

FOOTBALL SQUAD POLISHING UP ON OFFENSIVE PLAY

Running and Passing Attack Show Improvement; Wake Forest Here Saturday.

With about a week left before the opening game here with Wake Forest, Coach Chuck Collins is sending his charges through practice behind closed doors. Freshmen have been posted at the gates of Kenan Stadium to keep out would-be spectators.

The first part of the practice session Friday afternoon was taken up with setting-up exercises, with some kicking and passing. Collins is still looking for a punter and passer.

No heavy work was done. The first and second teams engaged in a drill in running and passing plays. The first team showed Woolen, quarter; Phipps, left half; Slusser, right half; Chandler, fullback; Walker, left end; Hodges, left tackle; McIver, left guard; Gilbreath, center; Fysal, right guard; Underwood, right tackle; Brown, right end. Another combination with the first string line had Woolen at quarter, Weisker at right half, Phipps at left half, and McNeill at fullback.

The second team was made up of Brandt and Bridgers, ends; Barclay and Newcombe, guards; McDade and Smith, tackles; Alexander, reserve end last year, worked at second string center. Peacock, quarter; Daniel, right half; White, left half; and Lassiter, fullback, were in the backfield.

Both teams had chances to show their wares on the offensive, and both ran the passing plays a little more smoothly than the running plays, which consisted mainly of off-tackle and end runs. Phipps seems to be Chuck's best bet for a passer, but at the present the former freshman star is a little slow in getting off his passes. However, he should develop into a real passing threat before the season is very old. Should Phipps fall down as a passer, Collins could use Croom and Daniels.

Al Howard, former Notre Dame star, has been supervising the work of the reserves since the fall training began two weeks ago. Howard, a fullback, graduated from the South Bend institution last June after playing four years. His contract calls for him to be here for the fall and winter practice sessions. Friday he was concentrating on Anacauskas, freshman star last year. Anacauskas' weakest point seems to be pivoting, and Howard had him working on it all during the practice.

Greetings.

Al Howard, the new frosh coach, has been personally recommended by the late Knute Rockne to Coach Collins; which all speaks well for the newcomer's future. . . . Saw Bryan Grant play at Rye and Forest Hills last summer and the "Atlanta Atom" showed the newspaper men plenty. On the Westchester courts, "Bitsy" gave Fred Perry, English Davis Cup star, the battle of his life before dropping the match. . . . And at Forest Hills, Grant provided the greatest tennis upset of the year when he eliminated Jacques Brugnon, the Bounding Basque, in four sets. . . . Speaking of tennis, Lefty Bryan of Chattanooga, and our own Wilmer Hines engaged in plenty of matches that had the crowd wild. . . .

Earl Webb, Boston Red Sox outfielder, crashed the two-base hit record of sixty-four, held by George Burns, by slashing number sixty-five in a recent twin bill. Maybe the Chicago Cubs aren't a little peeved at letting Earl go down the river. . . . It's funny the way cast-offs usually find some way to wreak vengeance on the teams that let them go. For example, Lefty O'Doul, formerly of the Giants, Harvey Hendrick, late of Brooklyn, Jumbo Elliot, who also wore the spangles of the Robins. In the American League the most notable case is that of Sad Sam Jones, who takes great delight in turning back the Yankees whenever he opposes them. . . .

Over sixty thousand fans saw the recent Yankee-Giant game to aid the unemployed; most of them were looking for jobs all summer too. Well, it all goes back into the same pockets. . . . Newark and Rochester of the International League are going down the home stretch tied for first place. It has been a nip and tuck battle all season with neither team ever gaining an unsurmountable advantage. The winner of the International flag will meet Saint Paul, winner of the American Association pennant, in the "Little World Series". . . .

Few students may know it but a Dartmouth-North Carolina game for 1930 missed by the proverbial eye-lash. The Tar Heels refused to go into the cold climes of New Hampshire and the compromise location, New York, was vetoed by the Indian officials. Hence no game. . . . Slated For Great Year

RIP
HALFBACK

Rip Slusser, Carolina's "blonde blizzard", will be one of the main cogs in Coach Collins grid machine this year. This will be Slusser's last year in the blue and white uniform, and he should get the recognition due him as one of the best and fastest backs along the Dixie front. Rip, who steps the century in .10 flat will have plenty of opportunities to show his speed on Kenan's straightaway.

PRE-SEASON DOPE OFFERS SCRAMBLE IN BIG TEN RACE

Michigan, Northwestern, and Purdue Are Rated as Having Best Chances for Title

Action started in middle west football September 15 when Notre Dame and all the Big Ten teams began in earnest their drives toward coveted titles. A conference ruling prevents any organized play until the middle of this month.

Notre Dame, a mecca for outstanding gridiron squads, faces as tough a schedule as last year when it went through a strenuous season undefeated. With five varsity first string men back, Coach "Hunk" Anderson has to select his players from a coterie of 115 men. Games with Indiana, Northwestern, Drake, Pittsburg, Carnegie Tech, Pennsylvania, Navy, Southern California, and Army are slated for the Irishmen. Considered as national champs last year, the South Bend army of players will have another claim at national honors if it goes through this tough schedule unwhipped.

In Big Ten circles, critics have conceded the best title chances to Northwestern, Michigan, and Purdue. Michigan and Northwestern tied for first place last year without suffering a setback. An imposing schedule is expected to furnish excellent opposition for Northwestern as she meets Nebraska, Southern California (L.A.), Notre Dame, Ohio, Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota. Coach Hanley of the Purple team has five first string men back, including two men picked by the late Knute Rockne on his all-American team. They are Rob Russell and Pug Rentner.

Michigan under Harry Kipke's tutelage has an aggregation of sixteen lettermen back, of which nine are first string men from last year. Leading the pack is Captain Hudson, one of the best backs in the Big Ten. Michigan plays an inter-sectional game with Harvard this season.

TAR HEEL BOXING TEAM TO DEPEND ON SOPHOMORES

Coach Rowe to Build Team around Levinson, Only Letter Man Returning

With only one letter man returning from the 1931 squad and several of the most promising freshman prospects numbered among the missing, Carolina's 1932 boxing outlook is anything but hopeful. And on top of this unusual dearth of material, the Tar Heels face the hardest schedule in history this winter.

Marty Levinson, brilliant featherweight last winter, will be the only monogram wearer back on the Hill this year. Levinson lost only two fights last year and was a semi-finalist in the Southern Conference tournament at Virginia. Marty scored one technical knockout during the 1931 campaign, and turned in five victories by the decision route against his two losses. Stoops of Penn was the first man to gain the verdict over Levinson and his other defeat came in the Southern tournament at the hands of Captain Southgate Martin of Duke whom Marty had already defeated in a dual meet.

Platt Landis, the other letterman expected to return, is in Europe this fall and will not be able to get back before the season is well under way. Landis was a lighthweight last year and turned in several creditable performances after being handicapped during the early part of the season with hand injuries.

A great deal depends on a group of rising sophomores who fought last winter on the Southern Conference championship team. If the sophomore material comes through with a great deal more success than is now expected, the Tar Heels should have a fairly good sea-
