

SENATE DECIDES COLLINS IS RIGHT IN USING MAGNER

Also Believes Republican Party Not Entirely Responsible For Depression.

Discussions of live interest were called forth at the meeting of the Dialectic Senate Tuesday night. Between sixty and seventy members were present.

The first bill, "Resolved, That the Republican administration is responsible for the present economic depression," was discussed for a short time, but it was very one sided. Senators Kitchin, McIver, Dungan and Gentry spoke against the question, and on a vote, the bill was defeated.

Before discussing the second bill, "Resolved, That Coach Collins was not justified in allowing Magner to play in the game against Tennessee," the point was made that the senate was not justified in discussing it. This was voted down. Senators Rector, Shreve, Ramsay, Dungan, Brown, McIver, Little, and Morgan took part in the discussion, bringing out the effect that such action might have on the alumni, the squad and sport fans in the state. The discussion was purely impersonal, consideration being made only as to what was for the best good of the University. The bill was finally defeated.

During the business session preceding the meeting proper, the subject of choosing a clerk was taken up. Billy McKee was unanimously elected for the office. The president also appointed several committees. "Red" Greene was appointed chairman of the constitution committee, with Senators Morgan, Brown, Moore, and Little to serve with him. Senators Bunch, McIver, and Rose were appointed to the finance committee.

Cliff Baucom, William Blount, James Pace, and George Malone were taken in as new members to be initiated at the regular initiation meeting next week.

OLSEN TO SPEAK TO DEBATE SQUAD

W. A. Olsen, instructor in public speaking in the University, will speak at the regular meeting of the varsity debate squad tonight in 201 Murphey hall at 7:30. The speaker will make a few criticisms of the present system of debating used by the members of the squad. He will also point out and discuss some of the fundamentals of the art of debating.

The squad holds its meetings regularly each week for the purpose of discussing some of the different phases of presenting arguments and defending the points set up. In return for regular attendance to the meetings of the squad, a course credit will be given.

The year's program of the squad has not yet been announced, but will be published sometime in the near future. Last year the debating team met some of the strongest teams in the country, and came out victorious. Everything is pointing to a duplication of this record.

Library Circulation Increases In Year

The circulation of the library has had a substantial increase within the last year. This is true at the main desk, in the reserve reading room, and in the commercial and sociology departments, while the education reading room reports an increase of fifty percent of readers over last year.

The library charges out at least 5,000 books each week. The graduates are also using the library more than last year. When the new library was built, it looked as though it had been placed in an inconvenient corner of the campus. Although it has taken the students a year to become accustomed to the new arrangement, it now appears according to library officials that they are getting the "library habit." The old library was in a convenient place for everybody to approach easily when going both to and from town.

BUS LEGISLATION OPPOSED BY PHI

First Bill Calls Forth Animated Discussion From Representatives

With three of the most interesting bills for discussion yet on its calendar, the Phi Assembly went in for some animated debating at the regular meeting Tuesday night in Assembly hall. Speaker Mayne Albright read the conditions and requirements for the Mary D. Wright debate. Other new business brought up was what time the annual Phi dance should be given this year. After discussing the matter thoroughly the assembly decided to give the dance sometime during the winter quarter. Then the discussion started for the evening after Reading Clerk McDuffie read the following resolutions in the order named:

Resolved: That the Phi Assembly go on record as favoring the resolution that all bus and transfer companies be required to build and maintain roads of their own.

Resolved: That the Phi Assembly go on record as favoring the resolution that the present high tariff is the cause of the present business depression in the United States.

Resolved: That in voting the party should be considered rather than the man.

The first resolution which was tabled from last meeting evoked much discussion. Representative Wilkinson held the floor on this bill with forceful oratory. Representative Fisher in speaking for the bill stated at the end of his argument that he was not working for the interests of the railroads when he opposed using the state highways for gross transportation of large companies' goods. Representative Douglas rose to say that in law, corporations were considered as individuals and therefore we have no right to pass legislation which entails individual rights. On account of the limited amount of time the measure had

PROMINENT MEN ARE INVITED TO ADDRESS GROUP

Colonel Rees Will Deliver First Of Lecture Series Before Taylor Society.

Colonel Rees, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, will address the Taylor Society at its meeting in Bingham hall Friday night at 7 o'clock. Many prominent men have been invited to address the meetings this year. Colonel Rees is the first of these speakers.

W. F. Taylor organized the society, and after his death it was decided that the society would be named for him. Mr. Taylor was a pioneer in the work which the society does, and he did much to bring the society to its present important position.

The Taylor Society has only five chapters in colleges in the United States. The chapter at Carolina is the only one in the South and has been on the campus for three years. It has proved of great benefit to students who plan to take up a business career, for it brings them into contact with business leaders and their views upon modern problems of management.

The society has for its purpose the study of scientific management, and it attempts to improve business methods all over the world and aid the progress of scientific management. It is now in its nineteenth year of existence and has members in Europe and the United States. It deals with the problems of management in every field of business and is of paramount importance to every one interested in business and wishing to see the application of scientific methods to the problems of modern management.

Any persons interested in management is eligible for membership in the Taylor Society. Membership is by election. The Carolina chapter is open to students in the commerce and engineering schools and anyone else taking courses in management. The meetings are open to all those interested in them.

The local chapter has planned twelve or fifteen meetings for this year. "Modern Management" is the subject on which the speakers will talk. The addresses which were made last year were collected and will be published in book form by the University Press. This book will appear in a few days. The society plans to publish the addresses made this year also.
