

ENTIRE STUDENT BODY INVITED TO TENNESSEE GAME

Good Will Evident in Reciprocity Of Southern Conference and State Schools.

A telegram was received yesterday by the editor of the Daily Tar Heel from the president of the student body of the University of Tennessee inviting the students of this university to be guests of the Tennessee institution while in Knoxville for the Carolina-Tennessee game on October 25.

This general feeling of friendliness among the schools in the southern conference has been steadily increasing in the past few years. The system of reciprocity, admitting students of visiting universities and colleges to all athletic contests for only a small fee, or no fee at all, is one of the steps which has resulted from this good feeling among the Southern Conference members.

For the purpose of continuing this good will among the schools in the state as well as in the Southern Conference, the North Carolina State Student Federation, of which John Lang is the president, was organized last year. Judging from the general feeling of good will in evidence this year between the University student body and the representatives of visiting colleges, this organization is fulfilling its aim.

The telegram which was received from Tennessee reads, "The student body of the University of Tennessee extends a cordial invitation to the student body of the University of North Carolina to be their guests while in Knoxville for the Carolina-Tennessee game on October 25. Down-town headquarters will be at the Farragut Hotel." Buddy Hackman, one of the "Touch-down Twins," sent this good will letter as president of the University of Tennessee student body. Buddy will probably hold one of the positions in the Vols backfield when they meet the Tar Heels.

This game between the University of Tennessee and the University of North Carolina will be the ninth football contest to be played between the two institutions since 1893. For the first five times that the two teams met, the North Carolina eleven came out victorious. In 1919-20, however, the Tar Heels did not find the Vols so easy to beat. This year the fight ended in a 0-0 tie. Since that time the Tennessee team has won consistently from the Tar Heel eleven.

The scores for the contests played are: 1893-94, U. N. C. 60, Tennessee, 0; 1897-98, U. N. C. 16, Tennessee 0; 1900-01, U. N. C. 23, Tennessee, 5; 1908-09, U. N. C., 12, Tennessee, 0; 1909-10, U. N. C., 3, Tennessee, 0; 1919-20, U. N. C., 0, Tennessee, 0; 1927-28, U. N. C., 0, Tennessee, 33; and 1930-31, U. N. C., 7, Tennessee, 7.

Plans are being made for a large crowd to attend the game, and a special train will probably be dispatched to Knoxville.

Infirmity List

Those confined in the infirmatory are: Woodrow H. Peterson, R. B. Sinclair, R. E. Hughes and P. H. Rhodes.

The Chapel Hill post of the American Legion will meet at 8 o'clock this (Friday) evening in the Episcopal parish house.

CHAPEL NEXT WEEK

Bob Fetzler, director of athletics at the University, will address the freshman class at chapel Monday morning at 10:30. He will discuss the subject of "Participation and Campus Tradition."

Chapel programs for Tuesday and Wednesday will be in charge of President Murrow, of the National Student Confederation of America, who will visit John Lang, North Carolina state president of Student Federation.

SERVICE GROUPS PLAN TO STUDY FARM PROBLEMS

N. C. Club and Social Service Conference Join in Work and Arrange Joint Programs.

The joint program committee of the North Carolina Club, at the University, and the North Carolina Conference for Social Service met in Raleigh in the Hotel Sir Walter on October 15, and worked out a tentative program for the year's work. The Club and the Social Service Conference have both adopted the study of agricultural conditions in North Carolina for the year's program and have joined forces. They are asking State College, The Farmers Federation at Asheville, the various farmers mutual exchanges, and other interested groups to join with them in the work.

As the program is planned now, the speakers will first appear before the North Carolina Club at the University at its regular meetings held every two weeks. The papers may be revised according to suggestions made at these meetings, and will be presented again at the annual Social Service Conference to be held in eastern North Carolina next spring. These papers will be published in a volume, which will be the joint product of all the state agencies interested in the improvement of agricultural conditions.

The following is the tentative program as submitted by Professor S. H. Hobbs, Jr., who is in charge of arranging it: Land Resources of North Carolina, Colonel J. W. Harrelson, Raleigh; An Analysis of North Carolina as an Agricultural State, Professor S. H. Hobbs, Jr., Chapel Hill; Shifting Agriculture in North Carolina, Hugh MacRae, Wilmington; A Safely Balanced Agriculture: Retention of Farm Wealth, S. O. Schaub, State College; Farm Tenancy in North Carolina, Dr. E. C. Branson, Chapel Hill; Standards of Living of North Carolina Farmers, Dr. C. C. Taylor, State College; Imperative Need of Agricultural Industries in North Carolina, A. J. Maxwell, Raleigh; Marketing Farm Products, George R. Ross, Raleigh; Taxation and Agriculture, Dr. G. W. Forster, State College; The Relation of Farming to Our Economic System, President F. P. Graham, Chapel Hill; The Necessity for Scientific Farming, D. R. Coker, Hartsville, South Carolina; An Agricultural Program for North Carolina, Governor O. Max

RANKIN ATTENDS HIGH CONFERENCE

Meeting of Western Class A Group Called to Consider 1931 Plans.

