

CANDIDATES FOR WINTER SPORTS START PRACTICE

Boxers, Wrestlers and Basketballers Working Hard in Endeavor to Snare Championships.

The Tin Can presents a scene of unusual activity in the line of early practice for winter sports for such an early date this year. There is a goodly crowd of wrestlers engaging in strenuous practice under the guidance of Coach Abbott. Competition is keen among the varsity men, several letter men being eligible for competition this year, and in addition several freshmen are practicing daily on the fundamentals of the game.

Several nights each week see the varsity basketball men working hard in an effort to get into such good form for this year's season that they will wipe out all memories of last year's poor season.

Every afternoon, varsity and freshmen boxers are working out, and of late the presence of Add Warren, former Tar Heel heavyweight, who is training here for his fight with Jeff Carroll in Charlotte Monday night, has added interest to the afternoon's sparring sessions. Add looked much improved in his workout yesterday over those of Monday and Tuesday. In addition to working out for several rounds on the bags, shadow boxing, and taking calisthenics, Add boxed five rounds, one each with Wilson and Miller, sophomore heavies, Obie Davis, varsity middleweight, Archie Allen, last year's captain and welterweight, and his brother John Warren, varsity lighthheavyweight last year.

Despite the good sized crowd out for practice, Coach Rowe is not satisfied with the number of freshman candidates. A great many showed up at first, but several have become discouraged and stopped. The intramural tournament will be held after Thanksgiving, and it is expected that this will bring out a good many men, who may eventually try for the team. Coach Rowe pointed out in his interview with the Tar Heel reporter yesterday that Archie Allen, Southern Conference champion lightweight in 1929 and Tar Heel captain in 1930 had never had on a boxing glove before the intramural tournament in the spring of his freshman year. Noah Goodridge, this year's captain, is another star who never boxed before his freshman year at Carolina. Coach Rowe feels that in the light of the brilliant success of men such as these, and especially since boxing is now a major sport, every freshman physically and mentally able should report for practice—at least for the intramural tournament.

Varsity Track Men

All varsity track men are to report to Coach Dale Ranson in the stadium office before 4:00 o'clock to receive instructions in regard to officiating for the cake race this afternoon.

Gym Excuses

Through the courtesy of Dr. Lawson all the contestants in the cake race will be excused from gym if they give their names and gym numbers to the manager at Emerson field before 4 o'clock.

CROSS-COUNTRY TRIALS DELAYED

Cake Race Today Will Give Line On Prospective Freshman Material.

Varsity cross-country work is settling down to more substantial things, now that the fall quarter has gotten under way. The men are working out on the cinder path down at Emerson field daily, and are coming around to the style of "pounding" the turf they used to have.

Last Friday the varsity cross-country time-trials were to have been held on the practice field. They did not materialize, due to the fact that several members of the squad were out with minor injuries and slight colds. A number of the men had their time checked to get some estimate as to the length of their progress so far this season. The members of the squad who showed up well were: Captain Baucom, Cordle, Jones, Watkins, Pratt, Hubbard, Jansen, Farris, Lumpkin, Hunter, Petty, and Allen. These men have been showing the most consistent work so far, and the heart of the squad is formed around them. An official time-trial will be held this coming Friday or Saturday at the practice field to get a definite line on the efficiency of the team as a whole.

The cake race which will be held today will serve to give the coaches a real line on the freshman material of this year, and will afford the first real competition for the runners.

HASKELL INDIANS DANCE ON NIGHT BEFORE GAME

Lawrence, Kans.—(IP)—The beat of tom-toms and chanting of braves echoed over the campus of Haskell Institute here as more than 1,000 Indians, attending a nation-wide pow-wow incident to the game between Haskell and the University of Kansas, and participated in the war dances of their forefathers.

The spectacle was held in the athletic stadium of the government's Indian school. The braves tramped across the chalk lines of the institution's football field, the modern battle ground of Indian youths.

