

Farley Hits Two Homers As Devils Score 14-5 Win

CAROLINA USES THREE PITCHERS

Edwards, Fleming, and Longest Fail To Halt Slugging Of Duke Batsmen.

WERBER STEALS HOME

Pounding out 14 hits off three pitchers, a hard-hitting crew of Blue Devils kept a steady stream of men crossing the plate in nearly every inning and came out of the ninth with a 14-5 lead over the Carolina nine.

Farley, slugging third baseman, found Edwards' and Longest's delivery to his liking and lifted two long flies over the center fielders' heads for easy home runs. The first round trip sock brought Rochelle and Murray in ahead of him to bring the first inning score up to five, while his other circuit clout came in the seventh and scored Rochelle again.

Every man on the Duke lineup except Dean and Jenkins was able to get to first on a base knock, with Kistler hitting three times out of five trips to the plate to lead the attack.

Werber, Blue Devil shortstop, crossed the plate four times. After getting a base on balls in the first, Murray's single over second scored him. In the fifth he took first when Lufty juggled a hard grounder through third, stole second and came home on Kistler's drive to right field. In the seventh Werber singled to left, took second on Fleming's wild pitch and scored on Kistler's single to left. In the eighth he scored his last one when he reached first on a fielder's choice, advanced to third on Kistler's third single and stole home, sliding under Potter and getting the decision in an extremely close judgment.

Jimmie Maus poled out a double and two singles out of four trips to the plate to lead the Tar Heel batsmen. No other Carolina man was able to solve Jenkins' delivery for more than one trip to first.

The Tar Heel defense was rather ragged, with a total of five errors being chalked against the team fielding percentage. Captain Jimmie Maus, versatile handler of the backstop, outfield and first-sack positions, played a brilliant game. Besides leading in hitting, Maus handled 12 chances at first without letting a one get by him.

6,000 Registered In Westinghouse Course

Approximately 6,000 students have been enrolled and are now taking the correspondence course in general illumination being conducted by the Westinghouse Lighting Institute, Grand Central Palace, New York City, which has been made available, without cost, to those interested in lighting.

Representing what is probably the largest attempt ever made for mass education in one subject by an industrial concern, the course, covering every phase of illuminating engineering, has been established to qualify employees of public utilities, manufacturers and merchants in the fundamentals of good lighting practice and the modern developments of the art.

According to the classification of students, employees of public utilities comprise nearly 75 per cent of the entire enrollment, which indicates that they realize the increasing importance of illuminating engineering. Geographically, every state in the Union is represented.

Popularity Of Lacrosse Increases As Colleges And Clubs Take Up Sport

As in all other athletic fields, there is a great demand for competent coaches interested in spreading the oldest and, perhaps, one of the fastest American games—lacrosse. Though originally an American game, having been played by the early Indian tribes, lacrosse has not begun to come into its own in this country until recently. Gradually, colleges in the east and south have been adopting the game as a spring sport, with the result that a large field has been opened for young men interested in spreading the game in those parts of the country where it has not yet succeeded in gaining attention.

The chief centers wherein lacrosse flourishes at present are New York and Maryland, the sport being proportionately more popular in the latter state. In both states the game is played by colleges, high schools, prep schools, as well as by many independent clubs. Already, several important leagues have been organized by these groups.

The colleges in the intercollegiate league are Brown, Colgate, Cornell, Dartmouth, Harvard, Hobart, Hopkins, Lehigh, Maryland, Navy, New York University, Penn, Penn State, Rutgers, Stevens, St. Stephens, Swarthmore, Syracuse, Union, Yale, Princeton, St. John's and Western Maryland.

Other colleges which have adopted the sport are Army, Baltimore University, Boston University, Carnegie, Delaware, Georgia, Georgia Tech, Duke, Lafayette, Massachusetts Tech, Randolph-Macon, Springfield, St. Lawrence, Virginia, Washington College, Williams, and William and Mary.

The leading teams in this sport last year were Navy, Union and St. John's, none having lost a game, while the latter school defeated an English team representing Oxford-Cambridge.

Curiously enough, while Maryland is conceded to be the stronghold of lacrosse in the United States, the Indians in that state, according to historic belief, did not play the game. The Algonquins, Iriquois, Choctaws and Onandagos were among the best of the Indian players, while the game was also popular with the Creeks in Alabama and the Cherokees in North Carolina. Though the Indians knew the game as Boggathway, the name was later changed, and named, perhaps, after some mission.

In Canada and most foreign countries lacrosse is exceedingly popular, and it is safe to predict that with the American craving for speed and excitement in sports, the game will soon find an interested public in this country.

