

HUDGINS SPEAKS BEFORE CHAPEL EXERCISES HERE

Compares Oxford with North Carolina; Deplores Local Lack of Interest in Debating.

By Everard B. Shemwell

In an address before the freshman class yesterday morning, Ed Hudgins, University graduate and Rhodes scholar at Oxford university last year, discussed the various phases of college life in England and contrasted it with life in the American universities.

Dean Francis F. Bradshaw introduced the speaker, and Hudgins first expressed his gratification at being back home. He then told of his impressions when he first reached England before entering Oxford. As he expressed it, he felt as if he were in a new world, and knew that it would take him some time to become accustomed to the change.

Hudgins brought out several differences in the educational systems of England and the United States. One remarkable difference, he stated, was the fact that the English undergraduate is much older and matured than the American student, and that the college freshmen at Oxford is fully as well prepared as the average junior in America.

Another difference, he brought out was the manner in which the class divisions were so much more tightly drawn than are our own. It seems that only the upper classes of young England receive higher education.

The methods of instructions are also very dissimilar to our own. There are no classes or class meetings of any description with the exception of occasional

GLEE CLUB WILL HOLD TRY-OUTS

Dyer Announces Office Hours, and Urges Conferences for New Year.

The glee club met Thursday afternoon at five o'clock in the music building with Mr. Dyer, who has charge of the club. A large number of old men were present, along with a much larger group of new men, made up mostly of freshmen. The work of the club for the coming school year was discussed, and one or two songs were sung just to acquaint the new men with the type of singing they are required to do in the club.

Mr. Dyer urges all men, who are out for the glee club, to drop in, at his office for not more than five minutes on either Mondays, Tuesdays or Thursdays at which time he wishes to learn something about each man and his ability to sing. The men are urged to come in groups, and not wait until the last day.

Dyer has office hours of: 8:30 a.m. to 10:30 a.m., and from 1:45 p.m. to 3:45 p.m. every day except Wednesdays.

There will be no try-outs this coming Monday on account of the old club men having to practice for an engagement, but there will be on Tuesdays and Thursday of next week at the above-mentioned hours.

An extensive fall tour is planned for the glee club, along with a winter and spring tour. These will be announced later in detail.

JANITOR LOSES ARM BY INJURY

Hospital officials at Durham found it necessary to amputate the arm of Nathan Jones, colored janitor, who was injured Wednesday at Bingham auditorium. Jones, now in the Durham hospital, is in a weakened condition as a result of the loss of a great deal of blood, but no fear has been expressed as to his future recovery.

Dr. Abernathy stated that the tourniquet applied by students immediately after the accident probably saved the life of the injured man.

Jones has a wife and four children, and the loss of his arm will be a serious handicap to him. However, it is thought that he will remain in the employ of the University.

Year Book Business Staff

There will be an important meeting of the Yackety Yack business staff this afternoon at 2:30. At this meeting the staff will be organized for the year. Old members must be present and any new men interested are invited to attend.

ROOM AT SWAIN AVAILABLE SOON

Places will be available around October 17 for those who were unable to obtain places in Swain hall last week, Obie Harmon head of the co-operative dining room, announced this morning.

Swain hall has been running with a capacity crowd of boarders since the week of registration, and a number applying for board were turned down. Manager Harmon said this morning that the places that would be available would be due to the fact that rushing season will be over about the end of the first month and a number of pledges would go to the fraternity dining rooms.

PUBLIX-SAENGER MANAGERS MEET

Officials of the Publix-Saenger Theatres of North Carolina are to meet in Chapel Hill today as guests of E. C. Smith, local director for the organization.

Among the prominent company officials in the village for the meeting are: F. W. Wilby of Greensboro, M. S. Hill of Greensboro, and Jack Barry of New York.

The semi-darkness in several of the buildings on the campus early yesterday evening was caused by a fuse being blown out in the transformer.

Pep Meeting

In an announcement before the freshman class yesterday, Ashby Penn, cheer leader, stated that a pep meeting would be held tonight at 7 o'clock in front of Phillips hall. Strud Nash, captain of the 1930 Tar Heels, will be present, as will other football stars, and Coach Chuck Collins will be invited to speak.

