

Carolina To Face Penn State Cindermen Here Today

IMPORTANT TRACK MEET SCHEDULED THIS AFTERNOON

Baseball Game With V. M. I. On Local Diamond To Follow Event.

With Penn State already on the field, the Tar Heel track team rounded out a tough week's training in top form here this afternoon, and everything was set for tomorrow's Carolina-Penn State dual meet.

The big intersectional test will be held on Emerson field at 2 o'clock as the first half of a double program that will include also a Carolina-V. M. I. baseball game, to begin at 4 o'clock.

The Nittany Lions brought 22 performers, whose records easily indicate that they are one of the strongest Eastern teams and that tomorrow's meet will be one of the biggest features in Southern track this year.

Comparative performances indicate a tough, hard meet. The flying sophomore, Charlie Farmer, with a Southern record of 9.8 for the 100 and a performance of 21.8 for the 220 dash, gives the Tar Heels an edge in the dashes. The quarter-mile and half-mile should be anybody's races. Rekers, conqueror of the conqueror of Paavo Nurmi, and his flying teammate Meisinger give the invaders an edge in the mile and two-mile. In the hurdles and field events, the teams stack up just about even.

Add and subtract correctly, say those who know their records, and you will deduce prospects to be for a close, tough meet, with a warm contest in every event.

An outstanding duel is expected in every event, which should result in some fine individual performances. The luminaries expected to fight it out by events, Penn State stars listed first, are Darlington and Farmer in the dashes; Hiding and Gay, 440 yard run; Wolf and Baucom and Barkley, half-mile; Rekers and Barkley, mile; Meisinger, two-mile; McDowell and Perry, high hurdles; Fullerton and Slusser, low hurdles; Mobley and Arnold, vault; Palmer and Bagby, high jump; Mobley and Neiman, broad jump; Shawley and Brown, discus; Siegal and Brown, javelin; Shawley and Adkins, shot.

Freshman Golfers Defeat Greensboro High School 15 - 3

The Carolina freshman golf team scored a 15 to 3 victory over the Greensboro high school team yesterday in a return match played on the Hope Valley Country Club course.

The low score for the contest was 73, which was made during the afternoon round by F. M. Laxton, Jr., the number two player for the freshmen. Chester Brown, who won his place on the team only last week, proved himself well able to uphold his place by two brilliant 76's, these being the next lowest scores.

In the foursome matches played in the afternoon, Adams and Laxton defeated Newnham and Mickles 2½ to ½, while Chatham and Brown defeated Carver and Arthur 3 to 0.

The points were distributed as follows:

Carolina	Greensboro
Adams 2½	Newnham ½
Laxton 1	Mickles 2
Chatham 3	Carver
Brown 3	Arthur

SHIPS DON'T WANT COLLEGIATE BUMS

That of the ordinary seaman is considered the prize. He does manual labor, paints, and stands on lookouts. A wiper works in the engine room, cleaning up grease and painting. His job is both dirty and hot and therefore the least desirable. The mess boy waits on table and washes dishes. Any of these jobs pay $40 to $50 a month.

Compared to labor on shore, that on shipboard is easy. Most of it is of the puttering variety. Hardships are few, and due to the confinement, there are plenty of chances to read, which accounts for the many "Mercurys" that find their way to a "seaman's" bunk during summer months.

Since these green covered magazines are to be missing from Atlantic freighters this summer, perhaps there'll be more of them read in the third tourist cabin deck chairs of the big liners. The steamship men naturally hope so.

Raleigh And Hill To Contest In Tennis

Harvey Harris of Raleigh and Claude Council of Chapel Hill fought their way through the semi-finals of the 15th North Carolina high school tennis tourney here yesterday, and will meet this morning at 9:30 o'clock for the state title.

Harris beat Hanson of Wilmington 6-2, 3-6, 6-2. Council upset the dope by eliminating Southern of Winston-Salem, defending champ, in straight sets, 7-5, 6-3, 6-4.

