

GOBBLERS SHOW IMPROVEMENT IN LATE PRACTICES

V. P. I. Hopes to Turn Back Tar Heels With Fast Backs And Heavy Line.

Special to the Daily Tar Heel
Blacksburg, Va., Oct. 2.—An eleven which refuses to stop short of the goal line is the sort of team Orville Neal, head coach at V. P. I., is moulding to meet North Carolina's onslaught in Miles stadium here Saturday.

That is what the Gobblers are doing in scrimmage this week. Two backfield combinations are plugging away at a stubborn defensive eleven with a speed and dash which augurs a bitter struggle when the Tar Heels invade the stadium, where V. P. I. team has yet to meet defeat after four years of campaigning.

Half of the laurels now adorning the varsity brow belong to Neal's linemen, who are clearing the way for the ball toters not unlike the powerful forward array which burned up Old Dominion gridirons under Ben Cabbage back in 1922. The Gobbler forwards apparently have uncovered the final punch which too often was not there in the opening game with Roanoke College last week. The Gobblers are playing the sort of ball they played Saturday in midfield and not the brand they displayed at the goal line.

Coach Neal is running Gene Hite, big sophomore, in one guard and is alternating Harry Stark and Red Jones in the other. Earl Dyke, the lightest of the guard quartet at 180 pounds, also is showing lots of drive and is forging to the front in the battle for places in the Carolina encounter. All V. P. I. knows that the Gobbler forwards have the weight. The big question is, "Have they the speed of a first class line?" Neal believes that they have, for the usual lumbering tactics of the first game are not evident in Miles Stadium this week. The small army of Gobbler followers who watched the squad in action through four weeks of preseason toil and trouble are just as sure that the forwards will carry through in the big games. It is true that a trio of the seven are new to varsity ball but they pack an average weight of close to 190 pounds from tackle to tackle and better than 180 pounds from end to end.

For the first time V. P. I.'s eleven is confronted with a foe of superior deeds in the home stronghold. Small wonder that the linemen are charging and blocking in keeping with the best traditions or that Coach Neal is tuning up his pass defense and spurring his backs to a desperate charge at the Tar Heel ram parts!

FRESHMEN CLASH WITH MARYLAND

The freshman football team will begin its schedule when it meets the Maryland frosh on October 18. The contest ought to be a hard fought and an interesting one.

The U. N. C. squad is composed of about a hundred and fifty men and they seem to be rounding into fine shape. With such a large number out, Coaches Enright and Farris will have a hard time selecting those who will play.

Each man on the squad has been given a chance to show his ability, and several good players have come to the front. One of the reasons for the strength of the team is that there are a number of capable reserve men. The present selection is only temporary.

Carolina Team Leaves For First Conference Game With Va. Tech

Ernshaw's Hurling and Cochran's Hitting for Athletics Too Much for Cardinals.

The Tar Heels left last night at 8:15 to open their first foreign invasion of the season Saturday in Miles stadium at Blacksburg, Va. Before leaving, however, Collins gave his men another stiff workout. The third team scrimmaged against the strong freshman outfit, while the first and second teams drilled at the West and East ends of the stadium respectively.

The frosh looked very good against the third team. The work of Weisner and Hackney in the backfield and Gus McIver in the line stood out. Norman Hackney is the brother of Bunn and Rube Hackney, both former Carolina athletic stars. Jimmy Moore showed up well. He made several long gains and threw a lot of pretty passes.

Archie Davis was at left end on the varsity line. Ellis Fysal was back at his old post, left guard, with McIver at the other guard position. The remainder of the positions were unchanged. Davis probably will start at left end as Nelson is in the infirmary. There is a possibility that he will leave today. Bob Blackwood, veteran guard, was left behind because of a bad leg. The rest of the squad is in fine shape for the Gobblers.

The squad will have a light workout at Roanoke, Va., this afternoon. They will spend the night there and go to Blacksburg tomorrow morning. The following men made the trip: Johnson, Tabb, Davis, Parsley, Brown, Bridgers, and Nichols, ends; Thompson, Hodges, Underwood and McDade, tackles; McIver, Crew, Kerr, Fysal, Newcombe and Dunavant, guards; Lipscomb, Gilbreath and Allen, centers; Wyrick, Branch and Moore, quarterbacks; Magner, Maus, Chandler, Nash, Erickson, Thompson and Slusser, halfbacks; House, McNeil and Houston, fullbacks.

