

JUNIORS, SENIORS COMBINE TO GIVE ELABORATE BALL

Transformation of Tin Can Into
Huge Ballroom Is Now
Taking Place.

For the first time in the history of this institution, the juniors and seniors, traditional enemies, have joined together and will act as joint hosts at an elaborate Junior-Senior Ball the nights of April 24 and 25.

Four hundred prominent social, political, and business leaders in the State, together with their wives, have been invited to attend the function, which will take place in the Tin Can. Among these are: Governor and Mrs. O. Max Gardner, of Shelby and Raleigh; Senator and Mrs. Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte and Washington, D. C.; Senator and Mrs. Josiah W. Bailey, of Raleigh; Chief Justice and Mrs. W. J. Stacey, of Raleigh; Honorable and Mrs. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of Elizabeth City; Honorable and Mrs. R. T. Fountain, of Rocky Mount; Judge and Mrs. John J. Parker, of Charlotte; President and Mrs. Walter Lingle, of Davidson College; President and Mrs. J. I. Foust, of N. C. C. W., Greensboro; President and Mrs. E. C. Brooks, of State College, of Raleigh; and President and Mrs. William P. Few, of Duke University, Durham; Josephus Daniels, of the Raleigh News and Observer; E. B. Jeffries, of the Greensboro Daily News; John J. Park, of the Raleigh Times; and Wade H. Harris, of the Charlotte Observer have also been invited.

Never before has the list of patrons and patronesses been drawn from the State at large.

Spanish Politics Are Discussed by Leavitt

Dr. S. E. Leavitt, head of the Spanish department, spoke to the Spanish Club Friday evening at their meeting in the Y. M. C. A. He chose as his subject "Political Conditions in Spain" on which he enumerated three main problems which Spain was facing at present.

The first is the problem of establishing a republic. He stated that the fear in taking this step was that Catalonia, which is the richest commercial center in the Spanish peninsula, might declare her independence and probably other provinces would do likewise.

The second problem is that of reducing the cost of living. This, he said, could probably be accomplished by the separation of the church and state and reducing the standing army. But the latter method must be brought about cautiously to prevent the army from revolting.

The third problem Dr. Leavitt enumerated is that of stabilizing the value of the peseta. This he said, was a difficult task because the people have little confidence in the government. The value of the peseta at par is nineteen cents, while at present it has dropped to ten and eleven cents. In the conclusion Dr. Leavitt said: "Spain is passing through one of its most critical moments."

A. K. Shields presented "La Paticula Condition" on the program after which "Unas Cien-tos" was given by O. T. Slate. C. H. Contree presented "Una Poema". The entire program was conducted in Spanish.

Staff Meetings

Members of the editorial and reportorial staffs of the Daily Tar Heel will assemble today in two separate meetings. The editorial staff meets in room 104 Alumni building at 5:00 this afternoon, and the reportorial staff in the same room at 7:00 tonight.

Attendance to these meetings is compulsory, and all persons absent will be in danger of being suspended from the staff.

CUPS AWARDED IN ANNUAL CONTESTS

Prizes in High School Competitions Are Given Out
Friday Night.

The final awards were made Friday night to the winners in the state high school Latin, French, and Spanish cup contests. These awards marked the outcomes of competitions closed at various different times. The state Latin contest took place February 27; the French closed March 13; and the Spanish was finished March 27.

Sixty-five schools and 1084 students participated in the Latin cup contest. The cup was awarded to Margaret Edwards of the Durham Central High School.

One hundred and nine schools and 2294 students tried for the French cup, which was awarded to Effie Hewitt of the Fayetteville High School.

Twelve schools and 250 students contested for the Spanish cup. It was awarded to C. A. Thomas, Jr., of the Fayetteville High School.

The contest for the magazine cup, which is awarded to the school having the best magazine, was won by the Greensboro High School. There were only two schools participating in this contest, Greensboro and Winston-Salem. This competition took place last year and evidently both schools had forgotten all about it, for when the award was made Friday night, there were no representatives of either of the magazines present and the cup was given to a student from Greensboro who was here for the track meet with the request that he give it to the school on his return.