VARSITY GOLFERS SCORE EASY WIN OVER DAVIDSON

Ben Goodes Turns In Individual Low Score With 150.

The Carolina golf team defeated the Davidson Wildcats in a match Friday by the score of 15 to 3. The Tar Heels piled up the greater part of their lead in the morning round consisting of single matches.

In the first leg of the tourney Charlie Chatham won two points from and lost one to Jack Pepper of Davidson. Luther Steward, Meade Willis and Benny Goodes annexed the maximum three points in their matches with R. D. Croom, Lewis Hart and N. C. Hodgkin.

In the afternoon round, Chatham and Willis of Carolina defeated Pepper and Hart of Davidson with the best ball score of 71 to 74. Steward and Goodes of Carolina defeated Croom and Hodgkin of Davidson, the winners ringing up the best ball score of 77. These doubles matches were best ball twosomes utilizing the Nassau scoring system.

Benny Goodes was the individual star of the day, chalking up a score of 150, 72 for the first 18 and 78 for the second. Jack Pepper of Davidson was just out of reach, turning up a mark of 151 with a 75 and a 76. Charlie Chatham rang up the next best, his score totaling 152, or a 74 and a 78.

Jack Pepper of Davidson created some excitement in the morning round. Coming down the home stretch like a house afire, he took a birdie two on the 16th, a par four on the 17th, and, coming in strong at the finish, took an eagle three on the long par five 18th.

With this match under their belt, the Tar Heel golfers show promise of coming through the state tournament with first honors.

The University enrollment in 1907 was 758.

BLUE AND WHITE TRACK MEN WANT REVENGE ON W. & L.

Forthcoming Meet Tomorrow Is To Be One of Most Important Of Season.

The Carolina track team will seek to revenge their defeat at the hands of Washington and Lee, suffered in the Southern Conference Indoor meet last winter, when they meet the Generals on Emerson field at 3:30 tomorrow. The first field events will begin at 3:30, and the track events, which will be run off on a ten minute schedule, will begin with the 100 yard dash at 4:00.

The Generals are one of the strongest teams that the Tar Heels will meet this year, and should give Coach Fetzer's men plenty of trouble in keeping intact their record of no defeats in dual meets for the past eight years. The Tar Heels will be handicapped by the absence of their captain, Dave Nims, star quarter miler and 220 man, who is in the Infirmary with a badly infected foot.

There should be some very closely contested events in this meet. Sandifer, W and L. star who has been high scorer in every meet in which he has competed this year, will compete in the sprints, high jump and broad jump, and is expected to give Charley Farmer quite a race. It is certain that the lanky Tar Heel speedster will have to step fast if he expects to keep up his "ten point habit of winning both the 100 and 220 in all dual meets. In the 440, Leigh Williams, star center on the basket ball team, and Conference champion last year will receive strong opposition from Weil and Gay, who won the event in the Penn State and V. P. I. meets respectively last week end. Other outstanding performers in the W. and L. aggregation are, Spears in the high hurdles, Finlenstein in the lows, Stevens in the shot, Bailey in the discus, and Sheppard and Dickey in mid-

DAVIDSON PLAYS HERE TOMORROW

Golfers Enter Southern Tourney At Birmingham; Trackmen Take On Generals Tomorrow; State Meet Friday and Saturday.

University varsity teams face a total of six events during the coming week, headed by the southern golf tourney, state track meet, and dual track meet with Washington and Lee here tomorrow.

Four of the events will be played at home on attractive bills carded for Monday and Saturday afternoons.

Monday there will be the Carolina-Washington and Lee track meet. Saturday there will be the Carolina-Wake Forest tennis match.

The other events will be the state track meet at Greensboro during the week-end, in which the Tar Heels will defend a state title held eight straight years, a golf match with Vanderbilt at Nashville Monday, and the southern golf tourney at Birmingham the last three days of the week for the state championship Tar Heel golfers.

Especially interesting is centering on the home card scheduled for Chapel Hill Monday.

The Washington and Lee trackmen, perhaps Carolina's strongest rivals for southern honors this year, nosed the Tar Heels out of a southern indoor title by two points. Superior strength in the hurdles gave the Generals that victory. The Tar Heel hurdlers have since shown great development, and Monday's meet, pitting against one another such rival stars as Farmer and Sandifer and Perry and Speer, is expected to prove a classic.

The freshman track team faces the Duke frosh at Durham Tuesday afternoon in the first of several freshman events tentatively carded, and to be announced through the week.

The number of students enrolled in the University in 1879 was 290.
