Several discussions on various phases of student life will be held during the afternoon, and will be led by student body presidents from several of the larger institutions. ROTARIANS ELECT COBB PRESIDENT

At the weekly meeting of the local Rotary club held Wednesday night at the Carolina Inn at 6:30 the following officers for next year were elected; Collier Cobb, Jr., president; R. D. W. Connor, vice-president; C. E. Rozzelle, secretary; Fred O. Bowan, sergeant-at-arms. The new board of directors that was also elected at this meeting are: Y. Z. Cannon, John Foushee, Milton Hogan, John McAuley, and Bruce Strowd.

Besides the election of officers, "Sandy" Graham of Hillsboro, and an alumnus of the University addressed the club on the subject of "Prison Reform."

Dr. Abernathy retired at the Wednesday meeting as president of the club, after two years of service.

New President To Be Chosen At Trustees' Meeting Early In June

The new President of the University will probably be elected at the Commencement meeting of the trustees here in Chapel Hill next month.

This is what the newspaper correspondents learned day before yesterday in Raleigh after a meeting of the trustees' committee which had been charged with the duty of recommending to the board men suitable for the position.

Three members of the committee (A. H. Graham, chairman, Leslie Weil, and Charles Whedbee) were present; Judge John J. Parker and Stahl Linn were not present.

The uncertainty that still envelops the affair is illustrated by the remark which Mr. Graham made to one of the correspondents. "I do not know how I should vote myself if I had to vote today," he said.

The committee was not instructed to recommend any one particular man, but to present the names of several whom it regarded as capable. It is said that as many as 15 or 20 names may be laid before the trustees.

It is surprising how little discussion about the presidency there has been in Chapel Hill in the last few weeks. The community was all excited about it immediately after President Chase's resignation was announced; then the excitement seemed to burn itself out, and days on end have passed without any general discussion of the presidency. R. D. W. Connor is still talked of in Chapel Hill as the member of the faculty most likely to be chosen. In fact, since the withdrawal of Frank Graham, no other faculty member but Mr. Connor appears to be seriously considered. Precedence points toward the selection of a man already here. Since the re-opening of the University in 1875 every president has been chosen from among the faculty.

Another person who has been frequently suggested for the presidency is Ivey F. Lewis of the University of Virginia, who was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1902. And another is Edwin Greenlaw of Johns Hopkins, formerly dean of the graduate school here.

Now and then one hears the proposal that, instead of electing a president this year, the trustees make a temporary appointment of a chairman of the faculty. The news from the meeting in Raleigh, however, indicates that this course will not be followed.

UNIVERSITY MEN SPEAK AT DUKE

Deliver Papers At Meeting Of State Branch Of Academy Of Science.

Presenting many different types of papers, various departments of the University are well represented at the 29th annual meeting of the North Carolina section of the Academy of Science at Duke University yesterday and today.

At the mathematics section to be held this morning at 11 o'clock, five out of the six papers to be read were written by members of the local mathematics department. The authors of these papers are J. W. Lasley, Ernest L. Mackie, L. E. Bush, A. S. Winsor, and Edward T. Browne.

The physics department will be uniquely represented in its proper section in the fact that every member of the staff who has been attached to the department for more than a year will have a paper read at the meeting. Among the authors of these papers are Otto Stuhlman, head of the department, and M. D. Whitaker, O. P. Hart, M. G. Braun and P. E. Shearin.

Practically all of the papers in the chemistry section of the Academy were products of the local department of chemistry.

The departments of geology and botany are also represented by several papers. Among those contributing are Collier Cobb, head of the geology department; W. C. Coker, head of the botany department; and W. F. Prouty and J. N. Couch. J. B. Bullitt of the school of medicine and Carleton S. Preston of the school of education will also read papers.

DENNIS DANCERS HERE ON MAY 22

Colorful Dances of India, Java, Japan, China, and Cambodia Will Be Presented.

One of the most interesting announcements of the year is that Ruth St. Dennis and the Denishawn Dancers will appear here on the evening of Thursday, May 22, under the auspices of the Carolina Playmakers and the Chapel Hill branch of the American Association of University Women, the performance to be given in the stadium.

In a program of solo and ensemble dances, embracing only a few of the numbers which have been so popular in the past that they would be sorely missed if they were omitted, the world famous dancing star will exhibit her latest creations.

A notable novelty by Miss St. Dennis will be the "Bas-relief Figure from Angkor-Vat," the inspiration for which was gained when she visited the city abandoned centuries ago by the vanished race of Kymers, but which still ranks with the famous temples of India and the Pyramids of Egypt among the architectural wonders of the Eastern world.

Another new number will be the visualization of a Tagore poem, in the course of which Miss St. Dennis will speak the poet's exquisite verse. Colorful and spectacular dances of India, Java, Japan, China and Cambodia will be offered. For once the many local admirers of this great artist will have an opportunity to see a comprehensive list of her finest creations in a single program.

At one time Memorial hall was used as a gymnasium.

APPROPRIATIONS FOR UNIVERSITY CUT 20 PERCENT

Running Expenses Must Be Reduced $175,000; Tuition May Be Raised.

SALARY SCALE PRESERVED

For its running expenses next year the University is to have $175,000 less than the $875,000 appropriated by the last legislature. This is the 20 per cent. cut decreed by the budget commission for all state institutions.

After allowing for a contemplated decrease due to probably lower enrollment, and for the increase in expenses in the form of contractual obligations, the University will have a maintenance fund for next year (July 1, 1930, to June 30, 1931) smaller by $100,000 than the maintenance fund for this year.

