

Y. M. C. A. STARTS DRIVE FOR RELIEF OF COUNTY POOR

Three Cabinets, 250 Strong,
Will Canvass Campus for Thanksgiving Offering.

Plans for a Thanksgiving drive for funds from the University campus to be employed for poor relief in Orange county were presented to each of the three Y. M. C. A. cabinets Monday evening. The "Thanksgiving offering" of the students will be turned over to the county welfare department to be used as the department finds need for it.

Explaining the plan before the cabinets, Mr. H. F. Comer, secretary of the Y, declared that suffering from disease and undernourishment in the spring could be reduced considerably by relief in the early winter months. Unemployment, in Orange county as elsewhere, is at its peak this year and the poverty of the community demands immediate relief.

It is the intention of the more than 250 members of the Y cabinets to begin a systematic and thorough canvass of the campus beginning promptly at 9:30 next Monday night. The bell in South building will be rung at that time to notify the campus of the beginning of the campaign.

A business meeting for the freshman firendship council, an open forum discussion of foreign relations and Germany's reparations debt, and a series of committee reports for the junior-senior cabinet, were the regular programs for the three groups.

PLANS FOR FALL DANCES OUTLINED BY GERMAN CLUB

Officers of the German Club announce that there will be five Thanksgiving dances on Friday and Saturday, November 28 and 29, in Bynum gymnasium. The set includes dances Friday afternoon, and night, Saturday morning, afternoon, and night. Weidemeyer's orchestra from Huntington, West Virginia, will play.

The German Club usually stages the dances in Swain hall because of the large number of visitors in for the Thanksgiving game. Since the Carolina-Virginia game will be played in Charlottesville, the place of the dances is changed to the gymnasium. The hall will be embellished in Thanksgiving colors, the decorations being arranged by a local firm.

At a meeting of the German club earlier in the fall, Clyde Dunn was elected leader of the set with Edward Wood and Henry Anderson to assist. Robert Carmichael will lead the sophomore hop with Arlindo Cate and Elliott Newcombe assisting.

Will Yarborough, treasurer of the club, announces that the members may get their tickets from him at the S. A. E. house. He will be there directly after supper and at chapel period.

NO UNIVERSITY SERMONS

W. D. Toy, professor of German and chairman of the faculty committee on University sermons, has announced that there will be no sermons this year. There have been no sermons for the last two years, although it was the custom previously to have several delivered each year by distinguished clergymen.

TAYLOR SOCIETY HEARS HOLMES ON FARM MANAGING

Government Agricultural Chief
Tells Society of New Methods in Farming.

"The machination of cotton and wheat production has caused a revolution in the cotton and wheat industries," Dr. C. L. Holmes, chief of the division of farm management and cost of the United States Department of Agriculture, told the Taylor Society in an address at the University Monday night.

Dr. Holmes was the second speaker on the general subject of "Modern Management" which has been chosen by the Taylor Society as its subject for the year. General Rees, assistant vice-president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, was the speaker at the first meeting.

"The Technique and Economics in the New Farm Management" was the subject of Dr. Holmes' talk. He divided agricultural communities into those which produced for commercial purposes and those which produced for home consumption. The South has always been of the former type, he said, as the South has produced principally tobacco and cotton from the earliest days.

With improved machinery in other productive regions the Southeast had been forced to undergo a period of transition caused by changes in technique; more production with less man power was the aim of efficient managers, he said, and the more machinery employed the more land the individual was able to cultivate.

A sifting of the rural population similar to that which occurred among the industrial population of England during the industrial revolution was caused by the machination of the cotton and wheat industry, Dr. Holmes stated. Only those employing efficient methods would survive this revolution which is underway. He said that what was happening in the United States was also happening in Russia.

Dr. Holmes discussed the corn belt and the result of the introduction of machinery there.

ABERNETHY FREED BY STATE COUNCIL

Milton Abernethy, State College student on trial for misrepresenting facts in a newspaper story about college cheating, was acquitted Monday night by the State College student council, Dr. Carl Taylor, dean of the graduate school, acted as Abernethy's counsel. He said that the action of the council in recommending Abernethy's suspension ten days ago, was influenced by his unpopularity on the campus.

Editorials from papers from all sections of the state, severely criticizing the council and Dr. Brooks, were read to the council by the defense at the trial.

