

Appointments To Fellowships Announced By Graduate School

INCREASE SHOWN IN APPLICATIONS

More Than Three Hundred Apply for Appointments, Compared With Two Hundred Last Year.

The graduate school of the University announces appointments to fellowships. Appointments of University scholars, assistants, and research assistants will be announced later. Dr. Pierson, dean of the graduate school, said:

"The University this year received an unprecedented number of applications for each class of graduate appointments. As an example, for the twenty-six fellowships, there were 314 applicants, an increase of 113. The tabulation of the applications for other appointments is not yet complete, but office files show receipt of more than 300 of them. Altogether, therefore, there are more than 600 applications from men and women who desire to undertake graduate work."

The full list follows:

Botany

Andrew Clark Mathews, A.B., University of North Carolina, 1928; candidate for A.M., ibid., 1931. Alternate: Max Oscar King, B.S., Howard College, 1921; M.S., Tulane University, 1925.

Chemistry

Henry Carrison Thomas, candidate for S.B., University of North Carolina, 1931. Clarence Batrow Drennon, Jr., candidate for B.S., Georgia School of Technology, 1931. Albert Couch Ruggles, B.S., North Carolina State College, 1930. Alternates: Allen Leander Alexander, candidate for S.B., University of North Carolina, 1931. Thomas Basil Douglas, candidate for S.B., University of North Carolina, 1931. Matthew George Henry, candidate for A.B., University of North Carolina, 1931.

Classics

William Johnson Hogan, IV, A.B. College of William and Mary, 1927. Alternate: Benjamin Hawkins Smith, Jr., candidate for A.B. University of North Carolina, 1931.

Economics and Commerce

John McCorkle Akers, A.B. Davidson College 1928; Clement Harold Donovan, candidate for B.S. St. Lawrence University June 1931. Alternates: David Phillip Beaudry, Jr., candidate for B.S. University of Kansas, 1931; Arthur Fletcher, candidate for B.S. University of Pennsylvania, 1931.

Education

Clifford Rose Adams, A.B. University of North Carolina, 1928. Alternate: John Hilliary Andrew Workman, A. B. University of North Carolina 1913.

Engineering

Thomas Moore Riddick, candidate for S.B. in Civil Eng'g., University of North Carolina 1931. Alternate: Norman Luther Bryan, Jr., candidate for S.B. in Civil Eng'g., University of North Carolina 1931.

English

Mitchell Preston Wells, A.B. University of South Carolina 1925, candidate for A.M. University of North Carolina, 1931; Robert Basil Sinclair, A.B. Indiana University 1921; A.M. Columbia University 1922; Arnold Ledgerwood Williams, A.B. University of Notre Dame 1929; A.M. University of North Carolina 1930. Alternates: Dalma
(Continued on next page)

DEPUTATION TEAM TO MAKE TRIP TO GREENVILLE, N. C.

The first deputation team of the year will make a trip to Greenville, North Carolina, on the week-end of April 10-12, under the auspices of the local Y association. The five men who are to make the tour are Ed Hamer, Ed Lanier, Bim Ferguson, John Miller and Bob Barnett.

Leaving the campus early Thursday afternoon, the team will arrive at their destination in time for a supper meeting with the members of the Senior Hi-Y club. Friday morning will be taken up with visits to the five white schools and one colored school in the city. The parent-teachers association is to be visited in the afternoon, and the night will be given over to a joint meeting of the Junior and Senior Hi-Y groups.

The team will lecture Saturday morning to a group of children between the ages of eight and fourteen, and at two o'clock in the afternoon the members of the group are to take a hike with the Boy Scouts of the city, finishing their day's program with a social given in their honor that night.

On Sunday morning each of the five members of the team will attend one of the five Sunday Schools in the city and teach the classes of the younger boys. The men will then motor back to the campus arriving here in time for supper.

