

OLD LINERS OUT TO GET REVENGE FOR 1929 LOSS

Curly Byrd Has Better Balanced Eleven Than Last Year's Grid Team.

By W. H. Hottel, U. of Md. College Park, Md., Oct. 9.—University of Maryland's football team is coming to Chapel Hill Saturday confident that it will not be beaten by any such score as 43 to 0 by which the powerful Tar Heels won at College Park last October. However, the Old Liners realize the strength of the Carolina team and are not making any idle predictions of walking off with the long end of the score.

Maryland, though, has a team good enough to make the afternoon interesting for the Tar Heel aggregation and is sure to give the fans a few thrills before the battling is over.

North Carolina was much further advanced when it met Maryland last fall than was the Old Liners who were in the throes of development, but Byrd's charges, after having had their first real spring practice, are much further along than they were at this time a year ago. Facing Yale on October 4 and North Carolina this week and having in mind that walloping the Tar Heels gave them last fall, the Old Liners just had to hustle their development, although the size and calibre of the squad hardly justified it.

Maryland showed a lot of power against Yale and the score does not do the Old Liners justice, for it was only because of their own slips, mostly mechanical, that they did not stay in the running to the finish with a good chance to have won the game.

The Old Liners have a well balanced line that will average a shade better than 180 pounds and a fleet backfield quartet that will hit around 164 at the best and around 160 at the lightest. There is much more speed, too, back of the line than there was last year and this should help greatly in the defense against such speedsters as Branch, Slusser, and Erickson.

Maryland doubtless will start the Carolina game with the same men who began the contest against the Elis at New Haven last Saturday. This was as follows: Pease and Norris, ends; Fisher and Carlis, tackles; Hayden and Kracjovic, guards; Faber, center; Woods, quarter; Chalmers and Berger, halfbacks; Poppelman, fullback.

Evans, Maryland's heady back also will get into the game early, if he does not start.

Floyd Haywood Is Declared Ineligible

Coach Collins' reserve strength at right tackle was further reduced Wednesday, due to the fact that the Southern Conference rules prohibit a person from participating in athletics for a period of more than five years after the beginning of his college career.

The victim in this case is Floyd Haywood. He attended a junior college for two years and then remained out of school for one year before entering the University here. By the above ruling he has been declared ineligible for football.

Peyton Abbott, assistant wrestling coach, was undefeated in college competition.

CAPTAIN MAY NOT START

Captain Strud Nash may not start the Maryland game because of an injury to his eye received in the V. P. I. game. The wound, however, is healing up nicely, and the Tar Heel Captain probably will see action before the game is over.

HINES IS FINALIST IN NET TOURNAY

Carolina Star Meets Smith in Finals; Hines-Hendlin in Doubles Semi-Finals.

White Sulphur Springs, Va., Oct. 9.—Wilmer Hines, of the University of North Carolina, today won the Middle Atlantic States championship. He defeated Smith of the University of Virginia in four sets. The doubles of the tourney are to be played this afternoon.

Alphonso Smith, University of Virginia, and Wilmer Hines, University of North Carolina, will meet tomorrow in the finals of the middle Atlantic intercollegiate tennis tournament. Smith is the defending champion and Hines is national junior title holder.

Smith won his semi-final match today by defeating H. H. Hendlin, University of North Carolina, in a hard fought four set match, 6-1, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4. Hines defeated C. F. Talbot, Hampden-Sidney, 0-6, 6-2, 6-2, 11-9, in a match that threatened to be an upset.

In the doubles, Carolina also fared well, advancing to the semi-finals. To do this, Hines and Hendlin, Carolina's team, defeated Hampden-Sidney's team composed of Talbot and Sloan, 6-2, 4-6, 7-5. Hines played erratically and only the scintillating play of Hendlin forced the decision in Carolina's favor.

Virginia's team of Smith and Newell also advanced to the semi-finals, defeating Thomas and Pauxlette, Hampden-Sidney, in a thrilling match, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1.

Intramural Results

Delta Psi Wins

The Carter and Branch combination proved too much for the Phi Delta Theta team yesterday, the Delta Psi outfit winning by a score of 12 to 0. Carter scored a touchdown early in the first quarter on an end run for the first tally, and his pass to Paxton in the third put the game in the bag. Both teams played a great game with excellent defensive work on either side, but the Delta Psi offense was too strong for the opposition, pushing over six first downs to the Phi Deltas' pair.

Phi Alpha Overwhelmed

The Phi Sigma Kappa's knack of nailing long passes for big gains gave them an easy win over Phi Alpha, the score being 28-0. Teachey, star for the Phi Sigs, was on the passing end, and Fitzgerald and Vick were on the receiving end of most of the passes that went for gains. Thomas also starred in several of the plays, and in the first few minutes of play he was responsible for the first touchdown, intercepting one of the Phi Alphas' passes to run 50 yards for the score. His kicking and defensive work were also features of the game.

Pi Kappa Phi Loses Another

The Pi Kappa Phi's were defeated again today to the tune of 13-0, this time losing to the Phi Kappa Sig boys in the roughest game of the afternoon. The Pi Kappa Phi's were anxious to avenge the defeat of several days ago and made the Phi Kappa Sig team fight for every yard.

Manning and Winston were the ground gainers for Phi Kappa Sigma, each making a touchdown and figuring heavily in the drive that netted them four first downs to the Pi Phis' two.