Mount Airy, Charlotte and Rockingham teams fought their way into the semi-finals in the doubles, to be played this morning, and Wilmington and Winston-Salem will fight it out for the fourth semi-finals post.

One of the senior superlatives elected at the recent smoker was "biggest ladies man." It was a close race, but the winner obviously won by a neck.

CHARLOTTE WINS INTERSCHOLASTIC TRACK MEETING

Goodwin of Greensboro Is High Scorer of Day; Mullins of Charlotte Second.

Charlotte high school, with 47 points, won the interscholastic high school meet here yesterday to set a record for the highest score ever made in a state high school meet, and overshadowed by 19¼ points the next highest score. Wilmington was second with 27¾ points, Greensboro third with 24¼, and High Point fourth with 16¾. Following in order were Spring Hope, 9; Raleigh, 8; Weldon, 7; Rich Square, 3; Oxford, 2; and Chapel Hill 1¼.

Goodwin of Greensboro, with firsts in the 100 and 220, and a tie for first in the pole vault, was high scorer of the meet. Mullis of Charlotte, with firsts in the discus and shot, was second with 10 points. Sykes of Spring Hope was third with 9, while Wood of Charlotte and Smith of Wilmington each scored 8 points. Five records were broken and one tied. Mullis of Charlotte hurled the discus 126 feet ½ to break Theron Brown's record of 124 feet 1½ inches. Smith of Wilmington ran the 220-yard low hurdles in 26 flat to set a new record. Rankin of Wilmington did the half mile in 2:34 to break Phoenix' record of 2:54. ## Blue And White Teams Will Face Worthy Foes This Week

Six Baseball Games; Track Meet With Penn State Today; Golf Tournament Is Among Events.

TENNIS ALSO IMPORTANT

Six baseball games, two track contests, three tennis matches, and a state golf tournament make up a tough schedule Carolina teams face for the coming week.

The annual Easter Monday baseball game with Davidson, to be played in Winston-Salem this year, and the V. P. I. Track meet at Blacksburg Monday will start the ball rolling, and from then on it will be tough sledding for the Tar Heel teams.

The baseball nine, pitching force shaky already, faces Davidson again at Davidson Tuesday, Georgia here Wednesday and Thursday, V. P. I. here Friday and Duke here Saturday, in a straight line of six hard games, four of which will count in the Southern Conference standings and three of which will count in the Big Five standings.

The track team will finish this afternoon's tough intersectional test with Penn State only to jump a train for Blacksburg to fill the Monday engagement with V. P. I. And then it will be to come back and groom the stars for the important Penn Relays carded for Saturday.

The tennis team, finishing competition in the three-day state tournament today, will face Johns Hopkins here Monday, Duke at Durham Thursday and Wake Forest here Friday.

The golfers will face but one event, but that is the annual gruelling two-day state collegiate tourney at Sedgefield Country club, Greensboro, Friday and Saturday.

Of those 12 events, exactly six are carded for Chapel Hill to make an attractive home schedule. Several other freshman contests will be announced from time to time during the week.

Golfers Will Meet Georgia Tech Today

The Tar Heel golfers left yesterday afternoon for Atlanta, Ga., where today they are to meet Georgia Tech, reported to be one of the strongest teams in the Conference.

The Tar Heels, undefeated for the year, took their strongest quartet to meet the Technicians.

This included Captain Chatham, Meade Willis, state champion last year; Luther Stewart and Ben Goodes.

Coach John Kenfield was kept from making the trip by his being in charge of the North Carolina College Net Tourney being played here.

SPORT RAMBLES

Roulhac Hamilton

Facing the hardest test of the year, the track team will defend its long dual meet record against Penn State this afternoon. We do not say that the Tar Heels will win, nor do we make any such prediction about the Pennsylvanians. As we see it, the meet is a toss up and either team has a good chance to crash through to victory.

