

Tar Heel Boxers Take Twin Bill From Devils

Brown Defeats Hyatt in Best Bout; Varsity Wins, 4-3; Tar Babies Take 5-2 Decision.

The Carolina mitt team continued its perfect record last night with a 4-3 win over the Duke Blue Devils. Carolina jumped away to a two point lead in the opening bouts and was never headed.

For the first time in nearly two years, Carolina won the 115 pound bout, Williams taking the decision over Lloyd. Not since the days of Evan Vaughn had the Tar Heels taken the decision in the bantam-weight class.

The best fight of the evening by far was the Brown-Hyatt bout, in which Brown took the decision over the Duke football star, after flooring him for the count four times in the final round. As the third round ended, Brown finished off Hyatt, the bell robbing the Carolina lightweight of a knockout.

Levinson continued his usual fine work with a decision over Scott. The Tar Heel 125 pounder was never in danger after the first round.

Three technical knockouts were recorded, Captain Bolich getting a technical after knocking Carruths out of the ring in the opening round. Lumpkin, Carolina welterweight, battered Parrish so badly that the fight was stopped in the opening minutes of the third round; and Winslow received a technical knockout over Hudson after the Tar Heel had taken the fight in the first round.

Summary:

115 pound class: Williams (C) over Lloyd (D) by decision.

125 pound class: Levinson (C) over Scott (D) by decision.

135 pound class: Sides (D) over Raymer (C) by decision.

Freshmen Win, 5-2

The Carolina Tar Babies opened their 1932 mitt season with a decisive 5-2 victory over the Blue Imps of Duke university. The best match by far was the decisive win of Berke of Carolina over Edwards of Duke in the welterweight class by a decision.

Summary:

125 pound class: Quarles (C) over Shank (D) by a technical knockout in the second round.

COLLEGIANA

By Thomas H. Broughton

Nollie Felts, all-southern full-back, will captain the 1932 Green Wave of Tulane university. Felts is considered one of the best punters in the south and nation.

Big Clarence Munn, all-American football star, is showing great promise of becoming a threat in the Olympic tryouts for the shot-put. He tosses the sixteen-pound ball around forty-seven feet and hopes to place it over the fifty foot mark after a few more weeks practice.

"Airmail" Bill Morton, all-American quarterback and one of the best passers in the country during the past season, is a hockey star also, as is Barry Wood, Harvard quarterback. Albie Booth, Yale star, is captain of baseball, football, and basketball. That's what we call an all-round star.

Under the tutelage of Ward Lambert, the outstanding court mentor of the Middle West, Purdue's Boilermakers have achieved a record over a period of years that tops all other teams by a wide margin.

In the last twelve years, Lambert's teams have the unusual record of having won or shared in five championships. Along with those five championships the Old Gold and Black has garnered the runner-up honors four times, and holds the distinction of having never finished below fourth place.

In the last six years, Purdue basketball teams have never fallen below the runner-up position and three of those years have either won or shared the championship.

Acceptance of a twenty per cent cut in salary by Jimmy Phelan, head football coach, is a part of the new budget of the University of Washington.

Two outstanding games carded for next year are the Ohio State-University of Pittsburgh tilt and the St. Mary's-Alabama game. St. Mary's will be remembered as the only team to defeat the University of Southern California and Southern Methodist during the past season.

Duquesne university has requested a game with Catawba for the 1933 season. Duquesne will be remembered as the team that held Carnegie Tech to a scoreless tie.

MANY STAR VAULTERS TO PERFORM IN NEW YORK

Three pole vaulters who have done better than 13 feet 9 inches will be pitted against each other in the Millrose A. A. silver anniversary track and field games at Madison Square Garden on February 6.

The three are Fred Sturdy of Los Angeles A. C., one of the four fourteen-footers in the history of the sport; Tommy Warne, formerly of Northwestern, who did 13 feet 10 5/16 inches last year and a fraction under fourteen feet in 1930, and Barney Berlinger of the Penn A. C., whose best height has been 13 feet 9 1/4 inches.

This trio is certain to play a prominent part in the forthcoming sectional tryouts which will be conducted this spring by the A. A. U. to select a competent track and field team to represent the United States in the Olympiad at Los Angeles.

TRACK SQUAD TRAINS FOR COMING SEASON

During the past few days Emerson field resembles a metropolis with its hustle and bustle, as more than one hundred varsity and freshman track candidates go through their paces in preparation for a busy season. With ideal spring weather as an incentive to the Carolina speedsters, the conditioning program becomes a mere formality.

Coaches Fetzer and Ranson are giving individual instructions to the men in the various events and with several veterans from last year, around which to mould a well-balanced team, the outlook for the Tar Heels in forthcoming competition seems bright.