Just how the deficiency is to be made up is not yet decided—the details are to be worked out—but the likelihood is that there will be savings in the non-instruction budget, an increase of $7.50 in the registration fees of every student, and an increase of $50 in the annual tuition fee of every student from outside of North Carolina. Thus it is hoped to provide for $50,000. The remaining $50,000 will have to be saved by reductions in the clerical and instruction personnel. Reductions in the instruction personnel may be brought about by not replacing teachers who have resigned and not providing substitutes for some of those who are on leave.

President Chase, Charles T. Woolen, Robert B. House and members of the executive committee of the board of trustees met at the Governor's office in Raleigh Wednesday. The Governor told them that the cut in the budget was necessitated by a deficit in the state's revenues, and he discussed with them the nature of the savings that might be effected.

The effort will be made—and the University administration thinks it will be successful—not to make any reduction in the established scale of salaries.

Phi Beta Kappa To Conduct Initiation

The regular spring initiation ceremonies of the Phi Beta Kappa scholastic fraternity will be held Thursday night, May 15. The interesting program will feature an address by Professor Frank P. Graham in Gerrard hall at 8 o'clock. All old and new Phi Beta Kappa members are requested to hear Professor Graham. The general public is also cordially invited.

Following this address at Gerrard hall, the Phi Beta Kappa members will conduct a private initiation for the new members of the organization. Refreshments will be served at this time.

DEBATING TEAM VISITS SENATE ON RETURN TRIP

The debating team from the University of North Carolina composed of J. C. Williams, G. P. Carr, J. A. Wilkinson and J. M. Baley heard a real debate on their return trip from Boston. They stopped in Washington, D. C. long enough to hear the debate in the United States Senate prior to the vote rejecting the nomination of Judge John J. Parker for the Supreme Court Bench.

Prof. Frank Graham

Professor Frank Graham of the department of history will address the North Carolina Federation of Students this morning in Gerrard hall on "Campus and Commonwealth."

THREE RELIGIONS TO BE DISCUSSED TUESDAY NIGHT

A Jew, A Protestant, and A Catholic Will Lead Symposium In Gerrard Hall Under Auspices of Y. M. C. A.

A Jew, a Catholic and a Protestant, speaking respectively for 20 minutes each on the fundamental tenets of their faiths, will lead a symposium on religion next Tuesday evening, May 13, in Gerrard hall at 7:30 o'clock. A special committee of nine students working under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. is bringing the three speakers to the campus for this purpose.

Rabbi Nathan Krass of New York City will present the fundamentals of the Jewish faith; Hon. R. D. Douglas of Greensboro, father of Virginia Douglas, a junior in the University, will present the fundamentals of the Catholic faith; and Dean Elbert Russell of Duke University school of religion will present the fundamentals of the Protestant faith. These three speakers are asked to confine their presentation to a maximum of 25 minutes, so that the speaking will be over in an hour to leave time for questions and discussion following.

This symposium is intended to awaken wider interest in religion in general and to illustrate the relationships and differences between these three dominant faiths of American people. To point out the place religion holds in the experience of our people and its part in the development of western civilization; especially is it designed to enrich the spirit and attitude of tolerance between differing religious groups and to increase the frequency of cooperation between them; to bring more knowledge of our own as well as the other fellow's religion and a consequent deeper appreciation of ours and that of all others.

The public is invited to this meeting, and asked to bring any questions on religion which they would like to ask these three speakers. Bring these questions written out so as to have them read from the platform. If questions arise during the speaking which you would like to ask, write them down and have them ready to turn in to the chairman.

Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra To Play At Methodist Church In Final Student Entertainment Program.

HERRMANN IS DIRECTOR

The Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra, under the direction of Walter Herrmann, will appear here tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Methodist church under the auspices of the student entertainment committee. This will be the final presentation of the year on the student entertainment program.

The program follows:

I. Franz Schubert: Octette in F major, Op. 166 (Adagio—Allegro; Andante un poco mosso; Scherzo: Allegro vivace; Finale: Andante molto—allegro).

II. Richard Wagner: A Siegfried Idyll.
Intermission.

III. Claude Debussy: Petite Suite (a.—En Bateau; b.—Cor-tege; c.—Minuet; d.—Ballet).

IV. Gabriel Pierné: Ballet de Cour—four antique Airs and Dances (Rigaudon; Passepied; Passa Mezzo; Pavane and Saltarello).

Mr. Herrmann, the conductor, is well known to the music public as a distinguished concert cellist, and is one of the outstanding men of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra. He is a member of the faculty of the Cincinnati College of Music and is a prominent figure in the National High School Orchestra Camp at Interlocken, Mich.

The Cincinnati Chamber Orchestra is a concert offering of the first rank, giving programs of outstanding value and beauty. It has been highly praised by critics and the music-loving public wherever it has appeared.

The student entertainment committee has been very fortunate in securing this well-known orchestra for a concert which will, probably, be the outstanding feature on the spring program of entertainment.

It will be recalled that the world-famous Fionzali Quartet, which has now disbanded, was exceedingly popular in its appearance here last year.

COUNCIL ELECTS WARD PRESIDENT

As a result of the elections held Thursday night Jack Ward, Kappa Alpha, was elected president of the interfraternity council. Tommy Hunter, Sigma Chi, was elected secretary and treasurer for the coming year.

Under the leadership of Bullock the council has been actively engaged in many phases of fraternity endeavor during the past school session. The organization has done much toward regulating and maintaining fair and amiable relations between the numerous fraternities on the campus.

Graduate Club Dance

The Graduate Club of the University will entertain with a dance for the members tonight in the graduate building from 9 until 12 o'clock. The scene of the dance has been extensively decorated for the occasion. Bill Stringfellow's orchestra will furnish the music.