CITY MANAGER'S ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS INTERESTING STATISTICS

Student Population Equals Number of Permanent Residents in Chapel Hill; Fraternities Number Fifty, With Property Valued at $500,000.

The city manager's report for the fiscal year ending June 1, which was read at the last board of aldermen meeting, revealed information that there are just as many students at the University as there are people residing in Chapel Hill the year round. The assessed valuation of property in the town is but little in advance of the value of the University property; the town's property is valued at $3,680,000, while the University property is worth $3,500,000. The bonded indebtedness of Chapel Hill is $394,000; this amount, however, is being decreased each year. This year the town is paying $34,000 of the total sum owed. The tax rate in Chapel Hill is quite low—only $1.40 on every $100.

There are six churches which own property in Chapel Hill. They are: Baptist, Christian, Presbyterian, Methodist, Episcopal, and Catholic. The total property valuation of all the churches is $800,000. The two banks, Bank of Chapel Hill and Bank of Carrboro, have assets totaling $1,500,000. The Chapel Hill Building & Loan Association has assets of $300,000, with over $600,000 outstanding.

The clubs and lodges of the town are: Community Club, Rotary Club, Kiwanis Club, American Legion, Junior Order United American Mechanics, Knights of Pythias, Masonic Order, King's Daughters, Red Cross Society, and fifty collegiate fraternities. The total property value of the fraterni-

STEENE ADVISOR OF ARTISTS' CLUB

Nationally Known Painter Will Serve as Critic for New Organization.

With twenty-eight prospective members present, the Art Students Club, a newly organized art class consisting of members of the student body and interested persons from Chapel Hill, conducted its first active meeting yesterday afternoon. The group convened in the rooms located in Person hall which have been donated by the University for the use of the Art Club.

Bobbie Mason, art editor of the Buccaneer, and chairman of the committee for the organization of the club, presided over the meeting. E. Gibson, a student of the University who has also been very active in this work, outlined the plans of the organization and its probable costs. A constitution and by-laws, drawn up by the committee, was accepted by the members present. W. M. Steene, nationally known artist of Chapel Hill, has offered his services as the active critic and instructor of the class. Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Strudwick of Hillsboro, both well known artists of this section, were present at the meeting, and have volunteered their criticism and aid.

Dean F. F. Bradshaw gave a short talk on the possibilities of such an organization in the University, prophesying that with the proper development and sufficient interest among the club's ties is $500,000.

The University of North Carolina, the Chapel Hill graded school, each with a property value of $3,500,000, and the Chapel Hill Business School are the three educational institutions in the town. There are two parks in the vicinity of the town: Battle Park, 1,000 acres, and the arboretum on the University campus.

The town and University water supply comes from a protected watershed owned by the University. The water is inspected often, and is carefully purified so as to reduce to a minimum the chance of disease.

Electricity is supplied to the town by the Duke Power Company and the University of North Carolina plant.

The fire department is headed by John L. Foister, chief, and three firemen; the division consists of two paid truck drivers and seventeen volunteer firemen. The quarterly inspection of the business district is made by the fire chief and the two paid firemen. For the fiscal year the fire department has answered forty-eight calls which resulted in a fire loss of $24,500. Most of the alarms have been for automobile fires. The low property loss is due to strict inspection of the business district, and fraternity and residential houses.

The division of police is headed by L. B. Lloyd, chief. He is assisted by two patrolmen. Each officer is on duty twelve

COLLEGES AIDING RELIEF OF POOR

Two Carolina Students Contribute
Fifty Dollars for Milk Fund.

Colleges and institutions all over the country are helping in some way or other in alleviating the results of the business depression.

Northwestern University has offered to contribute $100,000 to the relief fund in Illinois, provided that the Notre Dame-Northwestern football game will be played in Soldiers' Field, Chicago where many more people can be taken care of than in the Notre Dame stadium.

Union Theological Seminary in New York City has adopted 100 unemployed families for the winter. They have given up their gymnasium, put cots in it, and through a $1,000 a month subscription raised from the faculty and student body of 200, they are able to feed them.

The American Legion in Chapel Hill obtained money through a Sunday movie to help care for the needy ex-service men in this county.

A small fund is set aside by the recorder's court here for use of the poor in Chapel Hill or in the vicinity of five miles.

The King's Daughters have been active in cooperating with the welfare office in bettering the situation.