E. R. Rankin, of the University extension division, has returned from Salisbury where he presided over a meeting of the Class A western high school conference, which convened in that city last Monday night.

The purpose of the meeting was to arrange the basketball contest schedule of this conference for 1931. The games will be played during the months of January and February, and the final game for the state title of the Class A conference will be played in Chapel Hill early in March.

The names of the high schools which will participate in the western conference are: Asheville, Charlotte, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, High Point, Salisbury, and Gastonia. The members of the eastern class A conference are: Wilmington, Goldsboro, Rocky Mount, Raleigh, Durham, Fayetteville and Wilson.

In the west, each school will play each other twice, while those in the east will play only once.

PRATT DONATES THREE BOOKS TO MUSIC LIBRARY

The music department was recently the recipient of a gift of three volumes of Famous Composers, donated by Col. Joseph Hyde Pratt of Chapel Hill. The volumes are highly valued by the department both from a standpoint of literary excellence and completeness of detail. They were published at Boston in 1891 by the J. B. Millet Company, after much research in the museums, libraries, and conservatories in England and on the continent. Men like Arthur Foote and John Fiske engaged themselves in the compilation, and an exhaustive search was made of many private libraries and collections to find the plates and material for the very complete set of illustrations and biographies.

Colonel Pratt obtained these volumes in 1896, while he was teaching at the New Haven Scientific School. Since then he has been engaged in many civic activities in the state and was at one time a state geologist. At present he is the active head of the Red Cross, and takes part in many other organizations of civic interest, as well as the welfare of the University.

BRADSHAW GOES TO Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students, will leave this morning for Chicago to attend the annual meeting of the National Council of Young Men's Christian Association. Dean Bradshaw has been a member of the personnel division of the council for three years. The meeting will be held through October 23.

The personnel division "seeks to bring to bear upon the means used for selecting, training, placing, and transferring of secretaries the best that modern personnel science and educational theory offer. It conducts independent studies and experimentation, and maintains a coordination and clear and sincere relationship to all personnel research in progress throughout the association."

WOMEN ATHLETES REQUEST FUNDS

Petition President-Elect Graham For Active Support of Enlarged Program.

The Women's Athletic Association met Thursday, October the sixteenth, at five o'clock in Spencer hall. The meeting was called for the hearing of a petition originating with Mrs. Marvin H. Stacy, which requested of President-elect Frank Graham support for athletics engaged in by co-eds.

Mrs. Stacy reported that Graham would have funds provided for volley-ball, basketball, and archery. She said that Ida Currie, president of the athletic association, would be responsible for the details.

Miss Gladys Angel, of the extension division of the University, has offered her directorial services each Friday. She spoke of the devotion to athletics of the girls in the northern universities, and urged the girls of this University to demand more facilities.

Ida Currie reported that Coach J. F. Kenfield would set aside tennis courts seven and eight for coed use, and that Dr. R. B. Lawson would coach girls' basketball two nights each week.

MORE DOPE FOR SOUTHERN FOES BY SPORTLIGHT

Collins To Be Prominent Speaker At Coaches' Meeting in New York.

Coach Chuck Collins broadcast more dope on southern grid teams last Wednesday night over the B. C. Sports-light program from station WPTF in Raleigh.

According to Collins, Georgia, Vandy, Tennessee, Kentucky, and Alabama have about the best aggregation of football players ever seen below the Mason-Dixon line, and that these teams will place high in the Southern Conference. Kentucky, Alabama, and Tennessee have very stiff schedules, and will be lucky if they emerge from their struggles this season undefeated.

Tulane has an easy course this year and should go a long way toward retaining the championship that school won last year. Although Tulane lost to a northern rival, that game has no standing on their conference status, and they will be pointing for the comparatively easy remaining games with all force they can muster. Speaking of the Carolina team, Chuck admits that the Tar Heels have a schedule which is anything but easy. Carolina has already met V. P. I. and Maryland, defeating both, and ahead of the Blue and White aggregation are three of the most dangerous teams in the country—Georgia, Tennessee, and Georgia Tech. These games come on successive Saturdays, and if Carolina comes through a winner in all three games they will have to play "heads-up" ball, and perfect their defense to a higher point of perfection.

