

HEAD OF PHYSICS DIVISION RETURNS

Dr. Stuhlman Attends Meetings Of Physical Society and Research Council.

Dr. Otto Stuhlman, chairman of the physics department, returned from Washington Monday morning where he attended meetings of the American Physical Society and the National Research Council, April 25, 26 and 27.

At the meeting of the American Physical Society on Friday and Saturday, Dr. Stuhlman represented the physics department of the University. Two papers, the results of work done by Dr. Stuhlman and M. D. Whitaker, M. L. Braune and O. P. Hart, were read.

The program of the meeting of the American Physical Society, held in the Bureau of Standards, was a departure from the usual in that the type of papers read was divided into two phases. These phases consist of papers dealing with theories and of papers of a practical scientific type. Of the 106 papers read, 21 were of the latter type. The titles of the reports varied between such imposing subjects as a new explanation of the Michaelson-Morley-Miller Relativity experiment to such theoretical subjects as the life of the metastable mecurical atom in which durations of time are measured to less than one-hundredth of a millionth of a second.

Sunday morning Dr. Stuhlman represented the American Physical Society in the annual meeting of the American Research Council.

COLLEGE ALUMNI PLAN CHRISTIAN MEETINGS SOON

A group of about 60 young alumni, representing 15 different colleges and universities, who are now numbered among Charlotte's roll of business and professional men, gathered at the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. for a luncheon yesterday given them by the southern regional office of the student Y. M. C. A.

The luncheon was sponsored by a local committee composed of Francis Clarkson of Carolina, chairman, Morgan B. Speir, Jr., of Davidson, Lucian J. Dale of State, J. Spencer Bell of Duke and John R. Purser, Jr., of Carolina. These men furnished lists of the other alumni from their respective schools who are now working in Charlotte and who have graduated since the war. The printed invitation sent to the list thus compiled explains in brief the purpose of the meeting.

The invitation read as follows: "You are cordially invited to attend a luncheon at the Charlotte Y. M. C. A. building on Tuesday, April 29, at 1 o'clock, to discuss the present moral, social and religious situation among North Carolina college men and school boys with particular reference to the work of the student Christian Association movement. Addresses will be delivered by Bishop Penick of Charlotte and Harry F. Comer of the University of North Carolina. After the addresses opportunity will be given for questions and discussion."

A similar meeting is now being set up with the several groups of college alumni in Durham for a luncheon at the Washington Duke hotel next Wednesday, May 7. Victor Young, a prominent member of Carolina's younger sons in Durham, will be chairman of the meeting.

Y Building Filling Important Place In Student Life Here

ing, and yelling for drinks. There are a few boys who hang around in front of the candy counter waiting to be served, and many more boys who stand in front of the counter at the rear of the room purchasing various things or who wait patiently for one of the several clerks, who dash around behind the counters to get the articles called for.

The Y Building Late at Night

The Y building at night is quite a contrast from the Y building during chapel period in the mornings. No one stands around on the outside. The doorway is never crowded, and one enters without being pushed into the hall as in the morning.

The hall is deserted and the desk on the left stands like a lone sentinel. Probably it is quieter in there than in one's own room when one has some "heavy" studying to do. The right reading room is rarely deserted early at night. Two boys sit around the checker tables in deep scientific study. They are always so interested in their games that they do not notice anyone. They play on as if the building is a castle and they themselves kings.

The place even becomes uncomfortably quiet. One always has a strange feeling—a feeling that the building is going to fall in on you or that something similar is going to happen.

to and from automobiles. Plans are also under way for having some sort of cooling device which will add greatly to the enjoyment of the dances.

For further preparation, the Tin Can is to be very attractively decorated and in this way the customary bareness of the building will be covered. Devices are also being installed which will remedy the acoustics of the building such that the music will be unmarred.

The first dance of the finals is to be Tuesday night, June 10, and will last from 9 until 1. Three more dances will be given Wednesday: a morning dance from 11:30 to 1:30, one in the afternoon from 4 to 6, and a night dance from 9 until 1. On Thursday, June 12, the dance program will consist of a morning dance at the usual time and the final dance of the set to be given that night from 9 to 2. It has been planned that an afternoon dance be given by some of the local fraternities, and for that reason no afternoon dance has been scheduled by the German Club.

These dances, which will be the last ones before the beginning of the regular summer school dances, will be attended by persons from all over the state, and the German Club is making preparations for an unusually large crowd. Without an exception these commencement dances this year can be classed as the biggest feature of the entire state's dance season.

Freshmen will be permitted to attend these dances, which are the first that this class has been allowed to attend. It is at this time of the year that numerous freshmen join the German Club, and all of those that are planning to make application for membership will watch the Tar Heel for further announcements which will be made concerning membership.

Bob House Will Return To Stage

cal field which has been so delightfully stimulated by such amateur groups as the Carolina Playmakers. If I may venture to speak for the management and professional personnel of this company, they consider themselves in no way competing with organizations on an amateur plane. They feel with modesty, but with a sense of pride in their long years of professional training, that the slightly heightened tone of professionalism, which they thus bring to the support of the theatre, may be conducive to the furtherance of art in this district. Certainly they extend the hand of fellowship to their confreres in the amateur field. It is the proud boast of this company that their productions have never brought the blush of shame to the most modest cheek and certainly our productions invite inspection by the most fastidious. It is something with this high and most moral resolution that I announce my return to the professional stage. I should like to add that I am open to engagement in addition to my major work for inter-act-musical specialties of pleasing charm. My wife, however, forces me to state that a suitable place for rehearsals will have to be furnished other than my Chapel Hill home.
