

NOTED ALUMNUS HERE TO OFFER LECTURE SERIES

Junius Parker, Outstanding New York Lawyer, Here April 28, 29, and 30 Under Auspices Of Law School.

Junius Parker, an alumnus of the University and prominent New York lawyer, has been secured to deliver a series of lectures under the auspices of the law school here, April 28, 29 and 30, on the general subject of the relation of business and the state, it was announced yesterday by Dean C. T. McCormick of the University law school.

The subject of the lectures will be "Business and the State." The first lecture will deal generally with national government activities in aid or regulation of business, including the protective tariff, the Federal Reserve System, and the regulation of interstate carriers. The second lecture will touch upon the particular field of national control of business through the Clayton Law, the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, and the Federal Trade Commission Act. The last lecture will deal with the use of the "due process of law" clauses in the national constitution to limit the states in the exercise of their police power and to limit the nation and the states in the fixing of rates for railroads and other public utilities.

Mr. Parker is peculiarly qualified by experience to deal with the relations between law and business, since he was counsel for the American Tobacco Company at the time of their anti-trust litigation and since he has

(Continued on page three)

NEW CAFETERIA TO OPEN MAY 1

Friendly Corporation Will Operate Eating House Formerly Owned By Miss Cates.

The Friendly Cafeteria will be opened in Chapel Hill, May 1. The new cafeteria will occupy the space which was formerly the home of the University Cafeteria, located on Franklin street. The building is now being remodeled and will be ready for use, with many improvements, at that date.

This Friendly Cafeteria will be similar to the Friendly Cafeterias which are now operating in Greensboro, High Point, Durham and Charlotte. Meal tickets sold by the Chapel Hill branch will be honored in all of these cities.

Tickets amounting to six dollars in value will be sold for five dollars. Another feature of the cafeteria will be the sale of special tickets, amounting to forty dollars in trade, for thirty dollars. These special tickets will also be honored in Greensboro, Durham, High Point and Charlotte.

In addition to the cafeteria system proper, there will be a regular boarding system, whereby students may eat for a regular monthly amount. Good-looking waitresses are to be employed for this branch of the establishment.

The manager of the new cafeteria earnestly requests the students and townspeople to investigate his establishment after it is opened, May 1.

Lutheran Communion Service

At the Lutheran Student Association services this morning the Holy Communion will be administered as a part of the Easter service. The service will be held in Gerrard hall at eleven o'clock.

EDITOR-ELECT OF MAGAZINE NAMES NEW STAFF MEN

Staff Meeting Thursday; First Issue May 11; Dungan To Be Managing Editor Magazine Also.

With the next issue of the Carolina Magazine, which will appear May 11, the tentative organization of the new staff becomes operative. Jack Dungan, the choice of the Publications Union Board, will assume his duties as managing editor of the magazine with the issue of May 11. The associate and assistant editors will be selected by the editor at a later date, these selections being made largely upon the basis of material submitted for the issue of May 11 and the last issue of the year, which will appear May 25. The circulation manager will also be selected later.

There will absolutely be no radical changes in the magazine—except that there will be a large staff which any and all will have an opportunity to make, and that the student body will be urged to make the magazine what it wants it to be through the medium of this large and flexible staff. The format and quality of the paper will remain essentially the same.

There will be an organization meeting in the Tar Heel-Magazine offices in the basement of Alumni building Thursday evening, April 24, at 7 o'clock. At this meeting the new editor and managing editor will outline their policies for the remainder of the present collegiate year, and the seven months of next, during which the magazine will be published bi-monthly. Beginning with the organization meeting Thursday night, the magazine staff will meet once each month.

For the time being the following members of the present magazine staff are listed as members of the new editor's staff, subject to change—both addition and subtraction: Richard A. Chace, Jay Curtis, Robert Hodges, J. J. Slade, Jr., James Dawson, Dorothy Mumford, Philipp Klemens Kaufmann, Mary Marshall Dunlap, Louis V. Brooks, and Sherman Shore.

In a word, the policy of the new editor is to organize a large staff to which every person who proves his worthiness by contributions to the magazine, may become a member, and to urge the student body to make the Carolina Magazine what it wants it to be.

Infirmiry List

The University infirmiry attendants reported the following sick list yesterday: M. Q. Thumlee, D. A. Nims, Hugh Overstreet and Johnny Branch.

During the commencement week in 1909, a baseball game was held between the class of 1908 and the graduating class.

New Duke Buildings

Above are shown two recent photographs of buildings being erected on the new Duke campus. With more than $80,000,000 for buildings and administration it is expected that the new Duke will be one of the foremost universities in the entire south. Officials of the university have announced that the new campus will be occupied early next fall.

NINETY-THREE TO WIN DEGREES IN EDUCATION DEPT.

Twenty-Two Girls and Seventy-One Men Compose Largest Class To Be Graduated From School.

The largest number of seniors in the history of the University's school of education will be graduated this year, either at the regular commencement in June or at the end of the summer school in August, according to announcement by C. E. McIntosh, executive secretary of the school of education. Of these seniors, 93 in all, who expect to receive the degree A. B. in education, 22, or approximately one-fourth of the total, are girls, and 71 are men.

