Enjoyable Program Planned For Affair In Carolina Inn
Wednesday.

The law school association of the University will give their annual banquet Wednesday night at the Carolina Inn. The affair will be a large one and over 100 guests are expected.

Ed Scheidt will be toastmaster, while the principal speaker of the evening will be President Harry W. Chase. All five judges of the North Carolina Supreme Court have been invited and are expected to attend.

A complete program of songs, speeches, poems, and other attractions have been planned, and the affair promises to be an enjoyable one.

The entertainment committee which planned the banquet is composed of the following men: Professor M. S. Breckenridge, Waddell Gholson, Peyton Abbott, J. H. Chadbourne, Wex Malone, Tom Gold and Moore Bryson.

The banquet which was held last spring was quite a success. It is reported as having been the best in the history of the association. Professor M. T. Van Hecke was toastmaster last year and Judge Brogden, speaker.

At the banquet a picture of the third year law class will be presented to the law school association.

CHASE ADDRESSES FRESHMAN CLASS FOR FINAL TIME

Enjoins Men of '33 To Complete Education At Any Cost.

After an introduction by Dean Bradshaw praising him for his twenty years of faithful and efficient service to the University, President Chase in his last message to the freshman class issued a challenge to them not to let financial difficulties deprive them of a college education.

The speaker called attention to the fact that a college education is becoming a normal experience and that over one million persons are attending colleges in the United States, making more than one percent of the entire population. He further said that prior to the Civil War and for some time after, that a college education belonged only to the wealthy and privileged and that there are more men in college now than there were in high school then.

College Trains for Life
Dr. Chase further stated that he regarded figures on the increase in financial returns for college men of very little value because financial gains were not the big object in obtaining a college education. He told the freshmen that they were going to appreciate life in a fuller sense after coming to college.

He compared the benefits of a college education to a geometric ratio bringing immeasurable returns in the future and continued saying that each year meant more than the one preceding it in college.

In closing he stated that the University was now going through a period of severe economizing and that this fact should not cause a slack in pace. He said that no one should let these difficulties deprive him of his life investment—a college education. He closed by asking the class to work on and to continue their education and to go out and make their mark in North Carolina and the South. He congratulated them for being the most progressive freshman class ever to attend the University.

DI SENATE WILL HOLD IMPORTANT SESSION TONIGHT

An exceptionally interesting and important meeting of the Di Senate will be held tonight. President Rector will preside over the discussions on the bills which will be brought up. A new treasurer will be elected to succeed Pat Patterson who has held the office up to now. A lively discussion is expected over the bills to be brought up. The main topic of discussion will probably center about the resolution offered by Senator McKee: "Resolved, That the Di Senate go on record in favor of the confirmation of Justice Parker as associate justice of the United States supreme court." The Di seems to be very much interested in this subject and many heated discussions are expected.

Other bills to be discussed are "Resolved, That the state should support at its university those students possessed of unusual talent, but lacking the necessary funds," and "Resolved, That the governor of North Carolina be given the veto power."

The report of the banquet committee consisting of Senators Dungan, Dratler and Patterson will also be given tonight. According to preliminary plans, the Di will have a banquet at the Carolina Inn, probably the third week in May. This too will be of interest to all attending. Those who are absent from the meeting will be automatically dropped. The president of the Di urges all to attend and take part in the stimulating discussions.

CAFETERIA GOES OUT OF BUSINESS

Successful Management by Mrs.
Troutman Keeps Welcome In Open For Two Years.

The Welcome In cafeteria, next to the post office, closed its doors this morning to further business. This cafeteria, which has been under the management of Mrs. W. E. Troutman, has been operating for approximately the last two years.

Prior to the opening of the Welcome In cafeteria the building was occupied by numerous other cafeterias, all of which were forced to close up after operating for a month or more.

For a while the building was rented by a Greek cafe and cafeteria combined; but on account of business troubles, it soon closed its doors. Then just before the Welcome In cafeteria occupied the place, a cafeteria was operated there under the name of the Carolina cafeteria, which also closed up in a short while.