Five Bills On Di And Phi Calendars

The bills which are to be discussed in the Phi and Di societies on Tuesday night at seven fifteen o'clock are as follows:

Phi Assembly — 1. Resolved: That the prohibition act should be modified so as to legalize the sale of light wines and beers. 2. Resolved: That the Phi assembly should go on record as favoring the proposed consolidation of counties in North Carolina.

Di senate — 1. Resolved: That winter and spring football practice should be abolished. Senator Weeks: affirmative; Senator McGuire: negative. 2. Resolved: That the North Carolina legislature should adjourn without passing a revenue bill and return within two weeks in a special session. Senator Ramsay: affirmative; Senator Shreve: negative. 3. Resolved: That all candidates for degrees at the University be made to qualify according to a certain fixed standard in at least four sports. Senator Medford, affirmative; Senator Daughteridge: negative.

Leaders for Junior-Senior Ball

One of the biggest social events of the spring quarter will take place next week-end when the Junior-Senior Ball will be given on Friday and Saturday nights, April 24 and 25.

Old East Remains Most Popular Dormitory Because Of Traditions

By Charles Rose

Tradition more than anything else seems to be the main factor considered by students making application for rooms here at the University. Out of the approximately 1,500 men applying for rooms in the dormitories, more than a third of this number requests places in Old East and Old West dormitories. Many of the new students coming here for the first time desire to stay in the same dormitories that their fathers and grand-fathers roomed in before them.

Not only does the past history of these two buildings cause them to be in such demand, but also their proximity to the campus has a great deal to do with the students desiring places in them. Steele dormitory is probably even nearer to the classrooms than Old East and Old West, but the latter have the advantage in the fact that they have a long tradition behind them.

Of these two, Old East is in even greater demand than Old West, possibly, because of the fact that it is thirty years the elder. According to interviews with several of the roomers in the eastern dormitory its more modern room equipment makes it a better rooming place than its twin rival.

Meeting in 1793 to make plans for a new building, the committee in charge of Old East decided to build a three-story dormitory 120 feet by fifty feet. Plans were made for a dining-room on the first floor with the dimensions of 40 by 30 feet, and on the second and third floors, the committee decided to place public meeting halls both the same size as the dining-room. The capacity of the new building was to be approximately fifty students. An order for 350,000 bricks at four dollars per thousand was put in, but after much deliberation the committee were forced to give up their plans for such a large building.

On July 19, of the same year, a contract was let to James Patterson, an architect of Chatham county, for a two-story brick building, ninety-six feet seven inches long and forty feet one and one-half inches wide. The building was to be built for $5,000 with the University furnishing the "brick, sash weights, locks, hooks, fastenings, and painting." With sixteen rooms, and four passages, the new dormitory was to be completed by November 1, 1794.

At a dignified ceremony, October 12, 1793, the corner-stone of the new building was laid, at which time Dr. S. E. McCorkle, a noted Scotch educator, made the address.

Upon the urgent demand of President Caldwell, the Old East building was, in 1824, given a third story, and at the same time its sister building, Old West, was begun.

For over fifty years following the addition of the third story, Old East as well as Old West, were used for lecture buildings, with large classrooms on the second floor up until a little over twenty years ago.

Several times since their construction, these two buildings have been completely over-hauled, and are today as modern as any of the newer dormitories on the campus. With their modern fixtures, tradition, and nearness to the campus, these two old landmarks are still serving the University, each housing over one hundred students each quarter.

Ira W. Rose

Ira W. Rose, prominent North Carolina druggist, has been appointed to the faculty of the school of pharmacy for the spring quarter.

IRA ROSE ADDED TO FACULTY LIST

Rocky Mount Druggist Joins Pharmacy School for Spring
Term.

The death of Vernon Howell and the subsequent appointment of Grover Beard to the deanship of the school of pharmacy in the University has made it necessary for the University trustees to appoint another teacher to the pharmacy faculty.

