President Graham Makes Call For Concentrated Attention On University's Critical Problems

TWELVE HUNDRED STUDENTS HEAR STIRRING SPEECH

Mayne Albright Pledges Support
Of Entire Student Body in Financial Crisis.

Before unprecedented enthusiasm manifested by the 1,200 students who attended assembly yesterday morning, President Frank Porter Graham spoke on the present financial crisis which the University is facing.

At the conclusion of his address and his plea for "concentrated attention on those problems which are most imminent," Mayne Albright, president of the student union, rose and pledged the support of the student body to plans for the re-establishment of student loan funds and to every other expedient that might be necessary.

President Graham emphatically stated that the University would not contradict its former policy of leaving student fees untouched. "We mean to protect student fees, laboratory upkeep, board and dormitory upkeep . . . and the general maintenance of a stripped plant. We have cut everything else . . . I mean cut while the blood ran. Now we want to restore many vital things such as the News Letter and the Learned Journals from an emergency fund which we propose to raise."

Drive for Loan Funds

In response to the interest evidenced by an unusual attendance, President Graham explained the drive for the student loan funds. "Our immediate concern is with the student loan funds, which are drained dry."

WOMEN'S GROUP CONTRIBUTES TO LOAN CAMPAIGN

Members of Co-ed Association in
Spencer Hall Are Backing
Drive 100 Per Cent.

Standing firmly with their University brothers in this pressing hour of the University's life, the Woman's association voted a $100 contribution to the emergency loan funds campaign yesterday afternoon at its quarterly meeting. Dean Francis F. Bradshaw addressed the gathering, pointing out the fact that the University must first do what it can to help itself before it seeks aid from the outside.

President Gabrielle McColl announced that the members of the association living at Spencer hall have contributed 100 per cent to the loan funds campaign. The association will also make a determined effort to locate every girl rooming in town so that the contributions of the members may be 100 per cent.

In addition to this discussion of the loan funds campaign the chief business of the meeting was the selection of a nominating committee to present a ticket for next year's officers to be elected at the spring quarter meeting. The committee appointed by the president consists of the following members: Margaret Powell, chairman; Elizabeth Pomeroy, Martha Delaney, Mary Hicks, Kathleen Fennell, Josephine Parker, and Anna Spiers.

Contribute Today

Every student in the University should see either his dormitory president, Union Forum representative, fraternity president, Mayne Albright, "Pardner" James, or Noah Goodridge before 11:00 o'clock tonight to endorse and contribute to the Emergency Student Loan Fund. There will be a benefit show at the Carolina theatre tonight at 11:15 o'clock. Admission will be forty cents.

MEMORIAL UNION HAS BEEN USED BY OVER 25,000

Game Room Leads in Accommodating Nearly 20,000 Persons in Three Months.

Statistics prepared by Noah Goodridge, manager of Graham Memorial, reveal that the building has more than realized the aims for which it was erected by the alumni. It has flourished during the past three months as a center of social activity for the students and faculty.

The game room has claimed the attention of the largest number of people, having accommodated 19,200 students who have used constantly its pool tables, ping-pong tables and facilities for other forms of indoor sport. Meetings in the building have brought 3,475 people who have attended 152 meetings. Three receptions attracted 1,425 persons. Among the more notable events which have occurred in the lounge have been the meetings of the Association of American Universities, the Woman's association dances, and the current alumni assembly.

Four exhibits included, displays of new books, loaned by the University library, books written by members of the English department, volumes by commerce school faculty members, and an exhibit of Indian relics. Various organizations have met at thirty-three different times. Other functions include two dances, six smokers, twenty-one dinners, and six recitals. In addition to these possible computations, the lounge and the magazines and newspapers in it have been in constant use since the opening of the building.

Gifts To Loan Fund

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In this column the Daily Tar Heel will list every day the new contributions to the Emergency Student Loan Fund.)

Canvassing has not yet begun, and the following contributions are unsolicited donations from organizations and individuals who have become interested through preparatory discussion:

$1,000 (loan), $25, $25, $50, $100, $250, $25, $100, $100, $100, $5, $25, $5, $5.

EXTENSION STAFF REDUCED BECAUSE OF REVENUE CUT

Publications of Division and North Carolina Club Will Be Discontinued.

Faced by the double blow of the thirty per cent cut in appropriations and a considerable drop in its own revenues, the extension division of the University is taking most drastic measures to preserve itself through the present crisis. Its protective policy will include a wide revision of the personnel and a general stringent economy both in its offices and outside of Chapel Hill.

The original deficit of the division subsequent to the University's reduction of its budget was $30,000. Russell W. Grumman, director, has devised a plan by which this can be reduced to $7,000. The University's allotment to the division is $2,700, the balance of the original amount after the reduction had been made. The division estimates that it will earn $22,000 during the remainder of the present fiscal year.

Staff Revision

The changes in the staff of the extension division which will be made during the second half of the current fiscal year will remove two editors, two bureau chiefs, and five persons employed in clerical positions. One bureau chief will be retained on a part-time basis. The fees paid to correspondence instructors will be reduced ten per cent. The University News Letter will no longer be financed by the extension division.

