

PATTERSON SAYS FINAL YEAR DEAR TO ALL STUDENTS

Senior Class President Describes
The Four Years of College Life.

H. N. (Pat) Patterson, speaking yesterday afternoon over WPTF on the subject of "Class Organization at Carolina," stated that the students on this campus come in contact with class organization and activity more than with any other extra-curricula activity.

"The quickest way to arouse an alumnus' interest in his Alma Mater is to mention the name of his class to him," continued the senior class president.

Beginning with a freshman when he enters college, the speaker discussed in detail the yearly development in the class organization. Along with this he brought in some of the orders, social groups, and extra-curricula activities which opened up for the student each year.

Patterson, the senior class president, went on to say that the churches of Chapel Hill are well-equipped for the religious and moral training of the new men, and these churches in co-operation with the students' Y. M. C. A. offer the freshmen excellent opportunities to develop their moral qualities.

Taking up the question of the election of the class officers, he discussed the work of these men and how long their term in office lasted.

TWO SOCIETIES TO CONVENE JOINTLY

Phi and Di Will Discuss Special
Resolution at Meeting
February 17.

The greater part of the Phi Assembly meeting Tuesday night was taken up with the initiation of B. Lanier, of Davidson county; A. L. Jacobs, of Bellmore, New York; and J. D. Matheson, of Hoke county.

W. W. McKee from the Di Senate announced that the senators passed a resolution calling for a joint meeting of the two organizations in the senate hall February 17 to discuss a resolution to be determined by the Ways and Means Committee of the two bodies. After the assembly had approved the senate's resolution, Speaker Whittenton appointed Representative Lanier to fill a vacancy on the Ways and Means Committee.

Representative Lanier presented a bill calling for the establishment by the University executive council, the business manager, and the business managers of the various athletic and entertainment organizations on the campus, of a central office for the distribution of all athletic and entertainment tickets. The bill was passed unanimously without discussion.

The Di Senate, at its regular weekly meeting Tuesday night, decided that the students have too little control over their own extra-curricular activities.

The bill stating that students have too little control over their own extra-curricular activities, was passed by a large majority. The measure was supported by Senators Ramsay, Medford, Whitaker, and Herkimer.

Durham Kiwanians Attend Local Meet

Several members from Durham attended the meeting of the local Kiwanis club Tuesday night and delivered short talks.

Dr. E. C. Metzenthin, professor of German, spoke for an hour on the growing demand for an international language. He illustrated the reasons for such a demand by his own experiences and observations while traveling through foreign countries in Europe, Asia, and Africa. He indicated the underlying principles for such an artificial language, which must be simple, rich, clear, easy to learn, and creative. It should have few grammatical rules and no exceptions.

OLD MELODRAMA TO BE PRODUCED IN UNIQUE FORM

Playmaker Production is Praised
By Koch as a Classic In Its Field.

The Carolina Playmakers will give tonight their initial presentation of the winter quarter program, East Lynn, dramatized from the novel by Mrs. Henry Wood. It will again be presented Friday and Saturday nights of this week.

This number of the Playmakers, a classic favorite of the old stock companies, will be done tonight in ultra modern dress. An attempted aim of the Playmakers under the technical director, Samuel Selden, is to bring out fresh values for the modern audience by presenting the play against a background of psychological scenery.

Professor Frederick H. Koch has said of the production: "East Lynn is a classic in the realm of melodrama. Written in dignified, though stilted, language, it is really good English. Since it was first adapted from the popular novel of Mrs. Henry Wood in the eighteen-sixties, it has been a general favorite in both England and America. Even today it is constantly played by itinerant Tent and Hall Repertory companies of the ten-twenty-three cent theatre in the small towns throughout the country. Not thirty miles from Boston recently it played to capacity audiences in a theatre that had been playing to empty seats, and the whole audience wept sincerely and copiously over the tragic fate of Lady Isabel. To many the tragic heroine of East Lynn is the equivalent of Lady Macbeth of the more dignified theatre."

Infirmiry List

There are still several students in the infirmiry suffering from colds. E. A. Neely, J. T. Phipps, R. H. Morgan, E. S. Gilreath, D. Charles De Wolfe, S. V. Wheelless, and Freemont Shephard were confined yesterday.

Psychology Instructor Starts
Extension Class In Sanford

H. N. DeWick, instructor in the psychology department, started an extension class in Sanford yesterday on "The Psychology of Personality."

