

SPRING FESTIVAL WILL OPEN WITH NEW MOON BALL

Opening Friday night, April 10, with the New Moon Ball, the Spring Festival, will continue Saturday afternoon with a sunset Dance from four until seven o'clock, concluding with the Dance of the Shadows Saturday evening. This dance series, which was just inaugurated this year by the Pi Kappa Phi, Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Pi Kappa Alpha, and Alpha Tau Omega fraternities, will be an annual affair.

"Maestro Mike" Speciale and his Crusaders, who are engaged for the dances, are not, as has been previously announced, playing at the Hotel Gibson in Cincinnati. They are, instead, remaining in New York where they are at work making electrical transcriptions for radio broadcasting.

The Crusaders, who have not been South in several years, are extremely popular in the Midwest. On his recent return from the East to St. Louis, Mike was met by the mayor at the city hall where he presented the keys to the city.

Prominent among the chaperones for the Festival will be President Frank Graham and his sister and hostess, Miss Kate Graham.

BEGGAR'S OPERA TO APPEAR HERE

In a meeting of the student entertainment committee Tuesday afternoon, the Beggar's Opera was definitely signed for an engagement here, October 30, 1931. Other attractions under consideration are the Don Cossack Russian Male Chorus, the Barrere Little Symphony, the Theatre Guild, Albert Spalding, Ted Shawn, and several others.

It is the desire of the committee that the students of the school of commerce join in these programs; if this is done, by means of the additional fund the committee will be able to put on a program next year that should be of great interest to every one.

Patterson Medal To Be On Display

The Patterson Medal, established in 1924, which is offered annually by Lieutenant-Commander D. F. Patterson, U. S. N., Mr. Albert F. Patterson, and Dr. Joseph F. Patterson, of Newbern, to commemorate the memory of their brother, John Durand Patterson, will be placed on display in the student supply store within the next few days.

Dr. Joseph F. Patterson, one of the donors of the medal, was a student in the University 1901-1904; J. D. Patterson, in whose memory it is given, was in school here 1904-1906, and was a prominent member of the basketball team.

The committee which picks the man for this award makes its selection upon athletic ability, sportsmanship, leadership, morale, and general conduct. Those who have won this medal in the past are: "Monk" McDonald, 1924; "Rabbit" Bonner, 1925; "Red" Whisnant, 1926; "Ad" Warren, 1927; Galen Elliott, 1928; Henry "Sat" Satterfield, 1929; Ray Farris, 1930.

Episcopal Services

Today, Maundy Thursday: Holy Communion at 8 p. m.

Good Friday: 10:30 a. m.; 12 to 3 p. m.: Meditations on the Words from the Cross; 5:15 p. m.: Evening Prayer.

Easter Day: Holy Communion at 8 and 11 a. m.; Children's service at 4 p. m.; Organ recital by Mr. Kennedy at 8 p. m.

Unless the calendar is trying to deceive us, the alleged spring is now here.

VICTORIOUS CANDIDATES

Above are the leading members of the All-Campus party, which received a preponderant majority in the recent campus elections. They are, left to right: Jack Dungan, editor of the Daily Tar Heel; William Medford, vice-president of the student body; Mayne Albright, president of the student body; Hamilton Hobgood, president of the senior class; and F. M. James, president of the Y.

The Campus Calendar

Epsilon Phi Delta

The Epsilon Phi Delta Cosmopolitan Club will meet at a called meeting tonight on the second floor of the Y. M. C. A. at ten-thirty. The meeting was originally scheduled for nine-thirty, but the time has been changed.

Experimental Writing Class

Phillips Russell will conduct his conference class in experimental writing tonight at seven-thirty in room 302 on the top floor of the Alumni building. This class is scheduled to meet at the same hour and place on Monday and Tuesday of next week.

LIBRARY RECEIVES HARGRAVES' BOOK

A History of Playing Cards and a Bibliography of Cards and Gaming was recently presented to the University by the United States Playing Card Company. It was written by Catherine Perry Hargrave, librarian of that organization.

In this volume the authoress has brought together an exceptional amount of information about the ancestry of the contemporary queens, knaves and pips on our playing cards. The subject is treated with a graphic thoroughness. Approximately four hundred and fifty illustrations are included, reproduced from the world's largest playing card collection, owned by the United States Playing Card Company of Cincinnati.

