

Expect Numerous New Marks At State Meet

Whittle, Farmer, Barkley, Simon, Gay and Others Look Good for State Contest.

HIGH SCHOOL MEET ALSO

Several new records are expected to be set at the annual North Carolina College Conference Field and Track championships at Greensboro Saturday afternoon.

Such a conclusion is easily arrived at. The men who took 40 of 60 places in last year's meet will be shooting at the records again, the better off for another year's work and experience. The new stars will include such youngsters as Charlie Farmer, sprinter, and Brodie Arnold, vaulter, who have already bettered state marks.

Farmer has twice equalled the southern record of 21.2 for the 220-yard dash, and is almost certain to lower Currie's state mark of 21.6. With a fast start, he might conceivably equal Currie's mark of 9.6 for the 100-yard dash, but this is a time seldom done.

Gay, Carolina's converted quarter-miler, has done as low as 50.6, pushed closely by his teammate Weil, and either might speed to a new record in the quarter-mile, now held at 50.8 by Erwin of Duke.

In the half-mile, McGinn, of State, the present record holder with a mark of 1 minute 58.6 seconds, has been running around that time consistently all season, and might easily lower his own mark. Minor Barkley, Carolina ace, who has been averaging two minutes regularly for the event, is likewise a good bet.

Barkley is another prospect for a new mile mark, he having beaten Paul Rekers, Penn State's I.C.A.A.A. champ, in a 4:26.6 mile, when the state record of Galen Elliott is 4 minutes 23.4. Simon of Duke has been good all season and might lower his own 9 minutes 57 second record on the two mile.

Whittle of Davidson has equalled the state record of 15.3 seconds on the high hurdles, but the 24.4 state mark on the low hurdles, set by Moore of Carolina five years back, looks fairly safe.

The state marks in the javelin and shot look fairly safe, but in the other field events Theron Brown of Carolina has bettered the state discus mark in practice throws, Brodie Arnold of Carolina has vaulted 13 feet which is 10 inches over the state mark, George Bagby of Carolina has high jumped 6 feet 3-4 inches and within one inch of the state mark, and McCall of Davidson has equalled the state broad-jump record of 23 feet 1-2 inch, set by Kinsey of Wake Forest, who will be back this year.

Carolina should lower the 3 minutes 28 seconds for the mile relay, the Tar Heel team having turned in a mark of 3:24.7 for a new Georgia Tech relay record.

After all it seems the dopesters are right when they predict for Saturday afternoon the most sensational track meet ever held in the state.

Looking Them Over

by Browning Roach

Much adverse comment on the part of football fans was elicited by the football schedule undertaken by Duke University last fall. Many were inclined to give the Blue Devils the raspberries for attempting to compete with such teams on the gridiron as Pitt, Villanova and the Navy. It seems that the Devils have the laugh the other way now. When Duke departed on a northern trip this week with a solid week of games booked with such baseball teams as Penn, Villanova, Princeton, Fordham, N. Y. U. and Navy, there were plenty of sportsmen who were just itching for a chance to warble "I told you so."

With victories over Penn and Villanova in the first two starts of the week, even the most radical of the Duke knockers cannot fail to accredit the Blue Devils with having a fair nine. Some who wish to save Carolina's face may, after the 14-5 drubbing of last Saturday, even admit that Duke has a good team. Personally, we'd like to see a few pitcher-slaughtering sluggers like Kistler on the Tar Heel lineup. This lusty bat-slinger didn't do so well in the Villanova game—ten bases on five trips to the plate. A single, a double, a triple and a homer. We wonder who keeps this man in bats—one poor little stick couldn't possibly stand all that punishment.

As a personal favor will somebody please drop a copy of the Literary Digest for June 15, 1929, around at the Tar Heel office? We plead a lamentable lack of knowledge on the subject of lacrosse and our sudorific efforts at a typewriter leave us scant energy for journeying over to the library files and effecting an investigation, as per Mr. Booker's suggestion.

While confessing complete ignorance on the theories and practice of the game, we admit to having been a spectator at one or two lacrosse contests and the play possesses somewhat of a thrill even to the uninitiated—enough that we'd like to see it added to the catalog of athletic events on the campus. The name lacrosse implies a traditional prestige surpassed only by that of polo. Georgia and Maryland are, apparently, the only institutions in the south which have taken up lacrosse with any degree of enthusiasm. As to its being a paying proposition from the point of view of the University athletic association, that is problematical. But as an intramural and general campus sport it has its appeal.