This is the first of a series of pep meetings which will be held at regular intervals during the fall quarter. A large attendance from all classes is expected. Tonight's meeting will be the first public appearance of this year's cheer leaders.

DEBATE COUNCIL CONSIDERS TILTS

Feature of Year Will Be Contest In Conjunction With British Students.

At the initial meeting of the debate council held last night, a most ambitious program was outlined for the year. The schedule for the fall quarter includes dual debates with N. C. C. W., State, and possibly West Virginia. The grand climax for the quarter will be the international meet with Cambridge, on December 15.

The schedule for the winter and spring quarters includes debates with Emory, Georgia Tech, Boston, George Washington, Maryland, and the University of the South. The secretary of the council was directed to make tentative plans for a trip to the University of Texas and to Northwestern University. One of these trips will be made in the early spring.

The debate with the British students is always well attended, and it is expected that it will be particularly popular this year. The subject will be "Resolved, that the emergence of woman from the home is a regrettable feature of modern life." The method of debate of this question will be a novelty to most students. One Carolinian and one Britisher will be on each side of the question.

The first meeting of the debate squad will be held next Thursday night, October 2 at 7:30 in Murphey hall. The debate squad meetings are officially known as Debating 1. The class meets weekly and carries one-half course credit. The debate council urges all those interested in forensics to attend the meeting next Thursday.

Sunday Night Recital

A recital will be given at the Chapel of the Cross next Sunday night at 8 o'clock by Miss Ruth Prohl, harpist, Howard Conrad, tenor, and I. O. Kennedy, organist.

Bull's Head Book Shop Rendezvous For Litterati And Book Lovers

The Bull's Head, run by A. J. Mahler, a graduate student who has just been appointed to take charge, is a tiny shop on the second floor of Murphey hall, where all sorts of new books can be bought. This place should become familiar to every freshman book-lover. Here one can find classics in 50-cent and $1 editions. The Bull's Head concentrates on literature and non-fiction; but popular modern fiction can also be bought. If you want a book that is not in they will gladly order it for you.

One does not have to buy. In fact, more often the students lounging around there don't buy. You can come in and browse among the rich souls confined there, smoking all the while. Several students are usually

SUSIE SHARP NEW LAW ASSISTANT

Miss Susie Sharp of Reidsville has recently been appointed secretary and research assistant of the University law school. She will also act as book review editor of the Law Review.

Miss Sharp obtained her LL. B. degree at the University in 1929.

DINNER TONIGHT FOR HI-Y FROSH

Ex-Hi-Y Members to Organize During Banquet at Methodist Church.

The organization dinner of the freshman friendship council will be held tonight at 6:30 in the social rooms in the basement of the Methodist church. All freshmen who were members of Hi-Y clubs last year and all interested in Y. M. C. A. work are expected to attend the banquet.

President Frank Graham and Dean Francis Bradshaw will be the chief speakers at the occasion. The Y quartet will probably render a few selections. Jimmie Kurfees, president of the council last year, will be the toastmaster for the dinner.

For the past week or more, a sheet has been kept in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. on which all desiring to attend the banquet were to place their names. Fifty men have already registered on this sheet and any new men, who have failed to register but, desire later to be present at the meeting may do so by coming early to the Methodist church social room, which is in the basement of the building.

The charge for the meal is to be fifty cents, which is to be paid at the beginning of the dinner.

Plans are being made for a much larger attendance than was the case at the banquet last year. At the meeting tonight, the officers for the council are to be selected.

Last year, with an attendance of around seventy-five, the officers who were elected were: Alex Webb, president; Bob Hubbard, vice-president; Alex Biggs, secretary; and Strat Donnel, treasurer. Due to an injury sustained, however, Webb was unable to return to school after Christmas. Jimmie Kurfees was chosen to take his place.

The freshman council, working this year without a special freshman secretary, is looking to a full year's program.

