

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM BEGINS NEXT SATURDAY

Governor Gardner Will Award
Diplomas Following Claude
Bowers' Speech.

With Claude Bowers, noted editor and biographer, scheduled to deliver the principal address, the 136th commencement of the University, the oldest state university in America, will get under way on Saturday morning, June 6, and continue through Tuesday, June 9. Eleven classes are to have formal reunions, and there will be a general reunion of all returning alumni.

Mr. Bowers, who was editor of the New York Evening World until that paper's interests were sold recently to the Scripps-Howard organization, is to deliver the commencement day address at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning, June 9. Appearing on the same program will be Governor O. Max Gardner, who will present the diplomas.

Program Starts Saturday
Commencement exercises will get under way Saturday morning, June 6, at 9:30 o'clock with senior prayers in Gerrard hall. At 10 o'clock the annual class day exercises will take place under the Davie popular, and a band concert will be given there in the afternoon. At 4:30 Saturday afternoon there will be the Mangum medal contest in the music auditorium and at 5:30 the president's home will be open for the annual reception to seniors and their guests. There will be a formal band concert in the music auditorium at 8:30.

The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday morning.

PLANS FOR FINAL DANCE SET MADE BY GERMAN CLUB

Guy Lombardo Signed for Commencement Dances June 9, 10, and 11.

Six dances and a concert given by the German club will constitute the 1931 finals June 9, 10, and 11. Opening with a formal dance Tuesday night in the tin can to the music of Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians, the dances will run through Thursday, with a morning affair from 11:00 to 1:00, an afternoon dance from 4:00 until 6:00 and a formal evening dance from 10:00 to 1:00, Wednesday. A morning dance, a concert in Memorial hall, and the final ball will complete the set.

In addition to the regular German club dances, the Gorgon's Head will give a dance Tuesday evening and the Gimgouls will entertain with a similar affair Thursday evening.

The Ball Managers' and Marshalls' ball will be Wednesday night. Holmes Davis will lead the Marshalls and Willis Henderson, the Ball Managers. The complete list of marshalls includes Holmes Davis, leader, Tom Alexander, Bill Draper, Ed Yarborough, Harry Finch, Tom Shelton, Pat Tillery, and Branch Carr. Willis Henderson, leader, George Moody, Art Sickles, George Thompson, Joe Eagles, Alston Watkins, and Beekman Huger, will be ball managers. Buck Snow will lead the final

PLAYMAKERS TO CUT LAST CAPER

Annual Celebration to Take Place in Theatre at 8:00
Tonight.

As the final event of their thirteenth season, the Carolina Playmakers, dramatic specialists of the campus, will cut their annual caper tonight at 8:00 P. M. The program, which will be given in the theatre, consists of numbers newly written and spontaneously produced for this occasion.

Every year at this time the Playmakers give a number of sketches and burlesques which usually prove as enjoyable to the actors as the audience. At this time, the gold masks will be awarded to Playmakers who through their work of the year have achieved success in that activity.

Three Parts of Program
This year the program will consist of three parts. The first of these will include seven sketches and burlesques. Mr. George McKie will open the program with "More Echoes From the Nineties," and will be followed by a quartette number. Everett Jess will give "A Selected New York Sketch"; Malcolm Seawell and Philip Milhous, "The Old Homestead"; James Queen, a recitation; Tom Loy, "The Oklahoma Playwright"; and Newbern Piland and Bopeep Ustry, with Ulysses Pucket at the piano, will give a tap dance.

Part two will consist of a play entitled "The Playmaker Mystery," which will be a spontaneous collaboration by the players taking the parts. Characters will be: "Block" Dawson, Malcom Seawell; Sam, Bill Chandler; Ralph, Lawrence Miller; "Prof", Horace Ward; Charles Ayres, Bill Figgat; But-titta, Everett Jess; A Veiled Figure, Philip Milhous; and Themselves, Ted Herman, Bod Reid, Charles Crum, George Peirson, Haywood Clark, Bob Procter, Marion Tatum, Betsy Perrow, Ellen Stewart, Margaret Vale, Bess Jones Winburn, and Mary Dirnberger.

Three Short Plays
Three short plays will make up the last part of the program, "Lydia, A Cure-all", with Ann

Impoverished Faculty Asks for Beer Suits

In view of the proposed salary cuts for state employees, the members of a certain department (including the secretary) would like to mention to affluent members of the senior class that any beer suits discarded after last week's frolic will be welcomed for fall wear. (N.B.—any red flannels for later use will also be gratefully accepted.)