Further methods of reduction entail the discontinuation of

EXERCISES WILL BE DIRECTED BY KEMP P. LEWIS

Charles W. Tillett, Jr., '09, Will Deliver Dedicatory Address
In Memorial Hall.

Graham Memorial, the heart of social activities on the campus for students, faculty, and alumni, will be dedicated formally today at 10:30 in Memorial hall. Members of the student body, faculty, and alumni attending the general alumni assembly will take part in the program.

Kemp P. Lewis, president of the General Alumni Association, will preside over the exercises. The University band, directed by T. Smith McCorkle, will play in front of Memorial hall from 10:15 to 10:30. The invocation will be delivered by Bishop J. K. Pfohl, of the Winston-Salem Moravian church. Dr. Louis Round Wilson, University librarian, is to present the building as the executive secretary of the Building committee, and acceptance in behalf of the student body will be made by President Mayne Albright.

Tillett to Speak

The dedicatory address will be delivered by Charles W. Tillett, Jr., of Charlotte, of the class of 1909. Mr. Tillett is a member of the board of trustees and was prominent in raising funds for the building. The late president E. K. Graham's class, 1898, will be represented by W. J. Brogden.

Gift of Alumni

LOCAL SOCIETIES BACK UNIVERSITY LOAN FUND DRIVE

Emergency Fund Contributions
Total $2,000 Before Students Open Canvass.

As the students' committee started its visits last night to seek from every student in the University endorsement and contribution—"however small"—to the Emergency Student Loan Fund, they were armed with assurance of support from all sides. The resolution of the University Janitor's association that "in times like these we must all stick together" is frequently quoted.

The student council, Y. M. C. A. cabinets, interfraternity council, Union Forum, Rotary club, Kiwanis club, Spencer hall, Golden Fleece, Epsilon Phi Delta, Sigma Chi, Phi Mu Alpha, the Publications Union board, and the Debate Council have during this week unanimously endorsed the project. In several cases these organizations have made contributions representing 100 per cent of their membership.

Churches Cooperate

The churches of the village announced last Sunday the beginning of the enterprise. The Daily Tar Heel and the Chapel Hill Weekly have presented the facts and plans of the situation to their readers. The Carolina theatre has carried a slide all week summarizing the values of such a fund. Mayor Zeb Coun-

FORMER CAROLINA PROFESSOR GETS CHEMISTRY HONOR

Dr. Herty Awarded Medal for His Outstanding Service to Chemistry Profession.

Dr. Charles H. Herty, chemistry professor at this University from 1905 to 1916, will be awarded the annual medal of the American Institute of Chemists "for noteworthy and outstanding service to the science and profession of chemistry in America," at the annual meeting of the Institute in New York in May.

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Richard B. Mellon, his brother, last year received the medal for establishing the Mellon Institute in Pittsburgh. Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Garvan, establishers of the Chemical Foundation, and George Eastman are all former recipients of the medal.

Dr. Herty is especially noted for his research work in Georgia, his native state. There, he has revolutionized the turpentine and naval stores industry. While president of the American Chemical society from 1915 to 1916, he brought about the tak-

IMPRESSIONISTIC DANCES OFFERED BY KREUTZBERG

Group of Famed German Artists
To Appear on Duke Entertainment Course Tonight.

Appearing last in New York on Tuesday evening, Harald Kreutzberg and his dancers gave performances in Washington, D. C., Wednesday and Thursday before his appearance at Duke university tonight at 8:15 in Page auditorium. The dance program by the famous European group is expected to be one of the most sensational features of the season's concert series at Duke university.

Lengthy reviews have appeared in all New York papers during the past two weeks accrediting Kreutzberg and his young women dancers with one of the most remarkable dance recitals seen in this country in several seasons. Departing from the classical ballet, the Kreutzberg numbers, each an individualistic creation, is thoroughly modern.

Every Movement a Dance

In a recent interview Kreutzberg said: "I dance to express myself. To me every movement of the body is a dance. I dance

JEAN HARLOW STARS IN BENEFIT SHOW TONIGHT

The Carolina theatre is presenting a special show tonight at 11:15 o'clock, featuring Jean Harlow in "Three Wise Girls." The entire proceeds of this show are to be given to the Emergency Student Loan Fund.

E. C. Smith, manager of the theatre, is contributing the cost of the film and all the employees have agreed to work for nothing this evening.

GRAIL DANCE WILL AID EMERGENCY LOAN DRIVE

The Order of the Grail will stage a script dance tomorrow night in Bynum gymnasium from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock, the entire proceeds of which will go to the Emergency Student Loan Fund. Billy Stringfellow and his Carolina club orchestra will furnish music for the occasion free of charge so that the band may do its share in aiding a worthy cause.

The Daily Tar Heel

This Sunday Will Present a Symposium on
THE AMERICAN COLLEGE FRATERNITY

Reed Harris, editor, Columbia Daily Spectator, will predict gradual abolition of fraternities.

Harvey Miller, editor, Ohio State Lantern, will discuss the commercialization of fraternal organizations.

A. Steele Hooper, editor, University of Virginia College Topics, will show how fraternity life lends to develop individuality.