S. A. E. Loses Close Game

In the third quarter of the last and hardest fought battle of the afternoon, Griffith managed to cross S. A. E.'s goal line for the only touchdown of the game, giving Sigma Nu the win by a count of 6-0. The first two quarters went scoreless, strong defense with occasional bad breaks for both teams being the feature. The S. A. E. team never made a first down, while Sigma Nu shoved over six.

Sport Slants

By Don Shoemaker

The World Series is a thing of the past and we will be able to waste our study time watching football instead of listening to Graham McNamee voice feeble puns on the late tiff over the radio.

Last Saturday's grid results showed many teams on the side of the ledger as a huge crop of goose eggs figured in the results of some of the major southern clashes. Among the aggregations white washed was Sewanee, who fell before the Kentucky Wildcats by a 37 to 0 tally. Although the Blue and White backs ran wild for the greater part of the game, figures showed that Sewanee made more first downs against Kentucky than Tennessee last Thanksgiving when the Vols were held to a 6-6 tie. Time and again the Sewanee boys would capture the pigskin and march off down the field in a series of line smashing plays, but the Big Blue would get a lease on the ball and run it back in long sensational drives. It was disheartening to the Sewanee crowd, but it all goes to show how a couple of fast backs can turn a good football game into a rout.

Though he failed to share scoring honors with his flashier team mates, a lad by the name of Johnson looked mighty good.

Several years ago, five rangy basketballers from Ashland (Ky.) high school came, saw, and conquered similar teams from all corners of the nation in the national tourney at Chicago. Their captain was Ellis Johnson, who was afterward named as captain of the All-American team picked by sports scribes as representative of the best hardwood talent in the country. The next fall the gridiron blazed with the flying cleats of this same lad as Johnson led his gridiron mates to the alleged national high school football championship.

Last year Johnson entered Kentucky and proceeded to make freshman football history. Near the end of the year when the frosh Blue Devils met the Tennessee yearlings Johnson again led his team through a supreme struggle that ended only when the big back was tackled on the goal line as he was plunging over for a touchdown on a frozen field. When the pile untangled, Johnson was lying motionless. It was at first thought that every bone in the doughty back's body was broken, but later he was given a fighting chance for his life. Now he is back in the ranks of the Blue and is one of the most promising soph ball toters in the South. A truly great comeback. We'll hear more from this lad.

World Series sidelights say that when George Ernschaw came out of the dugout to bat in the eighth inning of the last game, the stands rose and gave him an ovation great enough to warm the heart of any ball player. Whereupon, George stepped to the platter, turned, doffed his cap, and biffed a high fly to deep center field. Lucky for the Cards that George didn't bow and fling kisses to the stands or he might have knocked a few boards off the center field fence.

The Baseball Writers Association of America, organization of "big time" sports scribes, have picked Hack Wilson as his league's most valuable star during

Reserve And Regular

ROY McDADE

JUNE UNDERWOOD

Roy McDade will probably start in place of June Underwood in the Maryland game Saturday, since Underwood's ankle has not completely healed from the sprain received in the V. P. I. game.

FRESHMAN SQUAD IS WORKING HARD

Preparing for Game With First-Year Maryland Team Next Saturday.

The freshman squad in preparing for the game with the Maryland first year men is buckling down to some very hard work. As yet no definite selection for the first eleven has been made, consequently competition is keen. Among those men who are showing up well are: Hackney and Woolen, quarterbacks; Witner, Weisker, and Phipps are other prospective backfield men. In the line, McIver, Mullis, and Barkley are showing up well. The coaches, however, have made no predictions as to the power of the team. The possibilities, nevertheless, are promising.

the past season. Fans seem little disappointed in the selection of the pudgy outfielder, for Hack has smacked more horsehide this season than any ten jockeys at Saratoga.

Although the revival of pep and organized cheering may be the thing to boost the spirits of Carolina's grid warriors, there are plenty of schools in the immediate vicinity that would show lot more pep if the score board was covered during every game.

STIFF WORKOUT FOR TAR HEEL TEAM YESTERDAY

Coaches Send Entire Squad Through Long Drills in Blocking And Tackling.

The Tar Heel team went through one of the stiffest and roughest workouts of the season on Emerson field yesterday afternoon, when Coaches Collins, Cerney, Fetzer and Sapp sent the squad through drills in blocking, tackling, taking out ends, and going down under punts.

In his radio address over WPTF Wednesday night Coach Collins lamented the fact that Carolina is so weak at tackle and end, and judging from the practice session yesterday, he is determined to eradicate this weakness very soon.

Line scrimmage for five lines was in order for the first part of the afternoon with Coaches Collins and Fetzer taking special care to see that every lineman "got his man." The buckboards were also pushed about the field for some time. Coach Cerney had five backfields taking out ends for an hour on both off-tackle and end-run plays.

Later in the afternoon the coaches lined up the tackles four to the row and four rows for stopping freshman backs, who ran down these lines. Ends, backs, guards and centers were sent through similar tackling drills also. Work for the afternoon ended with five teams going down under punts. Branch and Maus did some good kicking while the elevens charged down the field to get the back receiving the punt.

It seems highly improbable that Underwood and Thompson, regular tackles, will be able to start the game tomorrow, since they are both limping considerably from old wounds. In this event McDade will replace Underwood, with Harry Hodges replacing Thompson. McDade showed up well in the V. P. I. game, but Hodges is an untried reserve.

Curly Byrd has announced that he intends to leave Chapel Hill Saturday night with his team having made a far better showing than they did against the Tar Heels last year. The Carolina coaches expect a tough battle from the Old Liners with such star ball carriers as Ber-
