Di Senate In Favor Of Prohibition Issue

The Di senate convened Tuesday night for its regular weekly meeting in the Di hall. The old bills appearing on the calendar were tabled indefinitely, and a new bill was introduced from the floor. The bill, Resolved, that the Di senate should go on record as favoring John J. Raskob's plan of taking a definite stand on the prohibition question in the coming presidential election, was passed by a large majority.

This bill immediately brought forth much discussion from the senators. The speeches continued until a motion for a vote passed by a narrow margin. Senators Dungan and Fleming-Jones favored this bill while Senators Rutledge and Ramsay opposed it.

The last initiation of the college year took place previous to the regular business. Several new members were admitted into the senate.

University Facing Vital Problem In Securing Future Loan Funds

Dean Bradshaw Finds Most Students Are Slow in Paying Back Money Borrowed to Defray Essential Expenses.

With the view in mind of exposing to the student body the present deflated status of the students' loan fund and of exhausting every possibility of remedying the situation, Dean F. F. Bradshaw has appealed to the Daily Tar Heel to aid him in a plan.

The purpose of the plan is to emphasize the distressed condition of the fund and to urge the students making use of them to effect a repayment as soon as possible, and to appeal to influential students to exert all their power toward securing donations to this cause.

The expenditures incurred throughout the present year have amounted upwards to $60,000 whereas the available funds received from payment on the total $190,000 outstanding amount are only $30,000. This $30,000 deficit is the direct result of three current trends: the large increase of self-help students in the University; the depressed condition of business at large, inhibiting prompt payments; and the widespread epidemic of bank failures, necessitating the borrowing of funds by students who had previously laid away enough money to provide them with an ample education.

Dean Bradshaw is determined to continue his policy of never turning away a student because of insufficient loan funds; this determined attitude has rendered the University much benefit in the past, when similar financial clouds have darkened the light of education. However, unless a remedy for the present situation is found in one of the aforementioned methods, extensive borrowing will have to be resorted to. This system would not only prove a burden to the department, but would not render available to borrowers the largest sum possible, interest on the borrowed funds having to be paid.

At present, Dean Bradshaw contemplates the necessity of raising approximately $200,000 for financial aid among undergraduate students. In order that this money provide the maximum benefit to the students and the minimum burden to the department, it is essential that the major portion of this amount be raised through private donations and prompt repayments of the borrowers.

The importance of the loan fund in the work of the University cannot be accurately computed. Some estimate of the effect that it has had in the past may be gleaned from the fact that 7,000 out of the 14,000 living alumni have made use of these funds. Throughout the United States educational institutions are coming to recognize more and more the extensive benefits contributed by such departments. Only recently, the alumni of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology have pledged themselves to support a $4,000,000 loan fund. Other departments here in the University have recognized the importance of its functions and have contributed heavily to the cause, as is demonstrated by the recent donation of $20,000 by the Alumni Loyalty Fund.

Illinois Student Union Provides "A Center For University Life"

Activity Center Houses Offices of Campus Publications, and Contains Ballroom for Class Smokers, Conventions, And Weekly Dances.

(The following article is the fifth of a series in the PRINCETONIAN describing the purposes, financing and success of university centers, or their equivalents, at various universities throughout the country. It is reprinted through the courtesy of the Daily Nebraskan.)

An average of more than 4000 students enters the Illinois Student Union daily, according to E. E. Stafford, the manager. He has also estimated that some 6500 different students attend various functions at the Union each month.

The real purpose of the Union, according to Mr. Stafford is to provide "a center for university life, a place where students can meet and mingle in comradeship, where factional and sectional lines are not recognized or drawn."

"The Heart of Illinois," as the Union is called, is a beehive of student activities. The basement floor of the building houses the offices and plant of the Illini Publishing Co., which prints the student daily paper and the Siren, the humor magazine, in addition to the technical magazines of the various colleges. A cooperative book exchange is another excellent feature of the Union. At this exchange the students list for sale text books in courses they have completed and buy books in courses they are taking.

There are two sections to the Illinois Union, one the Union itself, and the other the Union Arcade. The first floor of the former is given over to a men's lounge room, ladies' lounge, reading room and an auditorium seating 300 persons. A military store, tailor shop, soda fountain and candy counter, checkroom and information desk are also maintained on the first floor. Union officials have offices there, and also a public stenographic bureau, ticket offices for student functions and a dormitory accommodating 100 men.

The Union Arcade building contains a large ball room in which the Illionis Union operates weekly dances, and a banquet

The dance will be informal and refreshments will be served during the course of the evening. This dance brings to the Hill an orchestra which has never played on the University campus before. The dance committee has spent much time in selecting this orchestra and it is expected to be the main feature of the occasion. The dance committee after much consideration has picked "Willie and His Florida Orange Pickers" to make music for the occasion. This orchestra has played at various exclusive clubs in both the north and south.

Admission will be granted only to members of the Phi assembly and especially invited guests. The bids for the dance may be obtained at the Y. M. C. A. during chapel period on Thursday and Friday of this week. The dance committee is composed of W. Ranson Whittenton, Bob Atwood, and Tom Worth.

COMMITTEE PLANS GALA FESTIVITIES FOR SENIOR WEEK

Sessions Under Davie Poplar on Program for Last Year Men.

Senior week will last from May 18 to May 25 according to an announcement made yesterday by the committee on the program. The complete plans have not yet been finished, but the events will include open meetings under Davie poplar each evening. The committee has invited a number of prominent men to appear at these meetings, among them President Frank Graham and Kemp Battle.

The regalia is still a matter of discussion and no definite announcements have been made in regard to it. One of the suggestions which has received much attention is that of beer suits. These would be white with blue decorations—such as a horse-shoe, "optional attendance," or an "N. C." Pritchard-Lloyd drug company has offered free drinks to all last year men who wear the costume for that week.

The last meeting will be a banquet in the Carolina Inn at 7:00 on the night of May 23.

The committee in charge of arrangements is composed of Clyde Dunn, chairman; and Will Yarborough, Charles de Wolfe, Bert Haywood, Bill Lindsay, and Kermit Wheary.

NEW YORK PRODUCTION HOPED FOR 'PLAYTHINGS'

Anthony Buttita, author of Playthings, has left for New York, where he hopes to have his play produced. Playthings was judged by Professor F. H. Koch as the best of the plays written in his playwriting class, and was accordingly produced in the Playmakers Theatre.

Paul Green, who received his early training as a playwright here, spoke very highly of Buttita's work.

Buttita came to the University from the University of Texas, where he received his bachelor's degree. While at Texas, Buttita was a frequent contributor to both the campus daily and the literary magazine. He is one of the editors of the new organ which appeared on the campus Monday, Contempo.