With the approval of the trustees and on the recommendation of Dean Beard, President Frank P. Graham has appointed Ira W. Rose, of Rocky Mount, as a member of the teaching staff for the spring term. Mr. Rose's chief work will consist in teaching the courses in operative and dispensing pharmacy, practical subjects which he is admirably qualified to handle.

Mr. Rose graduated from the University in 1906 with the degree of Ph.G. During his senior year he served as assistant in pharmacy. Previously he had taught school in Johnston County. Continuously since graduation he has operated a drug store in Rocky Mount where he is held in the highest esteem.

Mr. Rose has been a member of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy for a number of years, being in charge of the examinations in theoretical and practical pharmacy. He has attended most of the meetings of the National Association of Boards of Pharmacy and the American Pharmaceutical Association for many years and has steadily maintained a keen interest in the work of these national organizations. In the state pharmaceutical association Mr. Rose has been a member since he obtained his license in 1906. He was elected first vice-president in 1920 and the following year he was elevated to the presidency. In addition he

Freshman Y Group To Elect Officers

The meeting of the freshman friendship council tomorrow night will be turned over largely to business, the main item of which will be the election of officers for next year's sophomore cabinet. Anyone who has attended at least one previous meeting and has borne his share of the expenses will be eligible to vote. The names of the men who are entitled to vote are listed on the membership roll which has been posted at the entrance of the Y. M. C. A.

LYNN RIGGS WILL READ HIS LATEST DRAMA TONIGHT

"Cherokee Night" Was Written
Here During Author's Last Visit.

This evening at 8:30 in the Playmakers Theatre, Lynn Riggs will read his new creation, "The Cherokee Night."

It will mark the second appearance of the Oklahoma writer on the regular program of monthly Sunday dramatic ceremonies here. He was first introduced to a Chapel Hill audience during the winter and made a decided hit with his really wonderful impersonation of the characters in "Green Grow the Lilacs" at a time when that Broadway success was in its first week at New York.

Today's offering carries with it even greater significance than the other in that it has never before been heard by any gathering. A similar local pre-natal consideration of Paul Green's "Tread the Green Grass" will be recalled, being given several months ago.

Mr. Riggs has grown up with the southwesterners whom he brings to the footlights; he knows them intimately, appreciates them in their triumphs and their foibles and their poetry, and fills them magically with life as he catches their rhythm from his manuscript.

"The Cherokee Night" was written in Chapel Hill, which the author found an inspiring

FINE ART EXHIBIT OPENS THURSDAY

Work of Prominent Painters Will Be Presented by Association
Of Professional Artists.

Beginning Thursday, April 23, through Sunday, May 3, the exhibition of the North Carolina association of professional artists will be on display in the University music building. The exhibit will be open to the public during the hours of 11:00 to 1:00 in the morning, 2:30 to 5:30 (except next Friday) in the afternoon, and from 7:30 to 9:00 in the evenings.

Nelson O. Kennedy, with the aid of the University symphony orchestra, will give a vesper organ concert, at 4:45 o'clock Sunday afternoon, April 26, for the pleasure of those who attend the exhibit.

In cooperation with the Community Club, the association, with Mrs. W. S. Bernard as hostess, will give a tea for the American college publicity association Friday afternoon, April 24. The chairman of the hostess committee is Mrs. John Couch.

Among the exhibitors will be Elliot Daingerfield, Charles Baskerville, and Miss Mabel Pugh of New York; Mrs. Hope Chamberlain; Frances Spright of the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts; Louis Vorhees of High Point; Isabelle Bowen, Mrs. Ruth Moore, Miss Mary Tillery, and James MacLean, of Raleigh; Clement Strudwig of Hillsboro; Mary deB. Graves and William Steene of Chapel Hill. There will be others whose names are not listed yet.

The oil paintings will be hung in the main rotunda. Mrs. Grace Woodman's studio on the second floor will house the water colors, pastels, etchings, and block prints.