Several of the candidates for graduation have been absent from the University for some in the past, but have either returned to finish their work or have obtained the required number of credits through correspondence courses. A number of members of the senior class in education, a list of which was published recently, are not candidates for the degree this year.

Local Firm Improves Cleaning Equipment

Extensive improvements have been completed by the Carolina Dry Cleaners in their office and plant equipment. The front office has been enlarged and decorated, and a slightly awning installed. New equipment in the cleaning department, including facilities for cleaning linens, has been added.

The Carolina Dry Cleaners, purchased a few months ago by Royall Brown and Bill Carbine, Carolina students, from the Hardesty brothers, have also inaugurated five-hour dry cleaning service.

Cantata Tonight

Tonight at 8 o'clock, at the Chapel of the Cross, the cantata, "Easter Dawn," by G. Herbert Knight, will be sung. Director and organist, Mr. N. O. Kennedy. Soloists, Mrs. Murchison and Dr. Holmes.

INAUGURATION OF NEW OFFICERS TO BE HELD MONDAY

Induction of Student Body Officers Will Take Place In Gerrard Hall Tomorrow.

"Red" Greene, and other newly elected officers of the student council, will be officially inducted into office tomorrow morning, in Gerrard hall during chapel period. Although at a joint meeting of the old and the new council last Monday, "Red" Greene assumed virtual leadership of the student body, the official induction will take place tomorrow.

For many years, the official inauguration of student body officers has been marked by an inaugural address by the incoming president. And in the days when Memorial hall was the largest building on the campus, it was customary for large crowds of students to turn out to hear the address. However, with Memorial hall gone, the scene of tomorrow's ceremonies will be Gerrard hall, which, although primarily given over to freshman for their chapel exercises, will have plenty of room in the balcony and in the back for those upper classmen who may wish to hear the speeches.

The occasion of tomorrow will be the 24th inaugural. In was in 1906 that first the students were given the privilege and freedom to conduct student affairs upon their sole responsibility. It was at that time, too, that the students first filed in to Memorial hall to hear one of their own number who would henceforth be the head of the formal student government. It will be regretted by many that no larger auditorium is available, for it is well known that the speeches rendered on these occasions are of great interest to all the student body.

DENTAL STUDENTS TO HEAR MAVES ON INLAY TECHNIQUE

The fourth lecture and clinic of the 1930 postgraduate extension course for dentists, being conducted by the University extension division in cooperation with the state Dental Society, will be held at six class centers this week, it was announced here yesterday by R. M. Grumman, director of the University extension division.

Dr. T. W. Maves of Cleveland, Ohio, experienced clinician and authority on gold inlay technique, will be the instructor. Classes will be held at Greenville, Raleigh, Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Charlotte and Asheville.

Other instructors who will conduct classes at a later date include Dr. Albert L. Midgley of Providence, R. I., whose subject will be "Dental Economics"; and Dr. Horace M. Davis of Baltimore, Md., who will present the subject of "Radiodentia."

In 1908 there were 58 seniors to graduate.

GREENSBORO BOY HAS DISAPPEARED FROM UNIVERSITY

Bill Pemberton Has Been Missing Since February; Parents Thought He Was In School.

Another disappearance of a University student was brought to light late this week by the arrival of Mr. T. Pemberton, of Greensboro, in search of his son, Bill, whose whereabouts has been a mystery since late in February this year.

It is a much stranger case than that of M. P. Moorer. Bill Pemberton was, as far as his parents knew, registered and in school for his third year, ever since the beginning of the Fall quarter. Yet, when Pemberton, Sr., went to make enquiries at the registrar's office and at the dean of students', no official record was on file for his son. The investigation of his father resulted in the knowledge that Bill Pemberton, although occupying a room on the third floor of Aycock dormitory, and having paid for that room, was never a student at the University, although he spent almost two quarters at Chapel Hill. His letters home led the readers of them to believe he was a regular student.

The last communication that the family in Greensboro received from the boy was late in February and although attempts had been made to get in touch with him during the intervening time it was not until a week or so ago that his absence was noted.

The roommate of Pemberton has also disappeared but there are no fears for either of their lives or minds, as in the Moorer case. The entire affair is being viewed by the fathers as a youthful gesture at freedom. When questioned last week, he appeared to be rather anxious over the matter, but taking it all in a kindly manner.

CALL ISSUED FOR NEW REPORTERS

Old and New Men Will Attend Re-Organization Meeting Tonight At Seven.

The new managing-editor announced yesterday a reorganization of the Daily Tar Heel reporter staff to be made tonight at 7 o'clock. A call is being made for all persons who desire to become members of the staff.

It is planned to carry a staff of 60 reporters during the year. A course credit toward graduation, in addition to attractive charms, is awarded faithful reporters. An unusual background in college news reporting can be secured from Tar Heel experience.

Editor Yarborough has announced that contrary to precedent, members of the editorial board will aid the editor in "breaking-in" new reporters and serve as super-reporters on special stories.

At the meeting tonight beats will be re-assigned, and important announcements made.

Early Morning Service

The United Church conducted a sunrise service this morning at 6:30 o'clock. A male quartette and vocal music by a choir and Mrs. Conner and Miss Williams furnished music.