Theatre Host To A. T. O. Fraternity

The management of the Carolina theatre will entertain the A. T. O. fraternity Saturday night. All A. T. O.'s are requested to be at the theatre with their president promptly at 7 o'clock. The feature is a powerful drama, "The Eyes of the World," which is adapted from the story of the same name by Harold Bell Wright. Una Merkel and Nance O'Neill, two actresses from the legitimate stage, and John Holland are featured. Mr. E. C. Smith, the manager, announced that the theatre would be hosts alternately to a fraternity and then to a dormitory. Next week occupants of one of the dormitories will be the guests of the theatre.

Fraternity Notice

The following fraternity invitations were turned in yesterday without the name of the inviting fraternity:
Lynn Davis, 107F; E. M. Spruill, 209 Mangum; E. A. Minor, 205 Old East; John B. Brown, 205 Old East.
Fraternities inviting these freshmen should call at 205 South to be sure their invitations have been delivered.

NEW BUCCANEER OUT OCTOBER 15

"Have your funny-bones polished and in condition for the new Buccaneer," advises Kermit Wheary, editor of this local magazine. The first issue of the Buccaneer, which will be out October 15, will be the initial number, with a cover by Kenneth Whitsett of the Charlotte Engraving Company, and will mark the beginning of a banner year for the local comic. Many new features are being added, including a "scandal page" of personal and impersonal campus comment that is to be a permanent fixture in the magazine.

This year's bumper crop of talented artists is going to make it hard for Bobby Mason, art editor, to make the appointments in his staff after the first issue. The candidates are experienced men so the keen competition should bid for a great collection of cartoons and jokes. Just to make the competition keener, editor Wheary is offering a prize each month for the best editorial and art work. The nature of the prize has not been announced.

The Buccaneer is going to be printed at the Orange Print Shop, and anyone wishing to turn in material for the initial number is advised to have it in before September 30. The material can be left with Wheary or Mason at the office in the basement of the Alumni building between the hours of five and six any evening.

Y Directory Out Soon

The Y office announced yesterday that the Student Directory, published by the Y, will be ready for distribution in a few weeks. In view of the fact that there have been new registrations, alphabetizing must continue for awhile.

Grail Tickets

Grail tickets will go on sale at Patterson's and the Book X this morning. Tickets also available at rear of gym 8:30 Saturday night.

GRAHAM SPEAKS TO LAWYERS AT FIRST MEETING

President's Address Features Official Opening of Law School.

"I think that the greatest weakness of many lawyers is that sometimes in their eagerness to find far-fetched arguments in support of their cases they fail to master the facts in the case," President Frank P. Graham said in his address last night at exercises which marked the formal opening of the University law school. The exercises were held under the auspices of the Law school association.

President Graham told the law students to learn to master the details while they were in college as the weaknesses cultivated in studying would prove their greatest weaknesses in practice. He then pointed out how the lawyers occupy strategic places in the life of this state as leaders of great movements. In reviewing the history of this state one would find many instances when lawyers stepped from strategic places at critical times, he said. As an example he told of a lawyer who led the movement to defeat the Poole bill in the legislature.

"I know of no professions that offer a greater personal of public opportunity than law," he said.

J. A. Williams, president of the Law school association, presided. He introduced Dean McCormick, who welcomed the new men to the Law school. Then in order he called on Martin Kellogg, president of the third year class, Mac Gray, president of the second year class, and Arch Al-

RUSHING SEASON TO START TODAY

Freshmen To Begin Visiting Fraternity Houses This Afternoon and Tonight.

A twenty-day period of fraternity rushing will commence today when freshmen will be received at the various fraternity houses which they have been invited to visit. All freshmen who have received invitations to visit fraternities should visit every house from which they have received invitations between two o'clock this afternoon and midnight Saturday if they expect to join a fraternity at the University of North Carolina, according to the Interfraternity Council's ruling. After these two days in which the freshmen are to be received at the houses, the rushing season will begin in earnest, with each fraternity man trying to persuade the glib frosh that his particular lodge is the best on the Hill, in the state, or even in the country.

Some of the more important rules to which special attention should be paid by all those in any way affected by fraternities, freshmen and upperclassmen alike, are: A freshman must visit every lodge which has invited him within the next two days, or he will never be allowed to join a fraternity at Chapel Hill. No fraternity may make more than two dates with a freshman until after the closing of the formal visiting period on Saturday night. Freshmen should notice this as well as fraternity men. No fraternity men