Those interested in track or field should report to Emerson field any afternoon this week at 4:00 o'clock.

PRACTICE BEGINS FOR CANDIDATES FOR GOLF TEAM

Several Major Meets Are Planned for Tar Heel Team.

Winter golf practice was started yesterday in the Tin Can with the opening of the practice cage. Intensive work-outs will be taken until the end of the winter quarter after which, the squad will carry on their activities out doors. The drills will last from 4:00 to 5:30 every afternoon.

In an interview granted to a Daily Tar Heel reporter yesterday, Coach Kenfield said that although there was only one letterman returning, there was every indication to hope for a very successful season.

One letterman, Captain Joe Adams, and three reserves, Paul Carter, Fred Dixon, and Aubrey Brooks, will form the nucleus of the 1932 squad. Carter, Laxton, and Brooks, engaged in several meets last year but did not play enough to earn monograms.

In addition to this quartet will be several promising men from last year's squad. Chief among the rookies are: Alan Smith, Thornton Brooks, W. W. Ham, Ed Michaels, Gwyn Harper, Archie Glenn, and Pete Tyree.

There has been no definite schedule drawn up, but plans are being made to enter at least two meets out of the following three: the National and Southern Intercollegiate and the North-South amateur open at Pinehurst. The Nationals will be played at Hot Springs, Va., while no definite place has been decided upon for the Conference tourney, and there is a slight possibility that the Sedgfield Country club will be the site of this year's tourney.

The Tar Heels will attempt to wrest the state title from Davidson, winner of last year's tournament. In that meet, Joe Adams won the individual title but this was not enough to give Carolina first place. As has been the custom in the past, Sedgfield will again be host to the contestants.

Besides these tournaments, there is a match with Georgia Tech at Atlanta but the date has not been settled upon. There will also be meets with Duke, Virginia, Washington and Lee, and William and Mary.

State Maimen Persevere

When N. C. State received a number of checks marked "bank closed," it was decided that track and wrestling would have to be discontinued. However, the teams are going on in spite of the difficulties, and are even using mattresses for mats.

Dress designers are threatening to bring back the bustle. Maybe a little more bustle in business would bring that back, too.—B'nai B'rith Messenger.

Tenth Olympic Games Will Gather Nations Of World In Peace Battle

Revival of Modern Olympiads Due to Energy and Enterprise of Baron Coubertin, Who Devoted His Life and Resources to Introduction of Sports Into French Education.

The Olympic games bring to us a field of contest, on which the keen and strenuous battles are waged by the representatives of the nations of the world. The battle differs from all others in that practically all, not merely a few of the nations of the world are engaged; the field of contest is not the bloody one of war, the contestants, though eager to win, are playing the game for the game's sake.

The revival of the modern Olympiads was due almost entirely to the energy and enterprise of Baron Pierre de Coubertin, in whose mind, at the age of seventeen, arose a desire for international athletics. For a time he contemplated a political future, but within a few years he determined to devote his life and resources to the introduction of sports into French education. To this end he traveled widely in America and England, and became convinced that the organization of sports in these two countries was of real importance in the lives of the people.

On November 25, 1892, at a meeting of the Union des Sports Athletique in France, he publicly proposed the revival of the Olympic games. For a while there was no perceptible result, but in January, 1894, he sent a circular to all athletic associations, asking them to "sanction a revival of the Olympic games under modern conditions." To this there was a very irregular response.

However, the Congress opened in June 1894, in the amphitheatre of Sorbonne, and unanimously decided upon a revival of the Olympic games and the institution of the International Olympic committee. Baron de Coubertin proposed that to Athens should be given the great honor of the Olympic revival. Consequently the first of the first of the modern games were held there in April, 1896, and they have been celebrated every four years since then, excepting 1904 and 1916.

NAVY WORKS FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

Squad Includes About Thirty-Three Officers and Nearly Thirty Enlisted Men.

A squad of approximately sixty men, Navy candidates for Olympic teams, will arrive shortly at the Naval Academy to begin training for various sports.

According to Commander Harvey E. Overesch, gymnasium officer at the academy and manager of the Olympic team, the group will include about thirty-three officers and nearly as many enlisted men.

Chief among the athletes is Lieutenant Harry Henderson, a member of the last Olympic boxing team. Henderson, besides practicing for games, will be assistant to boxing coach Spike Webb.

Officer Candidates

Other officer candidates are Ensigns Mackenzie, track; Crinkley, boxing; Ashford, wrestling; Lockwood, gymnasium, and Lieutenant Barrett, pistol shooting.

Most of the selections for the Olympics will be made during the next few days from the battle fleet. While housing facilities have been arranged for the enlisted men aboard the Reina Mercedes, station ship at the academy, the officers must arrange for their own accommodations while in Annapolis.