Stringfield Records To Be Available Here

Records of Lamar Stringfield's latest composition will be available on the Hill in a few days, it was learned here last evening. Stringfield is a native Carolina musician and composer who has recently joined the Chapel Hill literary colony and is connected with the University for research purpose.

Red Seal record selection from Mr. Stringfield's American Symphony have been available in the past few weeks but have been sold out of stock. Regulation priced records have been ordered and will be for sale in a few days of "Cripple Creek." This selection is a favorite in the new music world of classical music. It has been featured in New York by the Roxy Theatre orchestra recently.

Intramural Notice

All independent teams, not affiliated with a dormitory or fraternity, that wish to enter teams in the tag football league or in the fall tennis tournament, must see Mac Gray in the intramural office at Emerson field between 3 and 4 o'clock on Friday afternoon. This is the last chance.

The regular season for the tag football league will start Monday, October 6. The tennis tournament will start later in the week.

New V. P. I. Coach

Coach Orville Neale, new head mentor at V. P. I., is installing the system of play which he used at Western Maryland for many years. The system contains many tricky formations and plays, and the Tar Heels have been busy preparing a defense for it.

WRESTLERS LOSE ONLY ONE STAR FROM LAST YEAR

Coach Quinlan Anticipates Successful Year for Carolina Grapplers.

While Coach Quinlan is busying himself with the football squad, several of his veteran wrestlers are getting themselves into condition for the coming season by taking frequent workouts in the Tin Can. These men are part of a contingency of ten letter men returning from last year's state championship team.

Bob Zealy was the only man lost by graduation last June, and with Captain Fred Stallings leading the assault, this year's team has hopes of copping the southern conference crown. All divisions will be well cared for by veterans with three of them working in the 148-pound class. Wayne Woodard, ex-captain, will be back in the 135-pound class with Mayne Albright, while Fred Ferguson, one of last year's most dependable men, will be in the unlimited, making both classes exceptionally strong.

In Captain Stallings the Tar Heels have one of the best men in the south. During the past season Stallings won all of his regular matches and made a good showing in the southern meet in spite of injuries. Marion Cowper, veteran 160-pounder, is now out for football and will probably work in the light-heavy class this year. He is a senior and has starred consistently for two years. Moore, Saunders, Houghton and Usher will again be in togs and can be depended upon to give a good exhibition at all times.

Although the letter men appear to be favorites in pre-season doping, several of last year's reserves and freshmen will have to be dealt with before any man clinches his position. Carolina may well hope for the best team in her history.

ST. LOUIS LOSES TOPHILADELPHIA IN SECOND GAME

Squad To Have Final Practice In Roanoke, Virginia, This Afternoon.

The Athletics continued their winning ways, crushing the Cardinals yesterday 6-1 at Shibe Park, thus making the present standing 2-0 in favor of Philadelphia.

The game, a Comedy of Errors, was poorly played and lacked the usual thrills of the fall classic.

Philadelphia started off in the first inning, tallying twice on three hits, among them Micky Cochrane's second circuit blow of the series.

St. Louis made it a ball game again in their half of the second, scoring their lone run on Watkins' homer. This blow incidentally marked the youngster's first appearance in a world series and he made the most of it.

George Ernshaw, righthander, hurled for the champions and had little trouble in holding the Cards in check. Flint Rhem started for the National League champions and pitched good ball, lack of support behind him being the main reason for the Card loss.

Today the teams will travel to St. Louis where the next three games are scheduled and, if need be, the last two will be played in Philadelphia.

Play by play description:

First Inning
Cardinals: Douthit lifted one high to Dykes. Adams flied to Simmons in left. Frisch doubled to right. This hit broke the tie between Frisch and Eddie Collins for total hits in a world series. Frisch's new record is 43 hits. Bottomly flied to Haas.

