NUMBER 125

JOHNNY HAMP TO PLAY FOR JUNIOR AND SENIOR BALL

Elaborate Plans Made for Joint
Dance to Be Given in Tin
Can April 24-25.

Contrary to the usual custom in the past of holding two separate dances, the Junior and Senior classes have decided to combine the class dances as the Junior-Senior Ball, which will occur on April 24-25.

The committees in charge of the arrangements for the affair have secured Johnny Hamp and his "Kentucky Serenaders" to furnish the music for the occasion. Hamp's orchestra, which is considered one of the leading ten orchestras in the country, is very popular in this section of the country.

The first of these two dances will be the Junior Prom and is to occur in the Tin Can Friday, April 24, from nine till one o'clock. The annual Senior Ball, will take place in the Tin Can between the hours of nine and twelve the following night.

Representatives of the Junior class on the executive committee in charge of all arrangements are: Theron Brown, president of the class, Jack Dungan, Jack Farris, John Phil Cooper, and Steve Lynch. Those from the Senior class are Pat Patterson, president of the class, John Idol, Cliff Baucom, William Cooper, and K. C. Ramsay.

According to plans now under consideration the color scheme or motif for the decorations will be predominantly black and white. There will be a large crystal ball with reflecting surfaces in the center of the room. In all of the appointments, elaborate formality will be emphasized.

Many patronesses from various parts of the state are expected to attend this ball. No one who is not a member of either the Junior or the Senior class will be admitted as it is strictly a class function. Two bids will be given to each member of the class, one for himself and one for a guest.

RECTOR, MERRITT ARE CHOSEN FOR DEBATE CONTEST

Beatty Rector and W. D. Merritt were chosen to represent the University in the debate with Asbury College, of Wilmore, Kentucky, Tuesday in the Chapel Hill high school auditorium. The subject is Resolved: That the Nations of the World Should Adopt a Policy of Free Trade. Carolina will uphold the affirmative.

The Proconian Club, forensic group in the local high school, has invited the debaters to hold this contest in their auditorium since the date of the debate is the night before final examinations.

The decision will be by shift of audience vote. Asbury College is one of the schools to which the University is sending a team in April.

Alpha Kappa Delta Banquet

Alpha Kappa Delta, sociological fraternity will give their initial banquet Monday evening in the Carolina Inn at six-fifteen o'clock. Dean I. H. Manning and Dean C. T. McCormick, of the medical and law schools respectively, and Dr. J. F. Dashiell, of the psychology department, will be the speakers.

His educational activities have included positions as lecturer at McGill University from 1914 to 1916 and at Harvard from 1916 to 1920, vice-chairman of the British Institute of Adult Education, member of council of the Institute of Public Administration, and lecturer on political science at Magdalene College, Cambridge, from 1922 to 1923. Professor Laski has been connected with the London School of Economics since 1920 and has been professor of political science at the University of London since 1926.

Among the works of which he is author are: The Problem of Sovereignty (1917), Authority in the Modern State (1919), Political Thought from Locke to Bentham (1920), Foundations of Sovereignty (1921), Letters of Burke (ed. 1922), The Defense of Liberty Against Tyrants (1924), Autobiography of J. S. Mill (ed. 1924), A Grammar of Politics (1925), Communism (1927).

Professor Laski has also written many articles which have appeared in New Republic, Harvard Law Review, the Nation, Manchester Guardian, and other magazines.

The lectures which he will deliver here, under the general head "Democracy and Administration," will be on the specific topics "The Crisis in the Modern State," "The Place of Administration in the Modern State," and "The Expert in Democracy."

DELTA SIGMA PI GIVES BANQUET

Duke Professor Is Speaker at Joint Meeting of Two Chapters.

At a joint banquet of the University and N. C. State chapters of Delta Sigma Pi, professional commerce fraternity, given in the Carolina Inn Friday night, Dr. Charles B. Elwood, professor of sociology at Duke University, was principal speaker.

Dr. Elwood took as his topic "The Business Man and Social Problems," pointing out the need for business men to establish a code of ethics similar to those which have grown up in other professionalized fields. The speaker then undertook to show how this code can more easily and more effectively be developed in a college fraternity than in any other organization. He also demonstrated that business men have become rather lax in their governmental responsibilities.

President Frank P. Graham, Dean Brown of the school of commerce at State, Dean D. D. Carroll of the University school of commerce, and Dr. C. C. Taylor of N. C. State graduate school were among the guests attending the banquet.

Extension Division Will Conduct Tour

The extension division of the University, in cooperation with the geology department, will conduct a sixty day motor tour to the west coast this summer, starting from Chapel Hill June 7.

The trip will cover more than 9000 miles and will take the travelers through twenty states. Six of the most important national parks will be included in the itinerary and Pike's Peak, Mt. Lassen—the only active volcano in the United States and other places of geological interest will be visited.

J. B. Whitener, superintendent of schools at Maiden, will be manager of the tour.

Sociology Eleven

In response to many requests from students, Dr. E. R. Groves will give the course, sociology eleven, on marriage and the family next quarter. The course will be open to men seniors only, and is scheduled for twelve every day.