For the benefit of some of those out-of-state undergraduates who have been misinformed, we'd like to assert—upon ample authority—that Pika is not a southern dialectical corruption of the word piker.

FROSH TRACKMEN NOSE OUT DUKE BLUE IMPS 66-60

Cordle Features Meet With Close Victory Over Bray in Two-Mile.

The Tar Baby trackmen invaded Durham Tuesday afternoon to hand the Duke Blue Imps a 66-60 licking in a meet full of close contests and thrilling finishes. Fulmer of Duke was the individual star of the day, taking first in three events and second in another to lead the high scorers with 18 points. Archie Davis was Carolina's high scorer, taking first in the shot and discus and second in the 120-yard high hurdles, scoring 13 points in all.

The best race of the day was the two-mile run, in which Cordle, diminutive Tar Baby, trailed closely upon Bray of Duke until the last straightaway was reached, and then unleashed a burst of speed which carried him home the winner by two yards in the fast time of 10:23.

Both the 100 and 220-yard dashes were closely contested, Fulmer beating out Drane in a driving finish both times.

In the one-mile run, Jensen, closely followed by Jones, covered the distance in 4 minutes 36 seconds, the fastest freshman mile time recorded in North Carolina this season.

freshman is said to have fired upon an indiscreet soph who was attempting to haze him. We hear also, from less reliable sources than the Daily Tar Heel, that this ungrateful act of the freshman roused the ire of the sophomore, and the latter proceeded to pluck the bullet from his ribs, fling it into the teeth of the bloodthirsty freshman and continue with his hazing in earnest.

Pick Competent Timers

With indications for a number of record-breaking performances at the state track meet in Greensboro Saturday afternoon, officials have taken precautions to secure the most competent staff of officials possible to time the flying athletes. Dr. Hesler of the University of Tennessee, who will be the timer, has served in a similar capacity for such important meets as the Georgia Tech relays and the Southern Conference meet. J. V. Mulligan of Washington, D. C., who will be starter, has filled that job at the Penn relays, the Southern Conference indoor games and at many important meets.

FORFEITS

Sigma Delta forfeited to A. T. O. in a scheduled game yesterday afternoon. This gives A. T. O. three wins and no defeats.

Delta Sigma Phi forfeited to Kappa Sigma yesterday afternoon in a scheduled game.

STUDENTS BUILD CODE SET FOR FORTY CENTS

For the small sum of 40 cents, which was divided between the two of them, E. L. Lowery and M. Gippin have rigged up a pair of wireless sets with which to signal from the fourth floor of Ruffin to the corresponding floor of Mangum. Sending and receiving sometimes far into the night, the two students have, since installing the apparatus Friday night, practically learned the international Morse code. An arrangement of mirrors has been designed to simplify the process of observing the sender's light bulb.

TAR HEEL TRACK SUPREMACY MAY PASS SATURDAY

Finest State Track Program Will Be Offered in Greensboro on Saturday.

Can the University trackmen continue their unbroken eight-year rulership over North Carolina track?

That question will be answered at the annual North Carolina college conference field and track championships at Greensboro Saturday afternoon and the answer promises to provide a mighty interesting track program for the Epicurean sports fan.

Coach Bob Fetzer took over the track reins at Carolina back in 1921, and in 1922 the Tar Heels started knocking down state titles. A great line of distance stars—Elliott, Pritchett, Henderson and the rest—led the point-parade, and last year the University's string of straight state titles mounted to eight.

The 1930 team to defend that record at Greensboro Saturday may be fighting the odds. The great array of distance aces is gone. Captain Nims, University record-holder for the quarter-mile, and Creighton Wrenn, two-miler, are definitely out with injuries. Bill Perry and Ty Reid, the Tar Heels' best high hurdlers, may be out.

Can the Tar Heels beat those odds? The question is hard to answer. On paper, even without

THE WORDS on the back of the package still mean what they say. No "extras," which do not contribute to the quality of the smoke, are included in the price of Camels. Just the utmost smoke-enjoyment that modern science can put into a cigarette.

That statement was on the first package of Camels manufactured and has been on every one of the billions of Camel packages sold from that day to this. When it was first written, other cigarette manufacturers were giving away flags, pictures of actresses, pictures of ball players—almost anything that would make the smoker think he was getting something extra for his money. The makers of Camels believed the smoker wanted a cigarette sold strictly on its merits, with all of its cost put into quality—a cigarette made of such excellent tobaccos—so perfectly blended—so mellow—so fragrant—that it would win its own way.

The vast popularity of Camels is a tribute to that four-square policy.
