

PLANS PROGRESS FOR LOMBARDO'S ARRIVAL JUNE 10

Six Fraternities Plan House Parties And Dinners For Revy Of Girls Expected.

EXCITEMENT IS EVIDENCED

(By Everard B. Shemwell)

With the securing of Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians to play for the final dances, the German Club of the University is planning a series of festivities that have never been surpassed in the south.

A number of fraternities on the Hill are to give houseparties, and an unusually large number of girls have been invited from all sections of the country. All available space at various hotels and rooming houses has been reserved for weeks, and the members of fraternities which are giving house parties are planning to give up their houses for their girls, and are now looking around for a place to stay themselves. Among the fraternities that will entertain with house parties are: Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, and Pi Kappa Phi.

There will be six dances: three formal dances the nights of June 10, 11, and 12. Three dances will be held Wednesday, June 11, one in the morning from 11:30 until 1:30, a tea dance from 4:30 until 6:30, and the formal dance at night from 9:30 until 1. A dance will also be held Thursday morning from eleven-thirty until one-thirty.

The executive committee of the German Club which is sponsoring this gala event is composed of the following: Gordon Race, president; Will Yarborough, secretary and treasurer; Gordon Gray, George Saunders, John Bulluck, Travis Brown, Mayne Albright, Bill Dunn, and Julian Palmore.

Commencement Marshals, under the leadership of Chief Woodard, will lead the final figure. Other marshals are: Ed Hamer, George Thompson, Claude Farrell, Ike Manning, Billy Lindsay, Chauncey Royster, and Paul Gilbert.

The Commencement Ball managers are: Leonard Hole, Chief, with Miss Maurine Forester; Tom Hunter with Miss Dorothy Klutz; Jack Calhoun with Miss Catherine Fee; Archie Allen with Miss Annette Tucker; William Adams with Miss Henrietta Whisnant; Charles Price with Miss Dora Litale; Philip Jackson with Miss Mary Neal Jenkins; and Allen Boren with Miss Elizabeth Bowie.

The Tin Can, where the dances will be held, is being extensively decorated for the occasion by Frazier Glenn and Baron Holmes. It will be divided into sections, one large section for dancing, another to be used as a smoking room, and still another for various things.

In addition to the regular German Club dances there will be various other entertainments in the form of banquets, buffet suppers, teas, and swimming parties.

Girls invited from all sections of the south, and especially the state, and a large number of alumni and visitors will swell the population of Chapel Hill to a size seldom ever reached before.

The successful engagement of Guy Lombardo for the occasion

Hibbard Speaks To Seniors Tonight

Dean Addison Hibbard will be the last speaker on the Senior Week program tonight at 7:15. This talk closes an unusually successful period during which members of the class of 1930 have participated in various activities and forms of entertainment.

SUMMER SESSION OPENS JUNE 12

Many Courses Are Offered For Large Attendance That Is Expected.

Many preparations are being made for the University summer school, which will open here on June 12, and continue through August 29. There will be two terms of six weeks each. The first will close Tuesday, July 22 and the second will begin on July 23 and end Friday, August 29.

All students should be present to register Thursday, June 12, as classes will begin Friday morning at 8 o'clock. Extra fees will be charged for late registration and no one can register for credit courses after 5 o'clock Monday, June 17, except by action of the administrative board. Registration for summer school will be limited to those applicants who can qualify for admission under one of the following provisions.

1. Those who can satisfy the requirements for admission as given in the annual catalogue.

2. Teachers holding regular state certificates.

3. Applicants for state certificates who have graduated from schools accredited by the state department of education.

4. Special students who are neither candidates for degrees nor applicants for state teachers' certificates may be admitted under the University's general regulations covering such cases. They must be 21 years of age or over.

The University summer school is widely known and students attend from far and near. Courses will be offered for the following professions: primary grade teachers, grammar grade teachers, high school teachers, principals, teachers of special subjects, county and city superintendents and supervisors, college and university students who wish to earn extra credits towards their degrees, graduate students, and others wishing to pursue professional and cultural courses leading to advanced degrees.

The summer school is organized into a college division, a graduate division and a division of elementary education.

Firms Are Hosts To Departing Seniors

The Carolina Confectionery and Pritchard-Lloyd, Inc., in appreciation of the patronage of the members of the senior class for the last four years, are giving fountain drinks free to members of the class of 1930 wearing their regalia. The Carolina Confectionery was host yesterday, while Pritchard-Lloyd assumes the role for today. By courtesy of the Carolina theatre, members of the senior class were guests at a midnight show last night entitled "The Bad One," starring Dolores del Rio and Edmund Lowe.