Coach Collins had his assistant, Rex Enright, scouting the Yale-Georgia game last Saturday while Bill Cerney, backfield coach, was covering the Tennessee-Mississippi game. Enright says that Georgia looked mighty good, and pulled a "spinner"

EPISCOPAL TEA SUNDAY

An informal tea will be given by the Episcopal church in the parish house on Sunday afternoon at 4:30. This plan of weekly teas was used all last year, and the same idea will be carried out this year. These weekly socials afford an opportunity for the students attending to form new acquaintances, and plans are being made for a large gathering at the Sunday afternoon entertainment.

SIGMA XI MEETS FOR FIRST TIME TUESDAY EVENING

Members of This Scientific Society Are Invited To Attend Meeting.

The Sigma Xi scientific society will meet for its first meeting of the month next Tuesday night at 6:30 o'clock in the assembly room of the Baptist church. The business program will be preceded by a supper for the members.

The program will be an informal discussion of chemical research in physical, analytic, and inorganic chemistry. These will be expounded by Dr. Frank K. Cameron, Dr. Floyd H. Edmister and Dr. Horace Crockford, members of the chemistry faculty.

Researches to be discussed at the coming meetings of the year are being made by the three divisions: physical chemistry, analytic chemistry, and inorganic chemistry.

The officers in charge for the year are: Dr. Otto Stuhlman, Jr., president; Dr. John N. Couch, vice-president; and Dr. E. T. Brown, secretary-treasurer.

All members of the society are urged to attend this meeting along with members transferred from other institutions, and who are now living in Chapel Hill. Those persons desiring to attend should notify Dr. Horace Crockford of the chemistry department.

STATE MUSICIANS WILL MEET TODAY

Greensboro Oct. 15.—The complete program for the second annual conference of music teachers and supervisors, that is to be held at North Carolina College—Friday and Saturday, has just been issued at the office of Dr. Wade R. Brown, dean of the school of music at the state institution for women.

The North Carolina musicians, more than 100 of them, will register at the music building Friday morning at 9 o'clock, and at 9:15 o'clock will hear Dr. Victor L. F. Rebmann, of New York, speak on the subject "Musings in Retrospect and in Prospect, on the North Carolina Music Contest—Instrumental Music and Music Education in General."

Bruce A. Carey, of Philadelphia, is to talk to the assembly at 10:45 o'clock on vocal music. Both men will conduct clinics during the afternoon Friday. Dr. Rebmann at 2 o'clock, Professor Carey at 3:30 o'clock.

A dinner in the Florentine room of the King Cotton hotel at 7:30 o'clock in the evening will close the conference sessions Friday. L. L. Stookey, of High Point, will preside at the meeting, and the two visiting speakers and others will make short talks.

The conference will be continued Saturday morning at 9

THIS AFTERNOON MARKS CLOSE OF RUSHING SEASON

Bids To Be Distributed in Gerrard Hall at 2 O'clock, Concluding Rushing Period.

The curtain will be lowered on the last act of the rushing season of 1930 this afternoon when several hundred new men gather in Gerrard hall at two o'clock to designate their choice of fraternities. Executive Secretary R. B. House and Dr. J. C. Lyons will be assisted by the executive committee of the Interfraternity Council in handling the new men. Jack Ward, Will Yarbrough, Tom Hunter, John Cooper and M. D. Holderness compose this committee.

According to Ward, who is president of the council, the new men will meet in Gerrard hall at two o'clock this afternoon. There they will be divided into groups and seated alphabetically. No talking will be allowed among the men after they enter Gerrard hall. Further instructions will be given after the men meet.

Beginning with the opening of the University the acts have changed often. The first one was silent. Freshmen were here; fraternity men were here. But neither could make any move indicative of rushing.

Friday, September 26, brought the second act when the new men visited the various houses by invitation. Two days of this and the real rushing began. For two weeks rushing has been going at full steam.

But it was not until last week that the process known as "high pressure" began. By that time the fraternities knew whom they were going to bid and the new men had some hazy ideas about fraternities. But when "high pressure" week got underway rushers and rushees alike began to show the wear and tear.

Rushing ended midnight, Wednesday. The last night, despite an abundance of rain and mud, showed those new men who had not made up their minds wandering from house to house. The others, those who made their decisions and showed no indication of changing, seemed happy. They went to picture shows, listened to radios and smiled when there were conferences between rusher and rushee.

The season was quiet. One would hardly have known that rushing season was in progress except for the crowd around Pritchard-Lloyd Drug Co. Rumors of violations of rules floated about, but investigation by the committee of the Interfraternity Council disclosed nothing. Either the boys who knew refused to tell or they were just talking.

"Cut-throat" rushing was rumored, but the accused fraternities always made vehement denials. Admissions of such would have been fatal. "All in all the rushing season worked well," Jack Ward, president of the Council, said. "Of course there were violations, but we couldn't get any reports, and we aren't detectives."

President Graham Speaks in Greenville Tonight
President Graham is to speak this evening at the dedication of the Sheppard Memorial Library in Greenville. The dedication will be held at 8:15 p. m.