This plan of sending out deputation teams to the several cities throughout the state has been in existence for many years, and according to letters sent into the local Y office it has proven quite successful.

DEBATE CONTEST WILL DEAL WITH THE UNEMPLOYED

McBride Fleming-Jones and J. W. Slaughter, of the University debate squad, are scheduled to debate members of the debate squad of Western Reserve University tonight at 8:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall on the subject of "Compulsory Employment Insurance."

The Reserve debaters began their annual debate and speaking tour this year with a trip South, which started Sunday, March 29.

Debates this year and last in which the Reserve squad participated included those between Boston, Rutgers, Notre Dame, Leland Stanford, Southern California, Harvard, Princeton, Detroit universities and others.

Professor George McKee stated that this debate will take the place of the debating squad meeting so far as attendance is concerned.

Dashiell Attends Psychology Meets

J. F. Dashiell is this week attending three kinds of psychological programs. On Wednesday he is to address the Psychology Association of New York University. On Thursday and Friday he is to participate in a symposium at the annual meeting of the Society of Experimental Psychologists, to be held at Vassar College. On Saturday he will read a paper before the Southern Society of Philosophy and Psychology, meeting at the University of Virginia.

CLAUDE BOWERS WILL SPEAK AT COMMENCEMENT

Noted Author and Editor, of the New York World, to Deliver Graduation Address.

A second illustrious newspaper man, Claude G. Bowers, will deliver the annual commencement address this year, Tuesday, June 9. At the graduating exercises in 1930, Dr. John B. Finley, an editor of the New York Times, was the principal speaker.

Claude Bowers is known as an author and editor of eminence. Until its recent purchase by the Scripps-Howard chain, the New York World had Bowers as one of its guiding editorial geniuses. Since beginning his newspaper career in Indiana, he has served as editor and editorial writer on a number of papers, coming finally to the World.

The national Democratic party has had in Bowers one of its strongest supporters. In 1928, it will be remembered, he delivered the famous "to your tents, O Israel," keystone address before the convention that nominated Al Smith for the presidency. In the same year, he was the principal speaker at the annual Jackson Day Dinner in Washington.

His interest in the Democratic party may be due in part to his interest in the founder of the party, Thomas Jefferson, of whose life he has made a thorough study. Among his better known books is Jefferson and Hamilton, in which he makes an analytical comparison of the two which presents Jefferson in a more favorable light than his political enemy. For his work on Jefferson, he was awarded the Jefferson medal, July 4, 1926, on the occasion of the donation of Monticello, Jefferson's historic home, to the nation.

Besides being an author—two
(Continued on last page)

AGNA ENTERS IN DANCE RECITALS BOOKED APRIL 7

Famous Interpreter of Modern Dance Form Is on Entertainment Series.

Agna Enters will be seen here in her "Episodes and Compositions in Dance Form," April 7, in Memorial hall as the next student entertainment program.

A little over five years ago she gave her first concert in New York and the people were held spellbound. Since then she has achieved wonderful success with more appearances in New York and a trip to London.

And so now she is back in this country for a coast to coast tour covering fifty of the largest cities.

The life of this performer is a fairy tale like mystery. Born in this country, she was taken to France at an early age. Her name seems to be of Flemish origin, although she is half French, which may well account for the quality of her intellectual conceptions. There is also a mystery surrounding the dancer. One self appointed biographer says she never had any training in the dance, except a casual attendance at ballet school in Milwaukee. However the fact remains that when still young, Miss Enters had to shift for herself. She started, not as a dancer but as a devotee of the graphic arts. "I wanted to be a painter, really," she says, and the folder distributed by her manager shows that this art was one in which she was especially talented. This accounts for the beauty of her costumes. All of whom were designer by herself, and each is peculiarly fitted to the period and subject she portrays.

It was while a student at the Art Students in New York that she became interested in her episodes. "I felt," she explains, "that if I could work up things in movement, I could find material for my painting."

