

FOREIGN SERVICE GROUP TO HEAR DUKE PROFESSOR

Ripsey Will Address International Relations Club on "Pan-Americanism" Tonight

Dr. J. F. Ripsey of Duke University is scheduled to address the International Relations Club tonight at 7:15 o'clock in room 214, Saunders hall, on the subject of "Pan-Americanism." The speaker has an international reputation as an authority upon Latin-American affairs, and one of his articles was recently published in the Current History magazine.

Letters have been sent to students on the campus, who have shown themselves interested in international affairs, and these men are invited to attend the lecture regardless of whether they are members of the club or not, President Clyde Dunn stated yesterday.

Mr. H. K. Laski, of the University of London, and Dr. H. H. Wilson, of Duke University, are two of the speakers who have been secured to address the club sometime during the latter part of this quarter.

The program has been scheduled so as to be completed in time for the Ben Greet production in Memorial hall at 8:30.

Cokers Will Open Gardens To Public

On account of the unusually bad weather Easter Sunday, Doctors W. C. and R. E. Coker were unable to open their gardens to the public. However, last Saturday Dr. W. C. Coker personally conducted the Danville Garden Club through his own garden and then took the group for a tour of the arboretum. He also entertained a party of fifteen local and visiting nature lovers with trips in the arboretum and his gardens.

Dr. W. C. Coker announced that his gardens will be open to the public during the remainder of the week and Sunday afternoon. He stated that the red buds, yellow jasmines, woodbine, and wisteria would be at the height of their beauty at this time.

Dr. R. E. Coker's gardens will be ready for exhibition next Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. George Logan, Mrs. James M. Bell, Mrs. I. H. Manning, and Mrs. F. P. Venable have already opened their gardens during flowering season.

Graduate Notice

The Graduate school announces that they have made several changes in the form requirements of theses. These new rules and regulations may be obtained from the office of the Graduate school in 202 South building, and all graduate students are asked to find out about these important changes immediately.

The changes refer to the form for theses and also the preparation of abstracts. The requirements of the title page of all theses are considerably stressed and emphasized.

A.B. Seniors

The office of A. W. Hobbs, dean of the liberal arts school requests that each senior see the head of the department in which the study of his major falls and have him "O.K." both the major and the minor. These "O.K.'s" should be brought to the office in 201 South building at once.

To Play Hamlet

RUSSELL THORNDIKE

Thorndike, who has the lead in the First Quarto production of Shakespeare's drama tonight, is one of the most noteworthy of modern Shakespearean actors.

ENGLISH COMPANY WILL APPEAR IN HAMLET TONIGHT

Ben Greet Company Will Present First Quarto Version in Memorial Hall.

Coming from Greensboro where they were enthusiastically received yesterday at N. C. C. W., the Ben Greet Players will appear in Memorial hall tonight at eight-thirty under the sponsorship of the Carolina Playmakers. Their performance will be the First Quarto version of Hamlet, which is rarely presented and which is different from the usual text-book version.

This group of players, led by Sir Phillip Ben Greet, veteran English actor and director of Shakespearean plays, are now on their second transcontinental tour within recent years. The first, having been made in 1929-1930, included as itinerary major cities and universities throughout the United States.

Ben Greet, as he is known on the stage, has been acting and directing for over fifty years, and it is claimed that he has trained more actors than any other living actor. In recognition of his life devoted to the cause of drama in education, particularly during and after the World War, King George V knighted him in June 1929.

Among the other notables in the cast of Hamlet will be Russell Thorndike who plays the part of the unfortunate young Dane. Greet himself will take the roles of Polonius and the second grave-digger; these roles are said by all critics to show the versatility of the veteran of many tours.

The Hamlet which will be presented tonight is somewhat different from the versions usually known as it is taken from the First Quarto edition. This is only about half as long and is twice as dramatic as the one usually found in text-books. Since 1929, Sir Phillip has introduced this form throughout America.

The English company always present their plays in the Elizabethan style.

Restoration Of Battle Park Seen By Newly Formed Group

That Battle Park, a tract of natural forest lying close in under the eastern brow of Chapel Hill, may be transformed into the popular woodland retreat it was many years ago, is the belief of those who met here recently at the home of Colonel Joseph Hyde Pratt to organize the Battle Park Association.

Battle Park, owned by the University, is named for Kemp Plummer Battle, Reconstruction president of the University, who until his death in 1919 took delight in clearing paths and building rustic seats and bridges in this woodland. In his day the place was beloved rendezvous for those who liked to walk in the woods, but with the coming of the automobile, the movies, radio, and highly organized sports, the old paths have become dim and the seats and bridges have fallen to decay. It is for the restoration of these that the Battle Park Association was formed.

Colonel Pratt, who was elected President of the organization, said, "A great charm of Battle Park has always been that it is woodland in the natural state.

