

Washington-Lee Wins From Tar Heels 27-17

Williams And Captain Wood Play Well For Generals.

SCORE AT HALF 19 - 7

Carolina Plays Well But Is Outclassed By Fast Virginia Team.

The University of North Carolina, where they breed good basketball teams, where average fives win the Southern Conference championship, where mediocre quintets turn out to be runners-up and where an absolutely worthless bunch is always a dark horse down in Atlanta, watched with intimidated fear a gang of ungainly Generals from up in the Blue Ridge mountains, Washington and Lee, steal a basketball game by the score of 27-17.

The score means nothing. Given the opportunity to review in action one of the best basketball aggregations south of the Mason and Dixon line, the fans sat back and saw all they wanted. Of course it was a Carolina team in there fighting every inch, but it was like the flea irritating the elephant. At the half the score was 19-7.

One thing the fans missed. The Washington and Lee quintet was never extended, and consequently that quick action which sends nervous thrills down the spine was not there. The satisfaction of witnessing the contest was the satisfaction of watching a mechanically perfect machine.

That boy Williams. He plays center, but if he could be divided into five pieces he would still make up a good basketball combination. Tall, slim, somewhat lanky and ungainly because of his more than six feet of height, he picked up the ball from nowhere, did what he wanted with it, and when it left his hands it went exactly where it was sent.

Winter Practice To Begin Monday

Coach Chuck Collins has completed plans for the winter football season, which begins Monday and lasts through a period of six weeks.

The Tar Heel mentor arrived in Chapel Hill a few days ago and has spent much of his time in outlining plans for winter football. Everything is in readiness for the boys to take their places in the circle and begin the old grind of exercising.

Exactly who will be back for football and who will not has not been definitely decided as yet. No one knows. It is rumored that more men will be lost to the squad than has been expected.

Nevertheless, the coaches feel as if the winter football practice will prove very valuable to them in finding the right men for certain positions and determining the right combinations that will be used against the teams that Carolina will meet in the fall.

Material will be issued the remainder of the week.

The University of California Press has published a biography of Anthony Mundy, Elizabethan man of letters, who never wrote anything great, but who wrote voluminously.

Freshman Notice

All freshmen who expect to compete for sub-assistant managerships of the football team are requested to report to Emerson Stadium at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, January 20, for instructions. All freshmen are eligible to compete.

Kappa Alpha Defeats Kappa Sigma 22-17

The Kappa Alpha cage team nosed out the Kappa Sigma five 22-17 yesterday in the Tin Can in a fast game that furnished many thrills. Both teams played on about even terms until late in the second half when Allen sunk a pretty field goal to establish the K. A. lead. "Sugar" Allen was high man of the game with 8 counters, while his teammate, Wells, was second with 7. Henry House, Tar Heel varsity football star, also showed up well. White, Eagles, and Satterfield played well for the Kappa Sigma team.

In other games of the afternoon, "G" forfeited to Steele while A. T. O. forfeited to Zeta Psi.

Tar Heelettes To Play Durham Team Tonight

The co-ed sextet will meet the Durham Independents tonight at 7:30 in Bynum gymnasium.

The Independents are comprised of high school girls using an unaffiliated name as the Durham high school does not have a girl team.

No information could be ascertained by the Tar Heel as to the strength of the Durham team, or its schedule; but from all reports running around Spencer hall the game tonight should be fast and furious.

This is the third game of the season for Coach Farris' proteges, and they are hipped for a win on the credit side of the ledger.

The lineup for the Tar Heelettes is practically the same as that of Tuesday's game.

Phi Gams Win 25-11

The Phi Gamma Delta fraternity basketball team easily defeated Tau Epsilon Phi yesterday afternoon 25-11. The game was devoid of thrills, the shooting of Dewey, who scored 9 points for Phi-Gam, being the one highlight of the contest. His teammates, Boucher and White, each scored six points, while Hirsh and Lelshin were outstanding for Tau Epsilon Phi.

Lineup and summary:

FROSH WIN FROM OAK RIDGE 34-20

First Year Men Start Slowly But Hit Stride In Second Half.

HINES IS HIGH SCORER

Repeating their strong scoring attack, the Carolina Tar Babies last night in the Tin Can defeated the Oak Ridge cadets in a rough game before a capacity audience.

The Tar Babies started late but soon hit their stride and from the second quarter the result was never in doubt. Although the cadets played head-up basketball, their floor work could not match that of Coach Enright's lads.

The most outstanding player for Carolina was Hines who was also high scorer for the evening with fifteen points. Captain Brady and Turner played best for the cadets.

The lineup:

Carolina (34)	Oak Ridge (20)
Chandler (3)	Gold (3)
r. f.
Dunn (8)	Turner (5)
l. f.
Beale (4)	Newberry (1)

Henry (6)	Neal (1)

Lineberger (3)	Brady (7)

Substitutions: for Carolina—Chatham, Hamlet, Markham, Hines (15), Moore, Grant, Royster, Connor, Davis, Walch, Barnett; for Oak Ridge—Slayton, Ferrell (3).

CHANGES MADE IN COURT SCHEDULE

Places for Wake Forest Games Sifted; Loyola Game Is Cancelled.

Several important changes in the schedule of the University of North Carolina basketball schedule were announced here today by Charles T. Woollen, Graduate Manager of Athletics.

