

Route of University Study Tour

The above map shows the itinerary of the University of North Carolina transcontinental study tour to be conducted this summer. The party will be divided into two sections. Students registered for the botany, geology and general science courses will travel with the Natural Science section, leaving Chapel Hill June 7, while those who enroll for sociology, economics, and geology will be assigned to the Social Science section and will leave one day later.

Classes will be met daily except Sunday, during the trip. In addition to the regular college work required, opportunity will be given for observation and field trips in connection with each of the courses and the usual sightseeing features. One of the buses which is to make the tour will come to Chapel Hill soon with all its equipment, in order that the students may inspect its facilities. It will be placed on the campus between Gerrard hall and the Y. M. C. A.

The Orange county guards, a company of militia, attended the annual ball at the commencement of 1878.

For positions in foreign trade work he wished to see seniors in the school of commerce who have training in Spanish and a knowledge of elementary accounting.

Sit easy in the new Super-Shorts

Thousands upon thousands of college men sat up and took notice, then sat down and took it easy . . . when Super-Shorts were announced.

This ingenious improvement in underwear banished the center seam of ordinary shorts that wedges and binds. A back panel, an exclusive Wilson Brothers innovation, allows generous room for every turn and twist and tug of the body.

Companion of this exclusive comfort is smartness.

The fabrics, with shirts to harmonize, will do justice to your taste, will give that inner satisfaction of being thoroughly well groomed.

Ask your Campus haberdasher for Super-Shorts in the Roosevelt and Broadmoor patterns illustrated here . . . and sit easy. Ask too about the Biltmore Blend-Suit with matching shirt of Tubize rayon and the new Wilson Brothers pajamas with the same comfort feature, the Super-Seat.