Two students walked into the welfare office last week with fifty dollars, which was partly used in paying a dairyman for delivering milk to needy families.

Freshman Chapel

All freshmen in the college of liberal arts will meet Dean Hobbs in Gerrard hall this morning at 10:30. The commerce freshmen were supposed to have met Dean Carroll this morning, but the meeting has been postponed. There will be no regular chapel.

ACTIVITIES OF Y SUBJECT RADIO TALK BY HAMER

Second Presentation of Campus Life by University Leaders to Come Over WPTF Today.

Ed Hamer, President of the Y. M. C. A., will broadcast over station WPTF this afternoon at 5:15 in the second of a series of weekly programs concerning student activity on the University campus. Hamer will record the workings of "The Y. M. C. A., what it is, and its relation to student life at the University." In the talk he will outline its purpose, history, program, type of leadership, status on the campus, and what the "Y" is doing in an effort to bring the students into broader spiritual and cultural living.

Red Greene, president of the student union, who instigated the weekly talks last Wednesday with an explanation of undergraduate organizations in general, will preside at the program this afternoon. Next Wednesday Archie Allen, former president of the athletic association, and captain of the boxing team, will speak on athletics at the University. This will be followed the next week by a discourse on student government by Red Greene, and an outline of publication activities by Will Yarborough and Jack Dungan will conclude the present series.

Greene has received several letters already which congratulated the aims of the program, one from New Bern high school saying that student government and the honor system had been put into effect at their school. He says that his primary purpose of the talks is to get the high schools throughout the state to adopt student government and to assist in perfecting their other activities. Most of the letters received are from high schools, and inquire about the organization of undergraduate activities at Carolina.

HONOR STRESSED IN CHAPEL TALK

Dean F. F. Bradshaw talked on honor and honesty before the freshman chapel yesterday. He gave several examples of honesty throughout the world. He stated that in a certain country a religious sect had been formed many years ago whose large plan of religion was honesty. He stated that this sect was still in existence and that the British government recognized the group as one of the best business groups in the world. The sect has never been known to deal dishonestly with any other business group. The whole religion is based on truth and honor. He took several more examples and stated that students should try to copy this group as honor should stand above everything. He stated, "It is better to receive failing grades and do your work honestly than to make good marks otherwise."

RULES GOVERNING CAMPUS DANCES TO BE ENFORCED

German Club Invests Its Power
In Student and Faculty
Executive Committees.

The German Club, ruling body which has control of all dances presented at the University, has announced the rules which will govern the dances of the forthcoming year.

In order to be able to hold a dance, permission must first be obtained from the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Dances. Every dance must be conducted only on Friday or Saturday evening, except by special permission of the Faculty Committee, and must be under the auspices and regulations of the German Club. Any organization giving a dance shall select three of its members who will become responsible for the keeping of order at that particular dance, and who will convene with the Executive Committee of the German Club at the next meeting after the dance. Failure in this last duty will engender suspension from giving dances or receptions for a period of two years.

Chaperons for all dances conducted under the auspices of the German Club shall be selected subject to the approval of the Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Dances. Any organization giving a dance which in the judgment of the Executive Committee is not up to their standards shall be prevented from giving any dances over a period to be fixed by the German Club.

H. J. LASKI WEIL LECTURER IN 1931

The University has obtained Dr. H. J. Laski, professor of political science at the University of London, to deliver the Weil Lectures this year. Though no definite time or subject has yet been announced, they will be given sometime during the spring quarter. Dr. Laski, who is also vice-chairman of the British Institute of Adult Education, has made a number of lectures in this country. He will come here after delivering a series of talks at Yale University.

These lectures were established by the University in the years 1914-15 and have been made permanent through the generosity of the families of Mr. Sol Weil and Mr. Henry Weil. The general topic is American citizenship.

President Graham Leaves Hospital

President Graham's condition has improved so much that on Sunday he returned to Chapel Hill from Watts Hospital in Durham. Although his health is good, it is not known whether an operation will be necessary in the future or not. He is not at work, but is spending his time resting at his home and at Watts Hospital in Durham for further examination. It is not certain when he will be able to return to work.

Community Club

Mrs. W. A. Olsen, secretary of the Community Club, announces that there will be a general meeting of the club Friday afternoon, November 21, at 3:30 o'clock in the Episcopal parish house.