When Mrs. Troutman opened the new Welcome In cafeteria some two years ago, everyone thought that it would meet the same fate as all of the others. But by good business management and by serving a good menu, the Welcome In was able to continue much longer than any of its predecessors.

The announcement of its closure this morning came as a blow to the community. No plans have yet been made for a future opening.

HUNDRED PRIZES ARE AWARDED AT FLOWER EXHIBIT

One Thousand Entries Transform Tin Can Into Flower Garden.

With more than 1000 entries, 114 of which were awarded prizes, the annual Chapel Hill flower show, held in the Tin Can last week, was judged the best on record. The flower show is sponsored annually by the Woman's club of Chapel Hill and was this year directed by Mrs. H. R. Totten.

Complete to the last detail, the show transformed the drab appearance of the Tin Can into a veritable flower garden, with profuse colors and perfume coming from displays of all sorts of blossoms from roses, aquilegia, and iris to large collections of unnamed field flowers. Rock gardens with fountains, fish and sometimes a turtle; landscape with forests, drives and hill; and lawns with bird baths and shrubbery all added to the beauty of the show.

Prizes numbering 114 were awarded. These were made possible by merchants of Chapel Hill, Carrboro, Durham and Greensboro, together with several local citizens.

Among winners of prizes were Mrs. K. M. W. Tack, Mrs. G. W. Lay, Mrs. J. M. Lear, Mrs. Moody Durham, Mrs. H. R. Totten, Mrs. C. E. Preston, Mrs. H. D. Carter, Mrs. P. H. Quinlan, Mrs. T. E. Best.

POLICE OFFICERS IN EXCITING RACE

Model T Rum-Runners Almost Escape Local Law
Enforcers.

(By D. C. McDuffie)

Policemen Wright and Lloyd had a very exciting experience Saturday night. A report came to these officers that a 1925 model Ford roadster was coming through Chapel Hill loaded with liquor. The Chapel Hill policemen were too smart, however, to allow this fast model T Ford roadster to come through the town of Chapel Hill without some disturbance, so they waited for the vicious rum-runner to make his appearance.

The officers were soon convinced that the report was a very true one, because they soon heard the sound of a buzzing model T motor. The Chief and Officer Wright were in the force's model A Ford facing in the same direction the rum-runner was coming and prepared to make a fast "take-off." This dangerous rum-runner, unaware of the fact that two officers were waiting for him, came by driving very slowly, but as soon as he saw the two officers in blue he advanced his speed considerably.

Chief Lloyd and Officer Wright were off on the second. According to the report it was impossible for them to gain much speed on the fast model T Ford until they were almost within the city limits of Dur-

PRESIDENT CHASE WILL SPEAK AT HONOR CEREMONY

Scheduled For 8:30 At Methodist Church; Much Interest In Event.

The Order of the Golden Fleece will hold its annual tapping in the Methodist church at 8:30 o'clock tonight. President Harry Woodburn Chase will be the speaker. Professor Horace Williams will introduce Dr. Chase.

Hooded figures will stalk the aisles, in impressive ceremony, to pounce upon the select few who have been sufficiently outstanding in the different student activities to merit membership in the Fleece.

The usual wide interest is centering on tonight's tapping, naturally enough, since Golden Fleece is the second oldest collegiate honorary organization in the country, and since membership is generally considered the highest campus honor obtainable.

Speculation among students as to which of their number would be tapped has been rife for months. Prospects of student leaders have been common topics of discussion for weeks. The Daily Tar Heel put forth the list thought by staff members to have the best chances in the issue of April 25.

Tonight's tapping, when the black-robed argonauts roam the aisles, will bring the long period to an end, and from all indications there will be a record crowd present for the annually impressive ceremony.

President Chase's appearance tonight will be one of the last opportunities for the retiring head of the University to appear in an official capacity before the student body as a whole.