Mrs. Lipscomb to Entertain

A luncheon will be given today at the Carolina Inn by Mrs. W. E. Lipscomb, of Durham. Seventeen guests have been invited.

Decent Salaries Necessary For Better Instruction, Says Graham

President Frank P. Graham of the University presented the cause of public education in North Carolina to the members of the senior high school Parent-Teachers' Association who came together in Greensboro Tuesday evening for their regular meeting.

President Graham, speaking as a representative of the public education system of the state gave warning after warning to the effect that small so-called economies which strike at the heart of the education program form an inexcusable, unsound and un-businesslike method of meeting emergencies. The University's president indicated that a decent salary is a necessary adjunct to the maintenance of the high standards of excellence in moral and intellectual training which have led this state out of ignorance, poverty, and despair into happiness and prosperity. This cut is not objected to on the grounds that the teachers are unwilling to allow a ten per cent reduction on their salary but because history has proved that a decent salary is a part of the equipment of every good teacher and the best service cannot be rendered without it.

Mrs. F. L. Blackwood, first vice-president of the Parent-Teachers' Association presided over the meeting in the absence of its president. Following President Graham's address there was a short business session. Mr. R. D. Douglas introduced the speaker.

President Graham began his talk by stating that there are four factors to which the progress of this country are responsible; the abundance of natural resources; efficient business organization; wide use of labor saving devices; and an efficient public school system.

"The calm second thought of the people of North Carolina surely show them that there will not be less public education but, rather, more of it. The spiritual and moral resources furnished by the educational institutions guide every other worth while activity in the state. The effectiveness of a school system is not to be judged by the excellence of its buildings but by the strength of its teaching faculty, the personality of its teachers, and those qualities and ideals inside the school," President Graham said.

"Teachers would willingly sacrifice their ten per cent on the altar of this commonwealth, if that would be fair. But experience has taught that a decent salary is necessary for the better instruction of our youths. Teaching brings in the smallest returns of any occupation, and yet it requires as much training and ability as any other profession. Many teachers would work without pay if this were possible. The failure of the public to provide a decent salary scale for teachers has the tendency to drive out the best instructors and to impair the efficiency of those who remain.

"The teachers have not been on a joy ride and they should

WAR BLAMED FOR ECONOMIC SLUMP

Dr. Schwenning Discusses
Cause of Present Depression at Meeting of Engineers.

The American Institute of Chemical Engineers was addressed by Dr. G. T. Schwenning, of the commerce school, Tuesday night. He touched on some of the causes of our present industrial and economic situation.

Dr. Schwenning used graphs to point out how far below normal present economic activity is today.

Production has outrun consumption so far that there is an enormous surplus which industries can find no market for. However, there is a tremendous unemployment which needs the surplus, but cannot get it," he said.

"The World War should receive much of the blame for the present industrial slump. American industries have not been able to liquidate sufficiently after the war. The whole economic structure of the world was shaken loose, and a new industrial balance was reached among the nations," explained Dr. Schwenning. "In this balance, the United States pushed England and Germany down. America has changed from a debtor nation to a creditor nation, world markets have shifted and declined; and the production capacity of the United States has increased to an extent that she is able to supply the rest of the world with its needs. Another problem is the war debt that Germany owes America. Germany can either pay us in money or in goods. We do not want the

MASONIC ORDER DEDICATES LODGE

Old Baptist Church Renovated
As Temple for Local Masons.

The members of the University Masonic Lodge dedicated their new temple Monday night at a meeting attended by Masons from Chapel Hill, Raleigh, Durham, Sanford, Pittsboro, Burlington, and many other nearby lodges. After dinner in the new temple, they were entertained by a musical program.

The new lodge is situated on the corner of Church and Franklin streets, and was the old Baptist church. Recently the local lodge decided to renovate the old church which had not been in use for many years, and to use it as a place of meeting. Funds were raised and the remodeling finished last week. Monday night's meeting was the first held in their new quarters.

When University Lodge was chartered January 1, 1888, it began to meet in an old brick building on the site of the present Baptist church. The members met there for twenty-three years, then changed to the Brockwell building, where they have met since 1911.

At the time the Baptist church was built, J. H. Andrews of Carrboro allotted the land and made a liberal donation toward the expenses of erecting a church. It was constructed of brick from Williamsburg, Virginia, the old town which is now being reconstructed by John D. Rockefeller because of its history and traditions.

In rebuilding the old church, the Masons have not altered the

Radio Spanish

The second lesson in the elementary Spanish course, called "Radio Spanish X," will be given over radio station WPTF in Raleigh at 4:45 this afternoon. This is the first regular lesson, the former lesson being on pronunciation.

