

ACCIDENT FATAL TO NEGRO DRIVER

One negro was killed instantly and another injured early Thursday morning when a Chevrolet truck they were in ran into a telegraph pole, turned on its side and was consumed by flames. The dead man was Jasper Miller, and both the riders were residents of South Hill, Virginia. His death was laid to a severely fractured skull, and his body was brought to Chapel Hill to be prepared for the funeral that took place yesterday in South Hill.

The other occupant, Wade Malone, was not seriously injured, suffering from a blow on the head and several scratches about the face. He was carried to the Lincoln hospital in Durham about three o'clock in a state of coma from which he recovered forty-five minutes after he arrived.

Nothing could be learned from him about the accident except that he was asleep on the back seat and remembers nothing until he came to in the hospital. It was gathered therefore that Miller, the dead man, was driving at the time of the wreck although this cannot be substantiated. Malone is resting well now and should be out of bed by Monday.

Miller, the supposed driver, was judged to be twenty years of age while Malone seemed to be about twenty-three. The truck belonged to the South Boston Shoe Shop and the two negroes worked for this firm.

There are at present no grounds on which to hold Malone, and unless further evidence is brought forth he will not be held. Policeman J. D. Blake of the local police force took charge at the scene of the catastrophe, and took the injured man to Durham. U. M. Rackley, also of the local force, took charge of affairs here in the community and looked after the body.

240 Students on N.C.C.W. Honor Roll

Greensboro, February 27.—North Carolina College counts 240 students on the honor roll because of excellent work in the first semester, according to statistics just secured from the office of Miss Mary Taylor Moore, registrar. The number on the roll represents about 16 per cent of the student body, which last semester was made up of 1,734 women.

All students whose average for the semester was a grade of B were put in the honor-class. Many of the 240 made no grade lower than B. Eleven of the number made no grade lower than A. Nine seniors whose names are on the list have been on the honor roll since they entered the college in 1927.

Students who made no grade lower than A during the last semester are named in the following list: Mabel Aderholdt, Lexington; Ellen Fletcher, Salisbury; Pansy McConnell, Gastonia; Fleeta Martin, Dunn; Pauline Moser, Lewisville; Rebecca Rhodes, Bessemer City; Virginia Stecker, Ford Bragg; Evelyn Underwood, Waynesville; Mary Jane Wharton, Greensboro.

Seniors whose names have stood on the roll of honor for four years as follows: Louisa Hatch, Hamlet; Gladys Hicks, Rockingham; Fleeta Martin, Dunn; Charlotte Purcell, Salisbury; Manie Robinson, Norven; Matilda Robinson, Greensboro; Helen Seifert, New Bern; Mary Jane Wharton, Greensboro; Peggy Ann Williams, Asheville.

The standing of the four classes so far as percentage of their numbers on the roll is concerned is shown in this schedule; seniors, 33 per cent; juniors, 21 per cent; sophomores, 15 per cent; freshmen, nearly 7 per cent.

the tournament last year. Duke will feel the loss of Werber, Farley, and "Chalky" Councilar, although Capelli, Shaw, and Robertshaw have played good basketball this year. The brunt of Duke's attack will be borne by the two co-captains, Croson and Rogers. The Blue Devils may come through this year but it will be a big upset if they do.

N. C. State is in the same boat with Duke. In Gammon, Johnson, Morgan, Rose, Clark, and Gurneau, "Doc" Sermon has a well coached squad of players. If State survives the opening game with Kentucky, they will be hard to down.

Georgia Tech, Auburn, and Kentucky have fine teams. The Yellow Jacket cagemen have shown signs of great power at times this season. In a short tournament they may reach to form and cop the title. Tech has Gooding and Phillips at the forward positions, Herron and Mathis, guards, and Perkins at center. Kentucky has one of the fastest teams in the South. They have been ranked third by the committee, which may mean something or nothing. Auburn's Plainsmen have had a successful season and may cause some trouble before its all over.

North Carolina, winner of more Southern Conference basketball championships than any other school, is not a very big threat this year. In fact, the Tar Heels will have a fight on their hands if they survive the opening round play when they meet Vanderbilt. Tennessee, L. S. U., and Florida have only fair teams this season.
