

DANIELS, GRAHAM WILL APPEAR ON DINNER PROGRAM

Publicity Association Banquet
And Dance, April 24, Will Be Important Convention Event.

One of the outstanding features of the meeting of the American College Publicity Association, which will convene here April 23, 24 and 25, will be the annual convention banquet and dance, a formal affair which will be given at the Carolina Inn on Friday evening, April 24.

The banquet will be the highlight of the three-day sessions and according to plans, it will be a brilliant social event. In addition to the delegates, a few outsiders will be invited.

Speakers at the banquet will be Josephus Daniels, Raleigh newspaper publisher and Secretary of the Navy in the Wilson Cabinet, and President Frank P. Graham of the University. Robert M. Madry, director of the University News Bureau, who is convention secretary, will be toastmaster.

A special feature of the banquet will be a sketch consisting of take-offs on the convention. This is being worked up by the New York delegation.

The Carolina Buccaneers, one of the best student orchestras turned out here in recent years, will play at both the banquet and dance. The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock and the dance at 9:30.

Indications are that around one hundred delegates, publicity directors of leading colleges and universities all over the country, will attend the convention. California is sending a delegation of half a dozen, New York State is sending more than a dozen, Pennsylvania is sending fourteen, Illinois is sending eight and other states likewise will be well represented. Robert W. Madry is chairman of the committee on local arrangements.

STOCK EXCHANGE OFFICIAL SPEAKS TO CAROLINA MEN

Cameron Beck Talks on Necessity
Of Preparation for Business
Career.

Cameron Beck, personnel director in the New York Stock Exchange, spoke to an interested group of listeners yesterday morning during chapel hour.

His talk centered about character and the necessity of a boy's being prepared before entering business. He told of the methods of employment by the Stock Exchange, and the selection of employees for further advancement.

Mr. Beck stated that a young man should have a definite plan for the line of work which he intends to follow. Next to purpose, he should have perseverance, and carry out his plan successfully by being able to turn down all discouragements which face him. Above all, Mr. Beck said that character was the first step toward a successful life. This is the first qualification which an employee of the New York Stock Exchange must possess. No man can be happy and prosper long by underhand methods.

He gave several examples of employment methods which he uses, showing that the boy who has a definite purpose, perseverance, and character gains for himself a position to be envied.

"Carrboro Limited" Runs Off Track

While shifting cars below the University power plant yesterday, the "Carrboro Limited" made a slip that attracted many students to the scene. The train backed in to pick up the empty gondola from which stone for the bell tower had been removed, and rolled too far, pushing the rear wheels of the car off the end of the rails.

The brakeman and conductor pried with some handy cross-ties, and after much blowing and puffing, the engine finally dragged the wayward car back on the track. Then, like a licked pup, the "limited" crept slowly out to Carrboro.

Emerson Gill

GILL IS ENGAGED FOR MAY FROLIC

Popular Band, Now at Bamboo
Gardens in Cleveland, Will Play for Annual Dance.

After many weeks of negotiation word has been finally received by the May Frolic committee that Emerson Gill and his Columbia Recording Orchestra will play for the second annual May Frolic.

The May Frolic was inaugurated last year by a group of fraternities on the campus with the purpose of promoting a bond of friendship and good will between the fraternities and to give a set of dances that would suitably replace the old German Club Easter dances which were done away with at the time the Easter holidays were changed to the present spring holidays.

Last year the May Frolic was given on the second and third of May and met with such wide approval that it was definitely fixed as an annual affair. With this view in mind a permanent organization was formed composed of the following fraternities: Zeta Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Nu, Kappa Sigma, and Beta Theta Pi. The following officers were elected: president, Art Sickles; vice-president, Willis Henderson; secretary-treasurer, Buck Snow; and dance leader, Dail Holderness. Besides those already mentioned, on the committee in charge of arrangements this year are: Henry Anderson; Clyde Dunn, and John Jamison.