The places for the home and home games with Wake Forest have been shifted, to avoid conflict with N. C. State games in Raleigh, so that the first game with the Baptists on January 25 will be played in Raleigh and the second on February 18 will be played here.

Washington and Lee has taken the place of the V. M. I. date on February 6, and this second battle with the Generals will be played at Lexington, Va.

The game which was pending for the Tin Can here with Loyola of Chicago for February 12 has been cancelled, due to the fact that the Loyola team will not be able to make the long Southern trip this season.

The revised schedule follows:

Jan. 25—Wake Forest at Raleigh
Jan. 28—N. C. State there
Feb. 1—Duke here
Feb. 5—V. P. I. there
Feb. 6—Washington and Lee there
Feb. 7—Virginia there
Feb. 8—Maryland there
Feb. 11—N. C. State here
Feb. 15—Duke there
Feb. 18—Wake Forest here
Feb. 19—Maryland here

PRINCETON HAS MANY VETERANS BACK ON TRACK

Tar Heel Cinder Stars to Meet One of Strongest Teams in East on Northern Tour.

Carolina's track team will meet one of the outstanding track teams in the east this spring when they engage the Princeton Tigers at Princeton on May 10. Some idea of the strength of the Tigers follows: "With unusual strength in all events except the weights Princeton's track team faces a brilliant outlook. . . The Tiger varsity will be greatly strengthened this year by sophomores who proved unbeatable as freshmen in the 1929 spring campaign. Coach Keene Fitzpatrick will also have the majority of last season's team returning, having lost only a few stars by graduation. The mile and half mile will be ably taken care of by Dawson, Rosner, and Mills.

"The return of Rosner, former New Utrecht star and holder of several indoor scholastic half mile records, who broke his ankle last year, will greatly strengthen the middle distance events.

"Captain Ben Hedges, intercollegiate champion in the high jump and stellar performer in the pole vault, broad jump, and high hurdles, will lead the Tiger attack this year. Hedges was high scorer for Princeton in dual meets last spring and will likely duplicate his feat this season.

In the international meet with Oxford and Cambridge last July he captured the high hurdles and high jump and placed in the pole vault and broad jump. He will confine his activities to the high jump in the indoor meets.

"Hollis Hand, a sophomore, who won the 220 and captured a second in the 100 in the Oxford-Cambridge meet last summer, will be the Tiger's strongest representative in the sprints. Thomson, MacInnes, and Andrews, all juniors, will cooperate with Hand in the dashes.

Princeton track men are training on an outdoor board track this winter."

It appears that Princeton is exceptionally strong in all except the weight events. Athletes from both Princeton and Penn State, with which the Tar Heels have a meet here on April 19, will participate in the Milrose games at Madison Square Garden on February 8.

Game Protested

Yesterday the scorekeeper turned in a report of an eight to four win for "I," in the Grimes-"I" basketball game. The game was rather uninteresting, but when it was over, then the fireworks started. Naturally the "I" team claimed that the scorekeeper was right. The peculiar part about it is the scorekeeper disappeared as soon as the score was contested. The Grimes team claimed that they had made three goals, giving them a score of six, and that "I" had only made two goals. The referee could not be found, so the game was contested and will be replayed soon.

From 3:30 to 3:45 instructions will be given those who have never handled foils before.

The tournament is open to the public.

"Parents should not permit such a display of wealth." The student paper appraised the 17 cars. Estimated total value, $520.

RINGMEN READY FOR MINK TEAM

Captain Archie Allen Will Lead Powerful Tar Heel Boxing Team Against Washington & Lee Saturday.

Coach Crayton Rowe's boxing team is coming along first rate and everything is in readiness for the first bouts of the season with Washington and Lee Saturday.

The bouts will be staged on foreign territory, with the Tar Heel boys returning here Sunday and beginning training for bouts with V. M. I. which takes place in the Tin Can Saturday, January 25.

ed to permit some of his boys to go to Charlotte in the near future to take part in an amateur boxing show to be staged there in the interest of promoting boxing to a larger degree in that territory. Coach Rowe is planning to send Captain Archie Allen, John Warren, Noah Goodridge and several others, together with Platt Landis, resident of Charlotte and freshman here at present. Platt is a member of the frosh boxing team and fights in the light heavyweight class. It is reported that he is one of the hardest punching light-heavies to be developed in these parts in a long time. When he steps in the ring and hits, it's "Katy, bar the door."

John Warren, brother of the famous Add, has the right hand that packs dynamite. When he connects, something always happens. John is expected to bring many points toward the Tar Heel side of the score pad this year.

Captain Archie Allen has fought his way to the honor of captain which he now holds. It was learned that Allen is one of the cleverest welters who have been developed here. He has been on the team for several years and is experienced in the ring. Much will be expected of him this season.

A lightweight roams around down there at the Tin Can, hitting and dodging with all the appearances of a professional, and his name is Noah Goodridge. Another little fellow, who fights like nobody's business is Sheffield.

These boys and many others on both the varsity and freshman squads take workouts and spar around every afternoon. One should drift down and take a look at them some day. These boys mentioned are not the only bright spots that adorn the Tin Can; there are many others. Attempts will be made to look the others over before the season closes.

The first woman champion of tennis in England was Miss M. Watson, 1890.
