

Tar Heels Concentrate On Defense For Devils' Plays In Brisk Workout

Ends Practice Getting Down Under Punts as Kickers Prepare for Game.

LIGHT WORKOUT TODAY

Final Practices to Include Only Dummy Scrimmaging and Conditioning Exercises.

Definite preparations for the Duke game were started yesterday afternoon when Coach Collins sent three varsity elevens through dummy scrimmage on defensive tactics against DeHart's plays in a brisk workout at Emerson field. The three teams worked more than half an hour on the defense with freshmen impersonating Murray, Rosky, Brewer, and Company.

The ends ran down under punts also, as Maus, Branch and the other kickers primed their toes for the game. The ends were getting down fast under the punts and were covering the safety men well. Calisthenics and many laps around the field to get the squad in perfect physical condition also took up a great deal of the afternoon.

The only real scrimmaging of the week was held yesterday afternoon and this session was rather brief, Coach Collins preferring to have the team become fully acquainted with Duke's style of play.

Plans for the remaining two days call for long but light workouts, according to a statement made by Coach Collins last night. Work this afternoon probably will include further drills on going down under punts, and dummy scrimmage on defense.

The whole Tar Heel squad is bent upon the idea of beating Duke, and is putting every ounce of energy into the workouts to be in the pink of condition for the game. Since the Davidson game there has been an air of snap and speed in the practices pervading the whole football camp, which should reach a peak Saturday afternoon.

The first team lineup yesterday included: Lipscomb, center; Fysal and Blackwood, guards; McDade and Thompson, tackles; Brown and Walker, ends; Branch, quarterback; Magner and Nash, halfbacks; and House, fullback.

First College Grid Game Re-Enacted

New Brunswick, New Jersey. —(IP)—Fifty bewhiskered athletes reenacted the first intercollegiate football game ever played, that between Rutgers and Princeton in 1869, as a feature of the pageant held in connection with the 250th anniversary celebration in this city.

In addition to the fifty players (there were twenty-five men on a side in 1869) crowds of men and boys stood on the sidelines, all dressed in the garb of more than a half century ago.

Tar Heel Mentor Not So Jovial Now As at Virginia

They say gloomy Chuck Collins, head mentor of the Tar Heels, got generous and smiled a great broad smile after Carolina beat Virginia 41-0 last week, but the Carolina strategist isn't smiling this week. He's afraid the Tar Heels will let their margin over Virginia make them overconfident, and he knows that would be disastrous to Carolina hopes in the Duke game here Saturday.

Collins Announces Coaches Selection For All-State Team

Coach Chuck Collins announced the coaches selection for an all-state eleven. The selection was Rosky of Duke and Gregson of Wake Forest, ends; Cobb of State and Williams of Wake Forest, tackles; Fysal of Carolina and Davis of Duke, guards; Lipscomb of Carolina, center; Branch of Carolina, quarterback; Magner of Carolina and Murray of Duke, halfbacks; and House of Carolina, fullback.

Coach Collins took Johnny Branch with him to Raleigh last night to speak on the B. C. Sportlight radio program over WPTF. Bill Murray and Buz Rosky of Duke were also on the program last night.

ATHLETIC BOARD TO MAKE REPORT TO U.N.C. ALUMNI

University Athletic System Will Be Explained at Meeting Friday.

Reports covering operation of Carolina's unique system of controlling athletics will be received at the annual General Assembly of the University Alumni Association in Chapel Hill next Friday and Saturday, December 5 and 6.

The present system has been in operation since 1926, when a committee composed of President H. W. Chase of the University, President W. P. Stacy and Secretary Daniel L. Grant of the General Alumni Association was appointed to draw up an agreement for the management of athletics at the University. Dissatisfaction with the method then in effect, which gave University alumni comparatively little voice in the management of athletics, led to appointment of the committee.

Under the plan evolved by the committee and adopted by the alumni and the University faculty, a "three-three-three" athletic council, composed of three representatives each from the Alumni Association, undergraduate student body, and faculty, was set up with full authority over all matters pertaining to athletics. Under its provisions every member of the General Alumni Association has a voice in conducting athletics at the University since the alumni representatives on the Council are elected and instructed by the annual Alumni Assemblies.