Dr. Battle always wanted it to stay like that, but at the same time he wanted it to be easy of approach. He wanted folks to come into the woods and enjoy them. That is why he laid out the paths and built the bridges and took such tender care of them all his life.

"In talking around among my acquaintances I have found considerable interest in the idea of restoring Dr. Battle's paths and bridges. Maybe it's a minority who love to walk in the woods, but it's a sizeable minority; and I believe that as time goes on the park will be used more and more."

Mrs. John M. Booker, a granddaughter of President Battle, was elected chairman of the association's executive committee.

Other officers named were: Mrs. E. C. Branson, vice-president; Miss Guelda Elliot, secretary; Dean W. W. Hobbs, treasurer; and W. C. George, member of the executive committee.

Anyone interested in becoming a member of the association should communicate with Colonel Pratt.

FAYETTEVILLE IS WINNER OF FIRST HONORS IN TESTS

The results of the High School French and Spanish contests were recently announced. Fayetteville high school won first place in both of the contests.

The winners in the French contest and the schools were as follows: Miss Effie Hewitt, Fayetteville; Miss Nell Gaither, Harmony; Richard W. Ryan, Fayetteville; and Miss Gladys Smith, Harmony. The schools which won the first four places in the competition were: Fayetteville, Harmony, Elizabeth City, and Mills (Louisburg). There were also seventeen other honorable mentions in the individual contestants.

In the Spanish contest, C. A. Thomas, Jr. of the Fayetteville high school won and thus gave the school honor to his place of learning.

Dr. Phillips Speaks On African Negroes

Professor Ulrich B. Phillips, of Yale university, spoke last night in Gerrard hall at 8:30 o'clock. His lecture was on the subject, "Tribal Negroes of Central Africa." Dr. Phillips was the holder of a fellowship under the Albert Kahn foundation for the foreign travel of American teachers, and it was during this time that he made his extensive researches in Central Africa. It is on these travels that he based his speech last night.

He will also be remembered as the recipient of the award by Little, Brown, and Company for the best unpublished historical manuscript, Life and Labor in the Old South. This manuscript was then bought and published by this company under the same title.

Infirmiry List

The infirmiry list increased several patients yesterday. The students confined yesterday were: E. C. Miller, Toy Jones, Elizabeth Hamrick, Charlie Gault, R. B. Freeman, L. R. Drane, M. L. Hall, B. S. Solomon, J. R. Wall, R. M. Byrd, J. M. Tobin, Jack Riley, and E. B. Grady.

"Y" SENDS SIX ON DEPUTATION TRIP

Under the auspices of the University Y. M. C. A. several University students made a deputation trip to Fayetteville last week-end, leaving here Thursday and returning Sunday.

F. M. "Pardner" James was in charge of the several programs, assisted by John Miller and Lee Grier, each of whom gave a talk at the various places visited; and Jack Connolly, Wofford Humphries, and John Miller, trio of musicians.

On Friday, April 10, the team visited and gave programs at the Fayetteville high school, several grammar schools, Fayetteville negro high school, and the state normal negro school. At one o'clock luncheon was had with the Fayetteville Kiwanis club.

The County Home, Old Ladies Home, and county jail were visited Saturday, and at these places devotional exercises were conducted, concluded with several selections by members of the trio. On Sunday morning the team had charge of Sunday school classes of the various churches in town.

NEWS STAFF TO BE INCREASED TO THIRTY-FIVE MEN

Meeting of Contestants for Positions Will Take Place This Afternoon.

A special meeting has been called this afternoon at 5:00 p. m. in room 104 of the alumni building for all men desiring to work on the reportorial staff of the Daily Tar Heel. It is the plan of the new editor and managing-editor to considerably increase the size of the present staff, thus making room for from thirty-five to forty new men. Those men interested in writing editorials are asked to meet at 1:30 p. m. in the same room.

During the next two weeks or more these men trying out for the editorial board will be required to turn in at least three or four editorials each week, and for this reason it is urgent that the applicants have passed at least two of the higher English composition courses. At the end of the two weeks' tryout the board will be chosen on the basis of the work, interest, and ability the men have shown in their writing.

So far this year it has been the plan to have a small reportorial staff, but having tried out this system the editors have decided to enlarge the present number of reporters two or three times. The main factor to be considered in the choice of the list of reporters is consistent work, as well as the ability of the writer. Men doing the most regular work will be the first choices.

To encourage good work on the paper, charms are given at the end of each year to those men who have done the best work during the entire time, and the Daily Tar Heel page in the Yackety Yack also carries a picture of the most competent writers. Aside from these facts, actual journalistic experience is to be gained by working regularly on the publication.

At the meeting Sunday evening Jack Dungan, newly elected editor, spoke to the candidates for positions on the paper and explained to them the importance of getting all the