Student Activities Increase In '30-'31 University Year

Review of Past Session Shows Progress Made Along All Lines
Of Extra-Curricular Activities Engaged in By University Students.

By Otto S. Steinreich

In reviewing the activities engaged in by University students during the past academic year it is found that more persons participated in the various fields of endeavor than ever before. Several of the athletic teams enjoyed their most successful seasons in years. The glee club although not competing in inter-collegiate competition made several successful appearances.

The Entertainment Committee selected an admirable program for presentation before the student body and their efforts were, in the main, greatly appreciated. The debating team met several outstanding opponents but did not go on their northern trip, but they enjoyed a very successful year on the campus.

Tennis Record

The 1931 tennis team, perhaps, has made the most admirable record of any team ever to represent the University. After defeating all comers in the south they traveled to the north where they romped over the best teams which the north had to offer. Unable to enter Bryan Grant and Wilmer Hines, number one and two respectively, Coach Kenfield entered Ed Yeomans and Hinkley Hendlin, number three and four respectively, who won the Southern Conference doubles championship. Yeomans was one of the finalists in the singles division while Hendlin went to the semi-finals. Grant, Hines, Yeomans, and Hendlin are entered in the National Intercollegiate Tournament to be held at the Merion country club, Haverford, Pennsylvania beginning June 22.

The baseball team has just completed its most successful seasons in eleven years. With a record of sixteen victories four losses and two ties, one victory being the first one over Duke in four years, and the Tri-State League championship under their belts, this year's edition of Tar Heel batsmen may well feel proud of themselves.

Committee Approves Experimental Play

The experimental play, Rest for My Soul, by Anne Wishart Braddy, which was presented Thursday night, and submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Master of Arts in the department of English was accepted by the committee. This is the first time that a play has been offered for an M. A. degree.

The committee, consisting of Professors Coffman, MacMillan, and Koch, found the play entirely satisfactory, in the writing, as well as the casting and directing which was also done by Miss Braddy. It is interesting to note that the author wrote her first play under Mr. Koch during the summer session of 1926 at Columbia University. The name of this play was Julianna, and showed even at that time her knowledge of Georgia, the scene of action of Rest for My Soul.

No Infirmary List

There was no one confined to the infirmary yesterday.

Football Reviewed

Coach Collins, working with a bunch of rookies, whipped together a team which performed creditably, but by no means brilliantly. Opening the season with a poor showing against Wake Forest the team improved until they played Georgia when their steady rise was abruptly terminated by the fast charging, hard tackling Bulldogs. As is often the case, the spirit was willing but the flesh was weak and the rookie Tar Heel line could not withstand the sharp thrusts of "Ripper" Roberts & Co.

Against Tennessee Carolina lost by the close score of 9-7. Bobby Dodd, All-American quarterback, kicked the field goal which gave the Vols their narrow margin of victory. Carolina's defeat at the hands of Davidson on a muddy field can be explained only by the fact that the Wildcats outfought the Tar Heels, who had the edge in the way of weight and in the number of reserves. The severe trouncing given to Virginia in the annual Thanksgiving day melee partly made up for the losses sustained during the year. The mud battle with Duke played under water throughout, resembled a water polo game more than anything else. The merits and defects of both teams were alike concealed under a thick coating of mud.

Track Figures

The track team continued its usual custom of defeating all southern opponents in dual meets. A loss to Penn State was the only blemish on the dual meet record of the season. After winning the Southern Indoor championship and State championship, the Tar Heels, much crippled by injuries, took fourth place in the Southern Conference meet at Birmingham.

The basketball team, under the leadership of Captain Artie Marpet, finished their season with eight losses out of twenty one starts. In the Southern

Educational Alliance Makes Jewish Loans

Applications are invited for loans (not exceeding $250 per annum) from the scholarship funds of the Educational Alliance, New York City.

These loans are made without interest or any other charge of any kind and are required to be repaid, subsequent to the applicant's graduation not necessarily in one amount or at one time.

They are intended primarily for the benefit of Jewish students who must have shown marked ability and whose circumstances are such as to make it difficult or impossible for them to continue or complete their studies.

It is suggested that applicants in this institution make their applications through the dean of students.

Lamp Posts Dry for Week-end

Lamp posts on the streets of Chapel Hill and on the campus are expected to be dry for use late Saturday night, after having received several coats of green paint lately.

