hard Scrimmage Held Yesterday In Preparation For Greensboro And Davidson

Quint Hopes To Make It Two in A Row With Y. M. C. A. Team Tonight.

CATS HAVE STRONG TEAM

Neiman and Edwards Expected To Show Up Well at Forward.

The Tar Heel basketball quint yesterday added another hard scrimmage to an already hard two weeks of work and were all set for tonight's first game of the new year.

That game will pit the Tar Heels against the Greensboro Y cagers on their own home floor in Greensboro. Carolina will meet Davidson at Davidson Saturday night.

The two teams have met previously this year. Carolina won the decision by a comfortable margin in a pre-Christmas practice game. But Greensboro played that night with a team that had just two nights of practice together. They have been getting in hard and regular work since and the Tar Heels are expecting a harder task.

Carolina, in turn, will probably show more forward strength, with the addition to the squad of Dave Neiman and John Edwards, both out of college when the first battle was staged. Neiman and Edwards have been leading the forward contenders since their return to the squad, and it looks as if the Tar Heels may show considerably more strength offensively.

These two boys will probably start at forward, with veterans at the other posts—"Puny" Harper at center and Billy Brown and Artie Marpet at guard.

Coach Ashmore will probably use as many reserves as possible to get a further line on his men. Due to see service also are Slater, Cleland and Hutchinson, forwards; Dameron and Longest, centers, and Choate and Alexander, guards.

A squad of twelve players and two trainers, under Coach Ashmore will leave the campus at 2:30 o'clock today for Greensboro where they meet the Greensboro Y tonight. The starting lineup has not been announced but in all probability will consist of Harper, center; Neiman and Alexander, forwards; and Marpet and Brown at guards. The men making the trip are: Neiman, Cleland, Hutchinson, Sher, Harper, Dameron, Longest, Edwards, Brown, Marpet, Alexander and Choate.

Johnsons Return

Dr. and Mrs. Guy B. Johnson returned to Chapel Hill Saturday from Greenville, Texas, where Mrs. Johnson has been visiting relatives for the past few weeks. Dr. Johnson also spent the holidays in Greenville.

Both Dr. Johnson and his wife are connected with the University institute for research in social science.

J. D. McNairy lays claim to being one of the Tar Heel's right hand men. But then most of the rest of us are right handed, too.

VARSITY BASKETBALL'S supremacy will be severely tested within the next two weeks with the advent of both winter football and the intramural basketball league. The intramural league will start on the 13th and winter practice for the gridiron warriors will have a formal opening exactly one week later, January 20. In addition to these two new entries on the winter sport program, the University track squad is working hard to get in shape for the indoor meet which will be held soon, and is also trying to whip into shape a mile relay team for the Milrose meet in New York.

THE UNIVERSITY TRACK team had the distinction of receiving an invitation to the nationally and internationally known Milrose indoor meet which is to be held in the near future in New York. This meet is one of the most important indoor events of the year, and the acceptance of the invitations for a mile relay team's entry will be considered seriously by the track officials. Due to the short time allowed it will be extremely difficult to prepare a representative team for this meet, but plans are being considered for an entry. In addition to the mile relay team it is highly probable that Charlie Farmer, sophomore sprint star, will represent the Tar Heels. Farmer's past performances will no doubt place him high among the entries in this meet.

THE RETURN OF promising material to the boxing, tennis and basketball teams substantially boost the Tar Heels' prospects in these sports for 1930. The return of Neiman and Edwards to the varsity basketball team has been the solution of a serious problem which faced the Tar Heel coaches before the Christmas holidays. The return of Vaughan and Davis has lifted quite a shadow from the brow of Coach Rowe. Vaughan's showing last year predicts for him a career of one of the best in his weight in the south this year, while Davis clears up quite a problem in the 165 pound weight. Last year Davis fought in a heavier weight than his usual class, and it is likely that such will be the necessity this year. Sonny Graham, Hinkey Hendlin and Phil Liskin will add materially to the 1930 hopes of the tennis team and it is expected that they will push many of the older men hard for tennis honors at the University.

They are looking for the goat in that Wall street matter; they have the lamb already.

Art Marpet

Artie Marpet, New York boy, is one of Coach Ashmore's three veterans this year. Last year he played dependable ball although a sophomore. He is a good floor man and paired with Bill Brown gives the University varsity five the skeleton of a fine defense.

Bill Brown

Breaking into the starting line-up last year for the first time Bill Brown, veteran guard, has remained there ever since. He played with the freshman quint his freshman year, but it was his junior year before he earned a regular place on the varsity.

At The Carolina

Numbered among the many accomplishments of Norma Terris, beautiful and talented stage star who sings the leading feminine role in "Married in Hollywood," Fox Movietone talking, singing and dancing Viennese love song, is the ability to remember the name of every person to whom she has ever been introduced. She has never taken a memory course, attributing her unusual mental equipment to a gift. It is not an inherited one, as neither her father nor her mother were blessed with extraordinary memories.

Miss Terris finds her accomplishment of much value to her in committing lines for all talking screen productions, just as she did when she was on the New York dramatic stage. She reads her script once and has her lines perfectly learned.

The story, dialog and lyrics were written by Harlan Thompson, with added music by David Stamper. The picture was directed by Marcel Silver, with Mr. Thompson in charge of stage direction.

FIRE DESTROYS PINES TEA ROOM

The Pines, located about three miles from town, was destroyed Wednesday afternoon by a fire believed to have been caused by defective wiring. Soon after the discovery of the fire the flames had spread so rapidly that it was possible for Mrs. M. R. Vickers, operator of the tea room, and her servants to save only part of their clothing. The loss was partly covered by insurance.

The ten-room structure including the large dance pavilion was burned to the ground. The local fire department was summoned but was unable to send trucks to the scene as the tea room is located several miles outside the fire zone.

Only Mrs. Vickers and her servants were in the building at the time of the fire and their efforts to prevent the spread of the flames were of no avail as the fire had already gained considerable headway when it was first discovered.

The operator plans to rebuild the structure immediately. The Pines was well known to University students as banquets were quite often held there during the year. It has been in operation for about three years and is patronized largely by students.
