

Stage Set For Carolina-Tennessee Clash

Contender For Southern Title To Meet Tar Heels In Kenan Stadium Today

Game Will Decide Whether Volunteers' Victory March Will Be Interrupted.

IS FIRST GAME IN KENAN

Will Be First Contest of 38-Year Old Rivalry To Be Played in Carolina Stadium.

PROBABLE LINEUP

CAROLINA	TENNESSEE
Walker	l.e. Derryberry
Hodges	l.t. Saunders
McIver	l.g. Frank
Gilbreath	c. Mayer
Fysal	r.g. Hickman
Underwood	r.t. Aiken
Brown	r.e. Rayburn
Chandler	q.b. Robinson
Croom	l.h. Allen
Slusser	r.h. McEver
Lassiter	f.b. Kohlase

The stage is all set for the invasion today of Gene McEver, All-American halfback, and the Tennessee Volunteers, who will meet the Tar Heels in Kenan stadium here this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in a game which will determine whether the Volunteer victory march is to be interrupted.

Tennessee is undefeated for the season and is leading the Southern Conference in points scored, with McEver as leading individual scorer.

The Vols took their last drills in Asheville yesterday afternoon and arrived in Durham early this morning. They will stay aboard the pullman coaches until 8:00 o'clock, and will come to Chapel Hill before noon.

The advance seat sale has picked up in the last several days, and indications point to a colorful crowd of 15,000 or more.

The Carolina team has shown considerable improvement in practice this week, and campus belief is that the Tar Heels will put up a better scrap than against Georgia.

This will be the first game these 38-year old rivals have played in Kenan stadium. It happens that the donor of the stadium, William Rand Kenan, Jr., played on the first Carolina team to meet Tennessee. That was back in 1893, and they beat the Vols 60 to 0.

Tennessee now stands at the top of the Conference, having won three games and lost none, while scoring 140 points to all opponents' 0. They were reported by Coach Neyland to be in good shape, and will be heavy favorites to win today and break the tie existing in the Carolina-Tennessee series. There have been nine games, each team winning four, and the 1919 game going 0-0. Tennessee won last year 9-7.

For Carolina, Frank Smith, second left tackle, was still on the injured list, but Johnny Peacock, second quarterback, was back in shape, and the rest of the boys were in good shape.

Carolina's re-aligned first string backfield has shown much improvement with an extra week's work, and a second new combination of Peacock, White, Phipps and Thompson has given promise of adding much power and drive.

SPORTS

By Jack Bessen

Another sweet dish in store for football fans, and if they're all like last week's menu, football fans will be cutting paper dolls on Sunday. There were just enough upsets coupled with favorites' victories to give the cash customers plenty of thrills. Among the real surprises can be recorded Columbia's 19-6 victory over Dartmouth, Davidson's 0-0 tie with the Blue Devils, Tennessee's slaughter of Alabama, and Auburn's 13-0 win over Georgia Tech.

Of course the Carolina-Vol game will hold sway in this part of the Conference while Vandy's battle with Georgia will draw the majority of fans in the lower half of the circuit. In addition there are games like Army-Yale, California-Southern California, Colgate-N. Y. U., Florida-Auburn, Georgia Tech-Tulane, Harvard-Texas, Michigan-Illinois, Northwestern-Ohio State, and Notre Dame-Pittsburgh to make the turnstiles sing do-re-mi.

Carolina-Tennessee
After this week the going for the Tar Heel team should be comparatively easy, but today should be a headache for Carolina supporters, if season records mean anything. In its four games played to date, the Vols have had their goal line uncrossed and looked like a million dollars against 'Bama. Against Georgia, the Tar Heels, while fighting hard, showed several glaring weaknesses, most notably a lot of loose tackling. If that happens against McEver or Breezy Wynn, then good night Carolina. On the other hand, if the Heels play heads-up ball, they will have a good chance to take the measure of Bob Neyland's squad. However, one vote for the Vols and three cheers for Coach Collins' men.

Georgia-Vandy
This game marks the resumption of athletic relations between the two institutions. The Bulldogs looked like national champs against the Tar Heels while the Commodores were taking a drubbing from Tulane. In spite of a 200-pound line to stop the Georgia backs, Roberts, Dickens, Downes, and Key will have a nice afternoon romping merrily through the Vandy forward wall—and through their secondary too.

Army-Yale
Here's the feature game of the East. Last year the two teams battled to a 7-7 tie; this season both have also known what it means to be defeated, the Bulldogs bowing to Georgia and the Cadets losing to Harvard. In spite of Yale's smashing victory over Chicago, one vote for the Army.

California-S. Cal.
Little St. Mary's took the measure of both these teams, thereby eliminating the flavor of a championship battle, assuring the fans of a good game. You may remember that last year

(Continued on last page)

Williamson Wins Classic Cake Race

TO HOLD DOWN WINGS

Erwin Walker and Theron Brown, Carolina left and right end, respectively, will bear the brunt of the Tennessee attack. The sterling work of this pair in Carolina's last three games has evoked many comments and the Volunteer backs will be hard put to gain around either of the Carolina wings. Brown is playing his last year in a Carolina uniform, but Walker still has a year of service remaining.

HINES TO DEFEND MID-SOUTH TITLE

Grant and Wright Also Entered; Carolina Enters Ten in Pinehurst Tourney.