LAST MAGAZINE OUT TOMORROW

Editor Williams Selects Several Short Stories; Fewer Book Reviews.

The last issue of the Carolina Magazine for the current collegiate year, and the second issue under the present editorial control, will appear Saturday morning with the concluding issue of the Daily Tar Heel. According to Editor Williams, the feature article has been written by Dr. E. C. Metzenthin of the department of Germanic languages. In addition to students who have been regular contributors to the magazine throughout the year, the issue Saturday will carry material submitted by new contributors.

In point of make-up, Saturday's edition will be noticeably different from previous issues. The content of the concluding number has been selected from a great mass of material which has been submitted of late. There will be fewer book reviews and more stories than usual. Editor Williams has attempted to get the cream of the short stories and essays which have been written in the advanced writing courses of the English department since the last number of the magazine appeared.

A tentative staff organization will also be printed in Saturday's edition. This organization is, however, merely tentative and is subject to change—both addition and subtraction—by the editor.

LIBRARY ISSUES LAST BOOK CALL

Having worn out its collective lungs singing "Where is my wandering book tonight?" library staff members think that it and a few of its prodigal brothers may find their way home via the "conscience barrel," which the Library will place inside the main entrance next week for the receipt of "freewill offerings."

When asked if he could get hold of a barrel by next Monday, Clark, janitor and general factotum of the Library, reckoned he could. "But what kind of a barrel?" Do it have to hold water?"

"No," was the reply, "not water but books—books that have run off and haven't trickled back."

The excuses that might be offered for their being where they are might not hold water, but the barrel is not meant to hold excuses.

The barrel will be produced. A fatted calf will not be barbecued in honor of the returning books. But many students will have a chance to relieve their consciences and clear themselves with the library—and no questions asked.

WARDLAW PLANS TO TOUR EUROPE WITH NEW BAND

The Blanks Travel Bureau of Charlotte is managing a tour in connection with this orchestra trip, which will cover five countries—France, Germany, Holland, Belgium and Switzerland—and include the Passion Play, the cruise down the Rhine and a tour of the Swiss lakes. This group will sail with the orchestra August 2, on the Volendam, and returning, arrive at New York September 2.

OFFICERS CHOSEN AT BAND MEETING

Plans Laid For Coming Season; Service Awards Presented.

The final business meeting of the University band was held last Wednesday night for the purpose of electing officers and presenting awards. It was the belief of the group that this past year has been one of the most successful in some time.

During the past year uniforms were provided for a large number despite the fact that general conditions made the financial status of the organization very difficult.

The incoming officers announced that it would be their aim next year to expand more along the line of concert work than was done this past year. This aim was strongly endorsed by members of the organization.

Although there is an urgent need for new instruments the organization is looking forward to a very successful season next year, according to the officers.

The officers chosen for next year are H. W. Jones, president; Bill Abernethy, vice-president; H. A. Brooks, secretary; John W. Clinard, manager; and C. H. White, Jr., student director. The retiring officers were J. H. Brunjes, president; P. R. Patton, manager; and J. W. Clinard, secretary.

Awards were made to 11 men who have completed three years of service with the band, under certain restrictions as to musicianship and general scholarship. Men receiving medals this year were: E. B. Aycock, L. B. Skeen, H. A. Brooks, P. R. Patton, R. C. Whitaker, H. W. Jones, W. C. Thompson, A. R. Monroe, F. J. Householder, Jr., W. A. Stringfellow, R. I. Wall and W. A. Biggs.

SWAIN TO CLOSE SUPPER JUNE 5

Reopens June 11 For Summer Session; Ends Successful Season.

Swain hall will close for the term with the evening meal on Thursday, June 5, according to an announcement made yesterday morning by J. O. Harmon, manager of the student dining hall. It will reopen for the first session of summer school with supper on June 5.

Although it closes what is thought to be the most hectic year in the boarding business within the last ten years, Swain hall has held its own in popularity with the students. The number of boarders this year has equaled the average number for the past three of four years, in spite of the fact that a number of students have dropped out of school for financial reasons.

In his announcement yesterday Mr. Harmon took the opportunity of thanking the students for the patronage and cooperation they have shown the University dining hall.