Professor N. B. Adams, of the department of Romance languages, will give the lesson today, which will be followed by ten other lessons, one each week. Lesson sheets to be used during the course can be secured from the extension department of the University.

PERSONALITY OF GOYA REFLECTED IN NEW DANCES

Colorful Spanish Danseuse Will Be First Performer in New Memorial Hall.

Carola Goya, who is the first performer offered on the entertainment program to appear in the new Memorial hall, is expected to arrive in Chapel Hill shortly before noon, Friday.

In the past the custom was to fete and entertain the guest artists extensively when they came here on their tours. Now, however, this practice has been abandoned, partly at the request of the artists themselves and partly because of lack of funds.

There will be reserved seats for the performance Friday night. Only about one-third of the liberal arts students who are entitled to and who have paid for their tickets, have called for them. The office of the dean of the liberal arts school, where these tickets may be secured, is open from nine in the morning until five in the afternoon, and the passes may be received at any time between these hours.

The program of dances by Senorita Goya are exceptional, judging from the comments made by those who have seen the performance. The press of Europe joins in the praise of the New York papers, in acclaiming her as one of the sensational dancers of the last few years.

The Musical American, states:—"Miss Goya's charm lies in her romantic personality, her dramatic grasp of a composition, and intelligent feeling for rhythm. She has a splendid body and a lively temperament which were best in evidence in a dance called 'Cordoba' performed with poetic feeling. She looked like an enchantress in some jasmine scented garden in Spain—a dangerous figure in the moonlight. The audience also greatly enjoyed her 'Fado'—the dance of a Portuguese fisher girl—and 'Mi Negrita,' a Cuban number, which she performed with such taste and fire she was asked to repeat them."

INDIRECT AID GIVEN TO FARMERS BY SWAIN HALL

For some time in the past, Swain Hall has been helping the farmers indirectly by obtaining their butter from local creameries. Among the creameries from which Swain gets its butter are the following: Durham Dairy Products Co., Pet Milk Co., of Burlington, Mooresboro Creamery of Mooresboro, and the Rowan Creamery of Salisbury. The milk for butter made by these companies is obtained from the farmers in their respective communities. The Durham creamery collects milk from farmers in Chatham, Orange, and Durham counties.

GRAHAM BACKED BY TRUSTEES IN FINANCE MATTER

Sum Demanded from Legislature by President is Endorsed
At Raleigh Meeting.

At the meeting of trustees of the University presided over by Governor O. Max Gardner in his office in Raleigh on Tuesday afternoon, the move of President Frank P. Graham in asking for an appropriation of $875,000 for maintenance and operation of the University plant for the next biennium, was approved. The meeting also approved the motion appointing a committee to appear before the appropriations committee of the general assembly to request that the sum asked for be appropriated.

The bill for the consolidation of the boards of the three state maintained schools, the University, State College, and North Carolina College, as one was discussed. Governor Gardner, in the discussion, intimated that he planned to send a special message to the general assembly urging that body to declare itself in favor of the proposal, with the details to be worked out later. However, the bill for consolidation has not yet been drawn up.

This consolidation was one of the governor's recommendations to the assembly. It is thought that it will take some time for this union to go into effect and no immediate change will be advocated in regard to the re-appointment of the boards of trustees for the three schools during the next two years. With the 1933 assembly it is hoped that the consolidation plan, which this assembly will start, may be completed.

President Graham said that the University faculty was in favor of full consideration of the matter and that no hasty decisions should be reached. A faculty committee is now making

NEW BUILDING IS ABOUT COMPLETE

Structure Is Finished With Exception of Ceiling and Wall Painting.

The new auditorium according to the architect, T. C. Atwood, is now complete with the exception of the ceiling and wall painting.

The purpose of delaying the painting is to give the plastering time to dry thoroughly, in order that the final coat will be better and more permanent. When the plaster is perfectly dry, a much smoother and finer coat of paint can be put on than is possible now.

The architect also states that the acoustic properties will be less perfect at present because of the wooden benches used in old Memorial hall. When the building is equipped with upholstered seats, as it was designed, the acoustics will be corrected. The designer of the acoustics for the auditorium, Professor Sabine, one of the nation's most outstanding authorities on the subject, figured on the basis of upholstered seats, Mr. Atwood said yesterday.

When the auditorium is well filled little difference will be noticed, but with only a small audience there may be some reverberation. When other seats are installed this will disappear.