No pains have been spared to make this year's May Frolic one of the most brilliant social events of the year and in selecting the music of Emerson Gill the committee feels that they have one of the country's outstanding orchestras. It is at present playing at the Bamboo Gardens, and is also broadcasting over station WTAM. Before then they broadcasted over the Columbia chain through WABC.

Carolina's Two "Grand Old Men"

DR. M. C. S. NOBLE

Dr. M. C. S. Noble (left), retired dean of the school of education, celebrated his seventy-sixth birthday at his home here Sunday, March 15. Dr. Noble has been on the faculty of the University since 1898. He has been president of the Bank of Chapel Hill for twenty-five years, and is greatly respected in the town and University being given the title of "grand old man of North Carolina education."

Dr. Collier Cobb (right), head of the department of geology in the University and one of the most universally beloved members of the faculty, celebrated his sixty-ninth birthday Saturday, March 21. Dr. Cobb still enjoys the best of health and is known as one of the jolliest men in the University.

PROFESSOR COLLIER COBB

STATE BRANCH OF A. A. U. W. TO MEET AT DUKE APRIL 24

Dr. Kathryn McHale and Professor Winifred Cullis Will Be Guest Speakers.

Dr. Kathryn McHale, executive and educational secretary of the American Association of University Women, and Professor Winifred Cullis, president of the International Federation of University Women, will be the guest speakers at the annual meeting of the North Carolina division, to be held in Durham April 24 and 25, it was announced today by Miss Katherine Jocher, publicity chairman of the North Carolina division.

All meetings will be held on the campus of the Women's College of Duke University. Dr. McHale will be the speaker at the banquet on Friday night which marks the formal opening of the conference and at which time the guests and delegates will be entertained by Duke University. Professor Cullis will be the speaker at luncheon on Saturday.

A new and special feature of this meeting will be the conference on collegiate and vocational education of girls in secondary schools, led by Dr. McHale.

Dr. McHale has held important positions as professor of education at Goucher College, Columbia University during summer sessions, and at the University of Minnesota. She is, also, a member of the National Child Study Association, and the White House Conference on Child Health and Protection.

Professor Cullis, who was born in Gloucester, studied at the London School of Medicine for Women in 1901. She is now head of the department of physiology at that school; and has held a professorship at the University of London, not to mention several important positions with the government and foreign universities.

ENGINEERS HEAR N. P. HAYES TELL OF NEW BUILDING

Carolina Steel Company Official
Describes Construction of Bank of Manhattan.

N. P. Hayes, vice-president of the Carolina Steel and Iron Company of Greensboro spoke to the members of the William Cain Society, student branch of the American Society of Civil Engineers, on "The Erection of the Manhattan Bank" when the students met Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock in room 319 Phillips hall.

Hayes divided his lecture into two parts and illustrated each with films furnished him by the American Institution of Steel Construction. The first subject with which he dealt was the newly created battle deck flooring.

This new flooring has been tested by the severest conditions as found in the wear and strain on battleship flooring. Also the material is adaptable to blend with the finest and most luxurious furnishings of ocean liners. Mr. Hayes pointed out that modern office buildings were also adopting this floor because of the saving in weight and space. The reduction in weight lightens the frame construction of the buildings, and the difference in thickness saves a great deal. In a construction of twenty stories twelve feet in height can be eliminated by using the new material, says Hayes.

The second part of the lecture treated with the construction of the Bank of Manhattan. According to the Carolina Steel representative, this construction was an epic in steel. Where the average time for building such a structure had been two years this building was completed in half the time.

When the skyscraper was finished it was the tallest in the

Classes To Nominate Candidates Tonight

Members of the freshman, sophomore and junior classes will meet tonight at seven-thirty for the purpose of nominating candidates for their class offices next year for the election which is to take place Tuesday, March 31.

Students in the Class of '34 are to meet in Gerrard hall, Class of '33 in Bingham hall, and Class of '32 in Murphey hall. Men from each class will be nominated for each of the following offices in the respective rising classes: president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, and the representative on the student council.