Egyptians, Arabs, Chinese, and Hindus all have the origin of the playing cards attributed to them. Miss Hargrave believes that playing cards and chess sprang from the same general source, and quotes the authority of the theory that both cards and chess go back to the use of the arrow in divination, and that one or both of the games were carried into China by an outcast tribe of Hindus.

Many interesting events of the development and various sorts of card games are described by Miss Hargrave.

This book concludes with a seventy-nine page bibliography which lists every work on the subject of cards through the centuries and which should prove of distinct reference value.

Notice

The infirmary will be indebted to the person or persons who "borrowed" the ash trays from the infirmary if they will please return them.

Post-Election Sidelights

(Continued from first page)

the Co-ed shack. This was the cause of further disruption later in the day.

Don Conklin, candidate for the office of president of the rising junior class on the Non-Frat ticket spent Monday night in Greensboro at a dance, arrived in Chapel Hill at five in the morning and slept through the election.

One of the freshmen when asked whether he would vote an All-Campus ticket, looked at the names of candidates and replied that he would except for the boy with the sissy name. A bystander inquired as to whom the sissy name belonged and received answer "McBride Fleming-Jones." The inquirer was "Mac" himself, and when the freshman learned this he was very apologetic and consoled the candidate by promising to vote for him.

Ellis Fysal, policeman of the Non-Fraternity party threatened to use his prowess unless the opposition proceeded to conduct themselves in a more "gentlemanly manner" and keep better order.

One voter was given the third degree for two solid hours by groups of politicians in relays, only to have him go to the polls and cast his ballot for the other side.

About ten pledges stayed up all Monday night going through the dormitories with coat hangers pulling Gil Pearson circulars out from under doors and distributing E. Carrington Smith's "Confession" in their place. They kept warm by building a bonfire of over two thousand of those red circulars.

J. C. "Red" Williams was kept up all the night before by cries of "Fleecy" which resounded across the campus.

Several of the freshmen got off to a fast start in their political careers by posing as seniors, by selecting the names of seniors who had dropped out of school for this quarter.

Three students, who lived out in town, refused to vote unless their laundry bags were carried out to the laundry. As the time was getting short and the outcome in doubt twenty minutes were spent in collecting and delivering the parcels. Then, and then only would the three votes be secured.

A squad of the weaker sex were on hand lending their support for their respective candidates. One of them was heard to ask a prospective voter whether he was voting for the All-Campus for Non-Campus party.

Southern chivalry came to the front when many of the co-eds were allowed to avoid the rush and waiting in line. (Providing that they voted with these polite gentlemen).

And all the while John Albert Lang, chairman of the All-Campus party, sat at a desk in the lobby calmly eating apples and oranges.

The heaviest voting of the day was for the office of president of the student union, 1525 ballots being cast. "Spec" McClure, elected editor of the Carolina Magazine, received the largest number of votes cast for any one candidate and also had a larger majority over his opponent than any other man.

The shutting of the door of the ballot room promptly at five o'clock was the signal for all the politicians to toss their circulars in the air letting out one vociferous yell and give a sigh of relief. In five minutes the "Y" lobby was empty except for the sea of colored paper the remains of the fight, covering the floor and the janitor already beginning a "clean campaign."

CLAUDE BOWERS WILL SPEAK AT COMMENCEMENT

(Continued from first page)

other famous books of his being Party Battles of the Jackson Period and The Tragic Era, his most recent volume which deals with the reconstruction period in the South—and a crusading editorial writer, Bowers has taken an active part in various public enterprises.

Watch This Column Daily

Each day two names will be placed in this column. Each person whose name appears will be given a guest ticket to the Carolina Theatre.

What Makes Americans Go To Paris? See

"50
MILLION
FRENCHMEN"

also
Comedy — Novelty
Today

GLASSES LOST

Lost—Last week, pair white gold-rimmed glasses. Please notify J. L. Fischer, 109 I. Tel. 5006.

GEORGE MALONE

CAROLINA DRY CLEANERS
5-Hour Dry Cleaning Service
Student Service to Students
PHONE 5841

RAY WALL

COLDEX

Brings Quick Relief to Thousands
You too, can stop colds and coughs with this remarkable liquid medicine that so safely gives such quick and lasting results. Just say Coldex to your druggist. Only 50c. Recommended and guaranteed by Sutton's Drug Store

Patronize Our Advertisers

THEY PRINT THE DAILY TAR HEEL

Look for the List of Advertisers Each Saturday,

Then Visit Them.

The Daily Tar Heel

OFFICE OPEN DAILY — 1 TO 5 P. M.