Post-Election Sidelights Show Interesting Aspects

(By McKee and Silverstein)

The 1931 election is now history, but it will take more than two days to erase from the minds of those who took part in it, the avalanche of interesting sidelights which accompanied the All-Campus landslide.

The holy sanctuary of the Y M. C. A. witnessed a terrific battle of arguments, yells, circulars, tags, and cigars. The cold damp weather forced all the politicians, who were not running around in cars, into the small lobby of the building. The milling crowd howled and stamped from nine in the morning to five.

Each elector was forced to run a gauntlet of frantic and persistent politicians before he could exercise his right to vote. Supporters of the two parties waged a vigorous battle for the most favorable positions in this line. The strategy of Al Olmstead, Harry Hodges, and Tom Broughton was exhibited in enticing the opposition from advantageous points.

The red circulars of the Gil Pearson supporters were easy targets of rubber shooters, professional snatchers, and strong wind blowers. However, one Pearsonite must be admired for his courage and effort in continuing to replace the posters above the entrance to the ballot room.

Chief of the Motor Fleet, Kerr Craig Ramsay, had a busy day directing the traffic of his cohorts. Continuous relays of cars were sent to the "Co-ed Shack" to prevent the fair-damselfs from getting wet-feet (but we noticed that more than one walked back). Jay walkers and pedestrians were continually accosted by drivers and taken to the polls in classy style.

Fred Patterson and Red Allbrook led cheers towards the end of the day from the desk of the self help bureau for any of their candidates whose victory was in doubt. Cries of "Albright" were answered by cries for "Speight."

Jack Dungan for the third successive year was the first man to cast a ballot.

The anti-spit crusade became an issue of the campaign when some of the statesmen passed out Cremo cigars.

One energetic worker for the All-Campus group lost some votes for his side by rising early Tuesday morning and stealing copies of the "Spokesman" from
(Continued on last page)

Over Three Hundred Students On Winter Quarter Honor Roll

COMMITTEES FOR HUMAN RELATIONS INSTITUTE NAMED

Meeting in the first regular meeting of the quarter, the members of the three Y cabinets Monday night discussed some of the plans regarding the Second Quadrennial Institute on Human Relations, which is to be sponsored by the local Y association May 3 through 9.

In the Junior-Senior meeting seven important committees were formed which are to aid in presenting the institute program. The committees include a program committee, whose duty it will be to get the speakers, schedule the meetings, and publish the printed programs. The committee on seminars, was chosen to take charge of selecting the classes whose subject matter might be such that they would be interested in entertaining some of the leaders of the institute. Others include the entertainment, publication, exhibit, house, and conservation committees.

The time of the sophomore cabinet was taken up with discussing plans for arranging a bibliography which would be divided according to the different heads of the departments of the institute. Bob Barnett was appointed to have charge of the formation of this bibliography. Plans for the management of the visitors here during high school week were taken up by the freshman group, and committees were appointed to hold the several debates in the different buildings on the campus.

SENATE APPROVES TWO RESOLUTIONS

Due to the excitement of the campus election little interest was manifested in the Di Senate Tuesday night at its regular session. The first bill, Resolved, that official sanction be given party politics on the campus by printing together on the official ballot the names of the candidates of the respective parties, was passed by a vote of eleven to three. Senator Fleming-Jones spoke in favor of the bill.

The second bill, Resolved, that Governor O. Max Gardner should be censured for his stand on the sales tax, was passed after considerable discussion. Senators Howell, Rutledge, Ramasy, and Little spoke against the bill. Senators Fleming-Jones and Reynolds supported it. The vote was nine to six in favor of the resolution.

Senator Fleming-Jones made his report on the ways and means committee. The third bill on the calendar was not discussed and will receive consideration at the next session.

PHI ASSEMBLY VOTES TO PENSION PROFESSORS

Due, perhaps, to the interest in the campus election, the meeting of the Phi Assembly was very small Tuesday night; however the assembly considered one resolution.