Keen competition for the singles championship looms in the eighth annual Mid-South tennis tournament at Pinehurst, which opens Monday, while interesting play in the doubles events also is promised.

Bryan Grant, of the University of North Carolina, former National Clay Courts champion; Wilmer Hines, of the University of North Carolina, defending champion, and Lenoir Wright, also of Carolina, runner-up to the southern champion this year, will set the pace in the men's singles.

Coach John F. Kenfield has announced that he does not intend to go to Pinehurst at the start of the tourney and will not take any of the varsity or freshman players to the meet. However, a number of Carolina's outstanding players besides Grant, Hines, and Wright, are planning to enter the matches. The following Carolina racquet-wielders will also be entered in the singles competition: John Dillard, Harley Shuford, Luke Abels, Harvey Harris, Walter Levetan, Bill Moody, and Laurence Jones.

Carolina is sure of having the following teams represented in the doubles: Dave Morgan and Dillard, Hines and Shuford, and Harris and Levetan. Several other teams may be entered in the meet.

Hinkey Hendlin, of New York, and Paul Liskin, of New Rochelle, N. Y., former University of North Carolina students, will play with the Carolina students. Both did well in previous mid-south tournaments.

Women of the University of Southern California have of their own accord banned smoking. Recent rulings prevent smoking at the Trefan football games. Offenders of the student rule will be hailed before the women's self-government court for assignment of penalties.

ANNUAL NOVICE CAKE RACE WON BY BEST HOUSE

Sets New Record Time of 9:49:5; Waldrop, Curlee, Haywood Finish Next in Order.

Leading eighty-seven aspiring would be cake eaters over a two mile course, Harry Williamson of High Point, representing the Phi Gams, captured what has become one of the most colorful and picturesque features of fall athletics at Carolina—the cake race. In winning the eighth annual cake race, Williamson set a new record of 9:49:5, breaking Hal Meade's old time of 9:51:4. Best House gained first honors in the team competition when it registered a low score of thirty points, Waldrop, Escola, Brisk, and Patrick composing the victorious quartet.

Second honors in the individual race went to Waldrop of Best House, with Curlee and Haywood of New Dorm finishing third and fourth respectively. Litten of Manly won fifth place. Following Best House in the team play, New Dorms, Old West, Grimes and Steele finished in the order named.

Best House took three prizes, one being for low score, another for the largest number to enter the race, and a third for the largest number to finish in the first fifty. New Dorms, Old West, Grimes, Steele, all granered cakes, donated by town people. Besides Williamson, cakes went to Cowhig and Thornberg, who comprised the tail end of the bunion procession, and due to Coach Dale Ranson's big heartedness last place wasn't so bad after all.

The first twenty to finish were: Williamson, Waldrop, Curlee, Haywood, Litten, Escola, Kennedy, Goldman, Brisk, Zappa, Fisher, Turpie, Patrick, Queen, Whitley, Manhein, Kennerly, Bauchner, Keith, Thomas.

Higher price of Stanford university game tickets and a consolidation within university departments are evident results of decreased enrollment this fall. New obligations, unprovided for by the legislature, amounting to nearly a quarter million dollars, make such steps further necessary.

CAPTAIN BREWER TOPS DEVILS IN WIN OVER DEACS

Duke Fullback Scores Four Touchdowns and Two Extra Points to Lead in Victory.

Scoring four touchdowns and two extra points, Captain Kidd Brewer led the Duke Blue Devils to a 28-0 victory over the Demon Deacons of Wake Forest yesterday afternoon. A safety in the third quarter when Bryan blocked Shinn's kick and the ball rolled beyond the safety zone, gave Duke its remaining two points.

The game was less than five minutes old when Brewer was away for his first score. The Duke captain ran Hutchins' kickoff back to the thirty-four yard line. Laney made five and Brewer twelve to put the ball on Wake Forest's forty-nine yard line. On the next play Brewer went around the Deacon's right end and was away for forty-nine yards and the score. The try for point failed.

Another Duke drive was stopped a few minutes later when Adkins, made a bad pass from center, and Laney was thrown for a twenty yard loss. Towards the end of the first quarter, Duke started from its forty-seven yard line and marched for a touchdown with Laney and Brewer leading the attack. Brewer took it over from the three yard line.

Following Duke's kick-off Wake Forest started a passing attack that carried the ball to the four yard line before fumbles robbed the Deacons of their only chance to score. Starting on their thirty-one, two passes to Edwards gained twenty-three yards. Two line plays failed and then Edwards shot the ball to Wilson for a forty-two yard gain to place the ball on the Devils' four yard line. Edwards fumbled for a five yard loss, but on the next play Harton recovered Shinn's fumble for Duke on the ten yard line. Late in the same quarter, the Deacons stopped a drive on their eighteen yard line after Brownlee and Brewer had advanced the ball from the Wake Forest forty.

The third quarter saw the Deacons holding their oppon-

(Continued on last page)

AGENTS FOR

U. S. Royal Tires and Tubes

GREASING and FREE CRANKCASE SERVICE

GULF GASOLINE and OILS

Courtesy Cards Accepted

Jack Sparrow's Service Station

JUST OUT OF TOWN ON DURHAM ROAD

Have You Had Your Clothes Cleaned For The Game And Dance?

Try Our

HAPPY—SNAPPY—SERVICE

JOHNSON-PREVOST DRY CLEANERS CO.

Phone 7011

Phone 7011