Included in the plans for summer school is the alumni luncheon, which will be held at Swain hall June 9. A number of self-help students who will work during the first session of summer school will remain over to take care of the luncheon. Other employment will be found for them during the interval from June 5 to 11.

Swain hall will reopen for the summer session with the evening meal of June 11.

Y.M.C.A. Wool Drive Will Be Continued

The final drive for woolen material for Y. M. C. A. rugs will not close this week as stated yesterday, but will continue until the end of the quarter. When the students go to pack up to go home next week they will come across old clothes that are practically useless and that are in their way. If these students will please leave the clothes at the dormitory stores, someone will be sent to gather them. Many of the seniors will perhaps have old blankets that will serve only to occupy space in their trunks; these will be greatly appreciated by the Y.

LAW PROFESSOR TO DO RESEARCH

M. S. Breckenridge Is Employed By The Interstate Commerce Commission.

A change in the faculty of the law school has been occasioned by the employment of Professor M. S. Breckenridge to investigate the legal aspects of holding companies in railway transportation on behalf of the interstate commerce committee of the house of representatives. This task will necessitate his presence in Washington during the summer.

The law school has secured in place of Professor Breckenridge, to teach the introductory course in procedure during the first term of summer school one of the outstanding teachers of that subject in this section of the country, Dean William Haywood Moreland of the law school of Washington and Lee University. Dean Moreland practiced for eight years in Norfolk, Va., and has been for the last seven years dean of the law school of Washington and Lee University.

The other visiting members of the law summer faculty are Judges W. J. Brogden and George W. Connor of the North Carolina supreme court, Professors Landis and McCurdy of Harvard, Professor Rundell of the University of Wisconsin, and Professor Dobie of the University of Virginia. Likewise, Professors Wettach and McCall of the regular faculty will give courses in their respective fields.

During the past several years the law school summer session has been attracting a large number of students from this school and from other states, who are interested in taking courses under men who are selected as the leading exponents of their subjects in the entire country. The unique opportunity of studying under distinguished appellate judges who bring directly from the bench their acquaintance with law and action.

The summer session also brings to Chapel Hill a goodly number of men who, by beginning the study of law in the summer and continuing their work winter and summer, can complete the regular law course for the degree in slightly more than two years instead of the usual three years.

Yackety Yacks

Yackety Yacks will be given out today at 1:30 p. m. All those who have not gotten theirs are asked to do so at once.

ALUMNI GROUP TO HOLD INDUCTION FOR GRADUATES

Special Junior Fee Is Offered For First Year Out Of The University.

ASSOCIATION IS HELPFUL

Arrangements have been completed for the induction of this year's graduating class into the University Alumni Association, it was announced yesterday by the senior class executive committee. In cooperation with J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary, and W. T. Shore, president of the General Alumni Association, the committee has worked out a plan by which a special junior fee of $1 is offered for membership in the association for the first year out of college.

A series of letters has been sent to the seniors through the central administrative office of the association here, explaining the functions performed by the association and the opportunities it offers to members. All alumni of the University, graduates and non-graduates, are eligible for membership. Regular annual fees are $3, including subscription to the Alumni Review, but through the senior class executive committee the junior fee of $1 has been arranged for those who become alumni this year.

Mr. Shore recently sent the following message to the senior class: "As president of the General Alumni Association, I want to extend a hearty welcome into the ranks of the alumni to the class of 1930. Also I want to urge upon the members of the class the opportunity that membership in the association offers.

"Membership in the Alumni Association, it seems to me, should be regarded as an opportunity rather than as an obligation. In our student days we have all seen that the fellow who puts more into his studies or extra-curricular activities, usually gets the most benefit therefrom. And it is that group of students who leave Chapel Hill with the greatest store of inspiration and pleasant memories. These things last through life, and alumni are always ready to agree that they grow more precious as time goes on.

"Similarly, the graduates who keep in close touch with the University, and who participate actively in its alumni life, are the men who get the most out of it themselves. Fortunately, also, they constitute the group who render major help in guaranteeing that the future of the University of North Carolina shall be more glorious even than its past.

"The one primary organization through which participation in the alumni life can be carried out most naturally is the General Alumni Association. Through its effective assistance can be rendered in every major activity of the University. Through it, also, can be maintained association with other alumni, both your classmates and others of your college.

"The General Alumni Association has a fine tradition. It is strong and useful in the present. It can be even more so. Put your shoulder to the wheel with us. Your reward will come in real satisfaction to yourself, and through adding your share to