The resolution, Resolved, that the Phi go on record as favoring the resolution that the state establish a system of retirement funds for University professors, was passed after much discussion. Representatives Hobgood, Brown, Kornegay, Carmichael and Campen favored the resolution while Simons, McDuffie and Sisk opposed it.

TWENTY-FIVE GET ALL "A" AVERAGE

Liberal Arts College Leads Undergraduate Schools With a Hundred and Forty-five.

Final statistics from the registrar's office show that 303 students in the undergraduate school made sufficient grades to be placed on the honor roll for the winter quarter, 1931, as compared with 305 for the fall quarter, 1930.

The school of Liberal Arts led all others, having 145 of its members making a "B" average. The School of Education had 50; the school of Commerce, 49; the school of Applied Science, 29; and the school of Engineering, 30. The total number of seniors to take the honor roll was 72; juniors, 71; sophomores, 60; and freshmen, 100.

In the fall quarter, 1930, the school of Liberal Arts had 152 of its members on the honor roll; the school of Education had 40; the school of Commerce, 51; the school of Applied Science, 28; the school of Engineering, 34. The total number of seniors to make the required "B" average was 64; juniors, 74; sophomores, 72; and freshmen, 95.

There were 25 students who made all "A's" during the winter quarter. They are: F. J. Allred, M. V. Barnhill, J. S. Bivens, H. L. Brooks, E. D. Carland, C. J. Dietz, J. C. Eagles, A. S. Engstrom, L. J. Felton, R. B. Freeman, M. P. Gilmour, G. M. Koehl, D. M. Lacy, J. H. Lassiter, Miss G. P. McColl, O. R. D. Massey, J. T. O'Neill, Miss J. P. Parker, R. H. Schnell, E. N. Shaffner, O. T. Slate, Miss M. C. Tatum, Miss V. R. Turner, Miss Ruth Underwood, C. L. Woole, Jr.

Of these, seventeen were students in the school of Liberal Arts, five in the school of Education, three in the school of Commerce, and none in either the school of Applied Science or Engineering. The number in the various classes were very evenly divided, six being seniors, seven juniors, six sophomores, and six freshmen.

Those students who made a "B" average or above are:

A. E. Akers, Roanoke Rapids; A. L. Alexander, Statesville; J. F. Alexander, New York, N. Y.; W. H. Alexander, Parkersburg, W. Va.; F. J. Allred, Liberty; A. B. Andrews, Raleigh; J. W. Armfield, Concord; Mrs. L. C. Bailey, Chapel Hill; S. A. Barham, Madison; T. H. Barker, Leakesville; J. D. Barnes, Wilmington; J. H. Barnes, Greensboro; M. V. Barnhill, Rocky Mount; Aaron Barr, Brooklyn, N. Y.; J. K. Barrow, Jr., Zebulon; D. P. Beam, Bessemer City; W. M. Bell, Rockingham; C. W. Bendigo, Greensboro; Abe Benjamin, Elizabeth, N. J.; Miss S. K. Berwanger, Raleigh.

Jack Bessen, New Rochelle, N. Y.; W. N. Bissell, New York, N. Y.; J. S. Bivens, Monroe; B. B. Blackwelder, Hickory; T. W. Blackwell, Winston-Salem; W. M. Bliss, Orlando, Fla.; W. F. Blount, Pensacola, Fla.; W. W. Bonner, Concord; B. I. Boyle, Charlotte; W. L. Boynton, Highland Park, Ill.; W. T. Braswell, Whitakers; B. B. Bray, Jr., Siler City; Edward Brenner, Hendersonville; A. L. Brooks, Greensboro; J. A. Brooks, Peachland; T. H. Brooks, Greensboro; J. M. Brown, Winston-Salem; M. J. Brown, Ja-Sisk opposed it.
(Continued on next page)