

Battle Of The Carolinas To Take Place Today

Diamond Squads of North and South Carolina To Meet for First Time Since Spring Of 1926.

Meeting on the diamond for the first time since the spring of 1926, the Tar Heels take on the Gamecocks of South Carolina here this afternoon at 4 o'clock on Emerson field.

The last baseball tie-up of these two institutions from sister states resulted in a 3-2 victory for the Tar Heels, then under the tutorship of Coach Duke Duncan. Diamond relations were then suspended for three seasons and today's game revives an old rivalry of years' standing. Contests have been hot between the two Carolinas in every branch of sport for several decades and the present clash is expected to be no exception.

The Gamecocks are comparable to the Georgia nine, with whom Carolina was barely able to break even in a four-game series earlier in the season, in that they have on their lineup several men of football note, among them being Boineau.

Fans are hoping to see Marshall Rand back in his old place at second. "Casey" Jackson has been holding the second sack job with little difficulty while Rand has been out with injuries, but there is a greater need for him on first in order that Captain Jimmie Maus may be able to add a little strength to the outfield. Behind the bat, on first or in the garden, Maus is entirely at home, and his hefty heave with the bat insures him a regular position wherever he may be needed most.

Potter or Kushner will be used behind the bat, the former probably getting the call because of the edge he holds in batting power. Since Maus has been filling out his nine innings of field work at first or in the field, these two rookies have been having a hot race for the backstop position. Both of them handle the throws from the mound with consistent ease but have been a little weak on the hitting. Potter came through with a homer in the Wake Forest tilt last Saturday which, added to a single earlier in the game, raised his batting average considerably.

Luffy and Whitehead will assume their regular places at third and short, while the outfield posts are subject to conjecture. If Maus takes one of the garden positions the other two will be filled from a multitude of candidates, among whom are House, Davis, Sher, Blythe, Branch, Paxton, and one or two more.

Auburn Wright, one of the two veteran moundsmen left from last year, will probably do the hurling for the Tar Heels.

The Gamecock lineup was not available in time for publication.

Varsity Golfers Clash With Duke

Play at Hillandale Course Tomorrow; Take On State Saturday.

With the outcome of Carolina in the recent Southern Conference Intercollegiate Golf Tourney still fresh in mind the Tar Heels are considered to have a fine chance of capturing the title next year since Sam Perry, Harry Pritchett, Bill Duckwell, and Bill Legwen, the big guns of this last tournament, are graduating in June.

Thursday Carolina will meet Duke at Hillandale, Duke's home course. Although Carolina won the state championship handily, this match with Duke cannot be considered a snap, since the Tar Heels are combatting Duke on their home course. Duke is rumored to have a strong individual team and should give Carolina a rough time of it.

The Tar Heels will have State as their opponent this Saturday, Carolina being the Wolfpack's guests at the Carolina Country Club at Raleigh.

On Saturday, May 17, Carolina will embark on a trip to Charlottesville, Virginia to play Virginia at the Farlington Country Club, this match being one of the final athletic matches in which the Cavaliers and the Tar Heels will meet this year.

Lambda Chi Alpha Wins

Lambda Chi Alpha continued its winning habit yesterday afternoon by defeating Phi Delta Theta 7-4.

After the first two innings, which were played in the rain, both pitchers hurled good ball. Bob Bullock was on the mound for Lambda Chi Alpha and he worked a fine game, striking out eight men. "Brick" Grantham, the losing pitcher, was given poor support.

The mainspring of the Lambda Chi Alpha attack was Stanley, who laced out two home runs.

Intercollegiate Outboard Racing Gains In Favor

J. E. Wilkinson Sets New Record of 3 Hours, 26 Minutes, And 3 Seconds for 138 Mile Marathon.

(By Les Gage, Sports Ed., College Humor)

College students who have organized this spring for competition with outboard motor boats are not only interested in the short races but are already beginning to give some thought to the distance marathons. In the annual Albany to New York Marathon for outboards held on the Hudson recently a new high speed record of 3 hours, 26 minutes was established by J. E. Wilkinson, driving a 32 horse powered boat.

Wilkinson swept into the lead in the last two miles of the 138 mile grind by sensational driving after a disastrous start. Soon after the starter's gun popped, Wilkinson was stalled due to water having gotten into his gasoline.

Working frantically for a full half hour while the field of 111 other racers swept by, he finally started against the discouraging odds and piloted his way to victory. His time for the course comes within two minutes of equalling the running time of the century between Albany and New York.

Wilkinson, driving a 32 sea horse powered boat and Frank James who came in second with a 24 sea horse powered boat, exceeded the former record with motors of smaller displacement than many of the others entered.

Although intercollegiate outboard racing this year will be confined to the short events, it is highly probable that within the next year or two several sensational marathons will be planned for these student drivers.

These nominees are to be voted on at a banquet which is to be given May 19. A committee was appointed to take charge of the plans for the banquet, and a big closing "get together" is being planned. All cabinet members are requested to watch for further announcements.