N. N. Kedroff

KEDROFF QUARTET HIGHLY PRAISED

Perfection of Famed Musicians,
Who Appear Here Tuesday,
Especially Noteworthy.

The Kedroff Quartet, internationally famous musicians and singers, will appear in Memorial hall Tuesday night at eight-thirty to present a selected collection of Russian folk songs and classics.

Everywhere they have appeared, they have been heralded as the most wonderful phenomenon of the vocal world today to use the words of Koussevitzky and The New York Post. Walter Damrosch, director of the New York Symphony Orchestra, gave them a special invitation to appear as soloists with the orchestra at Mecca Temple, New York. They were recalled eight times before the curtain, and it is a rare instance to have a vocal quartet sing without accompaniment with one of the great orchestras.

There are few, if any, vocal quartets in existence of the same type as the Kedroff ensemble. Before their organization, quartet singing was regarded as inconsequential, not to be taken seriously because of the difficulty of perfecting it. It required long years of practice and devotional work to achieve the results they have reached. Their sole aim is attaining perfection, the perfection of a group of string instruments, combined with unity of interpretation. It is their desire to keep any one voice from gaining ascendancy over the others that causes the strange effect of a single instrument playing.

A. J. Warner, of the Rochester Times-Union writes, "I have never heard a quartet in the least like the Kedroff ensemble, which is different even in the arrangement of its personnel on the stage, the baritone standing at the side of the first tenor, with the second tenor placed between the baritone and the bass."

STATE DRAMATIC TOURNAMENT IS TO BEGIN TODAY

Presentation of Plays by Clubs
And Junior Colleges Opens
Program at Three O'clock.

This afternoon at three o'clock, the eighth annual festival of the Carolina Dramatic Association will be opened. The preliminary contest of the community clubs and junior colleges will begin at that time. The Accomplish, by Abigail Marshall will be presented by Mars Hill college. Following this, the Reid Players, of Reidsville, will present Behold the Man, by Brandon Tyman.

At 4:30 o'clock the representatives will register at the Playmakers theatre. Registration will conclude the program for the afternoon.

Delegates (except the director) from each club of the association will pay a registration fee of one dollar, which will admit them to all sessions of the festival. Admission to any one performance of plays for those not registered will be fifty cents. Group tickets, good for all plays presented during the festival, will be sold for $1.50.

Tonight at 7:30, the contest in original plays of the community clubs and junior colleges will be held. The Woman's Club, of Seaboard, will present The Evidence, and Mars Hill college will offer as its part of the evening's program, His Heritage, written by Frances Barnes. At nine o'clock, the final contest in play production of the community clubs and junior colleges will be held. The Drums of Oude, written by Austin Strong, will be presented by the Rocky Mount Theatre Guild, after which the winner of the contest in the afternoon will be announced.

An exhibit of play-books, cos-

STUDENT REPORTS TO OCCUPY LAW SCHOOL SEMINAR

Labor Injunctions and Yellow-Dog
Contracts Are Subjects for the Morning.

"Legislative Limitations upon the Labor Injunction and Yellow-Dog Contracts" will be the subject of discussion by the law school seminar on administration of justice, this morning at ten-thirty o'clock, under the supervision of Professor M. T. Van Hecke.

The following papers of ten minutes duration each will furnish the basis for discussion: "The History of the Labor Injunction," W. W. Johnson; "Legislative Limitations on the Scope of Labor Injunctions," L. J. Giles; "Legislative Limitations on Procedure in the Issuance of Labor Injunctions," R. M. Gray; "Jury Trials in Contempt Proceedings under Labor Injunctions," Allen Langston; "Legislative Nullification of Yellow-Dog Contracts," E. M. Perkins.

The seminar will be attended by the economics class in trade unionism under Professor H. D. Wolf, the economics class in government and business under Professor Richard J. Hobbs, and the law class in equity under Professor Van Hecke. The discussion of the student papers will be led by Professors Wolf and Hobbs and by Professor Duane McCracken, of the economics department of Guilford College.
