Oscar Dresslar with Virginia Ferguson Will Lead German Club Thanksgiving Set.

Leaders and their escorts for the Thanksgiving German club dances, November 27 and 28, were officially announced yesterday by members of the executive committee. According to the present plan a set of five dances are to be sponsored, music for which will be furnished by Jelly Leftwich and his Duke Blue Devils.

For the regular German club Thanksgiving dance Oscar Dresslar will lead with Miss Virginia Ferguson, of Norfolk, Pete Gilchrist, first assistant, with Miss Liz Green, of Weldon, and Lewis Skinner, second assistant, with Miss Mary James Lipscomb of Greenville.

As has been customary in the past the sophomore German club dance is also given during the Thanksgiving set. This year Win Ham will lead this dance with Miss Montrose Patterson of Charlotte, Pete Tyree, first assistant with Miss Margaret Williams of Winston-Salem, and Ed Michaels, second assistant with Miss Sara Dorsett of Salisbury.

Bynum gymnasium, in which the dances will be staged, are to be decorated in the usual Thanksgiving colors, orange and black. These colors are to form a canopy over the dance floor, while the sides will be covered with small pine trees. Lanterns in the shape of pumpkins will be used for lighting.

The time of the dances as announced by the executive committee are as follows: Friday afternoon, 4:00 to 6:00; Friday night, 9:00 to 1:00; Saturday morning, 11:30 to 1:30; Saturday afternoon, 4:00 to 6:00; and Saturday night 9:00 to 12:00.

OUTSTANDING HILL AND DALERS ARE HERE FOR MEET

(Continued from preceding page) championship last Saturday in spite of stiff competition, and V. P. I., winners of the Virginia harrier title, are the outstanding teams for the conference laurels. The Old Liners did not compete in the run last year, whereas the Gobblers finished in second position behind V. M. I. Carolina, winner of four consecutive conference championships until last year, will offer formidable opposition to the two favorites. The Tar Heels have conquered Florida and Duke this season in dual competition and in time trials this week gave evidence of their power. The 'Gator squad should not be underestimated as their preparation at that time was not equal to that of the Tar Heels, and since have bested Georgia by an overwhelming score. Duke will be out to redeem herself against Carolina and anything is liable to happen. Virginia Military Institute, present conference titleholder, will not defend her honors won last year.

J. M. Miles of V. P. I. is the favorite for the individual championship. He placed third in the last two conference races and he should complete his final year of competition in a blaze of glory. Captain Jensen, of Carolina, is one of the outstanding hill and dalers in the south and will be right in the fight for his share of glory. Bob Hubbard, his teammate, has demonstrated his capabilities during the season and will offer no little trouble to the field. The other outstanding entrants are: Bray and Miles of Duke; Stout and Goddard of Tennessee; Ayers and Smith of Florida; Murphy and Campbell of Georgia Tech; and Bardhardt and Jones of Georgia.

A freshman triangular cross country run between U. N. C., Duke, and V. P. I. will start at 11:15, fifteen minutes before the big event. This will be a hard fought race with the Duke frosh breasting the tape before the opposition.

The results of the championship run at the end of each mile will be announced at the stadium. The officials for the meet are: starter and referee, Rev. A. S. Lawrence; judges and timers: J. M. Gwyn, J. P. Harland, J. F. Kenfield, E. P. Dameron, W. E. Caldwell, and H. Schnell. There will also be several student inspectors.

Radio French Wednesday

Dr. U. T. Holmes announces that on account of the Thanksgiving holiday the eighth lesson in the weekly French series will be broadcast over WPTF, 5:15 on Wednesday, November 25, instead of the usual day, Thursday. This change is for this week only.

Bynum Improving

Jefferson Bynum is recovering from a severe illness from which he has been suffering for several weeks.

CAVALIERS HAVE HIGH SPIRIT FOR TAR HEEL GAME

(Continued from preceding page) share in preventing a Virginia score. Three times a trick of fate robbed the Cavaliers of a first down inside Tech's ten yard line, once a fumble, once a penalty that called back a 35-yard run, and once the end of the half.

Squad Enthusiastic
Fred Dawson, the Cavalier coach, and his assistants, have infused the squad with a fine spirit of enthusiasm. The whole University student body has caught this fire from the team with the result that an eleven that has not won a game since mid-September was supported by the best Virginia cheering heard in many seasons.

Today the squad is enjoying an afternoon off. Monday the men report on Lambeth Field to take up where they left off in preparing for the Thanksgiving invasion of Kenan stadium.

Both Virginia and Carolina will be looking for an opportunity in this closing game to redeem past failures. The Tar Heels have superior man power, in numbers, skill and strength. But the Virginia team that comes here will be filled with a spirit that will go a long way toward offsetting Carolina's physical power.

BILL BOYD STARS IN 'BIG GAMBLE'

William Boyd's new RKO Pathe starring vehicle, "The Big Gamble," holds the feature position at the Carolina theatre today.