History Department Loses Four Members

The History department will suffer a severe loss next year in the departure of four members of the department. K. C. Frazer, assistant professor of government, is on leave and will spend most of next year abroad. Instructors S. B. Barnes, R. D. Meade, and D. C. Corbitt, however, have handed in their resignations. Mr. Corbitt is going back to Candler College in Havana, Cuba, where he taught two years ago, and Mr. Meade is planning to complete his residence course for his Ph. D. Names of the professors accepted in the place of these four have not been made known.

PLANS LAID FOR LODGING ALUMNI

Seniors and Townspeople Invited
To Attend Alumni Luncheon
Monday.

Carr dormitory, Old East, Old West, and Steele will be used by the alumni during commencement week, it was announced yesterday by the alumni secretary. The classes of '81, '91, '92, '93, '94, and '01 will occupy Old East, while '06, '10, '11, '12, '13 will stay in Old West, leaving the baby class of '30 and any other visitors to have the use of Steele. Carr building will be used by those graduates who intend to bring their wives.

The students that occupy these buildings now are requested to be out of the buildings by Friday night June 8 so that the building department can get in and have them cleaned up. Any of these students that are intending to stay here for the commencement exercises may have their belongings moved to another room by the building department free of charge.

Alumni Luncheon

Also, in connection with the coming Alumni day, the Daily Tar Heel has been asked to emphasize the invitation which was given out sometime ago that all members of the class of '31 were cordially invited and even urged to attend the regular alumni luncheon which is set for Monday, June 8, at one o'clock and also the alumni ball on that night. Jack Wardlaw has been obtained to supply the music. The dance is to follow President Graham's reception and will take place in the Tin Can.

The luncheon is to be served in Swain hall for the nominal sum of one dollar, and is open to those townspeople that are connected with the University in any way. In the near past many of these have refrained from coming because of the impression that it was strictly a graduate affair, instead they are invited to attend. K. P. Lewis, president of the alumni association, will preside and President Graham will be the principal speaker. There have been three other notable speakers invited to say a very few words.

Last Chance To Get Senior Invitations

Today between the hours of 9:00 and 12:00 will be the last chance for those seniors who ordered invitations to secure them from the Book Exchange.

Ed Hamer, chairman of the invitation committee, asks the seniors to be sure and secure these invitations today.

HENDERSON ADDS NEW VOLUMES TO PLAY COLLECTION

Library Announces Addition of 700 Plays to American
Drama Collection.

The University of North Carolina library announced yesterday that 700 plays have just been added to the Archibald Henderson Collection of American drama. This brings the total of the collection up to 1350. Dr. Henderson having given the library 650 volumes of plays when the collection was inaugurated in October, 1929.

Representative Drama

Collected over a long period, these volumes are said to represent almost every phase of the changing tastes of American theatregoers. Many of the books are rare and valuable and could be duplicated only with great difficulty.

In presenting the collection, Dr. Henderson said, "I have been collecting American plays for many years, and as a North Carolinian I am especially interested in American drama because the first American tragedy ever to be produced on the American stage was written in Wilmington. I take especial pleasure in presenting this collection to the University of North Carolina, pre-eminent among all the state universities in the field of drama in that it gave course credit for plays produced by the students here in 1796, almost 125 years before the Carolina Playmakers were founded."

First American Tragedy
Speaking further of the first American tragedy produced professionally, Dr. Henderson said:

VAN HECKE LISTS HONOR VIOLATORS OF STUDENT BODY

Forty-Two Cases Have Been Brought Before Faculty Committee During Year.

Forty-two students, involved in twenty-five cases, have been called before the Faculty Executive committee so far this college year, for alleged violations of the honor system. All of these cases have been reported to the committee by members of the faculty. One case concerned the mutilation of a library book. The others related to cheating in connection with notebooks, reports on readings, laboratory exercises, themes, quizzes, and examinations.

Of these forty-two students, twenty-nine were freshmen, seven were sophomores, three were juniors, and three were seniors.

Twenty of the forty-two confessed their guilt; twenty-two denied it.

Five men were exonerated; ten had the charges against them dismissed for lack of evidence; and twenty-seven received penalties ranging from being required to drop a course to suspension from the University for two quarters.

Committee Membership
The membership of the Faculty Executive Committee this year has consisted of Professors H. G. Baity, John N. Couch, G. A. Harrer (chairman), S. E. Leavitt, E. L. Mackie, and M. T. Van Hecke (secretary). Professor Baity resigned early in