Athletics: Bishop flied to Douthit. Adams made a pretty pickup and throw to retire Dykes. Cochrane drove out his second homer in two days, crashing one over the right field fence. Simmons singled over second. Foxx doubled to left, scoring Simmons. Miller out to Bottomly.

Second Inning
Cardinals: Hafey flied to Bishop. Watkins hit one over the wall for a home run. Mancuso singled to short. Gelbert's hard grounder to Bishop took a bad hop and went for a hit. Rhem fanned. Douthit flied to Bishop.

Athletics: Haas fanned. Boley popped to Frisch. Ernshaw flied to Hafey.

Third Inning
Cardinals: Adams flied to Miller. Frisch's grounder went through Boley's legs for an error. Bottomly struck out. Cochrane's throw to catch Frisch was bad and on the error went to third. Hafey fanned.

Athletics: Bishop grounded to Bottomly. Dykes fanned. Cochrane was safe when Frisch fumbled his grounder. Simmons doubled to right, scoring Cochrane.

V.P.I. Game Reports On Grid Graph

With reports coming directly from Miles Stadium in Blacksburg, Virginia, where the V. P. I. and U. N. C. football teams play tomorrow the Grid-graph will show the progress of the game in the Tin Can at 2:30 o'clock for those unable to make the trip to the Virginia institution.

Extensive plans have been made by Mr. G. Wallace Smith, of the faculty of the school of engineering, to have the best possible service for the patrons of the Grid-graph. A special telegraph line has been constructed from the telegraph lines in Blacksburg direct to the field in order that reports can be ready relayed without delay.

In spite of the fact that the cost to show this particular game will probably be greater than any other the Grid-graph will show during the season, Mr. Smith announced this morning, the admission will be 25 cents, a reduction due to the fact that those in charge of the game-indicator wish to introduce the board to the new men on the campus, at an attractive rate.

The Grid-graph consists of a large rectangular board with a space marked off as a football field. The position of the ball is denoted by a movable light. The scores, downs, and yards to gain are indicated by lights above the field and the kind of play by lights below. On each side is a line-up of the opposing teams, with lights indicating the ball carrier and the tackler.

Herb Nelson Hurt

Herb Nelson, first-string end on Carolina's varsity football squad was taken to Watt's Hospital in Durham yesterday afternoon to undergo treatment for stomach trouble. Nelson was a mainstay on one of the flanks of Coach Collins' championship aspiring team, and his absence will make a great difference in the outcome of the important game with V. P. I. at Blacksburg on Saturday. Herb was hurt in the game with Wake Forest, it is thought, last weekend, and as his stomach began giving him more trouble, he was removed to the hospital in Durham.

INTRAMURAL TAG FOOTBALL SEASON STARTS MONDAY

Fall Intramural Tennis Race To Be Held Also, Starting October 8.

The opening of the intramural sports will take place on Monday, October the sixth, on which date the first intramural tag football game will be played. This campus sport enjoyed a most successful season last year, several hundred students competing in the intra-dormitory and fraternity contests. Last year the New Dorms aggregation won the dormitory championship, and Beta Theta Pi won the fraternity championship. In the match between the Betas and New Dorms for the campus championship, the Betas were the victors.

Athletic managers of the different dormitory and fraternity teams received tag football entry cards several days ago. These cards were to be returned to the intramural department not later than yesterday. Any managers who have failed to turn in their entry cards should turn them in sometime during the day if they wish to be included in the schedule which will be announced in the Tar Heel Sunday morning.

On Wednesday, October the eighth, the fall tennis league matches will get under way. A great deal of interest was manifested in intramural tennis last spring, and this year it was decided to run the league this fall. The tennis and football schedules will be arranged so that there will be no conflicts between the two sports. New Dorms was the dormitory winner in this sport also, and Beta Theta Pi again won the fraternity league. In this sport, as in tag football, the Betas defeated New Dorms for the campus title.

For the last seven years the Grail Cup has been awarded to the best all-round intramural athlete. Donald Waugh was winner of the cup last year. Waugh was a performer in four different sports: football, track, fencing and baseball. The Grail Cup is something worth working for. All Carolina men are invited to make a bid for it.
