

HOOVER RECEIVES EARLY MARGIN IN NOMINATION RACE

Roosevelt Also Gains Ground as Democratic Candidate in Tar Heel Straw Poll

The Republican "Great Unknown," who is predicted to sally forth and lead the G. O. P. to victory in the 1932 presidential race, still remained in the background yesterday as the results of the Daily Tar Heel presidential nomination straw vote were tabulated. Though they failed to introduce a new champion, the campus Republicans rallied to the flag of Herbert Hoover, however, and the chief executive received 235 votes, to gain an early lead on whomever may be introduced later as his opponent.

Roosevelt Lead Increased

Franklin D. Roosevelt, who now looms as the standard bearer of the Democrats, received an additional 197 votes to bring his total to more than six hundred, a majority of four hundred over his nearest competitor, Owen D. Young. Young, though clearly the second choice of his party, now leads Newton D. Baker, of Ohio, by a scant score of votes. James Cox, ex-governor of Ohio and Democratic candidate opposing Harding in 1920, looms as a dark horse for his party, as the ballot revealed that the Ohioan had received a total of 67 votes, enough to place him as a dangerous threat in his division.

Norman Thomas maintained his lead as favorite with the Socialists, polling twenty-five additional votes. His only opponent to date is Al Capone, whose name was found written in on the Socialist ticket, substantiating the argument, so one of the earlier stumpers maintains, that "whistlers are not the only morons."

STUDENTS CALLED TO MASS MEETING IN MEMORIAL HALL

A mass meeting of the student body is scheduled to take place tonight at 9:00 o'clock in Memorial hall, both to transact business concerning the student body and to hold the largest pep meeting of the season. The president of the student union will preside over the business meeting, and then will turn it over to the cheerleaders.

Judge Jim R. Patton of Durham and head football coach Collins will be the principal speakers on the program. A new cheer has been added to the repertoire. It is a "Yea Tar Heels" followed by a hand. This is appropriate at times when players either are leaving or entering the game.

The cheerios have been revived to cause a greater interest in the encouragement of the team through cheering. Freshmen will compose the most of this section, but any upperclassmen who so desires may get a seat in this section.

Staff Members

Vass Shepherd, R. W. Barnett, J. M. Little, Frank Hawley, Jack Bessen, Phil Alston, Morrie Long, P. S. Jones, Walter Rosenthal, C. G. Thompson, and J. L. Fathman are requested to meet with the editor in the Daily Tar Heel offices at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon.

Graduate Club Tries "Get Acquainted" Plan

Believing that many of the newer graduate students on the campus have not yet become acquainted with the Graduate Club, Ed Cameron, president of the group, has announced a "get acquainted" plan.

The Graduate Club, composed of male graduate students who occupy the Mary Ann Smith building, operates a co-operative dining room which is now under the general management of Mrs. Wales. In addition to serving those who live at the club, the dining room serves to men living off the campus and now has several vacancies.

To introduce the dining hall to graduate students who may not know of the room, the club managers are now offering a trial week's board at a special price.

Playmaker Manager Considered Well Equipped For New Duties

Osmand Molarsky, University Sophomore, Originates Successful Puppet Shows as Well as Making Appearances in Dramas Throughout the United States.

Harry Davis, the new member of the Carolina Playmakers staff, being officially named the assistant director and business manager, comes to the University with a background of experience and training which makes him especially fitted to fill a position in Carolina's distinguished playmaking group.

Formerly director of the Town Theatre in Columbia, South Carolina, Davis left behind a record of many outstanding productions of famous plays as well as the interpretation of several splendid acting roles. Mrs. Davis is also associated with the Playmakers in the capacity of assistant business manager, and will assist with the costuming of the Playmakers production this season.

Following their graduation at the University of South Carolina, their extra curricula activities having consisted chiefly of four years of apprenticeship at the Town Theatre, Davis and his wife were for one year directors of the Theatre Guild of the Mississippi State College for Women, and instructors in spoken English.

From there they were brought back to the Town Theatre in Columbia, and during the last two years there Davis has sponsored, and produced several worth-while original plays, as well as a season of eight major productions, and done a considerable amount of touring over the state with some of his most finished productions.

BOARD REDUCED AT SWAIN HALL

Commencing with the noon meal today, board at Swain hall will be reduced from $22 per month to $20 per month, making weekly rates of $5. This is the lowest that the price of board has been here within the past twelve years.