Nate Cartwell, former University of Pennsylvania star and a member of the 1908 Olympic team is the Penn State coach. Before going to Penn State, Cartwell coached at the University of West Virginia and at several southern colleges. He has been extremely successful at Penn State and his teams have been regarded as one of the leading eastern teams for several years.

George Mobley is captain of the team. As a freshman he was a sensation in class meets, participating in half a dozen events and placing in all of them. He specializes in the broad jump and the pole vault and will take part in them this afternoon.

Paul Rekers is probably the best individual performer on the squad. He will be entered in the mile run. He was a leading cross country runner last fall and during the winter season set a new mark for the indoor two mile college run. His record, 9:22.2 is only a fifth of a second slower than the outdoor record.

Meisinger, Homm, King, and Detwiler complete the distance squad. Detwiler won the individual title in the intercollegiate cross country championship for freshmen in 1927 and, although he did not compete last year, he is rapidly regaining the form that stamped him as a great runner as a freshman. Meisinger has turned in some remarkable races at two miles and is a leading cross country performer. Homm and King are new men who are developing rapidly.

Wolfe and Bachman will be the half milers and while neither has shown anything spectacular in past performances both are experienced runners. Fleniken and Hiding will carry the burden in the quarter mile. Both are juniors and both were regular quarter milers last season.

Stookey, Darlington, and Kennedy will divide the work in the sprints. The first two will probably run the 100 and the last will be entered in the 220. Darlington and Kennedy are sophomores.

McDowell, Fullerton, and Funke are the hurdlers, McDowell going in at both distances, with Funke at 120 and Fullerton at 220. While not actually weak in this event, the hurdles can not be regarded as one of Penn State's strong events. McDowell and Fullerton are veterans and Funke is a sophomore.

Palmer and Hammond, both

TENNIS MEN WIN IN SECOND DAY'S PLAY OF TOURNEY

Carolina Stars Still In Top Form; Johnston and Halverstadt of Davidson In Semi-Finals.

Carolina tennis players continued to set the pace in the annual North Carolina collegiate tourney, and in the second day's play sent four men through to the quarter-finals, to two each for Duke and Davidson.

The Carolina stars coming through matches yesterday were Yeomans, defending champ, Captain Merritt, Hendlin and Liskin. The other four survivors, who will contest in the quarter-finals at 9:15 this morning, are Frank, runner-up last year, and Phillips of Duke, and Captain Johnston and Halverstadt of Davidson.

Wetness of courts kept the collegians from getting in but one round yesterday, hence quarter-finals are scheduled this morning, semi-finals this afternoon, and finals will probably have to be postponed until Monday.

Captain Johnston and Halverstadt of Davidson fought their way into the doubles semi-finals yesterday, but the other teams got in but a match apiece, and will resume play this morning at 10 o'clock.

Favorites continued to mow down opposition yesterday, but several contenders provided unexpectedly brilliant opposition that produced several feature matches.

In one of these, Rogers of Duke, playing his top game, took three straight games from Yeomans, Carolina defending champ, before Yeomans got started, and pushed the favorite hard for a 6-8, 6-2, 6-2 win. Fain of Davidson likewise gave Frank, Duke runner-up last year, a real fight that Frank won only 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

The Frank-Johnston and Halverstadt-Merritt matches are expected to be the singles features this morning.

new men, will represent the Lions in the high jump. Funke and Osbeck will assist Captain Mobley in the broad jump and vault. Fisher, Shawley, and Musser will take care of the weight events, the latter taking part in the shot, discus and javelin.

Dan Musser, leading spearman for the Lions will be doing double duty this week-end. Yesterday in Atlantic City he played third base against Pennsylvania. He left for Chapel Hill immediately after the game and will participate in the javelin this afternoon, returning to Atlantic City for another game on Monday. He holds the state interscholastic and the college record for the javelin.

Comparative performances give the Tar Heels an edge in the dashes, while the invaders have the odds in the distances. The middle distances, hurdles, and the field events find the teams stacking up just about even and it is in these events that the meet will probably be decided.