NOTED SPORTS WRITER AND FOOTBALL STAR DIES

Sol Metzger, well known sports writer and former football and field coach, died Monday at his home in Atlantic City, N. J.

He was fifty-one, and his death followed a twelve-day illness which was caused from an operation to relieve an ear condition.

Metzger, known nationally as a football critic, had devoted his time to writing on sports since 1924. Five years before this time he coached football at the University of South Carolina. He has also coached at the University of West Virginia, Union college, and Washington and Lee. He was at one time field coach at the University of Pennsylvania.

Metzger first showed his ability as an athlete when he starred on track and football teams at Andover academy. Entering the University of Pennsylvania he played at end and quarterback on the elevens from 1901 to 1903.

SCHMELING READY TO MEET SAILOR

Max Schmeling, heavyweight champion of the world, has decided to keep a pledge he made with Jack Sharkey the night he won his crown by a foul Sharky delivered in the fourth round. The pledge was to give the loser a chance to redeem himself.

The refusal of promoters and public to warm to a bout with Mickey Walker and poor attendance at exhibition matches were the reasons given by Schmeling for wanting a contest with the Boston Gob.

Joe Jacobs said that he was going before the New York state boxing commission and tell them that the champion was ready to defend his title against Sharkey in June. Jacobs also said that they had signed no articles yet but were ready to sign with the highest bidder although they preferred the Madison Square Garden in New York.

The New York boxing commission suspended Schmeling shortly after his fight with the Boston sailor, but now that the German wants another match with the Gob, the commission is ready to reinstate him as soon as articles are signed.

The present title holder said he would fight Sharkey and win. He also said he would fight Dempsey in September if the ex-champion comes back. Sharkey was very happy when he heard of the champion's decision to meet him again. He said he didn't care how many rounds it went because he would knock him out in ten at the most and it would be with a punch to the jaw.

Sharkey has been doing light training since his bout with Primo Carnera and will be able to get in shape in about five weeks.

CAROLINA-DEACON CONTEST SHIFTED TO CHAPEL HILL

Varsity Game Will Be Second of Doubleheader Friday; Changes In Frosh Trip.

The freshman and varsity basketball games Carolina had scheduled with Wake Forest for foreign courts this week have been shifted, and will be played in the Tin Can here Friday night at 7:30 and 8:30 o'clock, respectively.

The change was announced yesterday by Bo Shepard, basketball coach. It was made necessary, he said, by the fact that Wake Forest could not secure the State college gymnasium for the regularly scheduled game in Raleigh on Saturday night.

The other games with Wake Forest have been shifted likewise, so that the freshman teams will hold their second meeting at Wake Forest February 2, and the varsities will stage their second class at Raleigh, February 3.

Coach Shepard also announced slight changes in the dates for the freshman team's trip through Virginia. As the card now stands, the Tar Babies will play at the University of Virginia February 5, at Woodberry Forest February 6, and at A. M. A. February 8.

The Wake Forest game is the only one carded for the Tar Heel varsity this week, and Coach Shepard is utilizing the time in between to get in some needed practice aimed at coordinating the Carolina offense and smoothing out the rough spots that appeared in the last game with V. P. I.

The Tar Heels have a straight line of victories over Guilford, Davidson, Furman, and V. P. I. But V. P. I. gave the Tar Heels trouble, and the Gobblers only beat Wake Forest one point after a furious last-minute rally.

Leading the Carolina scorers are Wilmer Hines, forward, with 49 points for four games, followed by Vergil Weathers, forward, 48; Captain Tom Alexander, guard, 28; and Paul Edwards, center, 22.

HUNGARIAN TRACK STAR WILL RACE IN UNITED STATES

Ladislav Barsi Will Compete in Four Meets Next Month in Preparation For Olympic Games.

Ladislav Barsi of Hungary, one of Europe's best middle-distance runners will make a pre-Olympic visit to the United States this winter for a series of indoor races here, it was announced by Daniel J. Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the A. A. U.

The Hungarian champion and record holder has been limited to four starts, the first of which will be the Millrose games on February 6 and the American indoor championships on February 22, both in Madison Square Garden.

Barsi is not only one of the very best quarter and half-milers on the continent, but one of the best in the world. He was clocked in 0:48.5 for 400 meters last summer and 1:53.4 for 800 meters. His 500 meter time is 1:03.4, only four-tenths of a second from the world's record. For 1000 meters he has done 2:30.

Barsi has been training for indoor running on a special board track in Budapest for the past three weeks in order to accustom himself to the peculiarities of the springiness of the timbers and the turns he is likely to encounter in the Garden. The Hungarian star is due in New York on February 1.