Following the dances the Indians participated in a colorful pageant depicting the history of a number of Indian tribes.

The following night, a band of present-day Indian warriors, Haskell's football team, went on the war-path against the University of Kansas eleven, and lost by a score of 33 to 7.

It was the first meeting of the two teams in 10 years. The pow-wow, called in celebration of the resumption of athletic relations between the two schools, was intended at first only for graduates and students of Haskell. It was made nation-wide, however, when Indians from all parts of the country announced they would attend.

Paris—(IP)—With the purpose of establishing a center of instruction and study with a view to introducing scientific methods in a field heretofore left to the teachers of gymnastics, the University of Paris has created an Institute of Physical Education.

VIRGINIA COACHES DISPLEASED WITH SHOWING OF LINE

Earl Abell Sending Cavalier Forwards Through Heavy Workouts Preparing for W. and L.

University, Va., Oct., 22.—Virginia's guards and tackles and ends will have plenty of work to do this week before the Cavalier squad starts out to play Kentucky in Lexington, Ky., on Saturday.

Earl Abell, Cavalier head coach, is still a long way from being satisfied with the play of the linemen. He knows they'll have to do a great deal better than they did against V. M. I., if they are to outplay the Wildcat forwards.

Bob Kimball, veteran lineman who was injured in the V. M. I. game will probably be out for several weeks according to Archie Harn, Cavalier trainer. In his place will be Buck Poss, who was the line star of the '29 first year eleven. Poss was hurt in the Randolph-Macon game and was kept from practice for 10 days.

Madison, Wis.—(IP)—"No practice until further notice—hit the books," is a sign recently posted on the training room door of the University of Wisconsin football squad by Coach Walter T. Meanwell, who seldom loses a member of his team through low grades on their part.

Bob Warren Named Backfield Coach At N. C. State College

An attempt was made to obtain William McK. "Bill" Fetzer, former University of North Carolina coach, for the State backfield coaching position, but negotiations with Fetzer were terminated today.

Dr. Warren is an alumnus of State college and of the American School of Osteopathy at Kirksville, Mo. During his student days at State he was a three-letter man and was a member of the basketball team that won the Southern conference championship in 1928.

The new backfield mentor served last year as basketball coach and trainer at Virginia Polytechnic institute, Blacksburg.

Oberlin college students of zoology were treated recently to the rare sight of fresh water jellyfish, discovered by Dr. R. A. Budington, head of the department, in the Vermilion River, west of here. Dr. Buddington told his classes this was the sixth time in zoological history that jellyfish, regularly found in salt water, had been found inland.

Barthelmess In Air

Richard Barthelmess, First National-Vitaphone star, makes his first appearance in an air story in "The Dawn Patrol," which comes to the Carolina theatre Thursday.

John Monk Saunders wrote the original screen story of "The Dawn Patrol," which was adapted and dialogued by Seton Miller and Dan Toheroh. It is a highly dramatic mirror of those early years of the World War "schoolboy" flyers in the British air service were compelled to face highly organized German aces, when their own mediocre equipment was forced to fight against the more modern enemy planes.

The Wild Potato

If times get too hard in Chapel Hill, residents can perhaps maintain themselves on the wild potato, which grows hereabouts. W. C. Coker has the root of one dug from the edge of the golf course along Rocky Ridge road. The wild potato, as well as the tame one, is closely akin to the morning glory, and this one bears blooms which to the layman look much like a morning glory's, being white with a purple center. This particular root is roundish, four inches or more in diameter, and went down so far into the hard ground that the diggers were unable to reach the end of it. Mr. Coker is not sure this species is edible.

Orange, N. J., and East Orange, N. J. have different laws about Sunday movies. A theater owner whose building is located on the dividing line between the two cities ropes off the East Orange side of his auditorium, and thereby obeys the law in that city, while he puts on his Sunday movies in the Orange side of the theatre.