LIBRARY EXHIBITS RARE EDITIONS OF THOREAU'S WORKS

Dr. Adams' Collection of Essayist's Books Displayed for Literature Class.

The books now on exhibition in the entrance of the University library are first editions of the works of Henry D. Thoreau and are being displayed for the American literature class, English 59. These are a part of a collection of four hundred books by or pertaining to Thoreau, which Dr. Raymond Adams of the English department has gathered during the past seven years.

The display consists of ten first editions of Thoreau, and one book from Thoreau's library contains his signature. Included in the collection are two of the rarest books in American literature—the first edition of A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers, published in 1849, and a first edition of Walden, published in 1854.

Two recent books, Sir Walter Raleigh, and The Service, published since 1900, represent essays discovered among manuscripts of lectures delivered by Thoreau.

The book containing Thoreau's signature was his mineralogy textbook which he gave to Ralph Waldo Emerson's daughter, Ellen. The book was given to Mr. Adams last summer by Raymond Emerson, grandson of the Concord author.

Other first editions of Thoreau's works which are on display are: Excursions, 1863; Poems of Nature, 1895; Letters to Various Persons, 1865; The Maine Woods, 1864; Cape Cod, 1865; A Yankee in Canada, with Anti-Slavery and Reform Papers, 1866.

Mr. Adams stated that he saw the first edition of Walden, which he now owns, advertised in a book dealers catalog less than five years ago for $6. This edition now sells anywhere from $100 to $500. The edition of Excursions was bought from a dealer for $3 who failed to realize the recent increase in value of first editions of Thoreau's works. This is the second copy of Excursions owned by Mr. Adams, and is interesting to North Carolinians because the book once belonged to a sea captain who wrote a note on one of the pages telling of having seen certain diving birds in Newbern which Thoreau mentions having seen in Massachusetts.

Mr. Adams has one of the 1862 copies of A Week on the Concord and Merrimack Rivers which is as rare as a first edition. This is a first edition with a new title page and is one of the seven hundred copies returned to Thoreau unsold. After his death, these books were re-bought by the publishers and re-issued in 1862.

Charity Show

The attraction at the Carolina theatre this afternoon will be Lupe Velez in the movie version of "The Storm." This production, it is claimed, shows the Mexican star at her best.

The presentation this afternoon will start at two-thirty with a cartoon comedy and a travelogue which will be followed by the feature. The proceeds of the show will be to aid theological students.

Wilkinson Honored

John Wilkinson was named yesterday by Ransom Whittenton, retiring president of the Philanthropic Assembly, to membership for the year 1931-32 on the University debate council.

Wilkinson is known as a foremost debater, having represented the University on numerous occasions in this field of activity. This appointment comes as a climax to his forensic career here.

ELLIS AND STARK TO SPEAK BEFORE STATE REALTORS

Annual Real Estate Institute
Will Be Held Here Monday and Tuesday.

Various phases of the real estate business will be studied at the second annual Real Estate Institute, which will convene at the University tomorrow and Tuesday.

Local arrangements are being made by Morgan F. Vining, of the University extension division, who is planning for a good sized attendance of realtors from all sections of the State.

The principal speakers at the two-day session will be Guy W. Ellis, of Detroit, and Paul E. Stark, of Madison, Wisconsin, both prominent in the real estate field. Mr. Ellis is a former president of the Michigan Real Estate Board and for three years served as a member of the executive committee of the home builders and subdividers' division of the National Association of Real Estate Boards. He is also a member of the advisory council of the American Real Estate Institute. He is president of the Guy W. Ellis Real Estate Company, and has been in the real estate business in Detroit for 14 years.

Mr. Stark has served as first vice-president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards and was chairman of the committee on real estate education for a number of years. He has acted as president and secretary of both the Madison Real Estate Board and the Wisconsin Association of Real Estate Brokers. He is president of the Paul E. Stark Company, of Madison.

The convention here will deal with various phases of the real estate business, including such topics as principles of urban land values, advantages of a real estate investment, merchandise methods as applied to the sale of real estate and others.

FOURTEEN SCOUT EXECUTIVES MEET IN SEMINAR HERE

Fourteen Boy Scout executives were in Chapel Hill Thursday, Friday, and Saturday for the Boy Scout seminar held in the seminar room of the psychology building. There were five different meetings, each of three hours' duration.

At the first meeting Thursday night, W. F. Prouty, of the geology department, spoke on "Geology" and D. L. Fouts, Scout executive, on "Cubbing."

On Friday morning the executives heard M. R. Trabue, of the education department, on "Tests and Measurements," and H. F. Comer, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., on "The Youth Movement." "Ornithology" was the subject taken by J. M. Valentine, of the zoology department, for the seminar Friday afternoon, while Executive Stuckey spoke on "District Organization."

"The Negro," by Guy Johnson, of the department of social science, and "Bulletin Service," by Executive Shieles, were the topics at the Friday night meeting. After H. D. Wolf, of the economics and commerce department, gave a talk Saturday morning on "Labor Problems," some business matters were taken up and the meeting adjourned.