Director Fred Niblo has made an entertaining attraction from this Octavus Roy Cohen story. Boyd gives one of the best performances of his career, proving himself a dramatic actor of some worth. Dorothy Sebastian plays the feminine lead opposite her husband.

Warner Oland, James Gleason, ZaSu Pitts, William Collier, Jr., Ralph Ince, June MacCloy, and Geneva Mitchell compose an excellent supporting cast.

"The Big Gamble" is a Charles R. Rogers production made at the RKO Pathe studios in Culver City, California. Walter De Leon and F. McGrew Willis wrote the adaptation.

Bell Tower Donors Arrange Luncheon

The members of the Patterson and Morehead families with their guests will have a luncheon in the arcade section of the tower immediately preceding the dedication of the campanile. The Carolina inn will serve the food for the affair, and the group will probably be served by waiters from Swain hall. About fifty persons will be present. The luncheon will be informal and as far as is known at present, there will be no program nor any speakers.

Two Views on R.O.T.C.

Military training is becoming more important to American colleges, believes Dr. Edward C. Elliot, president of Purdue university. "In the face of almost certain reductions of our national defense," said President Elliot, "more and more dependence must be placed on R.O.T.C. work carried on in American colleges." Kirby Page, nationally known lecturer, expressed emphatic opposition to R.O.T.C. here last month.

Post Office Issues Christmas Warning

The post office department has issued its yearly warning, concerning early Christmas shopping and mailing. The public is asked to cooperate with the employees of the post office department by wrapping their parcels carefully.

Each year there are a great many packages and letters which are not mailed until the last few days before Christmas. This fact causes a great deal of delay in the delivery of the mail. In consideration of this fact, the public is asked to mail their Christmas packages early.

NEGRO LECTURER GIVES HUMOROUS HISTORY OF LIFE

(Continued from first page) poems at a recital that evening. This marked the climax in Hughes' career as an author; since then has devoted his time to writing.

The poet told of his ambition to visit every country of the world that was inhabited by negroes. In Belgian Congo and the Gold Coast of Africa, according to the speaker, the negroes were virtually slaves. In Haiti, he told of the trouble caused by the inability of the negroes to excuse the crudeness and practical jokes of the American marines.

Read from His Books

Hughes read poems from his books, The Weary Blues, Fine Clothes to the Jew, The Negro Mother, and Not Without Laughter. The latter book was listed by the American library association among the forty best books of 1930-31.

F. M. James, president of the Y, presided over the meeting.

With Contemporaries

The greatest criticism of this ruling in Constitutional Interpretation, however, lies in the educational principle which is represented in the "intent behind the regulation." This principle, which finds support not alone in the Politics Department, is that of forcing "education" down the student's throat in the best approved nursery manner. University authorities have seen fit to recognize at least partially that intellect freedom which is a theoretical characteristic of higher education. The theory is, of course, that by the time he has reached college a normal student is in a position where he should be given every opportunity and encouragement to learn, but should not be forced to do so with the disciplinary grade-book as "bugaboo." Yet officials of certain courses, Politics 303 being outstanding, have clung obstinately to preparatory school psychology, apparently considering it a sacred charge to carry the unspared rod and unspoiled child theory into educational realms where reasonable maturity of professional method and student attitude are generally accepted as fundamental premises.

Princeton may observe the Four Course plan indefinitely. Entrance standards may be raised higher and higher. Many outstanding educators may be added to the Faculty. A hundred steps may be taken to enhance Princeton's value as an educational institution, but so long as any appreciable proportion of Faculty members retain principles of preparatory school paternalism as bases for their teaching, by so much more will Princeton fall short of achieving fully the most worthy ideals of higher education. — Daily Princetonian.

Pharmacy Library

The departmental library of the school of pharmacy is being catalogued by a force from the main library. In a short while 3,000 volumes will be so numbered and placed as to be of value to science students other than those in the pharmacy school.

This work is being done under the direction of R. B. Downs, assistant librarian.

WOLF ADDRESSES ECONOMIC GROUP

Discusses Causes and Relief Measures of Unemployment Situation at Seminar Meet.

Thursday evening Dr. H. D. Wolf, of the school of commerce, addressed the economics seminar on the topic, "Unemployment and Relief Measures." Dr. Wolf indicated the extent of unemployment in the United States today as approximately 7,000,000. Discussing the causes of unemployment, he first mentioned it in terms of casual unemployment among groups of workers, such as dock laborers and then spoke on the seasonal factors, such as changes in the volume of unemployment due to changes in climate.

With respect to relief measures Dr. Wolf discussed the efforts of a number of corporations to reduce the seasonal fluctuations in the demands for labor by aggressive sales policies, development and production of supplementary products, and other efforts at stabilization. In reducing cyclical unemployment, the proper planning of public construction projects and more scientific planning of private enterprises were suggested as modifying influences in business fluctuations. The desirability of unemployment insurance as applied in England and as proposed in a number of bills in the United States, was also discussed.