Dr. Foy Roberson, of Durham, one of the three alumni representatives on the present council, will deliver the annual report at the Saturday morning session of the Assembly. He will make the first official announcement of the University football schedule for 1931, which will include a number of important changes.

STAR BACKS TO MEET DUKE FOR LAST TIME

The big ground gainers in Carolina's recent victories over Duke were Magner, House and Erickson in 1928, and Nash and Ward in 1929. Four of these boys, all but Ward, are raring to run their last game against Duke here Saturday, and the dope is that there's going to be a grand fight if the Carolina line continues to play as it did at Virginia.

THREE THREATS ON THE DUKE TEAM

BILL MURRAY

KID BREWER

BUZ ROSKY

Pictured above are "Smiling Bill" Murray, Buz Rosky and Kid Brewer of the Duke football team. These three star gridders will lead the attack of the Devils when they invade Kenan stadium Saturday. Rosky both calls signals and plays left end. Brewer is skilled at hitting the line and running interference. It is noticed that "Smiling Bill" is wearing number eighteen. It seems to be a favorite trick of his to wear one number in front and another in the back to confuse opponents. His regular number is fifty-two.

KAY KYSER NOT ABLE TO ATTEND GAME SATURDAY

Says That He Will Be Doing Greatest Cheering of His Life in Dallas.

Kay Kyser, member of the class of 1928, chief cheerleader and organizer of the famous cheerios, is in Dallas, Texas, directing his orchestra and is unable to be present at the Duke-Carolina game Saturday. He was invited by the president of the student body, Red Greene, to be present for the game.

Kay writes a letter to the students, however, in which he expresses his opinion about Carolina spirit and the Duke game, and says that he will be doing the greatest cheering of his life during the two hours Saturday out in Dallas. The letter follows:

To the Student Body, University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, N. C.
Dear Students:

Even though it is impossible for me to accept the kind invitation that has been extended to me to come back to Chapel Hill, December the fifth and sixth to help carry Carolina over the top in her big game Saturday with Duke, I do want you to know that I will be and always am, cheering for a Carolina victory.

I have the utmost faith in the feeling that I know each University man has in his heart for Carolina and her team. This feeling or spirit might lie dormant and silent within some of you, but I am positive that Saturday afternoon you will arise as one man and literally drive our team to victory. There is no alternative—We must beat Duke. Without you it can't be done, so forget everything except—We must win.

I'll be doing the greatest cheering of my life during that game, and I know that you will too.

Sincerely yours for Carolina,
Kay Kyser.

BALEY, McKEE AND SHUFORD IN FINALS

Only Three Matches Remain in Fall Tennis Tourney.

Jim Baley and Billy McKee have reached the final round of the upperclassmen tennis tourney which Coach Kenfield has been running during the past two weeks. The final match will be played tomorrow afternoon.

Baley defeated Al Yeomans last Monday in the semi-final round 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, while McKee beat Frank Huskins yesterday 6-3, 4-6, 6-1 also to enter the last round.

Harley Shuford is in the finals in the upper bracket of the freshman tourney. In the lower half there are still two matches to be played before the final round, either Morgan or Dillard should meet Shuford.

Sport Slants

By Don Shoemaker

Now that President Graham's "Hills of Virginia" have resounded with the thud of Tar Heels line bucks across Cavalier goal lines, thorough trouncing of the denizens of his "Woods of Durham" is all that remains before Carolina to close a successful season. In definition of that term we offer Carolina 28, Duke 6.

There could be no better setting for the Blue Devil-Tar Heel encounter than Saturday's. Both teams have lost some over-confidence via the Wildcat and Deacon ministrations. Both will be cautious and observant of the breaks. It should be a perfect football game.

Glancing back over the results of this year's grid efforts we see but one actual set back on the Carolina record. It was nothing but a strong Georgia team that handed Carolina a trouncing at Athens a while back. There is no alibi offered for that game for Georgia was at her season's peak. The Tennessee and Davidson games offer a different slant.

Special to The Daily Tar Heel.

Durham, December 3.—Coach Jimmy DeHart, working a Duke team for the last time to prepare for a game, has followed his usual procedure this week in practices by merely taking a short while to work on the defensive but doubly working on the Blue Devil offensive.

The final practice of the week, billed for Thursday, will end the four days that the Devils have worked for the game. The greater portion of the work has been on the Duke running attack with a couple of lectures on what to