The reduction in rates will not in the least lower the type of food or service and the dining hall will continue to serve only the highest qualities of food with the same high type of service.

Obbie Harmon, the manager said, as, after comparing the prices this year of sixty-five leading articles of food with those of former years he has found that he will be able to operate at less expense. Since Swain hall is a non-profit-making establishment, the boarders will receive this saving.

Since the opening of this semester, the dining hall has been serving from 750 to 800 students daily.

SHAW'S OFFICIAL BIOGRAPHY TO BE PUBLISHED SOON

Archibald Henderson, Author, Gives Comprehensive Account of "Greatest Living Writer."

Dr. Archibald Henderson left Chapel Hill for New York last night to turn over in person to D. Appleton and Company, publishers, the manuscript of the authoritative definitive copy of the biography of George Bernard Shaw. Dr. Henderson, in a telegram to Shaw on his birthday, some time in July, announced the completion of the biography, but the manuscript had not then gone to press.

Dr. Henderson has been at work on this life of Shaw since 1911 when he issued his volume George Bernard Shaw: His Life and Work which was then considered one of the most complete biographies of a living man. This new life promises to be even more comprehensive than his former book. It covers in scope practically the entire period of his life, beginning at the date of his birth some seventy-five years ago, and carrying the story up to the moment the volume goes to press.

Shaw Gets First Copy

An advance copy of the biography has been sent to Shaw and the literary world anxiously awaits the publishing of what will probably prove to be the greatest of Dr. Henderson's works. He states that it is not in the least sense a revision of his former biography but is completely new in every detail. It contains many of the letters of Shaw written to Henderson and others, some of which have never before been printed and gives a complete discussion of the Shavian movement in the theatre.

Mathematician and Historian

Although Dr. Henderson is the head of the mathematics department of the University his writing is prolific and varied. He is nationally known as a mathematician and a historian, and has written numerous newspaper articles on the South during the Civil War and the period of Reconstruction. Seven books on Shaw had already come from his pen prior to this two volumed life of the "greatest of living writers."

Dr. Henderson will remain in New York a few days discussing plans with the publishers before returning to Chapel Hill.

STATE EXTENSION REPRESENTATIVES WILL MEET TODAY

University To Be Host To Officials From Six North Carolina Colleges.

The North Carolina association of college extension representatives will meet today in R. M. Grumman's office at 3:00 p. m. This association was formed a little over a year ago with the purpose of promoting co-operative relationships among the institutions of higher learning in the state in the conducting of extension teaching. Further aims of the organization are to encourage adult education and to provide an exchange for ideas and discussion of the phases of college extension work.

Nine colleges are represented in the association by the following men: R. M. Grumman and W. J. McKee of the University; Frank Capps and E. W. Ruggles of North Carolina State; C. E. Teague of N. C. C. W.; H. B. Schaeffer and D. R. Haworth of Lenoir-Rhyne; E. Hinshaw and P. S. Kenneth of High Point; and B. B. Lane and J. C. Hadley of Catawba. James E. Hillman of the state department of public education has also been invited to the meeting.

The above institutions serve annually more than five thousand persons located in every section of the state. The content of the courses is practically the same as what is given at a resident college. Students are not admitted to the extension courses of the separate colleges unless they meet the regulation entrance requirements of those colleges. All instructors of extension credit courses are members of the regular university and college faculty, or are appointed as non-residence members of the faculty of a college. Credits are valued exactly the same from an extension course as from a residence college.

In addition to this type of service, the association provides lecture and discussion extension courses and correspondence instruction.

TOKYO HEAD OF SOCIAL WORKERS NOW IN AMERICA

Supplementing Kirby Page's information concerning that extraordinary Nippon, Dr. Toyohiko Kagawa, head of the social bureau of Tokyo, comes news that this distinguished social worker is in America at the present time. Dr. Kagawa arrived in New York early this summer to attend the world convention of the Y. M. C. A. He has remained in this country since that time, studying social conditions.

Speaking at a dinner given in his honor recently by the Clergy club of New York, the versatile doctor remarked that one of the causes of world depression is that religion has been divorced from industry. His advice to man in general is to live up to elementary religious precepts. Less preaching and more action is Kagawa's remedy for the stricken world.
